Four Are Injured In Vehicle Mishaps

A second motor vehicle accident followed as the result of the initial one on Md. 42, at Humberson road the evening of July 24.

The three persons involved in the initial mishap were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad. Gregory Eugene Frantz, 17, Star Route, Accident, entered the roadway to go south on Rt. 42 from the northbound shoulder area. Kevin Eugene Slagle, 17, Bruceton Mills, W. Va., and his passenger, Tracy Alan Harding, PO Box, Friendsville, were headed north on Rt. 42 and noted the Frantz car pull onto the highway. Slagle hit his brakes but was unable to avoid the Frantz car and struck it in the left fender area.

Three minutes later, Dale Anthony Savage, Gibbon Glade, Pa., approaching from the north on Rt. 42, noted the accident ahead, hit his brakes but was unable to avoid striking the Slagle car. The two in the Slagle car had been injured in the initial wreck. Tfc. D. K. Williams charged Frantz with failing to yield the right-of-way before entering a highway.

Charlotte Hill Helbig, PO Box, Oakland, was injured in a two-car mishap at the west approach to the Glendale Bridge the afternoon of July 21. Norma Lea Mayers, Bruceton Mills, W. Va., eastbound on the Glendale road was followed by the Helbig car. Norma Mayers started to enter the bridge, but then noted a vehicle coming westbound on the bridge. In order to allow the westbound traffic to pass, the Mayers car stopped and was struck in the rear by the Helbig car. Tfc. E. J. Upole charged Charlotte Helbig with traveling too fast for conditions.

A minor one-car mishap occurred on the Sang Run road the early evening of July 25. Susan Jean Fornoff, Baltimore, was northbound on the Oakland-Sang Run road. She rounded a curve, lost control on the wet road, went off the left roadside and struck a guard rail. Tfc. D. H. Riggleman investigated.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE — Residents of Accident have come up with an unusual way of recruiting a physician. Hopefully, a vacationing doctor on his way to the lake will be tempted to answer the call. If they don't get a response the sign could always be moved to the nearest golf course.

GLAMOURIZE YOUR BEDROOM

Did you every stop to think that you spend as much time, or possibly more time, in your bedroom than in your living room.

Yet, many people put most of their decorating emphasis on living rooms. Naturally, the living room deserves top attention because that's the room everybody sees and uses - but often not enough attention is paid to bedrooms, and there are many good reasons why bedrooms should get more.

For one thing, bedrooms are a very personal place, and, therefore, should have some unique decorating touches. Secondly, bedrooms should have an overall beautiful atmosphere because after all, you begin every day in your bedroom, and you end every day there. Bedrooms should be furnished in such a way that you have a nice place to bring your cares of the day each night; and a nice place from which to start on a new day every morning.

You might also want to consider furnishing your bedroom for snacking, sewing, writing, etc., during the day. The bedroom is your special place and it should be decorated in special ways.

We, at Rolyans, can help you bring glamour to your bedroom and make it the place you want it to be. Come on in for ideas and furnishings.

And July 27 thru Aug. 3 we're offering $50.00 off any Rowe hide a bed now in stock. So be sure to stop in.

So, please feel free to stop in and see us at your convenience. We're here to serve you.

by DiAnne Rook

If all goes as she hopes, Debbie Spaulding just might be Oakland's very first movie star.

"I've thought about being a celebrity," the quiet brunette said, "and to tell you the truth I'd love it!"

Debbie recently returned from California after filming five episodes of the NBC TV movie "Raid on Coffeeville" which will be aired this fall.

How did a small-town, 1978 high school graduate ever end up in the movies? "It was pretty much luck," Debbie replied with a smile.

Early in June Debbie traveled to California with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spaulding, Rogers, Arkansas, to visit her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce, and the city in which she grew up.

During the first couple days that she had been there, the aspiring actress visited Columbia, an old western town, where NBC was wrapping up the filming of "Raid on Coffeeville." A cast director spied Debbie in the audience and asked her to appear in the film as an extra. "I was very, very excited when they asked me to do it," she admitted. "I just couldn't believe it."

The following day Debbie reported to the set in Sonora at 5 a.m. ready for her costume fitting. "I had to wear these skinny black shoes all day — it was murder!" she said. The rest of her western outfit seemed to agree with her though. Outfitted in black stockings, a long, brown checked skirt, white blouse, brown hat and carrying a cream-colored parasol, Debbie must have looked as if she stepped right out of the old West. With her long hair cascading in curls, the young actress was ready for her first movie.

"It was hard work," she stated, "we'd have to do each scene over at least 10 times until the director was happy." Working until 5 p.m. that day, Debbie received $3.43 an hour plus overtime fees for her efforts.

"Everyone on the set was really nice to me and I was treated very well," she said. When asked about the stars in the movie, Debbie said that they really received no special treatment but you could tell they were the stars.

When I asked Jack Palance for his autograph he told me that he was too busy studying his lines," Debbie said. "You know, she added mischeviously," he isn't half as good-looking in person as he is on the screen!"

"Raid on Coffeeville," what Debbie calls a "typical Western," is a story about a man running for mayor in a small town and the townspeople who try to keep him from getting elected. "The movie has a bank robbery, a hanging — just about everything you'd find in a western," she said.

Debbie was asked to do more scenes in the movie but she was unfortunately unable to. Visiting and sightseeing in California and Arkansas, she returned to Oakland at the end of June.

"I love California so much and I hope to go back soon. The weather is fantastic — that's where I got my tan," she added with a smile.

Now taking it easy in Oakland, Debbie hopes to enter modeling school in Altoona, Pa., or go back to California to do more films. "Right now I'm just waiting until the movie appears on TV. From there I'll see what happens," she said.

Born in New Hampshire, Debbie, the daughter of Peggy Spaulding, Oakland, and Edward Spaulding, Arkansas, moved to Oakland after spending several years in California. A 1978 graduate of Southern High School, Debbie was active in the drama department and an honor roll student.

When asked how her family and friends were reacting to her "fame," she replied that her mother was so thrilled that she told everyone her daughter was going to be a movie star!

"People keep asking me for my autograph, but I don't know why. I'm not famous — yet!" she said with a gleam in her eyes.

Forest Service Offers New Film On State Forests

The Maryland Forest Service is pleased to announce the availability of a new public information film, "A Place In The Forest." This half-hour color film presents a factual portrayal of the attractions, amenities and management practices occurring in Maryland's State forests.

According to Clint Irwin, Maryland Forest Service Environmental Specialist, Maryland's State forests have been managed for the benefit of people since 1906. "Each visitor to a State forest can have a close personal relationship with nature. The State forests are deliberately managed for wildlife habitat, watershed protection, timber and low density recreation with few if any manmade facilities."

This film points out the variety of activities and scenic wonders in the State forest system. The largest State forest is Savage River State Forest in Garrett County. Also in Western Maryland are Garrett, Potomac and Green Ridge State Forests. In Northeastern Maryland is Elk Neck State Forest. Pocomoke, Wicomico and Seth State Forests are on the Eastern Shore and Doncaster State Forest is in Southern Maryland.

Produced by Dave Smith in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources Extension Service, this film can be borrowed by contacting Maryland Forest Service regional offices at Cumberland, 777-2134; Laurel, 792-7863; Bel Air, 879-2494, and Salisbury, 749-2461.

Counties To Divide Spirit Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported that Baltimore City and the twenty-three counties will receive $1,328,357 as the local share of the distilled spirits tax revenue collected during the last quarter of Fiscal Year 1978.

"This brings the total distribution for Fiscal Year 1978 to $5,484,560. Distilled spirits tax revenues yielded .7 percent more to the subdivisions during Fiscal Year 1978 than in the previous year," Mr Goldstein said

The distribution represents 50 cents for every gallon of distilled spirits delivered to retail outlets within each county by licensed Maryland wholesalers.

The $1,201,971 received by Baltimore City for Fiscal Year 1978 represented the largest distribution. Prince George's county received $930,501, the second largest amount, and Baltimore County's total was $863,504, third largest for the Fiscal Year which ended June 30, 1978.

Garrett County received $4,940, second lowest amount in the state. Total amount for entire fiscal 1978 was $19,304

Burch Changes Muzzle Loading Hunting Rules

Maryland Attorney General Francis Burch has rendered a legal opinion which will force the Wildlife Administration to change its planned muzzle-loading rifle deer season this December

The attorney general's unpublished opinion of July 18 favors a position taken by the Western Maryland Muzzle Loaders Association, which claimed that the Wildlife Administration would be violating a law passed by the General Assembly that established a muzzleloading big game season. The Wildlife Administration had intended to permit only the use of flintlock type rifles to be used, barring percussion or caplock arms from the season

The local sportsmen's organization presented statistics showing that the "arbitrary banning of percussion arms would result in the elimination of some 40 percent of the state's muzzle loading enthusiasts from the three-day season."

The attorney general's opinion read in part, "For several reasons we have concluded that the present regulation is not consistent with (Section 10-420 of) the natural resources article. Flintlocks are not the only type of muzzle-loading firearm Muzzle-loaders may also be fired by percussion cap ignition. The ordinary definition of 'muzzle loader' includes both types of guns."

Referring to House Joint Resolution 62 which served as legislative history of the House Bill that was passed into law, Burch stated, "The resolution devotes a full paragraph to the flintlock in describing how it operates and discussing its range. However, the same paragraph describes the flintlock as "the grandfather of the muzzleloader. . ." This indicates clearly that the legislature was aware that muzzle-loaders include, but are not restricted to, flintlocks and that the legislature did not intend to use the two terms interchangeably."

President of the Western Maryland Muzzle-loaders Association, Dennis Tompkins, noted that the season must now be changed to allow both types of muzzle loaders to be used, although the Wildlife Administration still has the authority to regulate the caliber arms and shot charges to be used, and may also set the dates and length of the seasons.

The local sportsmen's group was supported in its request to the attorney general by delegate DeCorsey Bolden, who initiated the bill, and by State Senator Edward Mason who amended the Senate version to include all muzzle loaders.

Gearhart Named To Tax Appeal Board

Roy A. Gearhart, Grantsville, has been appointed by Acting Governor Blair Lee III to the County Property Tax Assessment Appeals Board.

Mr. Gearhart succeeds Howard Lester Hunter, who resigned. He will serve five years beginning June 1.

Founder Of WVU Gerontology Center Decries Cultural Bias Against Elderly

She doesn't fret about the tiny lines starting to form around her eyes nor about the flecks of gray dotting her brownish hair.

Growing old isn't frightening to Nancy Lohmann, associate professor and program coordinator in West Virginia University's newly established Appalachian Gerontology Center.

What upsets Ms. Lohmann, 34, is the fact that "we live in a culture that glorifies youth" at the expense of the nation's elderly.

"Every time I go to get my hair done they try to get me to cover up those gray hairs," she observed with a frown. "The assumption is that it's better for the hair not to be gray . . . for there not to be wrinkles around the eyes. I tell them to leave me the way I am."

According to Dr. Lohmann, who has compiled data on gerontology courses and research under way at WVU about human aging, there is a great deal of cultural bias toward old people in America.

"Many people feel that old people represent death and that scares them," she said. "Young people in today's mobile society are less exposed to them. I grew up with my grandparents, but my kids live thousands of miles from theirs."

"It's also difficult to get young people interested in gerontology courses — and to persuade faculty to offer them. Students think it's a morbid field or uninteresting. We try to overcome that bias. If only from a personal standpoint, the study of aging can be useful — that is, it can prepare you for your own old age."

For Ms. Lohmann, who admitted to an early cultural bias on her own part, the study of aging has been very rewarding.

At first studying aging simply was a way to do advanced graduate work," she admitted. "But once I got into it, I found it a terribly interesting field. Eventually I looked only for schools that had aging programs — and they were hard to find."

Ms. Lohmann has directed spending of grants from two federal agencies to determine what teaching, research and services are available at WVU and to help plan the interdisciplinary Center. The idea, she said, was "to find out what is happening at WVU in terms of aging."

One result of staff efforts, she said, has been publication of a brochure which outlines aging courses available for study, identifies areas of research, and notes organized aging activities at WVU and on the state level.

"We've also hired a professional librarian to find out what library sources exist and to determine how to increase library sources here," she said. "We're focusing on rural Appalachian aged so we re trying to do a comprehensive survey of literary sources in that area.

"We think there may be something unique about Appalachia's aged," she added. "We have studied the group so little that nobody really knows. Our bibliographic search so far has yielded only 13 sources in the past 25 years of gerontological literature that have dealt with Appalachian aged.

"We would like to ascertain, for one thing, what effect rapid social change in Appalachia has had on older people," she said.

"We have a hunch that there is conflict between generations about how old people should be treated and what the elderly person's role is within the family. The assumption is that young people exposed to different values perceive older people differently than their parents do."

Dr. Lohmann said the WVU center staff also is interested in assessing the problems of social services delivery in Appalachia, where low population density and geographic makeup pose complicated problems.

Man Charged With Homicide In Death Of Steven Mayhew

A Westernport man has been charged with negligent homicide in connection with the Saturday morning death of Steven Dwayne Mayhew, 20, Kolberg Hill, Westernport.

Deputy Don Burner of the Hampshire County Sheriff's Department said Michael Edward Kyle, 18, of Route 1, was charged but has been released on bond pending a hearing before a magistrate.

According to Deputy Burner, Mayhew was killed about 1:10 a.m. Saturday, when Kyle, who was driving the car, failed to negotiate a curve on a secondary route near its intersection with Route 28 near Milleson Mill.

The vehicle ran off the road and Mayhew was partially thrown from the vehicle. The vehicle upset on Mayhew, crushing him, and then returned to its wheels.

Born at Sewickly, Pa., Mayhew was a son of Edwin W. and Virginia (Riley) Mayhew.

The body was taken to the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, and interment was in the Philos Cemetery.

Fourteen Killed On State Roads

Fourteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the Weekly News Release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of the persons killed, six were drivers, six were passengers and two were pedestrians.

In the opinion of the investigating officer, five of this week's deaths could possibly have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Small Business Assistance Up To 521 Cases In 1978

The Institute for Small Business at Frostburg State College provided management assistance to 521 clients during the year ending June 30, according to an announcement by James F. DeCarlo, Jr., Director.

This figure represents an almost 50 percent increase over the 348 clients who received assistance during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1977. According to Mr. DeCarlo, the mix of clients was very similar to last year with about three quarters of the clients again coming from the retail and service sectors of the economy.

There were, however, some changes in the location of client firms. Allegany County had some 42 percent of the caseload, down from 50 percent a year ago, while Washington County jumped to 22 percent of the caseload, up from 16 percent a year ago. "These statistics reflect the implementation of our walk-in counseling centers in Oakland, Hagerstown, and Frederick" according to DeCarlo.

Financial analysis was the problem area which generated more requests for assistance than any other. More than 25 percent of all client requests related to this area. This was also the most prominent problem area a year earlier. Other major problem areas were sales promotion and advertising, market research, recordkeeping, and credit and collections.

Institute counselors were successful in obtaining financing for 26 clients during the year. A total of $1,897,500 was provided. All of these loans were made by area banks and guaranteed by the U. S. Small Business Administration. At least 129 jobs were created or maintained as a result. These totals compared to last year's figure of 14 applications funded for $1,216,300 with an employment impact of 71 jobs.

The Institute also sponsored ten training sessions attended by 355 persons.

The Institute for Small Business was founded as a community service of Frostburg State College's Center for Management Development in August, 1973. Since that time more than 2,000 existing or prospective small businesses have received assistance. More than $3,500,000 in financing has been secured for more than 50 small firms as a result of Institute efforts. This has resulted in the creation or maintenance of at least 250 jobs. In addition to the support provided by the College, the Institute receives financial and technical support from the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Regional Education Service Agency, and the U. S. Small Business Administration.

The Institute operates walk-in counseling centers at Frostburg State, at the Chamber of Commerce in Hagerstown, at the Chamber of Commerce in Frederick, and at Garrett County Community College's Community Center in Oakland. The service is offered five days a week in Frostburg and on a one-day a week basis at the other sites. The service enables clients to call or visit the appropriate site without an appointment and be assured a counselor will be available to assist them.

Mr. DeCarlo pointed out that "we have now completed almost five years of service to the community and we are looking forward to expanding and improving our services in the future. We have earned the respect of the business and financial community because we have produced results and have maintained the confidentiality of our clients. One of our major objectives for the coming year is an expansion of our training services. We're working closely with officials of Allegany Community College to present additional training opportunities during the coming months. We are also discussing the possibility of providing walk-in counseling one day a week in cooperation with ACC."

Anyone desiring additional information on the services of the Institute for Small Business can call (301) 689-4417 or write to the Institute at Frostburg State College.

Farmers To Certify Program Acreage

USDAs Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), has asked farmers to certify their farm program acreage. Samuel T. Brown, Chief of the agency's Compliance Branch, explained the reason for the Acreage Report and reviewed the certification process.

"Certification is the opportunity we give the farmers to report to us the acreages of crops planted on their farm to determine whether they are eligible to receive the different benefits under programs we offer."

When the farmer reports to the county ASCS office, he can review the aerial photograph of his farm and pinpoint the fields in which the crops are grown. This information is then recorded.

Mr. Brown said all of the normal crop acreage (NCA) must be reported. These include corn, wheat, barley, grain sorghum, oats, soybeans, and rye.

"Certification is also very important to farmers who are participating in the Set-aside Program because without an Acreage Report, they really are not participating," the USDA official said. "They must give us an Acreage Report in order for us to determine the level at which they will be eligible for the different benefits under the Set-aside Program."

Mr. Brown said the Acreage Report needs to be as accurate as possible. "We do have a spot check program to check on the accuracy of these reports, so the more accurate the report, the less trouble the farmer has to qualify for the benefits." Certification for corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, and set-aside is due August 1, in Maryland.

Health and Safety Tip

From the American Medical Association

AMA SYMBOL GAINS USAGE

Fifteen years ago the American Medical Association announced a universal symbol which tells anyone rendering emergency care to a person who is unconscious or otherwise unable to communicate that its wearer has a physical condition requiring special attention.

In the intervening years the symbol has gained world-wide acceptance. It has been widely disseminated throughout the United States, and, through the World Medical Association, has been distributed throughout the world.

The symbol may be displayed on a wristlet, an anklet, a medallion around the neck or elsewhere. It is a sign that there are vital medical facts on a personal health information card in the bearer's purse or wallet, or on an alerting device.

The symbol is hexagon-shaped emblem containing a six-pointed figure and a staff with a snake entwined about it — the staff of Aesculapius, the insignia of the medical profession.

It is used by many individuals. Diabetic coma, for instance, sometimes makes its victims appear intoxicated, and treatment may be dangerously delayed. The symbol also is used to indicate allergies to antibiotics, such as penicillin.

The need for certain medicines must be known. Heart patients taking drugs to prevent blood clots may bleed profusely if injured unless they receive special care. Epileptics could be saved much trouble and unnecessary hospitalization if they carried a card indicating they may have seizures.

The American Medical Association recommends that everyone have a card, such as the AMA emergency medical identification card, to show who they are, where they live, whom to call if they become ill or injured, the name of their doctor, and when they were immunized, particularly against tetanus, or lockjaw. On this card should be noted any special problems that need immediate attention in an emergency or could cause an emergency.

Some people's problems are so serious that it is absolutely essential for the first aider to know about them in an emergency. A durable signal device made of plastic should be worn by such people, preferably about the neck or on the wrist or ankle.

Two Are Finalists In Miss United Teenager Contest

Two of the five local girls who competed in the Miss United Teenager state finals at Hunt Valley July 22 were among the top fifteen finalists.

Diana Frazee, Oakland, and Patty Durst, Grantsville, were the only two girls out of 64 contestants to place both within the top ten in the essay contest and in over-all finals. Contestants must maintain at least a B average in their schools and be involved in community activities. Personality and poise were also important to the team of judges.

Each of the girls participating received certificates of achievement and a tee shirt. Others from this county were Cindy Hahn, Mt. Lake Park, Gale Bosley, Oakland, and Donna VanSickle, Friendsville.

Each contestant was required to write a 100-word essay on "My Country," and the finals at Hunt Valley were filled with a whirl of practice sessions, essay competition, luncheons with judges, separate judging sessions, dinners, more practice sessions, and the awards dinner.

Lincoln Homes

FRANCHISED DEALERS

proudly introduce "Lincoln's New Lady"

The Lincoln "ANNIE HALL"

As contemporary as the name, but steeped in the tradition of a New England Cape Cod. This unique, all new plan is brilliantly conceived. It's ideal for the newlyweds and the family just starting to grow.

The bold impressive roof lines of the main house, combined with the attached family room and two-car garage, gives the "Annie Hall" a very expensive custom-home look. However, only the four rooms and bath on the first floor need be completed initially.

The second floor with two additional bedrooms and bath, along with the spacious and well located family room, can be completed later on — as your family needs grow.

A great starter house that finishes off with all the space you'll ever need. And best of all, the starting price is very affordable.

Straight Talk About Aging

SHELTERED HOUSING

Sheltered housing is the wave of the future. It is an alternative living arrangement for Maryland's senior citizens and is rapidly becoming so for the elderly in many other states. This program, which was begun by the Maryland Office on Aging several years ago, offers our older citizens a housing style which provides independent, private and dignified living free of institutionalization. Sheltered housing supplies privacy of housing, three meals a day, light housekeeping and personal care to those elderly who are impaired or disabled due to chronic physical conditions. It is an excellent method supported by my office to provide a living environment which emphasizes independence and thus offers an attractive option to institutionalization.

Sheltered housing units are springing up throughout Maryland. To report on their progress, the Office on Aging, in cooperation with the International Center on Social Gerontology, recently convened a successful two-day Conference which was held in Lanham, Maryland.

Conference attendees came from throughout the State and the nation to discuss new developments in this challenging field of housing for a portion of our elderly population. It was demonstrated at the Conference that sheltered housing is becoming a force nationally in housing senior citizens. In addition, it was acknowledged that Maryland has become a model for the rest of the country to follow. States such as Ohio and Connecticut are now emulating Maryland's lead in this vital housing area.

It was shown at the Conference that Maryland has now established approximately 300 sheltered housing units and that we are reaching for some 500 units in the near future. Indeed, it is hoped some 1,000 units will be in operation within a 5 year period.

Obviously, the creation of special forms of housing is a real challenge in terms of the costs involved. This was a prime consideration at the Conference. Inflation is a two-headed monster in this regard impacting on the cost of the housing itself as well as the cost of the supporting services. Nevertheless, the cost of sheltered housing is found to be highly competitive with almost any other means of housing the impaired elderly.

A further concept for which there was consensus at the Conference involved the understanding that a mix of well-elderly and disabled-elderly should be housed in the same apartment structure. This provides an even balance for services and shelter appropriate to the concept of sheltered housing.

Members of the public who are interested in obtaining further information regarding the vital, growing field of sheltered housing should contact the Housing Officer, State Office on Aging, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

Western Maryland Taxpayers Receive $13 Million Refund

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced last week that more than 67,000 Western Maryland State income taxpayers received refund checks totaling $13,355,172.01 this year. "This money was put back into the local economy through the taxpayer," Mr. Goldstein said.

Allegany County's 20,484 eligible taxpayers were entitled to a total of $2,885,253.67 in refunds. In Garrett County, 5,567 taxpayers shared $755,837.78 and in Washington County, 31,267 taxpayers received checks totaling $4,479,411.92. Finally, 29,926 Frederick County taxpayers were sent $5,234,668.64 in refund checks.

"The average refund check mailed to eligible State income taxpayers amounted to $173.61," Mr. Goldstein said. "That's nearly $15 more than last year."

The increased refunds are due in part to legislation proposed by Comptroller Goldstein and passed by the General Assembly this year, allowing Maryland taxpayers to itemize deductions on their State returns, regardless of what they did on their Federal tax forms.

That particular legislation provided approximately $9 million in immediate tax relief for 220,000 taxpayers.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 102 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1978 | PER COPY 20c | NUMBER 24

Diminished Freedom . . .

The courts of this nation seem to be attempting to rewrite a portion of the United States Constitution all by themselves. The portion in question is the First Amendment, which guarantees, among other things, freedom of the press.

The Supreme Court recently ruled that a newspaper office may be searched and a reporter's notes may be examined by law officials for information concerning criminal cases. Since that ruling reporters have gone to jail and newspapers have been heavily fined for failing to hand over these confidential notes.

The integrity of the profession of journalism is at stake here. This ruling orders a reporter to violate his word. The grave has been dug for the field of investigative reporting.

Many times people who have done no wrong, yet have information vital to the reporting of an issue, are reluctant to speak out. They may be afraid of losing their jobs, receiving threats or drawing unwanted attention to themselves or to their families. They may agree to provide information only on a confidential basis. If an informant knows that the courts can take away this confidentiality at will, a reporter's or an editor's word of confidence means nothing to him.

A free, but responsible, press is crucial to this nation. This fact was recognized by the people who wrote that amendment. This ruling could conceivably be the beginning of a gradual governmental takeover of the press. If freedom of the press is destroyed, what other freedoms are likely to go next? Indeed, by not upholding the First Amendment, does this not question the validity of the entire Constitution?

Those persons whom we at The Republican office may contact for information can continue to rest assured that it will be kept confidential, regardless of the consequences. Enough said.

Miss Susan Mason Crowned 1978 County Farm Queen Last Night

Susan Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason, Oakland, was crowned 1978 Farm Queen last night at the Garrett County Fair. Susan was crowned by Kathy Nice, 1977 Farm Queen.

Nancy Collier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Collier, Accident, was named first runner-up while other contestants included Lana DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William DeWitt, Deer Park; and Mary Lynn Sebold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sebold, McHenry.

At last night's ceremony, each of the contestants were first introduced to the audience and judges and then interviewed by Alice Hevner, Mistress of Ceremonies.

A question given to the girls by Ms. Hevner was "If you could write a letter to yourself stating what you'd like to accomplish in the next 10 years and then read the letter at that time, what would you write?" The '78 Farm Queen answered confidently that in ten years she hopes to be a farmer and she'd like to prove that women are just as capable at that profession as men.

As her "fish bowl" question, Susan was asked if she thought a college education would be of any worth to a girl entering the farming profession. "A college education would be of great value to anyone," the tall brunette answered. "I hope to go to college because, no matter how much I already know about farming, there's still a lot more I have to learn. I think those interested in a farming career would benefit greatly by going to college," she added.

The new Farm Queen, in addition to her responsibilities at home, is a cheerleader at Southern High School where she will be a senior this fall. Susan is active in FFA at school and has participated in many of the club's activities in the past few years.

As 1978 Farm Queen, Susan will reign over the week's activities and will participate in the Maryland Farm Queen contest later this summer.

Judges for last night's event were Mrs. Janie Hanline, Goebel Jessup and Rev. Manning Smith. Mrs. Betty Guard introduced the contestants.

Bloodmobile To Visit Next Friday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Oakland on Friday, August 18, at the National Guard Armory, it was announced this week by Mrs. Norma Hesen, local chairman. The Bloodmobile will be accepting donors from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

This visit by the Bloodmobile will replace the regular October visit to Oakland. Mrs. Hesen stated that the reason for the earlier visit is that, during the summer months, there is a shortage of blood.

"Hopefully this visit will help alleviate this shortage," she said.

She stated that there is a special need for types O positive and O negative, however all types are welcomed.

Mrs. Hesen stated that the goal for fiscal year 1977-78 for the Oakland visit was 446 pints. However a total of 743 was collected. Of that 743 pints, 419 were used at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, 168 went out of the region and the remainder was broken down into derivatives.

Garrett Memorial Releases '77-78 Unaudited Report

Unaudited reports today show the Garrett County Memorial Hospital closing the 1977-1978 fiscal year with an excess of expense over income of $32,598. Total operating expenses for the year were $2,908,824 versus budgeted expenses of $2,907,515. Total revenue for the year was $2,811,842 compared to a budgeting revenue of $2,860,691.

Total patient days for the year (which are the accumulated days of inpatient service) were 19,369 compared to 22,278 budgeted and the overall occupancy was 69.8%.

The average length of stay at the hospital for each inpatient was 7.5 days. There were 13,230 visits to the hospital emergency room.

Kenneth A. Richmond, administrator, stated that it should be noted that these are unaudited figures. The hospital's auditors are currently completing their audit which will affect the bottom line after year end adjustments are completed.

The hospital's operating budget, revenue and expense are all based on projections of utilization made as much as 18 months in advance. A variance from these estimated figures by one or two percentage points is totally acceptable because of the unpredictability of utilization, according to Mr. Richmond.

"As an example of the drastic changes in the hospital's profit and loss statements that occur based on occupancy, the first seven months of the 1978 fiscal year (July 1977-January 1978) showed an overall occupancy of 64% and year to date excess of expense over revenue of $187,721. In comparison, the last five months of the 1978 fiscal year (February 1978 - June 1978) showed an overall occupancy of 74% and an excess of revenue over expense of $155,123, thus the figure of $32,598," Mr. Richmond said.

Upon completion of the audit and the release of audited figures it is expected that the hospital will be shown in "a very strong and viable financial condition," he concluded.

Scuba Divers Search For Body In Cherry Creek Area Tuesday

Scuba divers from the Deep Creek Fire Department made a thorough search of an area of Deep Creek Tuesday evening, but failed to find a body which reportedly had been spotted under a dock there.

According to the Maryland State Police, William Pennel, 16, Elizabeth, Pa., had called police to report that he had seen a blue shirt while working under his family's dock, in the Cherry Creek vicinity. He told police when he felt for the shirt, he thought he felt a human arm, so he left the area and called officials.

After a search of approximately one hour under the dock and in the area nearby, divers were unable to find a body.

Feaster Retains Membership In Medical Academy

Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Devine Addresses County Supporters

Speaking to the Christian School Young Americans for Freedom as part of a five-day campaign swing through Allegany and Garrett Counties, Republican comptroller candidate Don Devine asserted that the Maryland economy is rapidly deteriorating and that "a real comptroller" is needed to reverse the downward spiral.

Devine, who is running on the gubernatorial ticket headed by former Sen. J. Glenn Beall, pointed out that Maryland is now "49th out of the 50 states in growth of manufacturing jobs. Only one state is worse.

"We've fallen from fourth to 38th in growth of service jobs. We're 40th in growth of income." In fact, Devine said, there is only one industry in this state that is growing and that is the state bureaucracy. Even federal employment in Maryland is going down, he said.

Devine said he is running for state comptroller because "Maryland is in a state of crisis and something has to be done about it." Specifically, the GOP candidate pledged to support significant cuts in state spending and taxation.

Few people really know what the comptroller does in Maryland," he said. "He's in charge of taxes. And taxes are the key to curing our financial problem in Maryland. They have to be lowered if we're going to produce any jobs."

As an indication of the power over tax and spending policies vested in the comptroller, Devine noted that the comptroller has an equal vote with that of the governor on the three-member Board of Public Works, which makes most of the big spending decisions.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Here is my pet peeve, which has bothered me in my "innards" for a long time. Why does Mr. Average Citizen (be he young or old) have to listen to rock music in just about every public place — from the grocery store to the dentist's office?

With the pressures of our society today (and we have them, even in peaceful Garrett County), if we have background music, it should be the kind to soothe our nerves — not further unravel them — as we shop, take care of business matters, or have our teeth worked on.

There, I've said it. Now, am I so old-fashioned that I stand alone?

Sincerely,
"A Reader"

Dear Editor:

I am writing this in regard to the article on the Garrett County Animal Shelter.

I am really concerned about this. The animals are not only the responsibility of Roy Arnold, but they're ours as well. We cannot only be concerned for the dogs and cats we own and love, but also for the others that have no homes — no one to care if they go unfed and cold — no one to care if they live or die.

I have planned a Pet Show to help the shelter raise money. If you would like to help please call me at 334-4798 or 334-8546.

Thank you for caring.

Sincerely,
Melinda C. Gank

Sir:

In reference to your foot note to my letter last week:

I did not say that the $50,000 that is to be spent for a study of transportation in the county is local tax money. I stated that it is another waste of public funds. The money is a grant from the State Treasury, not the Federal Government.

I believe that my letters are generating too much animosity. I did not intend it that way. I do think that there exists a serious need for a change in the office of County Commissioners, and I believe that need is apparent to most of our citizens.

Likewise, I believe there is need for a change in our Representatives in Annapolis. We have not been properly represented there during the past four years.

However, I will retract the allegation that Delegate Bolden sponsored the law mandating the large sum of $346,000 for the rebuilding of the old stone bridge at Grantsville to keep Mr. Edwards from running for his seat in the House. This is something that nobody can be sure about, and I do not want to be guilty of an injustice. For that statement I apologize.

Clifford Friend,
Accident, Md.

Sir:

In regards to Tom Butcher's son telling the news on the radio. Hurrah for Mr. Butcher. If more people would take as much interest in their children as he does, we'd have a better world.

More power to him.

Mrs. Marilyn Metheny, director of the Garrett County Commission on Aging, informed the Commissioners of the progress her group is making in obtaining a station wagon for senior citizens' transportation. If obtained through the Urban Mass Transit Vehicle purchase program, the local share would be 20 percent of the total vehicle cost. The Commissioners have agreed to contribute $750 to the project.

The Commissioners reminded citizens of the circuit breaker property tax relief program recently enacted by the General Assembly. Those over 60 or disabled may be eligible for discounts, if within certain income limits, according to the new relief program. This supercedes the discount previously offered to senior citizens. Anyone who feels that they may be eligible should apply through the Department of Assessments and Taxation.

Blair Lee Tours Garrett County

Acting Governor Blair Lee's campaign trail brought him to Garrett County last Sunday and Monday. The governor was accompanied by his staff and local campaign co-chairman, Russ Eddy and Maurice Brookhart.

The governor was guest-of-honor at a bull roast hosted by Russ and Doris Eddy at their home Sunday evening. The event was attended by over 300 people which caused the governor to comment, "judging from the reaction at the Eddy's home, I feel I have a lot of support here."

The governor also explained, "among all of the Democratic candidates, Steny Hoyer and I each had a great deal of support — and then Steny and I teamed up . . . . so now I feel we have an even greater amount of support."

The governor took time out from touring the Mettiki Coal facilities, Bausch & Lomb, and visiting with local merchants, to have lunch at Cornish Manor.

During the luncheon, he was asked what specific Garrett County problems he would give his attention to as governor. Lee answered, "There are problems involving Deep Creek Lake that remain to be sorted out. We're finally working out the problems with Penn Electric." In general, "this county's budget is 60% state monies, and it's important that this state support continues until the local tax base increases."

The governor continued, "I'd like to see some more industrial development up here. I remember coming up here 20 years ago when the morale of Garrett County was rock bottom. Now it's much improved due to industry such as Bausch & Lomb and Mettiki.

Blair Lee also envisions a new coal tax structure which pertains to Allegany and Garrett Counties. He stated, "One thing that needs some attention — there needs to be a slightly more productive tax on the extraction of coal here. It's not fair to put the tax burden on the regular property owners...I want the proceeds of a new tax structure to go back to the two counties."

When asked about Garrett County's tourism and the affect of a planned state takeover of Deep Creek Lake, the governor replied, "This could be a very prosperous county as years go by. You have the advantage of year-round tourists here." Regarding state control, "There is a movement in that direction. I get the feeling county residents would like the Department of Natural Resources to take control (of the lake) on the condition there will be strong local input.

"I'm not enthusiastic about taking any more land into public ownership in this county — there's too much already."

After the luncheon, the governor toured downtown Oakland. He then traveled to Allegany County to meet with campaign co-chairmen, Don McMillan and Tom Finan, Jr.

Estimate To Repair Demolished Car Now Totals $23,400

It pays to be a defensive driver. Crashes are costly.

According to a study by a national insurance trade association, it would cost $23,400 to replace all the parts on a totally wrecked 1978 standard automobile priced at $6,997. Repair of the "totaled" car would be more than four times the purchase price.

This third annual study by the Alliance of American Insurers notes no one really would pay $23,400 to rebuild a car totally wrecked in a crash. It's cheaper to buy another car.

But the study illustrates the rising cost of auto crash repair as a factor in the cost of automobile insurance. It also shows why even minor crash damage is so expensive to fix.

For example, damage to less than one-fourth of a car's parts would cost more to repair than the car is worth. If the car in the study were in a crash and 25 percent of its parts had to be replaced, the repair costs would not be 25 percent of the original price, but 25 percent of $23,400. That's $5,850 or $543 more than the original price.

Damage requiring replacement of only one percent of the car's parts would cost about $234 to repair (one percent of $23,400). Damage that requires replacement of 10 percent of the car's parts would cost about $2,340.

What all this means is that even moderate damage can make a car not worth repairing, especially if it is three or four years old. This is a hard pocketbook fact many drivers overlook. If they understood it better, more of them would drive defensively.

Defensive driving is being alert to the actions and reactions of other drivers on the road, not merely oneself. Courtesy too is an essential ingredient of defensive driving. Courtesy is a good survival quality, not just a moral or ethical question.

The cost of repairing crash damage is helping push up the cost of collision, comprehensive and property damage liability insurance. Drivers of this model, three-year-priced cars are likely to spend 55 to 60 percent of their total auto insurance premiums for these coverages.

Insurance companies continue to fight the rising cost of auto repairs by urging auto body shops to repair damaged parts whenever possible instead of replacing them with the more expensive new parts. In addition, the insurance industry encourages body shops to use proven new methods of repair, especially with aluminum and plastic parts.

Insurers have supported federal regulations requiring auto manufacturers to build more crash-resistant cars. They also have called upon manufacturers to build more repairable cars.

The Alliance conducted a comparable crash repair study in 1977. Last year a similar totally wrecked car cost $21,471 to replace all of the parts. Its purchase price was $4,681.

For the purpose of this year's analysis, the Alliance chose a popular 1978 standard four-door with AM radio, automatic transmission, air conditioning, power steering, power brakes, power door locks, 305 V8 engine, plus whitewall tires and full wheel covers, bumper pads and guards. The dealer price of $6,997 does not include dealer preparation charges and does not include sales tax.

The Alliance hired a nationally prominent auto repair cost expert to figure what it would cost to repair the car if totally demolished. The Alliance analysis did not include trade discounts for auto crash repair parts. Discounts for such parts are not allowed in a number of areas throughout the country. However, in many sections the discounts for these parts may run 10 to 15 percent. The analysis also did not include state and local taxes, which can be as high as seven percent.

The Alliance study used labor costs of $12 per hour. In some areas of the country, however, the hourly rate for this type of labor is $25 an hour or more and in other areas it is lower.

Tennis Tournament Wraps Up: Three Matches Left To Play

Number one seeded Pat Perrin, Richmond, Va., and teammate Robert Burgess, McLean, Va., defeated Bruce McNair, Chevy Chase, and Gary Addie, Bethesda, 6-1 and 6-2 in the men's doubles contest at the 57th annual Western Maryland Tennis Tournament last week.

The completion was the final action on the rain-soaked Mt. Lake Park tennis courts Sunday. Three matches were unable to be completed due to the inclement weather and will be played at a later date.

In women's singles action, top seeded Lisa Whittels, Bethesda, topped Beth Miller, Boca Raton, Fla., 6-1 and 6-2. Senior singles 45 play saw veteran Jack Dorsey, Wheeling, W. Va., defeat Joe Short, Pittsburgh, by a tight score of 6-4 and 6-3.

In uncompleted matches, Kurt Marin, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Beth Miller will face Herb Rappaport and Helen Gillis, both of Arlington, Va., in mixed doubles play. H. Carter Foss, Chevy Chase, will challenge the winner of the Mickey Pardew, Baltimore, and Rex Matthews, Arlington, Va., contest for the men's senior 55 title.

Last year's senior doubles winners Ken Volk and Ray Tompkins, both of Baltimore, will meet Jack Eaton and Joe Short, both of Pittsburgh to determine the opponents of Fred McNair and John Myers, both of Chevy Chase, in this year's action.

Sunny weather prevailed through the first part of the nation's oldest continuous sanctioned tennis tournament until the rain began to fall Saturday afternoon and continued into the next afternoon.

Rev. Manning Smith, Oakland, was the winner of a camera raffled off at the close of the tournament Sunday.

Pen-Mar Begins Playoff Action

Tournament and playoff action begins this weekend in the Pen-Mar baseball league as Northern division winner Everett faces Southern division leader Romney in a three-game series.

Everett will travel to Romney for a 3 p.m. game Saturday while the teams are scheduled to meet Sunday afternoon in doubleheader action beginning at 2 p.m.

Meanwhile at Island Creek the remainder of the teams will meet for a single elimination tournament. Tentative schedules for the games are as follows: 1 p.m., Oakland vs. Island Creek or Keyser; 4 p.m., Cumberland vs. Island Creek or Keyser; and 7 p.m., Cumberland vs. Cresaptown.

On Sunday the team that advances from Saturday play with the best regular season record will draw a first round bye. The remaining two winning teams will meet in a game at 2 p.m. The victor of that contest will then play the bye team at 5 p.m.

The tournament is scheduled to continue the following weekend with Romney, Everett and the winning team from the Island Creek action.

No admission price is charged for the games and a concession stand will be open. The Island Creek field is located approximately four miles south of Bayard on the east side of Rt. 90 in the Potomac District Park.

It looks easy when James E. Johnson, Hyattsville, swoops down to evenly connect with the ball yet, according to the participants, tournament play proves to be quite demanding. Johnson played in the Senior Singles 45 category which was won by Jack Dorsey, Wheeling.

Kurt Marin, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., prepares to smash the ball hit to him by opponent Harry Hipps, Washington, in Men's Singles action in the Western Maryland Tennis Tournament last week. Neither won the event, however, Marin was a finalist in the Mixed Doubles play.

Car Racers Have "Fair" Weekend

Garrett County's stock car and dune buggy racers had a fair showing at area tracks over the weekend.

Frank Lewis placed first in the helmet dash at Elkins Speedway, but then his car blew a gasket and he did not run in the feature.

On Saturday at the Morgantown track, Randy McCartney started sixth in the heat and finished third, then started third and finished 15th in the feature.

Frank started second and finished first in the heat and then started third and finished eighth in the feature after two flat tires.

Randy Murphy, in the dune buggy races, finished fifth in the heat and tenth in the feature.

In Sunday racing at the Motordrome in Pennsylvania, Frank Lewis started eighth and had moved to third before a flat tire forced him off the track. Rains then postponed the rest of the race until this weekend.

Season Ended On Winning Note

Grantsville Post 214 ended the 1978 season on a winning note with a 10-9 come-from-behind victory over Lonaconing James P. Love Post.

Lonaconing scored first on three consecutive singles by Hobel, Winebrenner and Whetstone. Grantsville came back with three runs in the bottom of the first on a single, by Lawrence Nesselrodt, Ken Marks and "Corky" Sweitzer while Bill Bender capped the scoring with a two-run single.

Lonaconing regained the lead in the second with three runs on singles by Muir and Clark and a double by Hobel who later scored on an error.

Increasing their lead to 5-3 in the third and 6-3 in the fourth, Lonaconing finally made it to 7-3 in the fifth on two walks and an error.

Grantsville began its comeback in the sixth on a single by Ed Wildesen. Joey DiSimone reached base on an error, Nesselrodt walked and Jamie Workman also walked to force in a run. Post 214 then cut the lead to 7-5 in the seventh on two walks and a single from Tom Cuppett.

Grantsville finally took the lead in the bottom of the eighth with a big, five-run inning. Two walks were granted to Nesselrodt and Workman and the pair advanced bases on a passed ball. Bill Bender singled in both runners to knot the score 7-7. Sweitzer reached base on a walk and with two runners on base, Wildesen unloaded a clutch, two-out double down the left field line scoring the two baserunners. Grantsville wrapped up its scoring with a walk to Jim Riggleman. DiSimone then singled past short to drive in what proved to be the winning run.

Lonaconing threatened in the ninth but reliever Jim Simms held the team to only two runs. Joe DiSimone was credited with the win, striking out eight and picking up his second win of the season.

School Board Sets Free, Reduced Price Meals And Milk Criteria

The Garrett County Board of Education this week announced its policy for free and reduced price meals and free milk for school children whose parents are unable to pay the full price for the foods. The program is controlled by the National School Lunch, School Breakfast and Special Milk programs.

Local school officials have developed family-size income criteria for determining eligibility, which follows below.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced price meals or free milk. Other families with unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs, special education costs, or disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies of the application are available at the principal's office in each school. Information provided on the forms is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application.

The school principal will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents may address appeals to Richard Buckingham, county cafeteria manager, in care of the Oakland board office to request a hearing on the decision.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the cafeteria department, Garrett County Board of Education, where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

If the number of people in your family is:	...and your income is at or below this level, you are eligible for a free meal and free milk.	If your income falls between Column 2&3, you are eligible for a reduced price meal.*

DNR Announces Bird Hunting Dates

Hunting season dates for mourning dove, rails, woodcock, common snipe, and gallinules have been selected, the DNR Wildlife Administration announced today.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service provided the Maryland Wildlife Administration with a framework from which hunting season dates were selected. The Administration responded to the federal agency on July 24 and the selections will appear in the August 11 Federal Register.

Regular Hunting Seasons

Mourning dove: (split) September 1 to October 14, 1978 and November 14 to December 9, 1978.

Rails (clapper, king, sora and Virginia): September 1 to November 9, 1978.

Woodcock: October 5 to December 8, 1978.

Common snipe: September 15 to December 30, 1978.

Gallinules: September 1 to November 9, 1978.

Seaducks (scoter, eider and old squaw ducks): October 6, 1978 to January 20, 1979.

Special Falconry Seasons

[Hunting with the use of birds of prey]

Mourning dove: (split) September 1 to October 14, 1978 and November 14, 1978 to January 15, 1979.

Rails and gallinules: September 1 to December 16, 1978.

Woodcock: October 5, 1978 to January 19, 1979.

In addition, snipe and seaducks may be hunted with the use of raptors during the regular hunting seasons, because birds of prey are considered regular hunting weapons.

Duck and Goose Seasons

The hunting season dates for ducks, geese, brant, coots and mergansers will be selected in late August after the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has provided the State with framework from which to select these seasons.

DEVELOPING A THIRST — Dedicated members of the Southern High School Band worked up a thirst during field drills last week at Camp Hickory. The group often spent up to 15 hours a day learning their new routines in preparation for the fall marching season.

Ten Win Passes To Broad Ford

Two hundred and fifty chances were sold for the July 4 drawing for 10 free season passes to Broad Ford Recreation Area. The drawing was sponsored by the Oakland Lions and Rotary Clubs and passes were donated by the town of Oakland.

The money for ticket sales will be used for park improvement.

James R. "Smokey" Stanton, president of the town council, stated, "The Mayor and Town Council wish to thank the many persons who have helped with Broad Ford this summer. Many people and groups have helped and cooperated and the results have been made more available to those who use the park.

"The park will have even more improvements for next summer, such as a playground, pavilion, and possibly an ice-skating rink and cross-country skiing for the winter. By returning funds to the park, it can continue to be a good recreational area for our county."

More than 100 people on weekdays and over 400 visitors on weekends have been making use of the park facilities this summer, far exceeding the numbers in previous years. In addition to swimming and picnicking, fishing is a popular activity, particularly for trout and bass.

The park also contains a concession stand which is being operated under the direction of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions and Rotary clubs, manned by CETA workers. The stand provides cold beverages, candy, popcorn, sno-cones, ice cream and snacks of various types from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

CETA employes from the Public Service Employment Office and the Summer Youth program from the Board of Education have been maintaining the area this summer.

HUP, TWO, THREE — Southern High School Band Director, Richard Clever, oversees practice drills during the band camp held last week at Camp Hickory. The participants completed the camp Saturday, with a special performance featuring their new material.

Two Seriously Hurt In Crash

A Garrett County youth remains in serious condition in Sacred Heart Hospital following a two-vehicle collision about 9:45 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Routes 55 and 36 near Frostburg, at Vale Summit.

Ricky Lynn Broadwater, 18, of Grantsville, operator of the car involved, remains a patient at Sacred Heart. Passengers in his car, Carla Simmons, Frostburg, and Lynette F. McKenzie, Finzel, were also hospitalized. Miss McKenzie was taken to Memorial Hospital by the Frostburg Rescue Squad and was also listed in serious condition. Donna Moran, a passenger in the rear seat of the Broadwater car, was treated and released following the mishap.

Driver of the pickup involved, Raymond H. Tighe, Midland, and his two passengers, Alexia L. Rennie, Midland, and Steven L. Strother, Rawlings, were treated and released at Sacred Heart.

According to Maryland state police who investigated, the Broadwater vehicle pulled out from the intersection westbound on Route 36 and was struck broadside by the Tighe truck, northbound on Route 55. After impact, the truck overturned several times and came to rest in a field. The Broadwater car was knocked approximately 167 feet from the intersection and came to rest against an embankment on the north side of the highway.

Charges are pending, according to Cpl. F. L. Yeager, Tfc. O. G. Buckalew and Tfc. J. R. Lashbaugh, who investigated.

TCC Director To Be Introduced

Stephen E. Kocsis, Manchester, N. H., the new executive director to the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, will be presented to the council at its monthly meeting beginning at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Algonquin Motor Inn in Cumberland.

Kocsis will assume his duties here September 5. He succeeds Edward I. Heath, the first director, who resigned effective March 31. Joel Shoap, director of the Western Maryland Area Agency on Aging, has been acting director since April 1.

A revised plan for project package description will be presented to TCC.

The project to establish the position of municipal assistance coordinator for Garrett County seems to be near funding, according to Albert Feldstein, TCC grantsman. The coordinator would serve as a small scale city manager for the eight incorporated communities in this county.

In new business, the League of Women Voters will present its report on the Piney Creek water study. Benjamin E. Berry will submit the first progress report on the fiscal year 1979 project package, which primarily seeks Section 214 funds from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

TCC members also will have the opportunity to meet Bill Sefeker, who is the administrator of a project calling for the study of the economic impact which may face Garrett and Allegany counties involving schools, water and sewer needs if the anticipated coal boom becomes a reality. Sefeker is employed by the State Department of Economic and Community Development but is working out of the Tri-County Council office.

Officer Dead In Philadelphia Battle Between City And MOVE

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — "We demonstrated patience and tolerance for their abuses against our community far and beyond what civilized people have a right to expect," Mayor Frank L. Rizzo said Tuesday, following a gunbattle between police and the radical back-to-nature group MOVE that left one officer dead.

"There is no question that MOVE fired the first shot," Rizzo, the city's former police commissioner, said. "The adversary in this case was an uncivilized foe ... we were forced to cope with according to civilized rules."

A year-long confrontation between the city and MOVE exploded early Tuesday when police, heavily armed with guns and tear gas and supported by firemen with high-pressure water cannon, attempted to evict MOVE members from their ramshackle West Philadelphia home.

But the members, who last week defied a court order to vacate the dilapidated home, defied police as well, touching off a violent shootout in which 23-year veteran Police Officer Joseph Ramp, 52, was killed. Four police officers, five firemen and a MOVE member were wounded.

When the gunfire ceased after about four minutes, twelve MOVE members and sympathizers had been arrested and later were charged with murder, weapons violations and conspiracy.

By midafternoon, bulldozers and cranes had flattened the house. Tear gas was shot into the house and fireman sprayed water from high-powered hoses into the basement where MOVE members had barricaded themselves after refusing to obey the order to surrender given over police bullhorns.

"We gave them numerous opportunities to come out and surrender," said Police Commissioner Joseph O'Neill, who also spoke at the news conference where numerous weapons taken from the house were displayed.

O'Neill said MOVE members pushed a naked baby out the window to use it as a shield. However, he said police grabbed the baby, unharmed.

Eleven children ranging in age from 11 months to eight years, who were taken from the home, were turned over the the Department of Welfare

The police assault on the dilapidated home was a last effort to end a running confrontation dating back to the group's founding in 1972 as the Community Action Movement.

The feud between MOVE and the city became a heated confrontation in May 1977 when city inspectors were prevented from entering the home by armed members. The inspection attempt followed neighbors' complaints about conditions on the property of the group, which rejected modern medicine and technology, buried its garbage in the yard and let dogs and rats roam freely.

A 50-day police blockade designed to starve out MOVE ended May 3 after a court agreement under which MOVE was to surrender weapons, answer all outstanding charges and be freed on their own recognizance, before finally vacating the home.

Their failure to leave at the 12:01 Aug. 2 deadline, led to further warrants to bring 21 members into court, and eventually to the police effort to remove them from the home. Eight MOVE members, not in the home, are still at large.

Swimmer To Earn 50 Cents A Stroke

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Diana Nyad's projected Cuba to Florida swim this week is both an athletic and commercial undertaking, and if the 28-year-old marathon swimmer goes the distance, she'll earn more than $100,000 or about 50 cents a stroke.

Cuba Swim Inc., which has a 24-member staff, is bigger, gaudier and costlier than anything like it before. And it should titillate the same audience that watched Evel Knievel try to jump an Idaho canyon on a rocket-propelled motorcycle.

Miss Nyad said her services contract with Colgate will pay her $35,000 when she reaches Florida, $45,000 for the second year and $50,000 for the third year. She also got the price of a shark cage ($42,000 plus) from Colgate along with $35,000 front money on the service contract for swim expenses.

The shark cage is due in Cuba at noon Thursday, and she should begin her swim Thursday night or Friday if she is to reach Key West before dark on Sunday.

Miss Nyad's publicist, Marcie Rudell, complains critics of the swim's cost and commercialism "simply don't understand that this is an extraordinary event."

It's a media event, and some of the many thousands of dollars to pay for it came from an American television network (NBC), a British newspaper syndicate (Murdoch) and a West German magazine (Der Stern).

If all goes acording to plan, Miss Nyad will spend slightly over 66 hours in the water. At 3,600 strokes an hour, as she estimates, it will take almost 238,000 strokes to negotiate the 105 miles of the Florida Straits. That comes to almost 50 cents per stroke, providing she goes the distance.

During the swun, she will consume mineral water (Perrier) provided by one sponsor and eat yogurt (Dannon) supplied by another And when she is done, she presumably will brush her teeth with the product of a toothpaste maker (Colgate-Palmolive) that paid for nearly one-third of the swim, and has her under an advertising contract

Miss Nyad will swim in a shark cage propelled by outboard motors loaned by still another sponsor (Mercury) The shark cage originally cost $42,000, but now has been modified and operations manager George Post hasn't gotten around to computing a new cost figure, but says it's less than the $60,000 figure used in some published reports.

Aboard the shark cage — which looks like a snow plow mounted on the African Queen — will be at least five persons, including two of Miss Nyad's six trainers. They will be spelled by others shuttled from an escort vessel aboard rubber boats loaned by still another Nyad sponsor.

Media reporters and photographers will be aboard still other boats in the flotilla.

The self-propelled shark cage, which has a top speed of three knots, will be towed across the Florida Straits from Key West and is scheduled to arrive in Cuba sometune Thursday.

Workers Warned Against Cancer

By CHARLES S. ALDINGER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has filmed a television message for 4.5 million shipyard workers in their late 50s and 60s: "You could be a casualty of World War II and not know it."

It's part of a major advertising program announced Tuesday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to warn 11 million people that some of them may get cancer long after exposure to asbestos.

Airborne asbestos dust has been shown to cause cancer and major respiratory problems, which may not show up for 30 or more years after exposure.

Approximately 8 million to 11 million American workers — many now retired or near retirement — have been exposed to asbestos since the beginning of World War II. About 4.5 million were exposed in shipyards during peak war years

HEW said it has sent broadcast public service announcements and printed ads to media outlets nationwide, advising former workers that "even if you feel good, you should check with your doctor. If you smoke, you increase your risk. So quit."

One television message, filmed on a World War II liberty ship, states, "You could be a casualty of World War II and not know it."

Information about asbestos also will be sent to Social Security beneficiaries and special articles will be prepared for publication in military, retirement and union publications

Diseases that may result from exposure to airborne asbestos include asbestosis, a chronic lung ailment producing shortness of breath and lung damage, mesothelioma, a cancer of the chest and abdomen lining, and lung and certain gastro-intestinal cancers.

Explosion Damages Italian Church

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — A bomb explosion damaged the door of the church of Our Lady of the Rosary in a Turin suburb early today in the second attack on Roman Catholic church property in Italy since the death Sunday of Pope Paul VI.

The Turin explosion, which also smashed windows in adjoining buildings, was not immediately claimed by any of the more than 200 terrorist groups of the right and left operating in Italy.

On Monday, two firebombs caused minor damage to the door of a Franciscan monastery at Rimini. An anonymous telephone caller who said he spoke for the "Young Organized Proletarians" told a newspaper: "We did it to celebrate the death of... Paul VI."

Irish Republican Army Battles British

•By FRANK JOHNSTON

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Troops and police battled snipers, stone-throwing mobs and firebombers today in an outlawed Irish Republican Army demonstration against British rule in Northern Ireland.

IRA supporters roamed Roman Catholic areas of the city, hijacking and burning trucks. Troops moving in to break them up came under sniper fire and several police stations were besieged by youth gangs hurling rocks and gasoline bombs. An army patrol fought a brief gunbattle with IRA guerrillas in the heavily pro-IRA Andersonstown district of east Belfast.

Security officials said there were no reports of serious injuries despite widespread property damage in the demonstration to mark the seventh anniversary of Britain's "internment" policy, under which hundreds of suspects in Ulster's sectarian vioancee were held without trial.

They said most of the city was normal, with free movement and traffic, although many shopkeepers pulled down their shutters to avoid damage.

Britain ended internment by December 1976 but the anniversary of its introduction is an annual flashpoint event, used by the IRA nowadays to focus attention on convicted IRA men in the Maze prison.

To meet the threat this year Britain alerted 20,000 troops and police, bolstered by 500 reinforcements flown in from mainland Britain. Security officials said they feared worse violence could come Wednesday night.

Dollar Slides To Record Low Overseas

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar slid to record lows for the second day running on key European money markets today, but recovered slightly against the Japanese yen.

Gold again reacted to the weaker dollar and hit fresh peaks in London and Zurich.

The dollar opened at a new low of 1.6875 Swiss francs in Zurich and slid quickly to 1.67575 against 1.69375 overnight

Dealers said there was no new element in the continuing decline. "The dollar is under pressure everywhere, and it will remain like this as long as Washington doesn't show any interest in its currency," one dealer said.

Another dollar low was registered against the West German Deutschemark in Frankfurt where it opened at 1.98075, down from its record low of 1.9890 at Tuesday's close.

The dollar lost a further 20 points against sterling, opening at $1.9360 to the pound in London, and moved down to $1.9385 in early trading.

The dollar also weakened in Brussels, to 32.14 Belgian francs from 32.30 Tuesday, and Amsterdam where it went to 2.1495 guilders from 2.16 overnight

In Paris, it firmed marginally to 4.[illegible] francs compared with Tuesday's close of 4.3630

It also recovered slightly in Tokyo, closing the day at 187.5565 yen against 187.3040 at Tuesday's close

Gold increased 50 cents to $207.625 an ounce at the Zurich opening and opened at $207 in London, 12¼ cents ahead of Tuesday's close. It was fixed at a record $208 in London, $1.25 over the overnight close

It topped the previous record fix set Aug. 1 by 50 cents.

House Moves Closer To Approving Largest Money Legislation Ever

By HENRY DAVID ROSSO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House moved a step closer to approving the largest single piece of money legislation ever considered by Congress, while the fate of several tax-cut proposals awaited action by the House Rules Committee.

The House moved slowly Tuesday toward approval of $119.2 billion to arm, pay and train the armed forces, rejecting attempts to make across-the-board cuts of billions of dollars from the defense appropriations bill.

House members acted on several amendments Tuesday but put over until Wednesday completion of their work on the bill.

The Rules Committee meets today to decide the fate of several tax-cut proposals in the House, including a $16.2 billion cut approved by the Ways and Means Committee and an $18.1 billion cut endorsed by the administration.

The committee, which determines when and how legislation is brought to the floor and what amendments may come up, seems certain to permit the $16.2 billion Ways and Means Committee version to be voted on by the full House.

The brother of confessed assassin James Earl Ray told reporters during a visit to the Capitol Tuesday Ray has turned down an offer of freedom if he will simply confess he killed Martin Luther King and say how he did it.

Jerry Ray said the offer came two weeks ago from Rep. Harold S. Sawyer, R-Mich., a member of the House Assassinations Committee.

Sawyer could not be reached immediately for comment.

In a related development, the assassinations committee, accused of wiretapping and other illegal operations, was denied any additional funding until it answers the charges and justifies the millions already spent this year.

In other action on Capitol Hill: Ex-mobster Gary Bowdac told a Permanent Investigations subcommittee smuggling and "contract murders" occur in prison as well as outside. He said "we must seriously question whether the Bureau of Prisons is doing all that it can to assure that all of our federal institutions are operated as efficiently as possible."

—Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif., testified before the House Narcotics Abuse Committee the drug PCP, or "angel dust," is "frying" the brains of the nation's youth and is contributing to an atmosphere in which taking drugs or alcohol is as common as Sunday picnics.

—Dr. Robert Hatcher of Georgia told the House Committee on Population none of the 800 women being tested in Atlanta have developed breast cancer from the contraceptive Depo-Provera. The committee is looking into a Food and Drug Administration ban on the controversial drug.

Ninety Cases Of Spotted Fever Reported In Maryland This Year

BALTIMORE (UPI) — There have been 90 cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever reported in Maryland so far this year, a new state record for the disease, and the third highest number in the nation.

Maryland had 74 cases of the disease last year, which tied the previous record which had been set in 1948

So far this year only North Carolina and Virginia have reported more cases of the disease.

Health officials said Tuesday that Rocky Mountain spotted fever has been confirmed as the cause of the death of a 38-year-old Calvert County man and a 50-year-old Harford County man.

Baltimore and every county except Garrett and Somerset have reported cases of the tick fever this year.

Anne Arundel County had the most reported cases with 14, followed by Harford County with 12 and Baltimore County with 10. Baltimore city has had seven cases reported so far.

Dr. Kathleen Acree, the state's chief epidemiologist, said the increased number of cases may be caused in part by better reporting efforts.

Seventeen of the 90 have been confirmed as Rocky Mountain spotted fever

Confirmed cases require a second positive blood test two weeks after the disease is diagnosed.

"After a patient recovers, it's almost impossible to drag him back in for a second blood test," said Dr. Acree. "But this year we're working to confirm every case."

Spotted fever is transmitted by the American Dog Tick and the American Wood Tick, which thrive in tall grass, thickets and fence rows.

A tick becomes a carrier after biting small animals that are infected with the disease. Doctors believe the ticks pass on the disease to children and adults by eliminating wastes into the human bloodstreams while embedded in the skin.

Health officials say only one in 2,000 ticks carry the disease.

Officials at the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., said the number of tick fever cases reported nationally so far this year is below average.

The center has 554 reported cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever so far, compared to 1,115 in 1977, when the number of tick fever cases set a national record.

Officials said half of all Rocky Mountain spotted fever cases are reported in five Middle Atlantic states: Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

Restraining Order Issued Against VEPCO Strikers

MOUNT STORM, WV (UPI) — A restraining order was issued Tuesday night against nearly 200 striking Virginia Electric and Power Company workers who remained off the job in a wildcat strike at the Mount Storm power station.

The strike erupted in protest over deteriorating working conditions at the plant, unnecessary harassment and unreasonable overtime, a spokesman for the workers said.

The firing of two workers on Friday also is believed to be one of the reasons for the strike.

According to a Vepco spokesman, the strike is not supported by Local 2308 of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which represents most of the strikers.

A spokesman for the strikers said Tuesday that, "Most of the men have worked at the plant 10 to 12 years, some working an average of 1,000 hours of overtime a year. We actually work a year and a half to everyone else's year and have no time for our family and no time for vacation."

He added that he considered the 188 strikers, who are protesting the conditions and management at the plant, as fired. The walkout was reported to be the first in the history of the coal-fired power generating station, which was completed in 1964.

The strikers are presently seeking the aid of federal agencies and the state Department of Labor to get the plant's boilers inspected. They are also trying to get legal assistance.

Vepco officials said picketing at the plant had not stopped anyone from reporting to work. Security guards had been stopped, but later allowed to go in.

Tuesday afternoon, West Virginia Delegate Robert Harman, of Keyser, talked to pickets and listened to their complaints. He is reported to have told them he would return today, bringing more representatives with him.

Pope's Body To Be Moved To St. Peter's

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A bier set before the main altar in the Renaissance opulence of St. Peter's Basilica awaits the body of the late Pope Paul VI, who will be buried in the crypts reserved for the tombs of pontiffs of the Roman Catholic church.

The gates of the papal palace at Castel Gandolfo opened at 9 a.m. for a last viewing session at the pontiff's summer residence. Five thousand people had been in line since dawn waiting for a glimpse of the 80-year-old pontiff

The triple casket of oak, cypress and lead prepared for the 262nd successor to the Throne of St. Peter will be sealed tonight for the 15-mile trip to St. Peter's in Rome in a simple four-car cortege.

Israel And Egypt To Hold Labor Day Peace Conference In U.S.

United Press International

Israel and Egypt accepted Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's invitation for a Labor Day weekend summit conference in the United States so readily that U.S. officials returning with Vance today were astounded at the speedy success of his mission.

President Carter, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat are going to Camp David, Md., together Sept. 5 to seek a way to end the deadlock that has stalled the Middle East peace initiative Sadat himself began nine months ago.

He read one to Begin in the Israeli leader's Jerusalem office Sunday. The second he disclosed to Sadat during a leisurely stroll on the Egyptian president's summer house lawn Monday evening.

The letters were invitations from Carter to meet at the summit and, to the astonishment of U.S. officials, each man accepted within minutes, without bothering to consult his government or advisers.

"We did not believe decisions would be made as quickly as they were," said one high State Department official. "Thank God they were. I am surprised they were."

Begin's swift acquiescence was expected, but Sadat's came as a surprise. "I had doubts that Sadat would accept this rapidly," said the official, who had believed Vance "would either get a conditional answer or a desire to go back and reflect ..."

Vance and Sadat met for the second and last time at the president's villa Tuesday night. Then the secretary, in another surprise, announced to reporters the United States was prepared to "play a role as a full partner" in the search for peace.

Sadat was elated. The developments meant the peace process had turned "a new page," he said. "Let us not look back."

But there was some concern that Washington and Cairo might have different views on what constitutes a "full partner." Egyptian officials said it was a "new element," but Vance said, "We have always indicated we were prepared to play a role as a partner, even as a full partner."

At a news conference in Israel following announcement of the summit, Begin said: "I want to express my happiness that President Sadat agreed to participation in this tripartite meeting."

He said the summit will be in the nature of "a free discussion" without a time limit.

Whether the road to the summit would remain as smooth as its start remained questionable. Vance is scheduled to report personally to Carter upon his arrival in Washington tonight.

Hurricane Not Land Threat For Two More Days

MIAMI (UPI) — Cora, the season's first Atlantic hurricane, packed 80 mph sustained winds and gales up to 100 mph today, but forecasters said the storm would not be a threat to land for at least two days.

In an advisory issued at 10:30 p.m. EDT Tuesday, the National Hurricane Center said Hurricane Cora was located at latitude 14.0 north and 45.5 west, or about 1,450 miles east southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico

"Cora will gradually build to about 90 mph in the next 36 hours," said forecaster Joe Pelissier, "but it will still be too far away to hurt anyone immediately."

The hurricane was moving west at 15 to 20 mph, and Pelissier said it would continue to move in that direction and "maybe a little northwest for the next three days."

Weather satellites have been tracking the hurricane, which is still out of range of the Air Force's "Hurricane Hunter" planes.

Pelissier said it was much too soon to predict Cora's path.

"It could just curve out to sea, as some storms do, and never hit land. About one third of the hurricanes that form that far out at that latitude continue on west into the Caribbean Sea. The other two-thirds curve north. Some of them hit the U.S. mainland, some curve out to sea," Pelissier said.

Forecasters had been watching Cora since Sunday, when it still was in the depression stage. It strengthened as it moved westward across the Atlantic.

Meanwhile a tropical depression that had been churning across the eastern Caribbean Sea broke up into an area of rain squalls over the Windward Islands Tuesday and lost its circulation. The hurricane center said it would not issue further statements on the system unless it rebuilds.

Another area also was being watched by forecasters today. A weak trough of low pressure is causing shower activity over the coast areas of the northern central Gulf. This disturbed area was expected drift slowly westward.

Maryland Reports $60 Million Surplus

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland State Comptroller Louis Goldstein said Tuesday that he was surprised to learn at the end of fiscal 1978 that the state had a $60 million surplus.

Goldstein said he wrote Acting Gov. Blair Lee, III, in March, informing Lee that sales tax collections were below projected figures because of the three-month coal strike.

"I was not expecting a $60 million surplus," Goldstein said. "How could I? Ships were idle, people were out of work, no coal was moving. Last March was a dreary-looking time all over this country."

Instead of returning the money to taxpayers via an income tax rebate, as Democratic candidate for governor Theodore Venetoulis has suggested, Goldstein said any state revenue surplus should be invested in a bond annuity fund to boost Maryland's bond rating. The fund also would enable the state to pay cash for capital improvement projects.

Members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department took advantage of the Oakland Sidewalk Sale last Friday and Saturday by selling to shoppers chance tickets on a fiberglass canoe, paddles, and life jackets, which were then awarded Saturday evening. Mark Durst, chairman of the project (pictured above) stated that the department realized profits of approximately $1100 on the drawing. Seven-year-old Jarrod King, of California, won the canoe.

Curt Hutson Breaks Record For Consecutive Roller Coaster Rides

By DiAnne Rook

After 133 times and still going strong, 16-year-old Curt Hutson of Swanton broke the world's record for consecutive roller coaster rides August 1 at King's Dominion in Virginia. The previous record at that park was set by a girl who rode 100 times during a marathon and then passed out

I was dizzy and exhausted after I got off," said Hutson, "but I didn't get sick!"

Hutson and his family traveled to Virginia July 31 and arrived at the amusement park early the next morning. Hutson rode the King Kobra roller coaster for the first time at 11 that morning for what was later to be his first of many rides.

The Kobra is a straight tracked coaster with a 90 foot loop that takes its riders forward and then backwards at speeds up to 65 miles an hour. Riders are instructed to lean their heads back in the bucket seats at takeoff to avoid whiplash!

"I had ridden about 20 times when I decided to go for the record," he said.

To accomplish his feat, Hutson would coast through the 33-second ride, "run as fast as I could" down the exit ramp, back up to the entrance, and then hop on the coaster for another ride. The park offers a one price for all rides deal so that it wasn't necessary for Hutson to pay each time he rode

"Sometunes I had to wait every other ride," he said, but the longest break I took was only five minutes after my 85th time to get a drink." That five minutes was the only break Hutson took all day

Through the first 75 runs Hutson admitted to feeling dizzy and sick, but after that he apparently became used to the erratic motion — or else was numbed!

Riding a coaster 133 times can become old after awhile so Hutson invented various ways to ride. Most of the time he had his hands up in the air while once in a while he would put his head between his knees while going upside down through the loop. According to Hutson, it was quite an experience.

When asked what was going through his mind while he was zooming along, Hutson said that "I wondered how many times I could do it, but mainly I was scared about passing out and maybe being tossed out of the car."

Hutson's parents were unaware of their son's attempt at a world record until his mother came around about 7 that evening to take him to get something to eat. "I'm going to break the world's record," he told his mother. "She thought I was kidding and left!"

Later his father returned and watched his son break the world's record. Commenting on his son's accomplishment, Charles Hutson said, "I think it's something a 16-year-old boy could really get a kick out of doing."

At 8:30 that evening it began to drizzle and continued throughout the evening so the King Kobra was shut down at 9:30 instead of the usual 10 p.m. Hutson had ridden the coaster 133 times (as counted by the operators) and 141 times unofficially.

" I was so dizzy my last trip that I don't even remember it. My father had to help me out of the car when it was all over," he admitted.

After being declared champion," Hutson and his family headed for the five hour drive home with the exhausted rider sleeping the entire way.

Hutson, who is now waiting to see if he will be put in the Guiness Book of World Records, has saved nearly every copy of that book for the last eight years.

"I look through it all the time to see if there is a record I can break," the high school senior stated. Last summer Hutson and a friend collected thousands of aluminum can rings in hopes of seeing their names in the hallowed book. The two were disappointed, however, when the officials said that the collection was too widespread of a thing to use.

Hutson has been a roller coaster fanatic since he first rode one eight years ago at Disneyworld. Included in the coasters he has ridden is the "screaming eagle" at Six Flags Over Mid-America in St. Louis, billed as the tallest, fastest and longest roller coaster in the world.

Coming through his feat with only sore legs, Hutson stated emphatically that he wants to break his own record and that he'd like to try this fall.

"My parents said that I can do it again if I get people to sponsor me and do it for a charity. I'd like to try for 200 consecutive times!" he added. Any organization interested in this venture should call Curt at 387-6327.

Hutson, a senior at Southern High School, plans to enter the Navy after graduation. After the Navy, then what? Hutson is opting for a career as a truck driver or airlines mechanic. It's funny, you'd think after riding a roller coaster 133 consecutive times he'd be ready to have a nice, stationary desk job for the rest of his life.

Survival Floating Is Suggested By Lung Association

Swimming is one of the things that makes summer fun. But every year 8,000 Americans drown.

According to Dr. Reagh Wetmore, aquatics director at Boston University, 95 percent of those who drown could survive — if they knew a simple technique called downproofing, says the American Lung Association.

Downproofing is a kind of vertical floating. The head is underwater, the body is dangling straight down; and the arms are limp. The position takes advantage of the natural buoyancy provided by lungs when they are filled with air and the body does not sink.

People using the technique are able to stay in one place for long periods without tiring. If the stranded nonswimmer or injured swimmer has at least one unharmed arm or leg, it is relatively easy to do a single breast stroke and give a little kick. This raises the head above water and lets the person take a breath every eight to ten seconds. Many Red Cross chapters in Maryland teach the method and start off students in shallow water, letting them also hold onto the edge of the pool when the head goes under.

Sometimes it is necessary in an emergency to move toward shore. In that instance, a travel stroke can be combined with downproofing. After taking a breath and with the head in the water the person can reach forward with the arms, and give a kick. This will move them into a horizontal position; then they can sweep their arms back to the side and glide in this position. To rest, the person can keep resorting to more downproofing.

There are a few people who have great difficulty floating in any direction — vertical or horizontal. For them, experts recommend the travel stroke.

USDA Announces Wool Referendum

Wool and lamb producers will be voting from August 21 through September 1 in a referendum to decide if they approve or disapprove of an agreement which provides for USDA to withhold part of any wool incentive payment that might be made to producers on 1978-81 marketings to finance an advertising and sales promotion program for wool and lamb through the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. (ASPC). Programs would also be financed to develop and disseminate information on product quality and production management.

Approval of the program would authorize deductions of up to 2½ cents per lb. on shorn wool and 12½ cents per hundred weight on unshorn lambs marketed.

County offices will distribute copies of the agreement and ballots to sheep producers in mid-August.

Anyone may vote who has owned sheep six months old or older for at least 30 consecutive days during 1977. Votes may be cast by individuals, corporations or partnerships.

Persons should contact the local ASCS office for more details

Todd hunted with Robin Hood, and Kristen read CINDERELLA while barrels of rain pelted our windows. Mary prepared our chicken dinner in a deep-fryer which frequently became inaudible as thunder rolled and crashed outside. Light flickered brightly on my newspaper, and the radio crackled as electrical discharges split the sky.

Then, somewhere, a tongue of lightning found its mark. The radio became mute, and my newspaper vanished in darkness. The Merry Men and "Gus-Gus" foundered in the dark, and our supper cooled, half-cooked.

Downed lines! A real problem—whether they are the lines that connect the power station and home, or the lines between God and man.

Through the Church and the Bible, our prayer and worship make God's love for us a two-way line. Come to church this Sunday. Let God say, "Power restored!"

DIVINE MADNESS

Lesson for August 13, 1978

Background Scripture: Acts 26
Devotional Reading: 2 Timothy 2:8-13

Festus, the Roman governor, called it "madness." Paul the Apostle for Jesus Christ called it "the sober truth." You must decide for yourselves which man was correct.

Rev. Althouse

The result of the uproar in Jerusalem and Paul's arrest there is a familiar series of legal delays and confusion. Paul is a prisoner whom no one seems to want in his jail. In Acts 26 we see him appearing before both King Agrippa, the Jewish puppet ruler, and Festus, the representative of Rome. The purpose of the hearing is probably to decide whose prisoner he is going to be.

Not Disobedient

Paul is glad to appear before Agrippa because, although the king was hardly a good, law-keeping Jew, he had considerable knowledge of orthodox Jewish background. Thus, reasoned Paul, he would be more likely to understand his gospel than the Romans who didn't understand the Jewish faith and the Messianic hope.

Simply, but comprehensively, Paul tells his story, particularly speaking about the great vision he experienced on the road to Damascus. He is quite specific about this experience because it changed the whole course of his life. Surely, Agrippa could understand the importance of visions if Festus, the Roman, didn't!

Furthermore, Paul states that the vision dominated his life from that moment onwards. "Wherefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision..." (26:20) That statement might very well be the epitaph for his life and ministry. He was not disobedient to the vision! It is what drove him through riots, shipwreck, imprisonment, stoning, beating, etc. His whole life from that point onward was governed by his vision of the Christ on the Damascus Road.

Such As I Am

If Festus — and perhaps Agrippa — found that hard to understand, they were even more astounded when Paul finished by saying he wished that the king and the governor "would become such as I am — except for these chains." Was the man crazy to suggest that these two men of wealth, power and culture would be better off if they were to become like him? Did this crazy man think that with a few words he could convert them to his Christ? No wonder Festus exclaimed: "Paul you are mad; your great learning is turning you mad."

In calling Paul "mad," Festus was really saying: Because I don't understand you, you must be crazy, not me. It is still very much the same today, isn't it? We assume that it we don't understand it must be the other guy who is mixed-up.

Yes, Paul's words did seem quite absurd, it not mad, but today we realize that it is only because of Paul that we even know of Agrippa and Festus. His vision and his obedience to it have stood the test of time. His divine madness has proven to be the world's only sanity.

FOOD REQUIRES EXTRA CARE
Food intake during the summer is another area where lack of knowledge can have unpleasant results. Seafoods, custards, mayonnaise and many other foods don't have much staying power when not properly refrigerated, frozen, or consumed promptly.
Nobody knows how many cases of "food poisoning" are brought about by careless habits of food storage and serving during the summer months, since most go unreported, but you can bet the total is much higher than need be. Pay attention to the warnings and seek information about food poisoning. A lot of needless suffering may be avoided.

TUNES by jim willis

Carly Simon recently called herself "the reluctant songstress" in a recent interview. If holding back produces such unadulterated music, then perhaps other popular artists should stifle themselves a little.

James Taylor's restraint is clearly audible on Carly's new album, Boys in the Trees (Elktra/Asylum); especially in "Devoted to You," an old Boudleaux Bryant hit.

"Devoted to You" is one of the best cuts on the album — simplistic and pure. Dropping the elaborate arrangements and "show-offy" pyrotechnics of Richard Perry in favor of her new mentor, Arif Mardin, is one of Carly's better moves.

Boys is clearly one of a few New York productions. Seemingly, only James Taylor, Carly Simon, Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel have defied the California styling of most recent productions

Boys is lyric, contemporary, and pleasant; — score one for the "Big Apple."

IMAGINE THIS: Tomorrow morning you can serve better pancakes, scrambled eggs, waffles, and French toast than you ever have before. Instead of the milk or water the recipe or mix calls for, pour in Milnot, right from the can. Everything will turn richer and creamier with Milnot. That's because, unlike regular milk or condensed milk, Milnot's made with pure vegetable oil. And keep the can out for your coffee. Milnot gives it a better, richer flavor, too.

Have brighter breakfasts with Milnot.

PET POINTERS

by jim willis

Many of you are now aware of the Garrett County Animal Shelter and the attempts to expand and improve its facilities with the cooperation of Garrett Community College and the County Commissioners. Well, several local people have responded to an apparent need and have formed the Garrett County Animal Shelter Auxiliary.

This new group, organized by Melinda Gank, a former shelter employee, is a non-profit organization which will raise supplemental funds for the shelter.

As its first fund-raising activity, the group has scheduled a Pet Show for 2 p.m., Saturday, August 26, at the Loch Lynn Elementary School. Entry fee is $1.50 and animals should be restrained on a leash, be well-groomed and have their shots. Puppies and kittens under 12 weeks old should not be entered.

The show is open to all pets and they will be judged on the basis of personality, grooming and health. In some groups, obedience and "tricks" will be considered as well as unique characteristics such as "cutest puppy," "oldest cat" as well as Best In Show. There will be several judges for the various events including myself.

The show will award prizes, ribbons and trophies to winners and a nominal donation will be asked from spectators.

So, why not enter your pet or just come and watch? Besides having an enjoyable time you'll be helping the Garrett County Animal Shelter to better care for unwanted strays.

MAKING A SMALL ROOM LOOK BIGGER

There are many ways that you can use the right furniture and the right decorating ideas to make any smaller room seem bigger.

I'm going to list for you some of the ways of achieving it.

1. Use some more light colors. Light colors make a room look larger while many dark colors make it contract.
2. Use such things as two smaller pieces for one bigger one; for example, two smaller tables instead of one extra large one.
3. Use mirrors; mirrors give the illusion of adding space.
4. If you buy furniture or accessories with patterns, choose some smaller patterns.
5. Wall-to-wall carpet makes an area look bigger.
6. Try some pictures with deep perspectives; outdoor scenes - landscapes or seascapes that seem to show miles of space - add depth to a room.
7. Don't overcrowd a small room; create an impression of space.
8. Use some occasional chairs and some smaller-scaled furniture.

Those are just some of the ideas, and for the right selection of furniture for a small room - or any room - in your home, stop in. We're here to help you.

So, please feel free to stop in and see us at your convenience. We're here to serve you.

Mishaps Injure Several In Week

Quite a number of persons were injured in motor vehicle accidents last Friday and Saturday at various locations.

One man was injured in a two-vehicle mishap in Kitzmiller last Friday afternoon. Charles David Kelly, 27, Elk Garden, W. Va., was thrown from his motorcycle, and taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Elk District Rescue Squad. Kelly was southbound on Md. 38 at Main Street as Ralph Lewis Lucas, Baltimore, was headed east on Main Street. Lucas failed to grant the right-of-way and pulled directly into the path of the motorcycle. Tfc. L. R. Rosage charged Lucas with failing to yield the right-of-way and Kelly with failing to display registration plates.

About 8 p.m. the same day the operator of a farm tractor and one person riding with him were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. Larry W. Kifer, 23, RD 1, Oakland, and his rider, Clarence W. Sterling, P. O. Box, Mt. Lake Park, were both thrown from the farm tractor they were riding, on Rt. 135 east of Sand Flat road. Kifer attempted to make a U-turn and overturned the tractor. Tfc. Rosage investigated.

About an hour later four persons were injured in a two-car mixup in Accident. David Duane Meyers, RD 1, Accident, the driver of one vehicle, seemed to be slightly injured. The other three were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad They were: Thomas Eugene Kovalhuk, 21, Monessen, Pa., driver of the car, and two passengers, Connie Friend, RD 1, Addison, Pa., and Robert Billick, 18, Monessen, Pa. Kovalhuk was traveling south on U. S. 219 and exceeding the posted speed limit of 25 mph. Meyers, westbound on Friend Ct., failed to yield the right-of-way to the Kovalhuk car and was struck by it on the right side. Tfc. R. B. Westmoreland investigated and made the charges.

Just before dawn Saturday, three persons were injured in a one-car mishap on U. S. 48 about one and a half miles west of Md. 42. Kathy S. Toepfer, 21, Morgantown, W. Va., was westbound and apparently fell asleep at the wheel, ran off the road, struck a guard rail and overturned the vehicle, which came to rest on its top. The injured passengers were Richard D. Mayfield, 18, and William T. Toepfer, 22, both of Morgantown, W. Va. Tfc. Dale Williams investigated.

Three more persons were injured later that same day in a two-car mishap on the Mayhew Inn road just west of Lake Shore drive about 7 p.m. Helen Grey Cooper, 34, driver, Michael Cooper, 7, and Anatt Cooper, 10, all of RD 5, Oakland, were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. John J. Haspert, Baltimore, was westbound on the Mayhew Inn road as the Cooper car was eastbound. Helen Cooper failed to keep to the right side of the road and struck the Haspert car in the side. Tfc. Westmoreland made the charge.

Three Are Guilty In Storehouse Breaking

Three Cumberland men pleaded guilty of storehouse breaking and Judge Fred A. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation in each case.

Michael Lee Kasecamp, 19, James Howard Finzel, 19, and Thomas Edward House, 22, all of Cumberland, pleaded guilty of storehouse breaking of the Route 40 School last February. Judge Thayer ordered the presentence investigation. Bond set in District Court was continued.

Russell R. Perando, RD 4, Deer Park, pleaded not guilty of battery on Annabelle Perando as of April 2, before a jury on August 1. The jury sustained the plea in the trial presided over by Judge Thayer.

Health and Safety Tip

From the American Medical Association

RELAX AND KEEP COOL

Is the heat wearing you down?

It's hot in most of the United States in mid-summer. In the desert and in the south it's even hotter. But July and August is hot all over, even in the mountains.

Regardless of whether you blame the heat or the humidity, it's still hot.

There's nothing you can do about the outside temperature. Unless you are fortunate enough to have an air conditioned office or shop, home and auto, there's nothing much you can do about it inside either.

But there are some things you can do to be more comfortable, things that will help you beat the heat, the American Medical Association points out.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing, the less the better. The ladies have an edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on your physician's advice, particularly if you have liver or kidney trouble or a heart condition.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet and don't go overboard on cold cuts and salads, unless you like them anyway.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk in the evening. Try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day.

You need exercise in the summer as well as in the winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days. Don't overdo physical exertion, whether at work or play.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense, and you can beat the heat — at least somewhat.

Johns Named To Tetrathlen Team

Eric Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johns, Mt. Airy, departed for England Tuesday, August 8, to compete as a member of the United States Pony Club Tetrathlen Team against the British and Canadian teams. The Johns are former residents of Oakland.

Participants in the event must ride a horse over a stadium course of 16 obstacles set at 3 feet 6 inches, shoot a pistol from ten meters, swim 200 yards, and run 3000 meters.

The weekend prior to his departure for England, Eric won the Individual Championship and was a member of the championship team at the Inter-Regional Tetrathlen Senior competition at Kent, Conn.

The 16-year-old youth spent almost seven weeks in training at the Modern Pentathlen Training Center at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas. In this competition fencing is added to the aforementioned sports. The first four weeks he was on the training squad with members of the US Olympic Junior Team and was named first alternate to the Olympic Sports Festival held in Colorado Springs the last week in July. The last three weeks were spent with the team members of the U. S. Pony Club Team as they prepared for the international competition.

Assessment Answers

By James Burley

Q. I saw in the paper that if there was any question about the property tax to get in touch with you. I am a widow, eighty-one years old, and just finished paying for my property through the savings and loan association. Last year, they paid my taxes which were $376.04. This July, I have to pay them, and the assessment is $1,000 more. In 1952, I paid only $6,500 for my house, and there has been no improvement.

I am on a fixed income of only $177.80 monthly. Could I hear from you in the near future as I am afraid I will lose my home? I do not get that tax credit for the aged.

A. The fact that you have not been getting the tax credit for the aged is disturbing because your circumstances, as you describe them, indicate that you are eligible.

Your annual income, amounting to $2,133, would limit your tax liability to $32. Any taxes over this would be subject to a tax credit. This would amount to at least $335, as you are a "full credit" homeowner. An application has already been mailed to you. Complete and return it as soon as possible, carefully following the instructions that are given. You can get help from the assessments office with this if you need it.

The reason you have not been benefiting from the property tax program could very well be due to the fact that until now your property taxes were being paid through the lending institution, and not directly by you. That you lost your benefits for earlier years is unfortunate, but your letter may alert others who may be in similar situations. Surely, there are many homeowners out there paying on their mortgages who must fall into the category of the elderly, disabled, or low income. I hope, for their sake, that any bank or lending institution officials reading this column will develop a method of notifying their borrowers so that they can get the advantage that the law intended.

Q. Although I am over sixty years of age, this year, for the first time, I applied for a real estate tax reduction using the "circuit breaker" form.

Now my question. Do I wait and see what happens to that or do I get the new form and fill it out?

I know I should be able to understand this, but I don't.

Would you be good enough to help me?

A. You should wait awhile and not file a new application as this might only complicate matters. The new form you speak of is only for those who are under sixty years of age.

If you filed your application early enough, the circuit breaker credit should be shown on your tax bill. If not, and if the tax bill has not been paid, a revised tax bill will be issued reflecting the credit. If the tax has been paid and a credit is due, a refund check will be issued to you automatically. This is the system that is in effect for The City, which is your case, as well as for homeowners in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, and Prince George's Counties. The twenty remaining counties issue credit certificates which can be redeemed or applied against the property tax.

If the credit allowance has not been deducted from your tax bill, or if you do not receive your refund or credit by mid-August, get in touch with your local assessments office immediately and make certain that your application has been received. There could be a slim chance that it was lost in the mail, and you might have to submit a new one.

The deadline for submitting applications has been extended to October 1, for this year only. Normally, the deadline is September 1.

Q. After a family conference, the following questions have arisen relating to information we have read in your column on the Circuit Breaker Tax Credit for people under sixty:

1. What will be the proof of income at tax time?
2. Will the proof include the W-2 Form, and, if so, what year?
3. If an unemployed female person has a title of a home in her name only acquired through a divorce and has since remarried but has not added her husband's name to the title, whose salary will the tax credit be based on?
4. When the tax forms come due the end of May, where will they be taken to figure out what is due or will forms come with them to fill out and send in?

A. The first two questions can be answered together. Your tax return will be the primary proof of income. If you filed a Federal Income Tax Return, then you must file a copy of this return, together with all other supporting data and accompanying schedules, with your application for the property tax credit. Your property tax credit is based upon your income as reported for the previous year. Remember that you have certified to the accuracy of your return subject to the penalties for perjury.

The combined income of all persons residing in the dwelling for which the credit is requested must be included unless such persons can be claimed as dependents for IRS purposes, or unless such persons are paying reasonable fixed charges. Spouses on income tax returns are claimed only as exemptions, never as dependents. In your case, your husband's income would, of course, be shown along with all other persons residing in your home.

Your property tax will arrive on or after July 1, not the end of May, and it will show the gross amount of the tax. Meanwhile, you should obtain one of the new, blue applications which are for those homeowners who are under sixty years of age. Complete it and send it in, in accordance with the instructions on the form. These forms are now available through most banks, libraries, and your local assessments office.

Questions or letters of general interest on assessments and the property tax should be addressed to 'Assessment Answers — James Burley' in care of this newspaper. They will be answered through this column to the extent that space allows.

This column was written with the co-operation of the Maryland State Department of Assessments and Taxation.

The employees chose from a list of ten career discussion groups, the two which most interested them.

Area career persons who helped with the program were: Pam Biser, teacher; Bill Ewing, who spoke about attending college; Dave Gaither, building construction; Sgt. Kilduff, army; Ross Knotts, truck driver; Dot Nice, secretary; Dan Seib, social work; Willis Shaffer, automobile work; Sarah Smith, jobs with foods and George Stanya, coal.

The CETA Summer employees work as forestry aides, Library aides, Custodial aides, Office aides and Recreational aides at 39 different worksites throughout the county. These jobs are useful to both the public and the individual hired. For many employees this is their first work experience, for others CETA Summer Youth Program provides money for the return to school or college, and for still others still CETA provides initial training needed to find productive employment.

Enrollees work an 8 week period during the summer and receive a minimum wage.

In addition to having hands-on experience with the working world, CETA employees had the opportunity to take advantage of learning how to fill out job applications, learning to fill out income tax forms, view movies relating to many different job areas, etc.

Helping organize and cordinate the CETA Summer Youth Program were George Brady, Director; Elmer Redinger, Deputy-Director; Kevin Liller, Robin Harvey, Doris Opel, and Carma White.

These young women appear to be interested in a career in foods as Sarah Smith explains the trade to them.

Ross Knotts explains the life of a truck driver to a group of attentive CETA youngsters.

DNR Urges Hunters To Follow Rules

With Maryland's 1978-79 hunting season scheduled to begin September 1, the Inland Division of the Natural Resources Police urged hunters to follow rules of safety and courtesy.

Sgt. Thomas Turner, who heads DNR's hunter safety program, pointed out that it is mandatory for all first-time hunters regardless of age to take a hunter safety course.

In order to purchase a license for the 1978-79 season, an applicant must produce a certificate of competency showing he has taken the hunter-safety course, or a hunting license issued prior to July 1 or sign an affadavit that he had such a license.

Last year, Sgt. Turner said, a record high of 15,511 took Maryland's safety course.

Last hunting season, there were 41 accidents in Maryland, only one of them fatal.

Maryland's statewide resident hunting license costs $8.00 or $1.25 for residents 65 or older and $2.50 for residents under 16.

The big game stamp for deer or turkey is $5.50 or $1 for hunters 65 or older.

The state waterfowl stamp is $1.10 and the Federal stamp, $5.

Gun Storage and Care

1. Guns should be stored unloaded, under lock and key, out of reach of children and others not qualified to handle them.
2. Ammunition should be locked up also, preferably separate from the guns.
3. Guns, ammunition and bow-hunting equipment should be well cared for and inspected before use. A malfunction could result in a misplaced shot and possibly injure the hunter or a companion.

Sgt. Turner added:

"Both law and courtesy require asking permission to hunt on private property. Hunting seasons do not give anyone the right to trespass on private property. This has been one of the main reasons why many landowners have stopped letting hunters on their land. Have respect for another person's property. When leaving the property, notify the landowner, thank him and offer him some of your game.

"Hunting is a privilege enjoyed by thousands of people and it can be a dangerous sport unless you are prepared and competent in firearms and hunter safety. If conducted properly, hunting can remain an enjoyable privilege and need not result in an accident.

For more information concerning firearms and hunter safety or for anyone who wishes to comment on firearms and hunter safety training, contact Sergeant Turner, Firearms and Hunter Safety Program, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Md. 21401.

"My thanks & appreciation!"

To the residents of District 1-A:
"Let's Communicate!"

The best way to determine what people think about issues is to communicate with them. Here's what I plan to do to keep the lines open:

1) I will do the best job that I can do for all the people of District 1-A.
2) I will have "contact people" in different areas of the District. This is done basically to get your problems and concerns to me more quickly and to keep the lines of communication open.
3) I will have meetings in the evenings in the various communities throughout District 1-A to give people an opportunity to express their views and concerns. This type of meeting has proven very successful for me as a Commissioner.
4) I will work closely with the Counties and Municipalities on local concerns.

You, the residents of District 1-A, have good ideas. My commitment is to give you an opportunity to express them.

Kirk Casteel Receives Commission

At Commencement Exercises at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, on May 27, Kirk David Casteel, son of the late William A. Casteel, Oakland, and Mrs. Harry Johnson, Montville, N. J., was awarded a Bachelor of Science Degree in Communications Electronics.

Following the graduation, an NROTC Commissioning ceremony was held at which Casteel was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps. Administering the Oath of Office to Lieutenant Casteel was his uncle, Lt. Col. E. Robert Watson, USMC (Retired), husband of the former Elaine Casteel of Oakland.

While a midshipman in the NROTC Unit at Iowa State University, Lieutenant Casteel held many honors including serving as Battalion Commander of the Marine Unit and Commander of the Drill Team that won numerous awards in competition with other NROTC drill teams throughout the country. He also made television recruiting commercials for the NROTC program that were shown on television stations throughout the Mid-West area.

At the Iowa State Spring Review Awards Ceremony he received the Gold Medal Honor Award "in recognition of Outstanding Military Leadership and Academic Excellence while majoring in courses leading to a career in Communications Electronics; and was awarded a Marine Officers' sword by the Marine Corps League of Ames, for being their choice as the outstanding Marine Option Cadet in his class.

Travelling to Iowa to attend the commencement and commissioning ceremonies from Oakland was Lieutenant Casteel's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Arnold E. Fox, along with her daughter, Mrs. Sam B. Kyle, Jr., Bridgeport, W. Va.

ASCS To Conduct Wool Referendum

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) will conduct a referendum August 21 through September 1 for wool and lamb producers to vote for or against a new agreement between the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. (ASPC). Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Committee said the agreement authorized USDA to withhold part of any wool incentive payment that might be made to producers on 1978-81 marketings to finance the ASPC's activities. "Deductions would be used by the ASPC to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb, and programs to develop and disseminate information on product quality, production management, and marketing improvement for wool and sheep."

If producers approve the agreement, up to 2½ cents per pound on shorn wool marketings, and 12½ cents per hundredweight on unshorn lambs, would be deducted.

Copies of the agreement and ballots will be distributed to Maryland wool producers after August 15. Ballots may be returned by mail or in person to the county ASCS office.

According to Crowl, the new agreement is similar to one approved in 1974.

Look Hooper I don t want you running in here every five years asking for a raise!"

OVER OR UNDER-SPENDING

Some people spend more than they can afford when buying a house. Equally painful is the mistake of buying the cheapest possible house and then suffering through its shortcomings.

I have no intention of stating how much anyone can afford for a house. This is a very personal decision. There are guidelines of monthly averages that lending institutions use for housing expenses. But — like the "height/weight" charts printed on scales — these are only averages.

Don't hold back if you feel you can exceed the guidelines. When you are willing and sufficiently disciplined to economize on other expenses, you can get a better house than the average calls for. A good house may seem costly, but the rewards are well worth it. Investing in a house that's a little more expensive gives you an excellent inflation hedge while your whole family enjoys a better place to live. And often, the resale opportunity is brighter.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

Line Striping Project Underway On County Roads

Bare roads throughout the area have been getting a new look over the past few weeks, as yellow and white marking lines have been painted for the first time ever on county roadways.

The line striping ia an outgrowth of the 1973 Federal Highway Safety act, providing a two-year demonstration project which will affect 139 miles. The project is fully-funded by the government for the first two years, with all painting and maintenance to be the responsibility of the county. The county will be reimbursed for the amounts spent for the two-year demonstration period.

Approximately half of the striping work has been done, according to Herb McCrobie, county roads administrative engineer. Selected roads under 20 feet wide are receiving yellow center striping, while roads wider than 20 feet will be getting both yellow center and white edge lines.

The project was originally begun in the summer of 1974, when the 139 miles were submitted for the inclusion in the program.

Also as part of the Federal Highway Safety Act, a paint truck and a flatbottom truck will be purchased for line striping for the three western Maryland counties. These pieces of equipment will also be 100 percent federally funded, and will be used to provide an additional 25 miles of striping this summer, and for maintenance of the line in future years.

Gasoline Use Growing Half As Fast As In '77

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced recently that gasoline consumption in Maryland grew only about half as fast in the Fiscal Year 1978 reporting period as in the previous fiscal year. State motor vehicle fuel tax revenues also grew slower in FY 1978 than the previous year.

The growth in both categories during Fiscal Year 1977 was the fastest since the Arab Oil Embargo.

"Gasoline consumption in Maryland totaled 2,011,993,395 gallons during the Fiscal Year 1978 reporting period, an increase of nearly 2.2 percent over gasoline consumption in the previous twelve month period, which amounted to about 1.97 billion gallons," Mr. Goldstein said. "This slowdown in the growth of gasoline use could be a reflection of a genuine conservation trend as well as the higher prices recently noted in surveys by the Automobile Club of Maryland."

Motor vehicle registrations grow by approximately six percent each year in Maryland.

Net motor vehicle fuel tax revenue for Fiscal Year 1978 totaled $194,757,610, an increase of 2.96 percent over the $189,167,323 collected during Fiscal Year 1977.

While the revenue from gasoline sales is stabilizing, revenue from the 9 cents per gallon tax on diesel fuel grew by nearly 10 percent during Fiscal Year 1978. The increasing number of automobiles and small trucks now being sold with diesel powered engines is having a dramatic effect on the make-up of motor fuel tax revenues," Mr. Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that, of the $194.8 million in motor fuel tax revenues, $191,105,999 has been distributed to the Transportation Trust Fund, administered by the Maryland Department of Transportation. Portions of this revenue are redistributed to Maryland subdivisions.

In addition, $480,165 was distributed to the Waterways Improvement Fund and a like amount to the Fisheries Research and Development Fund administered by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Grain Storage Survey Results Are Released

Preliminary results of a recent storage capacity survey conducted by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), shows that Maryland has a farm storage capacity of 25.5 million Bushels. Commercial storage space amounts to 42.2 million bushels, for a total storage capacity of 67.7 million bushels.

"This indicates that considerable space is available, but more could be needed for the 1978 harvest and the grain reserve," Paul A. Crowl, an official of the agency, said. The success of the Reserve Program is dependent upon sufficient storage space.

ASCS loaned money to farmers to construct more than half a billion bushels of storage space last year, and over 151 million bushels through June 30 of this calendar year. Increased grain production and carryover stocks necessitated more space both on and off the farm.

The survey also reveals that Maryland farms have the capacity to store 21 million bushels of shelled corn, oilseeds, and other grains; 2.9 million bushels of ear corn; and 1.6 million bushels of high moisture grain.

"Prior to the survey, there was limited knowledge of the storage capacity in Maryland," Crowl said. Questionnaires requesting storage data were mailed to all farm operators. "Most farmers responded favorably to the request." The survey was conducted to determine whether or not sufficient storage space would be available for grain placed in the reserve and the 1978 harvest.

According to Crowl, the national storage capacity totaled 16.8 billion bushels. "This includes 9.9 billion bushels of farm storage and 6.9 billion bushels of commercial storage." U. S. farms have the capacity to store 8.1 billion bushels of shelled corn, oilseeds, rice, dry beans and other grains; 1.1 billion bushels of ear corn; and 732 million bushels of high moisture grain.

Counties To Share Tobacco Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that State tobacco tax revenues for the fourth quarter of Fiscal Year 1978 yielded $4,076,179 in shared revenues for Maryland's twenty-four political subdivisions.

"Checks totaling that amount are now being mailed to Baltimore City and Maryland's twenty-three counties. We return three cents of the ten cent per pack cigarette tax to the subdivisions in proportion to the "population," Mr. Goldstein said.

For the past quarter Baltimore City will receive the largest check ($901,339). Prince George's County will get $640,568, Baltimore County $605,449, Montgomery County $556,470 and Anne Arundel County $340,700. Garrett County will receive $23,787.19.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1978 the total amount returned to the subdivisions amounts to $15,846,189. The distribution for the Fiscal Year 1978 was 1.57% less than the Fiscal Year 1977 distribution.

The general public thinks people are on a constant search for money - wrong. Man's major quest is for "high fidelity."

What is "high fidelity?," you may rightfully ask. Well, remember when you were 16 and listened to the top 40 tunes via a transistor radio. That's no longer good enough for today's music connoisseur.

Last night I travelled to Morgantown with two friends to look at stereo systems. What happened to the good old "close and play" phonographs? The new stereo systems require a degree in Japanese engineering to operate. And a "system" is at least a tape deck, turntable, tuner, amplifier and two or more speakers.

I walked into the stereo store and my eye caught a really nice piece of equipment. "May I help you?" she said.

"Sure," I stammered, "tell me about this, uh, unit."

"Is this a proposal?" I asked.

"What?" she said.

"I mean you just said 'wow and flutter.'"

"Huh?"

"Never mind," I sighed, "how much is it?"

"Three hundred and sixty dollars."

"I'll take it," I said.

Then she asked me what other equipment I had.

"Aren't you getting a bit personal?" I asked. She was not amused.

She then explained I at least needed speakers, and preferably "air suspension."

"Great - I have this really small living room - but I didn't know you could suspend speakers in the air."

She turned green and patronizingly pointed out that "air suspension" was the manner in which the music was extracted from the speakers.

"I'll take one."

"One? - but you need two," she sputtered.

"No I don't - I'm deaf in one ear," I joked. She didn't smile.

She then generously "threw in" the remainder of the equipment . . . for 400 more clams. What a deal. (She muttered something about "one being born every minute.")

It took a hydraulic forklift to get the "system" out to the car. She meanwhile completed the sales receipt, sold me a license to operate the thing and filled out warranty cards.

"Well," she said, "I guess this makes you a real audiophile."

"Watch it," I said, "I may not be one of your favorite customers, but -"

"No," she said, "I meant that as a compliment."

"Oh," I grumed sheepishly.

By the way, what are you doing after work tonight?"

She smiled sweetly and said, "I'm going home, taking three Valiums, and I'm gonna try and forget all about today."

Strike one.

Evans' Return From Tour Of Scotland

The Almanac

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 9, the 221nd day of 1978 with 144 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars, Venus and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

English Author Izaak Walton was born Aug. 9, 1593.

On this day in history:

In 1831, the first train in the United States to be drawn by a steam locomotive made a run between Albany and Schenectady, N. Y.

In 1945, more than half of the Japanese city of Nagasaki was destroyed when the United States dropped its second atomic bomb.

In 1970, 54 American citizens were among 99 persons killed when an airliner crashed in Peru.

In 1974, President Nixon's resignation became effective at noon and Vice President Gerald Ford was sworn in as the nation's 38th chief executive.

Suds Tax Revenue Checks Are Mailed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced recently that the beer tax collected by his office for the last quarter of Fiscal Year 1978 generated $1,141,731 for Maryland's 24 subdivisions. "Checks totaling that amount are being mailed to Baltimore City and Maryland's 23 counties bringing the total beer tax distributed to $4,195,538.

For the fourth quarter the subdivisions receiving the largest checks were: Baltimore City ($234,683), Baltimore County ($188,927), Prince George's ($182,016), Anne Arundel ($112,622), and Montgomery ($101,939). Garrett County received $6043.87.

For the full twelve months of Fiscal Year 1978, Baltimore City received $876,181. Baltimore County derived $695,434; Prince George's, $685,056; Anne Arundel, $406,049; Montgomery, $365,420; Washington, $120,141 and Harford, $114,069. Garrett County received $23,130.82.

One-half of the 9 cents per gallon beer tax is distributed to the political subdivisions based on gallons of beer delivered within each jurisdiction by licensed wholesalers.

New Council For Women Gets Grant

A new women's group, known as the Council on Appalachian Women, has been awarded an unusual grant by the Appalachian Regional Commission. The grant — $54,630 for one year — marks the first federal recognition that women are a significant force in Appalachia and the first federal attempt to support women's efforts to improve their situations throughout the Appalachian region.

The Council on Appalachian Women will use the money to establish a resource center in Mars Hill, North Carolina on the campus of Mars Hill College and to work on a wide variety of projects to meet the needs of Appalachian women.

The council seeks the involvement of as many women as possible in its activities. Interested women are urged to write or phone for more information. The Council on Appalachian Women, Inc., P. O. Box 490, Mars Hill, North Carolina 28754 (704) 689-1228.

CONSERVATION CAMP — The Maryland State 4-H Conservation Camp was held at the Western Maryland 4-H Center near Bittinger, from July 24 to the 29. This year's theme for the camp was "You, Me, and Energy." Campers explored various energy related topics including renewable and nonrenewable sources of energy and energy conservation. During the week, campers were given the choice of going on a raft trip on the Youghiogheny River or a canoe trip on the Savage River. The camp was open to Maryland youth who are 14 years old or over. Garrett County had several 4-H youth in attendance. Among them were, Alonzo Ray, Chuck Ward, John Mouck, Tim Fostek, Karen Dishong, Rick Platter, Melanie Ryan and Carrinelle Stemple.

Criminal Justice Group Developes Arson Resolution

The National Conference of State Criminal Justice Planning Administrators has passed a resolution urging total criminal justice system support of increased reporting and more intensive investigation of crimes of arson. The resolution is being sent to Attorney General Griffin B. Bell and national and state criminal justice agencies, according to Richard C. Wertz, chairman of the National Conference.

The five-fold resolution calls for the complete reporting of arson through a uniform reporting system; increased training for fire fighters and police officers in the recognition of suspicious fires, and more stringent standards on fire insurance claims with guidelines for payment delays until proper investigation is made. Further, the resolution recommends that insurance companies inspect property before insurance is sold and again when an increase is requested; and that insurance companies provide information about a policyholder's fire history with arson investigators.

"The resolution was drafted because we found arson to be a serious and rapidly increasing crime," Wertz explained.

"Arson often goes unreported because no uniform arson reporting system exists in many states and because it is classified as a Part II (less important) offense."

Last year, 1,000 citizens and 45 firefighters were killed in arson-related fires and nearly $1.5 billion in losses were incurred nationally.

In Maryland, there were 639 arsons last year, an increase of 8.7 per cent above 1976. The State has adopted a uniform reporting system with 200 of its 325 fire departments already in compliance. Total compliance is expected by January, 1979.

State/Local Fiscal Relationship Revealed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that an anaylsis by his office revealed that local property tax rates for Fiscal Year 1977 might have been higher by a statewide average of $6.11, were it not for various funds returned by the State to the 23 counties and Baltimore City.

The report was prepared in response to legislation enacted during the 1978 session of the Maryland General Assembly.

"Our analysis reveals that the State returned 42% of its revenue from taxes, licenses and fees to the 23 counties and Baltimore City during Fiscal Year 1977. When this revenue is added to the Federal funds returned to the subdivisions as a result of State contributions to local programs, and to the various State administered local revenues, such as the local income tax which we collect for the subdivisions, the total returned to Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City amounts to $1.747 billion," Comptroller Goldstein said.

"I think the Willoughbys know something we don't."

The potential effect on local property tax rates of the revenue distributed to the subdivisions ranged from a high of $14.58 in Baltimore City to a low of $1.80 in Worcester County. "If local governments had been forced to raise that revenue, the property tax rate in almost every Maryland county would have at least doubled," Mr. Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that State funds totaling $1.118 billion were returned to the subdivisions in Fiscal Year 1977. "This includes shared revenues such as highway user revenues, alcohol and tobacco taxes, as well as direct appropriations and grants for public education, police protection, public health, social services and teachers retirement," Mr. Goldstein said. "Federal funds for local health, education and social service programs totaling $211.8 million were returned to the 23 counties and Baltimore City and $417.6 million State Administered local revenues were returned to the local governments."

Error Noted In Hunting Guide

The DNR Wildlife Administration announced recently that the information concerning the flintlock season for deer printed in the "Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 1978-79" is incorrect. The Deer Flintlock season, Dec. 7-9, inclusive, should read Deer Muzzle Loader season.

The hunter's guide states that only flintlock weapons may be used during the special muzzle loader deer season. This is incorrect. Three Programs Implemented To Aid Poor, Elderly

Maryland's Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene Dr. Neil Solomon, has announced the implementation of three programs which aid the poor and elderly in the State. They are:

1. A broadening of Medicaid eligibility standards that could benefit up to 20,000 low income persons.
2. An increase in the number of home visit days permitted nursing home patients covered by Medicaid.
3. Institution of new levels of licensing and reimbursement for nursing home patients.

There is a broadening in the Medical Assistance (Medicaid) income standards used to determine eligibility for the Medical Assistance Program. This revision could potentially benefit 20,000 low income persons in the State. The Medical Assistance eligibility process is primarily based on an income standard according to family size although other factors are evaluated.

Over the past decade, since the Medical Assistance Program began, there have not been significant increases in the Medical Assistance income standards and the rising cost of living has affected a number of these persons adversely.

The total cost to provide health care benefits for these individuals will be approximately $16.3 million over the next 12 months. The Federal government will contribute $6.7 million towards the cost and State General Funds will pay for the remaining $9.6 million. Money for this additional coverage was included in the State budget by Acting Governor Lee and approved by the General Assembly.

Also now effective is another regulation change so that a Medical Assistance patient in a nursing home is permitted up to 18 days of home leave in a calendar year. The previous limitation for home leave was 10 days. The three-day maximum for any visit has been dropped from the Maryland law. As an example of the benefits which will result, this liberalization permits a patient to visit an out-of-town relative which may not have been possible with the three-day limitation.

A new high level of nursing home service known as "Extended Care" is available for individuals requiring very substantial skilled nursing care. This level of care represents a type of intensive nursing service previously not generally available to Medicaid patients in nursing facilities, and is aimed at relieving the inappropriate and expensive retention of these patients in general hospitals.

In addition, the Department combined two former levels of care into a new level known as comprehensive care. This change will reduce the number of inappropriate or unnecessary changes of patients between levels of care which often meant physical transfer of patients between facilities.

The maximum per diem Medicaid reimbursement rate is $56.66 for extended care and $31.01 for comprehensive care.

Farmers Reminded To Control Weeds On Set-Aside Acres

Farmers participating in the Set-aside Program are reminded that allowing weeds to go to seed on set-aside acreage is considered as a violation of program regulations. A percentage of the farms participating in the program, will be visited to determine if the program requirements are being met.

Producers will be allowed to work the land in preparation for seeding fall crops whenever it is the normal practice, such as plowing to prepare land for seeding wheat, barley, or alfalfa this fall.

Persons should contact the local county ASCS office if they have questions regarding program requirements.

Health Systems Agency Hears Quarterly Reports

Quarterly reports were given concerning the May-July activities at the August 3 meeting of the governing Board of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland. Commissioner Sterling E. Bollinger, Sr., president, presided.

Committees reporting were finance, bylaws, personnel, plan development and date collection, health resources development, special health services and state and federal certification advisory committees.

The Board was notified that the copies of the Health Systems plan an annual implementation plan, as well as the agency's application for full designation, were mailed to or delivered to Region III agencies and the governor's office as scheduled. The Governing Body allowed the state and federal certification advisory committee 90 days to develop the acute care bed need projections.

Thirteen projects have been recommended to the Maryland Health Planning and Development Agency for a total estimated cost of $23,908,600.

Governing Board members were advised that a merger of the Health Planning Council of Appalachia Maryland, Inc. into the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland will occur by December 31.

The next quarterly meeting of the board will be November 9 at 10:30 a.m. in Frederick County. Attending the August meeting from this county were County Commissioners George C. Edwards and Wayne B. Hamilton; Kenneth A. Richmond, Jack Turney, agency attorney for Garrett County; and Fred Carroll and Merritt H. Feather, state and federal certification advisory committee members.

Gardeners Hazardous To Their Plants

Gardeners who smoke may be hazardous to their plants, according to the American Lung Association.

According to researchers at Mississippi State University, people who smoke cigarettes and cigars can pick up the tobacco mosaic virus on their hands. And pass it on to their plants. When they do, they can stunt the growth of the plants and make the leaves pucker.

The virus, says Dr. William Moore, is usually found in about 60 percent of cigarettes. It is not usually removed before the tobacco is rolled into cigars and cigarettes. Smokers can cause serious damage to plants just by brushing against them with their fingers.

Tomatoes and peppers are especially susceptible to the virus. And some greenhouse producers now require smokers to dip their hands in milk before touching the plants. Proteins in milk inactivate the virus and prevent its spread. Some producers set a bucket of milk out in the field, and workers who smoke dip their hands in the bucket after every cigarette.

The American Lung Association has another solution. They recommend that smokers prevent damage to their plants and even greater damage to their own lungs by kicking the smoking habit altogether.

The latest government survey showed that nine out of ten smokers say they would quit, if there was an easy way. Lung Associations across the country are ready to help smokers find those ways.

To find out more about what cigarette smoking does to people and plants, contact your local American Lung Association — the "Christmas Seal" people.

They Never Strike . . .

The "striking" season seems to be upon us again, locally and across the nation. The situation in Memphis, Tenn., is critical, with not only the policemen on strike, but now the firefighters have joined them for their second strike in two months. The Transit workers in Washington, D. C., recently walked out, as did those in Philadelphia. Closer to home, Vepco and Allegany Ballistics employees are on strike.

Now perhaps some walkouts, for example the one at Vepco, could be at least partially justified. However, in Memphis, the policemen are openly breaking the law by striking and the firefighters have actually been setting fires. Both are practicing the very thing they should be fighting — crime and fire. It's frightening to see the lengths to which people will go in order to get what they want.

The animals never go on strike. At first glance, that statement seems ridiculous. Who cares even if the animals would go on strike?

The thought for today's editorial occurred while watching a swarm of bees yesterday (See photo below). Suppose the bees went on strike. Having no honey we could handle. But there would also be no fruit and very few vegetables, because bees are responsible for pollination. Food would indeed be scarce.

Suppose cows went on strike. There would be no milk for baby, no dairy products for anyone.

Even the lowly earthworm makes a significant contribution to our survival. If they decided to go on strike, few gardens would grow.

Though their wages are meager, their working conditions are often poor and they work a tremendous amount of overtime, the animals never go on strike. Maybe there is a lesson here for all of us human beings.

Two Young Men Charged With Armed Robbery

One suspect posted $20,000 bond and another remains in the Allegany County jail in connection with the armed robbery last Thursday evening of the Amoco Service Center in Accident.

Gary Wayne Jenkins, 18, Markleysburg, Pa., was unable to post bond, and is being held in jail. Parents of Eric Dean Benedict, the 16-year-old Friendsville youth who will be charged as an adult in the robbery, posted $20,000 cash bond, report state police.

Jenkins is being held in lieu of $11,000 bond set by Allegany County District Court Judge Miller Bowen. Bond amounted to $1,900 for the use of a concealed weapon charge and $10,000 for the use of a handgun in connection with a robbery.

According to police, two young men entered the service station wearing ski masks and stockings, and carrying handguns. They fled in an old pickup, taking approximately $200.

Police picked up the two suspects about 1:30 a.m. Saturday, Jenkins near Friendsville and the juvenile in Friendsville. Both were charged by state police with armed robbery, use of a concealed weapon, assault and battery, use of a handgun in the commission of a crime, and grand larceny.

State police also said they have recovered half the money taken from the service center in addition to the guns used in the crime.

EMT-A Course Is Scheduled To Begin In October

An Emergency Medical Technicians — Ambulance course is scheduled to get underway in Oakland sometime in October, it was announced this week by Mrs. Mary Ellen Liebty, local instructor. A definite beginning date has not yet been set.

The course will be taught at the Southern Rescue Squad Hall on Oak Street. It will be open only to those who are planning to serve on the Southern Squad. Persons must be 18 years of age or older to be eligible to take the course.

The class size must be limited to 25 persons and registration will be on a first come, first serve basis. Persons interested in registering for the course or desiring more information should telephone Mrs. Liebty at her home during the evening (334-2866).

Three Arrested For Hagerstown Armed Robbery

One man turned himself in and two others were apprehended at the Garrett County fair Saturday night following an armed robbery at the Venice Motel early Saturday morning in Hagerstown.

The three men, all from this county, were in the Hagerstown City jail prior to transportation to the Washington County Detention Center.

The three suspects are Joseph Ray Kisselovich, 23, Oakland; Alfred Darrell Friend, 21, Swanton, and Henry Steyer, 18, of Deer Park.

The three are believed by police to have entered the room of William L. Knotts, Route 3, Smithburg, at the Venice Motel. The trio reportedly drew weapons and demanded that Knotts empty his pockets. Knotts told police he tried to use a knife he had in one of his pockets, but one of the suspects started to pull the trigger of his handgun, so Knotts put the knife down.

The three men allegedly removed a $100 bill and six $20 bills from Knotts' pockets. The robbers were armed with a .25 calibre snubnose automatic and a .22 calibre seven and a half inch automatic weapon, Hagerstown police reported.

The suspects were apprehended in Garrett County by members of the Garrett County sheriff's department after all area law enforcement agencies were notified. Deputies reported that Friend had walked into the department office Sunday and given himself up. The other two were apprehended by deputies at the county fairgrounds.

Knotts told Hagerstown police he is acquainted with the three suspects from visits to Oakland.

Emergency 911 Dialing System Now In Operation

According to the Oakland Office of the C&P Telephone Company of Maryland, Garrett County residents may now receive help in an emergency by dialing one easy-to-remember number 911.

This fast and convenient new emergency system went into service Tuesday, August 15.

Garrett County residents living in the Accident (826), Bittinger (245), Friendsville (746), Grantsville (895), Kitzmiller (453), Oakland (334) and Thayerville (387) exchanges should dial 911 to obtain emergency assistance. These exchanges include the majority of Garrett County citizens.

Garrett County residents living in the Freeburg (689), Lonaconing (463), Terra Alta (785) and Westernport (359) exchanges will continue to consult the inside cover of their directory for emergency service.

Garrett County will continue to provide emergency services to the following communities outside of the County: Addison, Markleysburg, Salisbury and parts of Fayette and Somerset Counties, all in Pennsylvania, and also Bayard, Blaine and Gormania, West Virginia. Residents of these areas will call 334-4444 for emergency services, except in Blaine, where the emergency number will be 453-3113.

Here is how 911 service will work. When dialing 911, the caller will reach the Garrett County Central Alarm Center in Oakland. The Center immediately will arrange for the dispatch of police, fire, or ambulance assistance.

Officials stress that 911 should be called for emergency help only. If calls for general police and fire information were made to 911, they could tie up the lines and block real emergency calls.

As part of the inauguration of 911 service, all outdoor coin telephones have been arranged for "Dial Tone First" service, which enables callers to reach the operator without having to deposit any money in case of emergency.

Garrett is the eighth county in Maryland to adopt 911, and the first to use the 8A Key system, the newest equipment available.

$46,038 Grant Given For Airport Master Plan Study

The Garrett County Commissioners have been awarded a $46,038 grant from the Department of Transportation to begin an airport master plan study.

The announcement of the grant was made through U. S. Senator Charles Mc. Mathias' office on Tuesday.

The airport advisory committee, headed by Col. R. C. Browning, has chosen a consultant to perform the study, which will weigh advantages of existing airport with possible other sites available to determine how Garrett County may get the best use from its airport.

Commissioners Adopt Sewage Ordinance For Lake Watershed

The Garrett County Commissioners, at Monday's session, unanimously voted to adopt the new on-site sewage ordinance for the Deep Creek Lake Watershed.

The commissioners had held two public hearings on the proposed ordinance, in May and July. The new plan basically upgrades the standards for the septic tanks and drainfields and changes the minimum lot size.

The new standard minimum lot must now contain 43,560 square feet (one acre) compared to the 20,000 square feet previously required.

Standards will also be changed for sewage treatment plants built by private developers in the watershed.

Del. Bolden Eyes Consequences In VEPCO Strike

Delegate DeCursey Bolden said Monday that failure to settle the labor dispute at Virginia Electric and Power Company's plant in Mt. Storm could have "serious energy ramifications" on the Garrett County area.

The ramifications I foresee if this is not resolved is that the other plants in the VEPCO system are going to shut down as the result of the action taken up here — and the middle East Coast is seriously going to be deprived of power," Bolden stated.

The delegate has asked Sen. Charles Mc. Mathias to intervene in the dispute and to contact Virginia senators about the VEPCO problem.

Bolden said that he believes that employees at other power plants are ready to join Mt. Storm workers in the work stoppage.

Strike leaders have cited several "unsafe" working conditions at the VEPCO plant and employees are protesting deteriorating working conditions, unnecessary harassment and unreasonable overtime.

These men are working from 800 to 1,000 hours overtime a year. One man told me he worked eight weeks straight without a day off," Bolden stated. He said at the rate of 1,000 overtime hours a year, employees would have to work 60-hour workweeks.

The workers listed such complaints as lack of fire extinguishers, no lighting, dust collector system failures and lack of training programs as reasons for their walkout.

Rape Trial Begins In County Today

A trial began this morning for a Hagerstown man charged with 32 counts for first degree rape, assault with intent to rape, and sexual offenses, and six other counts involving robbery with a deadly weapon.

Dale Raymond White has been charged in connection with an incident April 2 at the Ramada Inn in Hagerstown. Change of venue had been granted to Garrett County due to pretrial publicity in that county.

Associate Judge John P. Corderman of Washington County will preside at the trial, which is expected to last several days. White has entered a not guilty plea to the charges.

NOTICE TO OAKLAND RESIDENTS

For the past several years our street department trucks have been hauling stones, brush, old furniture, etc., each Friday as a public service. This service is being abused by persons who are expecting removal of old roofing shingles (which should be disposed of by the roofing contractor) and excessive amounts of brush.

With the cooperation of our residents this service will continue, but we are asking that private haulers be employed to remove large amounts of refuse.

The workshop will highlight many things such as Food Buying Guide, Centralized Menus, Demonstrations of Food Preparation and Portion Control, as well as Inventory and Record Keeping, Sanitation and Storage of Food Products. In addition, some time will be spent in working with cafeteria managers in preparation for the opening of cafeterias in September.

The Garrett County Board of Education, at their regular meeting August 10, took action to increase the cost of lunches to adults to $1.00 and breakfasts to $.70 for fiscal year 1979. Federal legislation establishing the school lunch program requires school systems to provide money equal to the actual cost of preparing a lunch for all adult lunches. The cost of $1.00 per lunch was based on an analysis of the cost of preparing an adult lunch during the last half of the 1977-78 school year. In other action, the Board of Education awarded the milk bid to Potomac Farms for the 1978-79 school year.

Deputies Checking Two Destruction Of Property Cases

Crime prevention efforts by the Garrett County sheriff's department must be paying off, judging by the few complaints received during the week. In addition to the following two incidents, the department assisted in two robbery investigations with the Maryland State Police.

On August 13, a larceny and destruction of property incident was reported at Fox Pizza Den, Route 219 north of Grantsville. According to the report, someone broke out the top glass of a Seborg Stereo jukebox and took $30 worth of change. The jukebox is located in the games room at the rear of the Pizza Den.

Sometime between August 13 and 14, someone threw rocks through window panes at the Swanton Community Center, Main Street, Swanton. Total loss value was $10, $2 for each of the five 12-by-14 inch panes broken.

Warnick "Stable" Following Shooting

Morris Duane Warnick, 24, of near Grantsville, is listed in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was transported Monday following an accidentally self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Warnick sustained a gunshot wound to his leg, and was admitted to surgery as soon as he was taken to the hospital by members of the Northern Rescue Squad.

The incident, which occurred shortly after 2 p.m., is under police investigation.

Dear Mr. Editor

I read your editorials with great interest. Many I agree with, others are liberal slanted

I am glad you are aware of our constitutional rights being infringed upon. This consists of our freedom of press, labor laws, labor unions, integration, parents rights, land use, gun laws, foreign policies and etc. All of these cover large fields which space will not permit to discuss. Sex education in our schools, the Youghiogheny river attempted takeover, the broadness of the health department and welfare are some that have struck close to home. Other things that seem to be within constitutional limits but are unethical are many more such as the many projects by our Big Daddy government and taxes which are much higher than when the Boston Tea Party rebelled. These and deficit spending are causing inflation and consequently financial and moral decay

Don't you think it is time this political welfare government be reformed?

Yours truly,
Homer Mellott

Dear Mr. Sincell

Glad you published the article and editorial concerning plight of helpless dogs. I was appalled at shooting of these animals, too horrible to believe

As a native of Garrett County, I know the folks up there have a real community spirit, which is quite obvious in the volunteer work done in the area. Hopefully, through your paper, people may start a Humane Society. I was a member of the Howard County, Md., society and we had many benefits rummage sales, card parties, etc., to help support the shelter, which was modern with an inside shelter and outside runs

I don't know the Vet situation in your area, but money could be collected to pay for spaying, and do not permit any female to be adopted, unless this is done

On the shooting of these unfortunate animals, that are unwanted, couldn't they be put to sleep humanely with an injection?

Good luck on improvements for helping the helpless in the shelter.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles Davison,
Ormond Beach, Fla. 32074

Dear Editor:

I have talked to the county commissioners and the sheriff's office about dogs running loose and people on welfare owning dogs. It is bad enough for the taxpayer to support them, let alone a bunch of dogs. I like dogs, but a dog has his place and that is at home

We have in our community five dogs on one corner and they bark all night. You can't sleep for them and I am fed up to my ears with this kind of living. Some people don't have any respect for anyone

As a voter and taxpayer,
Woodrow Jackson

Dear Editor

I am writing in regard to the Garrett County Fair tractor pull.

I enjoyed attending the tractor pull, but I do have reservations on how the affair was conducted

First, I feel that a complete set of rules should have been published before the event. This would remedy the last minute confusion over the rules and regulations

Second, the affair should have begun earlier in the day so that everyone could have enjoyed the contest

Third, each tractor's draw bar should have been measured while the tractor was being weighed to insure the legality of each tractor. Also, if there are second doubts about a tractor's weight, which had been supposedly accurately weighed prior to the pull, all of the tractors should be reweighed on balanced scales to insure overall fairness.

Finally, the Fair Commission should have acquired officials for the pull from outside of the county. Unfortunately, the partiality of the officials was apparent to all.

I feel if these steps are taken, the pull will be a much more pleasurable affair next year

Sincerely,
A disappointed visitor to Garrett County

Dear Editor

The twenty second Garrett County fair has just ended and it seems to have been a good fair — fine exhibits, a good spirit during the week and a better carnival was brought here. BUT — will someone please tell me and a lot of others why the public toilet facilities are the same as they were twenty-two years ago? Many improvements have been made over the years, yet this area of the fairgrounds remains far behind the times. The cattle barns are kept clean and free of offensive odors, but public toilets are a disgrace.

If the Health Department is so carefully watching food handling, where are they looking when within easy smelling range of food preparation and serving, such un-sanitary conditions exist?

For the many people who attend the Garrett County Fair and especially for those who work there during the week, I hope that the Fair Board will include in the 1979 plans a modern, CLEAN public toilet facility.

Yours truly,
Mrs. H. F. Maffett
Rt. 5, Oakland, Md.

Gentlemen:

This letter is to confirm my opposition to changing the County zoning plan in order to permit another Town Center at the Railey property adjacent to the 219 bridge. You will understand that I have no axe to grind being a property owner on Turkey Neck. My regard is for the general good of Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County, and I believe this move would be harmful in the long run.

The purpose behind the Zoning Plan was to prevent overconcentration and overdevelopment. At the time the Plan was adopted it was considered that the two Town Center areas would be adequate. I am not aware of changed conditions which would make it imperative to create a third such area. At the public meeting at the College it was obvious from the statements of just about everyone present that the property owners of that area not only do not want another town center but are strongly opposed to having one. The business people complain of our short season and are not looking for added competition. What then has changed to make us consider a major change in the rezoning?

The Railey faction has some property which is worth only so much under present restrictions. With the property rezoned they figure it will be worth a lot more per acre, per lot - and I might even suspect that they have not overlooked the fact that some of this land will be taken over for the approach to the new bridge. I cannot blame them for trying. I am sure there are other land owners around the lake who would like to create other town centers. But our zoning plan was adopted to control development for the good of all, and it should not be modified for the special benefit of a few

Sincerely yours,
Gordon K. Douglass

John C. Lefferts Enters Race For Office Of Sheriff

John C. "Carl" Lefferts has been selected by the Republican State Central Committee to seek the office of sheriff of Garrett County.

Born July 7, 1920 in Philadelphia, he moved to Roselle, New Jersey in 1927 and lived there until 1973. At that time Lefferts moved to Friendsville where he now resides with his wife, the former Leone Selby.

Lefferts was educated in the Roselle school system, graduating from Roselle High School in 1939. Serving in World War II from December 1941 until December 1945, Lefferts was with the 20th Air Force in the South Pacific, a B-29 bomber group and was active in the air offensive over Japan.

Lefferts joined the Roselle police department on April 1, 1948 and retired on March 31, 1973. During his career he spent 15 years on both foot and radio car patrol and was assigned to the detective bureau for five years where he commanded the juvenile aid and narcotics bureaus.

His last five years were spent as a shift leader both on desk duty and as field supervisor.

Lefferts' police education consists of completion of several courses in police science and procedures from the Delehanty Institute, New York City and also the New Jersey branch of the International Chiefs of Police. He attended Criminal Investigator school and studied homicide investigation, basic photography and also attended several narcotics schools and seminars.

Lefferts spent two weeks at the James P. Moran Institute at St. Lawrence University, St. Lawrence, N.Y. studying juvenile delinquency and related subjects.

While with the detective bureau he was assigned to the special intelligence unit to correlate information on radical groups in the area.

Lefferts and his wife have two daughters, Shirley English, Englishtown, N. J. and Constance Odom, Sodas, Mich. and five granddaughters.

Presently serving his second term on the Friendsville Town Council, Lefferts has been the president for over two years. He is commander of the Friendsville Memorial Post 8769 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Junior Vice Commander of the Maryland Third District.

Lefferts is treasurer of the Friendsville Fire Department and a member of the Rotary Club.

Mrs. Theresa Murphy, Selbysport, is acting as the candidate's treasurer.

Even in a horse-drawn carriage!

When Helen Bittinger went to Silver Tree Inn to talk about our banking services, Celeste Lascaris invited her along on a carriage ride. Now a carriage may seem an unlikely place to talk about banking services, but we think one place is as good as another so long as it is convenient for our customers.

Just like the folks at Silver Tree Inn, we try to offer our customers prompt, friendly and personal service . . . plus a little something extra. Sure, it takes a lot more effort! Of course, it costs us more! But for our customers, only our best is good enough!

We'd like to do our best for you. Call us or stop in soon at any of our eight convenient locations. We're the only financial friend you'll ever need.

IDEAS FOR ARRANGING LOVE SEATS

Many love seats that were manufactured years ago were uncomfortable - but in recent years, love seats have real comfort and afford wonderful decorating possibilities, too.

And, today there are so many designs and styles of love seats that can bring both beautiful decor and practical advantages to your rooms.

You might place one or two love seats in a corner with a lamp table either between or beside. Or, you can place a love seat at right angles to your sofa, or to another chair for a nice living room setting.

Love seats can also be effectively used in bedrooms, family rooms, playrooms and other rooms, giving you a good decorating touch and answering a seating need.

To see a selection of love seats and other furnishings - and for all kinds of decorating ideas for your home - stop in. There's no obligation, and we look forward to seeing you.

So, please feel free to stop in and see us at your convenience. We're here to serve you.

Commissioners Adopt

In other business Monday, representatives of various concerned agencies met with the Garrett County Commissioners Monday to discuss the need for a new landfill site for the county by 1981, when the present site at Round Glade will be fully used.

Appearing at the meeting with the commissioners were John Carri, Bureau of Mines; Doug John, State Health Department; Tom Jones, county Development Corporation; and John Farmer, director of the county's solid waste department.

The group's main objective Monday was development of a concept whereby the Bureau of Mines and the county will jointly reclaim abandoned mines by using the sites for solid waste disposal, an idea proposed by the commissioners recently.

Of joint benefit to the county and state would be cost savings in both waste disposal and mine reclamation.

Following the discussion, the commissioners voted to adopt the annual update of the solid waste master plan.

The Commissioners then unanimously appointed Col. J. Haig Jackson to the Health Services Agency governing board, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. Gilcin Meadors, who resigned.

Ross James, from the Youghiogheny Mountain club, was appointed to the Health systems Agency to replace Col. Jackson, and Kenneth Richmond, administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, was also named to the HSA governing body.

Alfred T. (Blue) Marucci was then named by the board to the Garrett County Social Services governing board.

County-Wide Blackout Occurs During Memphis Police And Fire Strikes

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A county-wide blackout authorities said was caused by sabotage darkened Memphis today and fostered widespread looting in the midst of a police and fire strike. Police said a suspect in the sabotage had been arrested.

Police Director E. Winslow Chapman said he had been advised that "an individual" had been arrested in connection with the sabotage at a power company substation and had asked to see an attorney. Chapman confirmed the FBI was investigating the incident since the Tennessee Valley Authority, which produces the area's electricity, is federally owned.

Chapman said guards were on duty at the substation but the saboteur "just got past them."

Three hours after the blackout, police reported at least 60 looting arrests.

The blackout began at 12:32 a.m. CDT, and authorities said power had been restored to most of the city by 3 a.m.

During the outage, looters smashed windows and carried off items ranging from bottles of liquor to Elvis Presley souvenirs in many parts of the city. One group of teen-agers, being chased by sheriff's deputies, dropped a cash register they were carrying from a downtown store.

"We have received information that the Cordova substation was entered and switches were opened," said Paula Pavne, superintendent of communications services for the Memphis Light, Gas and Water Division.

She explained that opening the switches broke the power contact and confirmed earlier reports that this forced an overload at the Tennessee Valley Authority's Allen Steam Plant.

No details of the break-in were immediately available, but Miss Payne said, "It is under investigation."

About 1,400 National Guardsmen, who had been called up earlier to help provide police and fire protection during the strike, were helping police arrest looters.

"We have helicopters up, dog squads out and as many cars out on the road as possible. They are taking those arrested to the county jail."

Three helicopters hovered over the downtown area, flashing floodlights on city streets in an attempt to spot looters.

National Guardsmen and Shelby County deputies ringed the county jail to prevent any possible escape attempt.

Guardsmen armed with M-16 rifles and .45-caliber pistols were placed in police patrol cars for the first time Tuesday.

After the blackout, there were rumors of a massive explosion at the Tennessee Valley Authority's Allen Steam Plant.

But R.W. Vickers, shift engineer at Allen, said, "There has been no explosion whatsoever down here. We're in the process of coming back on the line and this will restore power to most of the city."

The blackout affected about 1 million people in Shelby County. Police said besides Memphis and its Tennessee suburbs, the blackout also extended to Southhaven, Miss., a few miles south of Memphis.

Several Memphis residents called news outlets complaining they also were without water, indicating that at least some of the city's pumping stations were out of commission.

Hospitals and other emergency services were forced to turn to generators for auxiliary power.

Tuesday, leaders of the striking police and firefighters rejected a compromise offered by Mayor Wyeth Chandler and the beleagured city's labor problems threatened to spread to the Sanitation Department.

Presidents David Baker of the Memphis Police Association and Kuhron Huddleston of the local International Firefighters Union told a televised news conference they would present a joint counter-offer to the city.

Baker called Chandler's proposal "very vague" and said it leaves open the possibility of reprisals against the strikers.

The mayor, softening his hard-line stand, proposed that strikers return to their jobs immediately and both sides then present their "best offer" to a federal mediator.

If the mediator chose the city offer, no further action would be taken. If he chose the union offer, a referendum would be held in November to let the taxpayers decide on a tax package to finance the pay raises for the city's striking 1,100 police officers and 1,400 firefighters.

Women Swimmers Fail In Their Marathon Tries

UPI — Diana Nyad and the "Swimming nun" Stella Taylor failed in their marathon swim attempts Tuesday, but both seemed to have won the battle of the buck.

The high-powered publicity behind Miss Nyad's swim, which cost $130,000 in expenses and brought the swimmer herself a $100,000 personal appearance contract, has not been lost on Miss Taylor. She says she'll never swim for free again.

Choppy seas and strong currents blocked Miss Nyad's Key West goal Tuesday and she pulled herself out of her shark cage at 7:45 a.m. EDT. Miss Taylor's Bimini-to-Fort Lauderdale swim was aborted at 3:15 p.m. EDT because the northward flowing Gulf Stream swept her away from land.

Miss Taylor, a 48-year-old Fort Lauderdale resident who quit an English convent before taking her vows as a nun, won the time-and-distance race with 140 miles in 31½ hours. Miss Nyad swam nearly 100 miles from Cuba to off Key West in 41¾ hours, but battled high seas and winds, which kept her from gaining ground for 22 of those miles.

"I'm not disappointed," said Miss Taylor. "I accomplished 140 miles in salt water. I was the first person to ever swim the Bermuda Triangle without a shark cage."

Miss Taylor was driven out of the water three times by marauding sharks, bringing snickers from the Nyad crew because their swimmer never left the water. Miss Nyad was protected by an elaborate $50,000, self-propelled cage.

During Miss Taylor's swim an 8-foot white tip shark made an attack pass at one of the escort divers and he had to kill it with an explosive charge contained in a "bang stick."

Miss Nyad, who has not announced her future plans, said she was disappointed at not reaching her goal, "But I don't think there is another swimmer alive who could have done what I did."

Miss Nyad, 28, said she did not make the swim for the money, but nonetheless she has accepted the $100,000 contract from a toothpaste manufacturer, which she said was not contingent on her reaching Key West.

She already has received $30,000, which she chose to use for the swim, from the three-year contract. The rest of the money will be paid in yearly installments. In return, Miss Nyad will make personal appearances at sports events sponsored by the company.

The $1,600 cost of Miss Taylor's swim was paid for by a grocery store owner in Fort Lauderdale and private contributions. But Miss Taylor certainly sees the chance for promotion and said her next swim will be from Marathon in the Florida Keys to the Bahamas.

Ray Submits First Public Interrogation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Earl Ray, who confessed then denied he assassinated Martin Luther King Jr., submits to his first public interrogation today on security-ringed Capitol Hill.

Ray Tuesday was brought to Washington from a Tennessee penitentiary where he is serving a 99-year sentence for the King murder. He is scheduled to spend three days before the House committee investigating the assassinations of King and the late President John F. Kennedy.

Senate backers of the Equal Rights Amendment hope to bring the House-passed ratification extension directly to the floor in a last-ditch effort to prevent it from dying in committee.

The House voted 223-189 Tuesday to allow ERA supporters an additional 39 months to win ratification.

Two education measures made progress Tuesday when the Senate approved its version of a tuition tax credit bill and President Carter's plan to create a new Department of Education cleared the House Government Operations Committee and headed for floor action.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano testifies today on generic drugs before Rep. John Moss' House Investigations and Oversight subcommittee. The California Democrat repeated Tuesday he will hold Califano in contempt of Congress if the Cabinet member refuses to give the panel secret information it has demanded on how some big drug companies obtain, and allegedly overprice, generic drugs.

Riding the crest of election-year jitters, outnumbered House Republicans felt today they had the best chance of the year to gain passage of one of their programs: a $10.5 billion cut in the federal budget.

The House debated the budget Tuesday night, but took no votes, leaving further action for today.

Gary Biser, Deer Park, served as best man. Ushers were Douglas Rumer, David Rumer, both brothers of the bride, and George (Joe) Tichnell, brother of the groom. They were all attired in burgundy tuxedos with pink shirts. The groom wore a white tux with a burgundy tie and vest.

BREAKFAST CEREAL RELIGION

Ever read the side panel on a breakfast cereal carton? Usually we are told that this food provides us with a minimum daily requirement of certain vitamins and minerals. We are not experts on nutrition . . . but we do promote man's religious needs. We urge people to attend and support our churches. We believe you can't build spiritual vitality on minimal standards. Therefore, we don't guarantee that an hour in Sunday School will provide Christy with some percentage of the spiritual stamina life requires.

If you're bringing Christy to church every week, fortifying your own faith with sincere worship, and trying to cultivate Christian attitudes and a Christian atmosphere in your home—then you're fully aware that character and conviction grow from maximum standards.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BECAUSE OF A DREAM

Lesson for August 20, 1978

Background Scripture: Acts 27
Devotional Reading: Psalms 107:23-32

Some time ago I was conducting a weekend retreat for a church group. One of my presentations was upon the use of dreams as a means of revelation from God. The reaction of the audience was anything but positive. In fact, the mere suggestion that Christians can find God speaking through their dreams brought considerable hostility and the charge that the concept was unscriptural!

Rev. Althouse

An Angel By Night

Whatever else the concept might be, it is definitely not unscriptural! Dreams are important channels of God's revelation from one end of the Bible to the other, spanning both Testaments. The word "dream" or its equivalents appears more than one hundred times in the Bible and there are other occasions in which the word "vision" is used in a manner that suggests a dream.

A case in point is to be found in Acts 27 when we find Paul on a ship on his way to Rome for trial. Having set sail from Crete despite warning from Paul who foresaw danger, the centurian and ship's captain found themselves in extreme danger and privation. At last they are ready to listen to Paul and he tells them that during the night an angel had appeared to him and assured him that their lives would be spared because God wanted Paul to go to Rome.

In ordinary times they probably would have ignored Paul and his angel by night, but desperate, they could not afford to ignore him. "So, take heart, men," he assures them, "for I have faith in God that it will be exactly as I have been told" (27:25).

All Escaped

There is tremendous irony in this story. There is a sea captain who presumably has much experience on the high seas of the Mediteranean. There is a centurian who commands a hundred Roman soldiers. And there is a prisoner, a suspected madman on his way to Rome to stand trial before the emperor, a man who tells of an angel who visits him in the night and assures him that everyone will be saved. Whose advice prevails? The prisoner named Paul.

Because of his dream or vision they will survive the terrible storm. Because of his angel by night the prisoners will not be executed as the soldiers had planned in the event of shipwreck. Why would all these men listen to a dreamer and prisoner in chains? Because they detected the voice of God speaking through him. Somehow this man in chains was in contact with God and their very survival, it seemed, would depend upon taking the advice of a prisoner!

Why did this message come to a prisoner and not the captain or the centurian? It came to Paul because he was always willing to heed his dreams and be obedient to his visions. He was always ready to listen for and to the voice of God however he might reveal himself. Because of a dream and a dreamer who was obedient, lives were saved and God's plan was fulfilled. And so it can be, even today.

SOME INFORMATION ABOUT SNAKEBITE

Venomous snake bit wounds first appear as small white wheals surrounding each of the two punctures. The wheal may progress through color changes of red, blue, green or purple. There can be swelling and an intense burning sensation. There may be shock, a weak, thready pulse, and cold clammy perspiration with faintness.

Much damage can be caused by well-meaning persons whose attempts at first aid may result in excessively deep incisions, and turniquets applied too tightly for too long a period. The damage here can exceed the bite itself. Get to a doctor or hospital quickly.

Water Conservation Required In Plumbing

Plumbing fixtures that conserve water will be required in all Maryland buildings constructed or remodeled after January 1, 1979. Measures to reduce water consumption will become part of the State Plumbing Code as the result of legislation adopted by the General Assembly in its 1978 Session.

The new law prohibits the sale or use of unapproved plumbing fixtures and provides for penalties of up to $500 per day for violations. Water conservation will be enforced by local government inspection departments under rules to be adopted by the Maryland Secretary of Licensing and Regulation.

Secretary William A. Urie announced today that he will appoint an ad hoc committee to formulate proposed rules and regulations. Committee members will be selected from representatives of plumbing contractors, supply companies, manufacturers, and inspectors as well as environmentalists and water conservationists.

Maryland Picks Up Additional Interest

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that improvements in the depositing of State income tax revenues earned the State of Maryland additional interest payments from banks of about $135 per day. "For the revenues received during the recent State income tax filing period, the State earned additional bank interest of about $63,000," Mr. Goldstein said.

The additional interest comes from a move by Comptroller Goldstein to purchase encoder-proof machines for the Receipts Section of the State Income Tax Division. The new deposit procedures eliminate one step of bank processing of deposits of State income tax revenues, and allow the State to earn an additional day's interest on most deposits.

"The new procedures speed up the crediting of income tax deposits to the State's bank accounts, earning considerably more interest on those State deposits," Comptroller Goldstein said.

Police Investigate Moped Collision, Other Accidents

Members of the Garrett County detachment of Maryland State Police answered several calls to investigate motor vehicle accidents.

Two young moped operators were involved in a collision with each other August 8 as they were southbound on the Cranesville Road. William C. Wolfe and Columbus Frank Hollingsworth, both of Terra Alta, told police that an unidentified northbound vehicle drove straight at the moped operated by Wolfe, in the southbound lane. Hollingsworth failed to stop when Wolfe did, and struck the first machine and operator. Members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported both operators to a hospital for the treatment of injuries. Tfc. L. N. Smith investigated.

A collision at the intersection of Route 546 and Route 40 August 8 involved two vehicles. A car operated by John Cordell Dorcus, Woodsboro, was southbound on Route 546 and stopped at the Intersection with the front of his car approximately 3½ feet out in the roadway. A car operated by Thomas Edwin Hetz, Frostburg, eastbound on Route 40, struck the Dorcus car. Hetz told police he could not veer to the left to avoid the collision as an unidentified vehicle was approaching in the westbound lane. Tfc. Georg did not write any citations in this case.

A Turtle Creek, Pa. resident, Joseph Michael McKissock, was charged with failing to have an operator's license by Tfc. L. R. Rosage. McKissock was operating a car southbound on a private road and failed to negotiate a curve and struck a tree.

Patricia Faye Hopkins, Crab Orchard, W. Va., and her daughter Sherry Lee escaped serious injury August 6 when their vehicle jackknifed and overturned on Ramp 8 of Route 48. Mrs. Hopkins told police that she had applied her brakes coming downhill, causing the trailer she was towing to begin to sway. The operator then lost control of the vehicle. Tfc. George made no charges.

A grader owned by Phoenix Construction Company struck a car on Route 560 August 5. Police reported that Tamela Raye Nesselrodt, Mt. Storm, was northbound on Route 560 in the southbound lane, due to construction and resulting one-way traffic, and had stopped as she approached the grader because the roadway was so narrow. The grader, operated by Wayne Victor Fike, hit the Nesselrodt vehicle when the grader started moving backward. No charges were filed by Tfc. L. N. Smith.

Two mishaps in parking lots were also investigated by police. On August 5, Sandra Sue Kisner, Deer Park, told Tfc. G. D. Resh that an unknown driver struck her car when it was parked at Manor Mart. Witnesses described the driver of the car as an elderly woman.

A Virginia man has been charged with driving while ability was impaired, following an investigation by Tfc. L. R. Rosage. Rosage reported that Robert Joseph Prigg, Stephenson, Va., had sideswiped four parked vehicles at Will o'the Wisp. The vehicles belonged to Martin Kevin Bradin, Jack J. Rooch, Terrence Swenseid, and Lawrence LeBow.

Twenty-Four Killed On State Highways

Twenty-four persons lost their lives on Maryland highways according to the Weekly News Release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of the persons killed, twelve were drivers, seven were passengers and five were pedestrians.

Persons killed through August 14 total 410 as compared to 405 for the same period last year.

Real Estate

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO SELL

When listing your home with a Realtor to sell, there are a variety of arrangements you can make. But if you are seriously intent on selling your home within a reasonable time and at the price you are asking, it would pay to consider making an "exclusive right to sell" agreement. This gives the Realtor the right to his commission if he actually sells your home during the listing period, or if another Realtor sells it, or if you sell it yourself.

Under these conditions, the Realtor will have the added incentive and protection to go all-out in heavily advertising your house and showing it to prospects. He will not be afraid of bringing it to the attention of other Realtors who may have qualified prospects. Article 21 [09.11.02 (.03.D.21)] of the Code of Ethics of the Maryland Real Estate Commission requires a broker to cooperate with other brokers on property list exclusively by him and to share commissions on a previously agreed basis. That gives you the advantage of having several Realtors make a determined effort to sell your home.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Heart Saver Class To Be Taught In Friendsville

The American Heart Association-Western Maryland Chapter will be conducting a public "Heart Saver" Course at the Friendsville Elementary School, according to Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, Executive Director of the Heart Association.

It will be held Wednesday, August 23, starting at 6:30 p.m. The program is designed especially for the lay public and will concentrate on the signals and actions for survival of a heart attack, knowing the risk factors that lead to a heart attack and how to get into the emergency care system without delay.

The participants will also be taught one-man unwitnessed cardio-pulmonary resuscitation or simple mouth-to-mouth breathing and chest compressions.

The aim of the program is to insure ventilation and circulation of the victim at the scene while the rescue squad is on its way. As soon as the rescue squad arrives, the paramedic will take over and the patient will receive more definitive care.

The CPR Training Course, sponsored by the Heart Association, is funded by a grant from Appalachia Region Commission.

The main thrust is education in prevention and early entry into the emergency medical system.

Instructors for the course will be. David M. Evans, Bradley A. Stewart, Ann M. Smith, Ronald R. Bowser, Floyd W. Baker. All Instructors are certified under the American Heart Association standards.

Liberalized Meals Policy Announced

A liberalized policy for meals for all children enrolled in the Head Start Centers was announced today by Garrett County Community Action, Inc., through authorization of the Maryland State Department of Education.

Entitlement to free and reduced price meals is determined by family size and income. Other factors which are considered in determining eligibility include unusual expenses for medical bills, shelter, special education expense or casualty losses by family.

No child will be discriminated against because of race, color, or national origin. A copy of the new policy will be on file and accessible to parents in each Head Start Center.

Sales, Income Tax Revenue Almost Exactly On Estimate

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced recently that revenues from the State sales and income taxes totaled $1,612,224,000 for Fiscal Year 1978, exceeding revenue estimates by only ¾ of one percent.

That kind of revenue estimating accuracy is almost impossible to beat when you're talking in terms of more than one and one-half billion dollars in revenue from the two largest sources of Maryland general fund revenue," Comptroller Goldstein said. "But these figures also relate a real economic growth of $145.4 million during the past fiscal year, the largest during any single fiscal year, and demonstrates the growth of Maryland business and personal income and consumer buying activity.

When sales and income tax revenues over the past five fiscal years are compared with revenue estimates for those same five fiscal years, revenues exceed estimates by only six-tenths of one percent," Mr. Goldstein said.

Maryland State and local income taxes produced net receipts of $1,432,154,030 during Fiscal Year 1978. Of that amount, $984,161,753 went into the general fund of the State treasury. "That's just $4.5 million or one-half of one percent more than we estimated," Mr. Goldstein said.

In addition to the general fund revenue, which grew by about $86 million over Fiscal Year 1977, more than $435 million was returned to Maryland's 23 counties, Baltimore City and the 160 incorporated cities, towns and taxing areas of the State.

The Transportation Trust Fund of the Maryland Department of Transportation received $12,745,014 as its share of the corporation income tax revenue.

A total of $129,416 was placed in the Fair Campaign Financing Fund, based on contributions made on State income tax returns during Fiscal Year 1978.

Maryland retail sales and use tax revenue for Fiscal Year 1978 amounted to $628,061,822, or 1.2 percent above the revenue estimate for the year.

Among the fastest growing sources of sales tax revenue are the building and contractors and apparel categories. The largest single source of sales tax revenue is the general merchandise category, including department, variety and discount stores."

A Forum On Public Issues

Janet C. Wunderlick, Community Resource Development Agent for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, is preparing a series of articles to inform the public in Western Maryland of various legislation, programs, laws, services and general issues that may, at one time or other, affect the lives of everyone. More detailed information is usually available on request. Ms. Wunderlick may be contacted through the Garrett County Extension office (334-2145) or at her Cumberland office at 11 Prospect Square (724-3320). She visits the Garrett County office at least once a week.

A soil conservation project of national importance will take place in nearby Frederick County this August. Local people interested in farmland management, control of point and non-point source pollution, and clear waterways should make a point to attend.

Project Clearwater is expected to attract over 50,000 people for a massive conservation field day on Saturday, August 19, 1978. On that day a 245 acre farm in Frederick County will be transformed into a model of soil and water conservation. A similar field day was held in 1948 which attracted over 40,000 people. That event emphasized soil conservation for productivity. Project Clearwater is being staged to show that soil conservation also improves water quality. Both ideas have implications for society at large.

In 1972, Congress passed a law which said our water would be swimmable and fishable by 1985. Basically the law called for a phased attack on two types of water pollution — point and non-point. Point pollution includes wastes that have an identifiable source such as those discharged from a pipe. Non-point pollution is harder to pinpoint and is largely the result of water runoff. Project Clearwater will show how to carry out the legislative intent of Congress contained in The Soil Conservation Act of 1935 (PL-46) and those parts of Section 208 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (PL 92-500). The project will demonstrate the importance of the soil conservation plan in good farm management and in improving the quality of water in rural streams draining farmland.

The message of Project Clearwater is for everyone; that is, sediment and silt affect the cost of water treatment for everyone. Sedimentation reduces the capacity of reservoirs and streams and increases the chance of flooding. Suspended in water, it blocks light needed to support aquatic plants and animals.

Economic factors are the main reason that farmers don't practice recommended soil conservation. Until recently, fertilizer was cheap enough to compensate for the loss of fertility. Many of those who ignore conservation, however, don't realize that it pays in the long run.

The Project is being sponsored by the supervisors of the Catoctin Soil Conservation District in cooperation with other public agencies and is expecting to attract state and national recognition.

Local citizens desiring more information may call John Kinnmons, soil conservationist for USDA Soil Conservation Service in Garrett County (334-8141).

Information for this article was taken from a bulletin "Project Clearwater," published by the Catoctin Soil Conservation District.

DISTRICT 1-A

"My thanks & appreciation!"

To the residents of District 1-A:

"Let's Communicate!"

The best way to determine what people think about issues is to communicate with them. Here's what I plan to do to keep the lines open:

1) I will do the best job that I can do for all the people of District 1-A.

2) I will have "contact people" in different areas of the District. This is done basically to get your problems and concerns to me more quickly and to keep the lines of communication open.

Goldstein Calls Commuter Tax "Raid On Treasury"

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein late last week called on the State's Congressional Delegation and President Carter to work for rejection of the proposal to allow the Washington, D. C. Government to levy a "commuter tax." Under the proposal, Maryland residents working in the District of Columbia would be required to pay a non-resident income tax to the Washington, D. C. Government.

"A commuter tax would amount to a $30 million raid on the Maryland State treasury, and ignores the fact that many of the 252,400 State income taxpayers in Montgomery County and the 265,700 taxpayers in Prince George's County will be required to file two State income tax returns. They would also be required to direct a large portion of their tax dollars away from the Maryland treasury," Mr. Goldstein said.

The Comptroller also noted that studies have shown that Marylanders working in the District of Columbia already pay more than $30 million per year to the Washington, D. C. City Government in sales, excise and unincorporated business taxes.

In a letter to members of the Maryland Congressional Delegation and to President Carter, Comptroller Goldstein pointed out that the cost of Maryland Government is not decreased because of the many Maryland residents working in Washington, D. C. "The State of Maryland must still provide services and facilities for these residents and their families. That is why the principle of reciprocity, under which we have operated for so many years, is a fair and equitable method of tax collection and supporting government services. Providing additional funds for the Washington, D. C. City Government by raiding the Maryland State treasury is not an equitable way to raise additional revenue."

Mr. Goldstein also noted that human waste created by Washington, D. C.'s 16 million visitors each year is treated at the Blue Plains Treatment Plant and the resulting sludge must be disposed of in Maryland.

Notices Of Possible Tax Delinquency Being Sent By IRS

Notices of possible Federal Highway Use Tax delinquency are being mailed to truck and bus owners and users, Internal Revenue Service announced this week. The mailing is part of the IRS's annual Highway Use Tax Returns Compliance Program.

Truck and bus owners who do not respond, or who give an incomplete response to the notices, will be contacted by IRS personnel beginning in September. Taxpayers who are delinquent in filing their highway use tax returns should not wait to be contacted, but should file immediately to avoid additional penalties and interest, the IRS said.

A taxpayer receiving a notice of potential liability, but who is not liable for the tax, should complete the appropriate section of the notice and return it to the IRS.

Because the Highway Use Tax applies to vehicle users, not all owners are liable for it. For example, a lessee may be liable if local law requires the vehicle to be registered in the lessee's name. The IRS identifies potential nonfilers and under-reporters by matching its files with state motor vehicle registration records.

The tax applies to trucks weighing 13,000 lbs. or more, truck tractors of 5,500 lbs. or more, and buses that use public highways. The amount of tax depends on the vehicle weight and the number of axles.

Two From Here In Allegany Court

Two Garrett County men were charged in separate cases in Allegany District Court last week.

Donald Owen Fuller, 51, Mill Run Road, Oakland, was given a 60-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for 12 months by Judge Milton Gerson.

Mr. Fuller was found guilty of assaulting Franklin L. Kidwell. Two other charges against him, trespassing and disorderly conduct, resulted in not guilty verdicts.

A Swanton man was released on his own recognizance Wednesday by Judge Gerson pending trial August 28 on two counts of indecent exposure.

Leo Seidel Tichnell was charged in connection with incidents which allegedly occurred at the Allegany County Library on Washington Street, Cumberland, and at the county library branch in Westernport.

4-H Goat Club Has Busy Pre-Fair Weeks

The Garrett County 4-H Dairy Goat club spent July and early August preparing for the Garrett County fair held last week. A family picnic and workday was held in July to help members prepare goats for showing.

Sixteen parents and friends attended, in addition to members Tom DeBerry, Louise Gay, Robyn Hutzel, Jill Margroff, and Tina Kepple.

On July 22, Mrs. Susan Glotfelty took Tom DeBerry and Tina Kepple to Uniontown, Pa. to view a goat show sponsored by the American Dairy Goat Association.

Members and their parents spent five days painting and cleaning the dairy goat barn at the fairgrounds. Among those lending assistance were Dennis Margroff, superintendent of the dairy goat department; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutzel, assistant superintendents; Mrs. Susan Glotfelty, Ardsley Farm; Fred E. Beachy Lumber Co.; Cumberland Paint and Glass Co., Bauer Home Center; H&H Hardware; Manor Home Center; Naylor's Hardware; Southern States Oakland Co-op; Southern States Grantsville Co-op; and Walt's General Store.

Faulty Parts Cause Three Accidents

A defective winch cable, a free-running front tire, and a faulty accelerator each caused a motor vehicle accident during the past several days, according to information obtained from the Maryland State Police.

Donald Guy Duckworth, Swanton, told police following a one-car mishap on August 9 that just as he pulled onto old Route 135, his car accelerator stuck, causing him to run off the roadway and strike a tree. Tfc. J. E. Foley made no charges.

A car and a tent were damaged at the Garrett County fairgrounds August 7, when a defective winch cable broke, allowing a Case tractor to roll down off a tilt-bed truck The tractor, owned by Miller Motor Mart, struck a parked car owned by Deborah Lynn Campbell, shoving the car into a tent. The tent is the property of Jack Edward Campbell. Tfc. L. N. Smith made no charges.

John Ramsey Smith, Jr., of Cumberland, told police August 8 that he was west bound on Route 135 when a tire came off an approaching vehicle and smacked into his car. Milton Charles DeWitt, Oakland, driver of the approaching vehicle, was charged with operating with no insurance, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, and operating on expired tags Tfc. L. N. Smith investigated.

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with the citizens of Central and Western Maryland. You may send your questions to me, in care of the U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I will answer each of you who writes. The following questions are typical of those asked of me in recent weeks.

Did you support the Housing and Community Development Act?

Yes, I did, because this bill extended the community development block grant program that has been helpful to nearly every county in Central and Western Maryland. The program also provides for federal housing assistance which has been essential to many elderly, disabled and low income families. I am, however, concerned with the growing federal paperwork and red tape that is becoming associated with this program. I have therefore co-sponsored legislation to assist smaller communities in applying for these grants and to reserve a greater portion to the funds for them.

Where can I obtain a gas mileage guide for new cars?

You may obtain a free copy of the Department of Energy's gas mileage guide by writing to Fuel Economy, Pueblo, Colorado, 81009.

Do you support Tuition Tax Credits for Higher Education?

I voted in favor of tax credits for college students in an effort to financially aid families who are pressed by high educational expenses. I also support the existing student loan, grant, and scholarship programs which have been instrumental in helping many young Marylanders meet the increasing costs of colleges, universities and vocational schools.

When will you be visiting our area next?

My next schedule of community visits is in mid-August. On Monday, August 21, I will be in Kitzmiller, Swanton, McHenry, Accident and Frostburg; on Tuesday, August 22, I will be in Midland, Barton, Oldtown, Flintstone and Hancock; on Wednesday, August 23, I will be in Halfway, Middletown, Boonsboro, Clear Spring and Smithsburg; on Thursday, August 24, I will be in Taneytown, Westminster and Finksburg; on Friday, August 25, I will be in Damascus, Woodstock, Ellicott City and Savage. Town Meetings are also scheduled in Columbia and Baltimore County during the evenings. For exact times and locations please contact my local congressional office nearest you.

Citizens interested in copies of the new Consumer Information Catalog need only write my office in Washington. The 1978 edition lists more than 200 selected Federal consumer publications on such subjects as automobiles, consumer protection, child care, food and nutrition, gardening, housing, energy conservation, and employment.

What can be done to make the Federal Government more responsive to Consumer complaints.

I agree that the Federal government must be more directly responsive to complaints and inquiries from individual citizens. As a result, I have introduced the Agency Responsiveness Act, which requires that each federal agency establish effective procedures to ensure that inquiries from citizens are responded to promptly. The bill also requires that citizen comments be given the fullest possible consideration by top agency officials when making policy and management decisions.

Has your work on the Interior Committee been of any assistance in helping to preserve our enivronment here in Western Maryland?

I hope so. As you know, I authored legislation to preserve and protect the Appalachian Trail and this bill was signed into law by the President last March. Also, the Omnibus Parks Bill passed the House last month and included provisions providing for the restoration of the C&O Canal in Allegany and Washington Counties, and expansion of the Monocacy National Battlefield in Frederick County. For your information, I have also co-sponsored a bill to increase the highly successful and popular Land and Water Conservation Fund. This program is funded exclusively from offshore oil leases and has been used extensively throughout Central & Western Maryland to acquire and develop needed local parks.

Legislation is currently pending before Congress which would provide tax equity for renters by permitting a tax credit for that portion of their rent which is actually used to cover property taxes on their dwellings. I have joined several Members of Congress in introducing this measure and will keep you informed of its progress.

Do you support the Mobile Teachers Retirement Assistance Act?

Yes, I do, because this legislation would allow teachers to change employment across state lines without substantial loss of retirement benefits. In short, this measure will help facilitate the interchange of qualified and experienced teaching personnel, which in turn will contribute to the growth and development of our expanding communities.

Can you please explain the Tax Incentives that are available for Rehabilitating Historic Buildings?

Important tax incentives for the preservation and rehabilitation of historic commercial and income-producing structures were established by the Tax Reform Act of 1976. Provisions of this law allow qualified owners of such properties to amortize costs at an accelerated rate. For further information, you may contact the Maryland State Historic Preservation Officer at the John Shaw House, 21 State Circle, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

A Muddy Game . . . .

The game of campaigning is truly an interesting one. Though it has a few rules, it is indeed a game, in the respect that it can be played in a clean manner or in a dirty manner.

A clean campaigner spends much time building himself up, by stressing his good points. A dirty campaigner spends much time tearing down his opponent by stressing all of his faults. A clean campaigner continually explains why he would be a person well suited for the job. A dirty campaigner continually explains why his opponent is not suited for the job. A clean campaigner says, "I will do a good job." A dirty campaigner says, "He has done, or is doing, a lousy job."

Unfortunately, the dirty method seems to be the most popular, at least with the candidates on the state and national level. Under the guise of "straight talking" campaign styles, there are those who are certain that they can surpass their competitors by smearing them with taints of illegal, immoral or otherwise despicable actions, either past or present.

One such campaign of abuse is being aimed at Congressman Goodloe Byron, a man who, in our opinion, has had a near perfect voting record, in that he consistently casts his ballot according to the citizens' desires. He has been a true representative of the people. There don't seem to be many left in Congress. Yet, he is being literally bombarded with mud from his competition.

On the other hand, the campaigning in Garrett County among local candidates seems to be near spotless. Although there are many candidates and campaigning is going strong, the mud slinging seems to be almost nonexistent. Arch rival candidates are seen around town having coffee together. This is typical of the people of Garrett County.

Mud cannot be thrown without dirtying the hands of the thrower, and those who stoop so low may end up upended.

Government To Conduct Flood Insurance Study

A Flood Insurance Rate Study for Oakland will be conducted by the Federal Insurance Administration of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, according to James H. Stanton, president of the Oakland Town Council.

As a result of the study, actuarial rates will be computed to allow additional flood insurance coverage. The current $35,000 maximum coverage on a single-family residence may be raised to $185,000 after the study. Non-residential structural coverage will be increased from the present $100,000 limit to $200,000.

Single-family residential structures, in place or under construction at the time the study is completed will remain eligible to purchase insurance at government subsidized rates for the first $35,000 of coverage. The additional $150,000 of coverage will be available at actuarial rates. For structures on which construction begins after the completion of the rate study, actuarial rates will be available for both layers. This same rule applies to non-residential structures with only the dollar limits being different.

In addition to the increased insurance coverage, the information contained in the study will be used by the community as a basis for land use control ordinances. These ordinances will serve in the future to reduce or eliminate flood damage through proper use of the land and construction practices, according to Mr. Stanton.

Persons having historical or technical information concerning floods in the community should make these facts available to John E. Nelson, Zoning Administrator at 334-4206, for transmission to the study contractor.

000 . . . THAT SMARTS! — Five-year-old Heather Miller served (or above and beyond the call of duty Sunday when she participated in the Ride A Thon at Western Trails for the benefit of the American Cancer Society. Heather's horse accidentally stepped into a hive of yellow jackets during the ten mile ride. Although Heather was stung five times and was tossed from her horse, she climbed right back into the saddle and finished the ride. She was awarded two silver plates, one for being the youngest rider and one for her Hard Luck experience. She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary VanSickle, Friendsville, and Ralph Miller, Accident.

Man Gets Life Plus 100 Years In Rape Case

A Pennsylvania man was given four life terms plus 100 years after the Garrett County jury handed down sixteen guilty verdicts of rape, assault and robbery charges last Friday.

Dale R. White, Jr., 23, of Carlisle, Pa., lost his freedom for at least 54 years after Judge James P. Corderman of Washington County pronounced the sentences. The jury spent two days hearing testimony in reference to the crimes which occurred in a Hagerstown motel room last April 1, and took only 35 minutes to arrive at the verdict. White was found guilty of rape, first degree sexual offense, assault with intent to rape and assault and robbery.

A family from Georgia, enroute to Pittsburgh, had settled down for the evening in a Hagerstown motel when the two men broke into their room.

Although a change of venue was granted in moving the case from Washington County to Garrett County for trial, Judge Corderman still exercised his prerogative to preside at the trial.

Almost immediately after the jury returned its verdict, Judge Corderman imposed the sentences on White.

The four life sentences were imposed upon White on his conviction of raping the 39-year-old mother and first degree sexual offenses upon the mother and her 17 and 15-year old daughters. Judge Corderman then imposed five consecutive 20-year sentences, for charges of assault with intent to rape, assault upon the father, robbery of the father and mother and assault on their son. In addition, five concurrent 15-year terms were levied for lesser counts.

Judge Corderman expressed regret that he could not impose capital punishment in the case. He said the prisoner still could not be freed for at least 54 years.

Samuel Parthemore, 21, also of Carlisle, had pleaded guilty to two counts in the case recently. Both men testified they were under the influence of drugs and alcohol at the time of the incidents in the motel rooms.

Schrock Charged With Arson In Gregory House Fire

Charged with arson and burglary was Timothy A. Schrock, of this county. Schrock was transported to this county from Lake County, Ohio on Tuesday to answer to the charges.

Joseph Sidebottom had previously been arrested and charged with the larceny and arson. He is presently being held in the Preston County jail in Kingwood, W. Va. on charges in that county, in addition to the arson charge here.

Police have recovered some of the items taken from the new home, which was almost completed and furnished, before the house was destroyed by fire.

No Testimony Offered At Hearing On DCL Ordinance Changes

No public testimony was offered at Monday's hearing held at Garrett Community College by the Board of County Commissioners on five proposed amendments to the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance.

The record will now remain open an additional ten days, until mid-week, when the Commissioners probably will adopt the proposed amendments.

Anyone desiring to submit testimony on the amendments, which consist of principally of changes in wording, should contact either the Commissioners office in the county Courthouse, or the Garrett County Planning Commission. Copies of the July 19 memorandum describing the amendments are available from the commissioners office.

READY FOR TAKE OFF — Stuart F. Hamill, Deep Creek Lake, prepares to launch his home made ski kite. Ski kiting is a rapidly growing sport, but it is still a rare occurrence on Deep Creek Lake. Safety is the primary consideration of the ski-kiter and, while spectators of the sport are welcome, they should follow the tow-boat at a safe distance. See photos page 8.

Board Of Education Announces 1978-79 School Year Calendar

Garrett County Public Schools open for students, Thursday, August 31. The first day will be a half-day session for students and Friday, September 1, will be the first full-day of classes.

Monday, September 4, will be a Labor Day holiday for students and all school personnel. Following five full days of school for all students, schools will close on Primary Election Day as required by state law. On October 19 and 20, schools will again close for students while the Maryland State Teachers' Association Convention is in progress.

The complete Tentative School Calendar for 1978-79 will be made available to all families through the local school. The calendar also lists November 7 as a holiday for students because of the General Election to be held that day. November 15 will be a student holiday while teaching staff are involved in parent conferencing on that day.

Trout Vs. Deep Creek Sewage Treatment Plant Battle Ending

A compromise solution seems near in the seven-year stagnation of the sewage treatment system for the McHenry-Thayerville area of Deep Creek Lake, according to county officials.

County administrator W. Marshall Rickert and county attorney Jack Turney met Monday in Baltimore with officials from the Department of Natural Resources and the Coldwater Coalition to discuss parameters which the county must meet in order to receive the necessary permit to discharge treated effluent into the Yough.

The county Sanitary Commission, County Commissioners and the engineering firm of Rummel, Klepper and Kahl from Baltimore had had the proposed system under engineering advisement for the past seven years.

Delay started when the federal government modified its engineering requirements necessary to receive federal funds. The project was placed on a waiting list, and work was not able to continue until 1977, when engineering work resumed after some funding was obtained.

In 1974, however, an environmental group known as Trout Unlimited informed county and state officials of its intention to fight the discharge of treated effluent into the Yough River, contending that residual chlorine in the discharge might harm naturally breeding trout found in the Yough and in some of its tributaries.

Trout Unlimited later allied with other environmental groups to form an organization called the Coldwater Coalition, which brought forth a legal challenge to the tentatively-approved discharge permit promised in DNR.

Subsequent meetings and hearings on the matter revealed that there was insufficient evidence to establish whether or not residual chlorine in a discharge might harm the trout.

At Monday's meeting a proposed compromise settlement was reached whereby the state would issue a discharge permit to Garrett County, establishing stringent but economically feasible limitations on chemical residue in the treated sewage discharge.

The county would also participate in an extensive study of the trout breeding capabilities in the Yough to determine whether thoroughly treated sewage discharge would affect aquatic life.

County representatives were advised by state officials that details of a compromise would be formalized and the county should receive the discharge permit by October 1 of this year for the plant which would be located on Deep Creek, west of the lake.

"After the county receives the discharge permit, final engineering of the interceptor system and the treatment plant can begin, and if the project is not further delayed, actual construction could begin in the spring of 1980," said Mr. Rickert.

John Yommer Celebrates 100 Years of Being Young Sunday

By DiAnne Rook

Nobody ever knew that John Yommer would live to be 100 years old." the lively old man told me about himself. "I never even thought it would happen."

John Yommer is an extraordinary man. Sunday he celebrated his centennial birthday and, as he told me, "I feel as good as I did when I was fifty."

I talked to John during a Meals on Wheels lunch in Jennings where he was honored for the upcoming event. As he sat there graciously accepting cards and gifts from well-wishers, he told me the secret to his long endurance.

"I pray every day and look to the Lord and Savior for my health and spiritual life. I pray at least when I don't sleep. I always pray," he said with gleaming eyes. "The Lord has blessed me with a long life," Yommer added.

I sat in awe as I spoke with a man who has lived 100 years in a constantly moving and progressing world. But, it doesn't seem to have affected him since he said that "I've always lived a simple life."

Yommer, who was born "halfway between here and Grantsville," is a retired sawmill worker who has resided in this area all of his 100 years. He and his wife, who were married nearly 60 years, had one child in 1912 but the infant died a year later. His wife died in 1976 and she would have been 90 this year.

"When you're 100 there's not much you can do," he said.

However, Yommer confessed that his biggest enjoyment in

Donations Requested For Nationwide Federal Tax Revolt

BALTIMORE (UPI) — About 10,000 Maryland residents have received notices from Howard Jarvis, the leader of California's proposition 13 tax revolt, asking for donations to his nationwide campaign to cut federal taxes.

Harley Cole, an aide to Jarvis, said about 10,000 state residents received packets last week asking for donations of $15 to $500 to support Jarvis' new American Tax Reduction Movement, seeking to cut federal taxes, the budget and the national debt.

Cole said the packets were part of a "test mailing" to about 600,000 residents across the country.

Candidates Told Of Limit To Political Club Contributions

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Candidates for public office may not contribute more than $2,500 to political clubs unless the clubs disclose the use of the funds, the state attorney general's office said in an opinion.

Deputy Attorney General George A. Nilson said an interpretation of amendments to a 1976 state election law limits candidates to the same spending ceiling imposed on individual contributors to political candidates.

But, the funding limitation can be avoided by political clubs that form a political committee and file detailed campaign reports concerning how the money is spent, he said.

Nilson said the ruling will not necessarily limit "walk-around" money, which is given by candidates to political organizations to print sample election ballots - usually with the candidate's name marked.

Nilson said in a letter to the state election board the cost of printing sample ballots for distribution at the polls can be exempted from the $2,500 limit by sending a check directly to the printing company.

Nilson said then the expenditure can be listed on the candidate's campaign report as a campaign expenditure rather than a donation to the club, he said.

"This law will not result in a reduction of the amount spent on printing," Nilson said. "But from now on, we will all know how much goes for printing and how much is used to pay election workers."

Candidates always have borne the costs of printing, according to candidates contacted Monday about the new ruling.

Although the ruling will not eliminate the use of walk-around money, it will have a major impact on the practice, other politicians said.

State Republican Candidates Attend Monday's Meeting

Candidates vying for high state political positions were among the Republicans present for the "Meet the Candidate" night Monday at the Oakland fire hall.

County voters were welcome to talk individually with candidates during the session from 7:30 to 9:30 sponsored by the Northern and Southern Republican Women's clubs.

Miss Louise Gore was visiting the western Maryland area and was among those present. With her were her nominee for Lt. Governor, Sam Culotta, and candidate for Attorney General Ed Blanton.

Miss Gore, one of four candidates seeking the Republican nomination for Governor, has served four years in the House of Delegates and four years in the state senate. From 1972 to 1978, she served with the Department of Economic and Community Development.

Mr. Culotta served in the Maryland House of Delegates from 1955 to 1959, and for 27 years has engaged in private law practice in Baltimore.

From 1965 to 1968, Edward Blanton was assistant Attorney General of Maryland, and most recently has been devoting his time to private law practice in Baltimore county.

Warren Rich, Republican candidate for Attorney General on the Glenn Beall for Governor team, also brought his campaign to western Maryland in time for Monday's event. Mr. Rich, 39, a current resident of Easton, is engaged in private law practice in Easton and Annapolis. Until February of this year he served as Assistant Attorney General in Maryland's Department of Natural Resources where he is credited with writing and fighting in court for many of Maryland's environmental laws.

He noted that an effective Attorney General must know state government inside and out, and must have a legal ability and determination to fight for the people.

Colaw Withdraws From Republican Committee Contest

Dennis Colaw, candidate for the Republican State Central Committee, has withdrawn from the political arena effective early in July.

His withdrawal was prompted by decisions from the State Board of Ethics and the Attorney General's office requested by the State Department of Assessments and Taxation, which has been Mr. Colaw's employer for the past six years. He is presently Assessor III with the Garrett County office.

In their decision, the above state officials noted that they feel that "an assessor is already in a compromising and controversial position and therefore being in an elected position could only create additional problems," according to Mr. Colaw.

Mr. Colaw has filed a grievance with the state Merit System, and has reached the fifth and final stage before a hearing. His attorney is Ed Davis, Towson.

Troopers To Air Salary Grievances

Maryland state troopers from Allegany and Garrett Counties will be among several hundred troopers expected to attend a rally in Frederick this evening to air their grievances about salary and job classifications.

A spokesman at Frederick said the meeting was called because police are upset with Acting Gov. Blair Lee III's response to their salary demands.

The possible job action will be discussed when the officers gather at the Maryland School for the Deaf. State troopers report the job action will not be a strike or work slowdown but "a stricter adherence to police procedure."

Frederick was chosen as the site of the rally by the Fraternal Order of Police because a state police softball tournament is bringing 20 teams to town.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor

I highly resent some of the remarks and implications belittling the Office of the Register of Wills (including the Editor of The Republican, who saw fit to publish a picture of a dog running for this office, implying ???? Maybe any old dog could fill the office).

The Office of the Register of Wills is an important part of Maryland's Judicial System and provides a service to the people of each county of the state in which I am extremely proud to have played some small part.

The most basic of qualifications for this office is: accounting, the ability to use all office machines and equipment. The position requires the ability to conduct and handle the responsibilities of a business handling a volume of millions of dollar values, applying and collecting taxes, inheritance and others. Preparing and maintaining permanent records and reports, an extensive knowledge of testamentary law of how and where to apply it. To be able to handle delicate situations at a time when someone who has just lost a loved one needs a strong shoulder to lean on.

I trust the voters will consider all of these qualifications before casting their ballots for the New Register of Wills. An election should not be a popularity contest, but rather the serious business of choosing the best qualified person, who in a sense is your employee.

Sincerely,
Joseph H. Welch

Dear Mr. Welch,

As always, we welcome criticisms as well as complaints. We certainly apologize for any ill feelings our picture may have generated. It was in no way intended to be a personal affront to you or a criticism of a highly respected office.

We merely wanted to reflect upon, in a humorous manner, the large number of persons filing for this office.

Also, with any political contest, there are extremely competent candidates and not so competent candidates. Assuredly the dog in question would be grossly incompetent. But none the less, she is extremely personable.

Dear Editor

I'm writing concerning the recently completed Interstate 48. I understand that originally the highway was to be bordered by a safety fence. As of this date, 2 years after the opening of the freeway, there is no fencing from Cumberland to Morgantown.

The sector of highway between Keyser Ridge and Friendsville runs through a heavily wooded area, which is filled with deer. As there is no restraining fence, the deer are constantly wandering out of the woods and onto the highway, endangering themselves and motorists.

The animals are becoming accustomed to traffic and are getting braver. More and more are being seen along the heavily-traveled 48. Driving conditions, especially at night, are not only hazardous, but also nerve-wracking. There have already been several wrecks caused by deer; I would like to see something done about the fence before someone is seriously hurt or killed.

Sincerely yours,
Rae Ann Brenneman

Dear Editor,

I have been reading your paper and looking forward to it each week the past five years.

What especially appealed to me was the separation and the classified ads into groups making reading a lot easier for what one is interested in.

Recently I noticed two cartoons. I for one like the funnies in different newspapers like my Dad years ago. I think your paper would be complete with a few comic strips or even a page full. You will even sell more papers to the younger set.

Keep up the good work for the overall paper. I look forward to getting it every week.

Yours truly,
Edward E. Watson, Jr.

Dear Editor,

We'd like to express our real appreciation to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. We've seen these guys in action twice during the last five months and both times we've been very impressed. Not only do they manage to put out fires efficiently, but, they save as much property as is possible. They're fast, thorough, courteous and, more important, they're people caring about people.

We'd also like to thank all our friends and neighbors, known and unknown to us, who were so concerned and supportive during a recent fire at our home.

It's really reassuring to know these people are around if and when we need them!

Dear Sir,

I noticed under Animals for Sale in your August 9 Republican, nestled among the Holstein heifers, a gentle pony and a sorrel mare, one "bush hog (brush hog)". I was surprised that there was so little explanation of so rare a species and no mention of the fact that within a few minutes these animals can level even the most difficult stands of brush.

Sincerely,
Dorothy Straub

P.S. — Actually, it made my day!

Dear Mrs. Straub,

We would have offered a little more explanation on the species, but unfortunately little is known about this rare "animal." Unlike conventional hogs, its lifestyle more closely resembles that of a distant cousin, the lawnmower — and reportedly it exists on a steady diet of gasoline and motor oil.

Dear Sir:

Two instances that were surprising and leaves one wondering.

Number one: To enter any item in the fair you have to pay an entrance fee to get on the fair grounds.

Number Two: To answer a repair call to fix a stove you are charged an entrance fee to be admitted to the grounds.

This happened on Tuesday, August 8, at the Garrett County Fair.

D. V. Suit
Rt. 2, Swanton, Md.

Dear Editor:

I want to say the fair was one of the best that I have ever been to. I was there four times and enjoyed it very much, in spite of my own problems. The Charlie Louvin Show, Gospel singers, and Kathy Shaw shows were the greatest and everyone enjoyed them I think.

I met a lot of old friends and made a lot of new friends. It was a little sad to go to the judging and selling of the beef. I didn't attend those for I met or talked to most of the boys and girls who were involved. But the Kathy Shaw Show helped to make people relax in spite of the tense moments. May we always have this kind of entertainment to represent our Garrett County Fair.

Dear Editor:

From all the signs and campaign cards of serveral candidates for the upcoming primary, pleading for voters to "elect" them to office, one could conclude that the public would be better served if these candidates would take time out from campaigning, take a short course in civics, and find out what the primaries are all about.

Technically, we're having two events on September 12: one primary for the Republicans and one for the Democrats. Winners receive the "nomination" of their party to place them in contention for the general election in November. The only people who will be "elected" in the primary will be winners of positions on the state central committees. All other candidates, therefore, should be asking to be "nominated" in the primary.

Ignorance may just naturally gravitate toward politics and public office, but it seems that Garrett County has more than its share.

Yommer Celebrates

me," he said proudly. "Imagine that - California!"

His second biggest love in life, I quickly discovered as he hummed along to a song played in his honor, is music.

"It's wonderful to have music. I'd love to have an organ or piano or something to listen to," he stated.

"What about a radio?" I asked.

"I don't care for radios; there's too much foolishness on them these days," he answered.

Yommer lives with his 92-year-old brother in their small house in Jennings where John still does the cooking and even bakes bread. "I'm 'baching' it now," he added with a grin.

"Do you get out much?" I questioned.

"I try to go to church as much as possible and I go to the Grantsville sales nearly every Saturday. I don't get around like I used to," said the man who held up a cane to prove his point. "Don't drive a car. Never did," he said.

Yommer continued, "In 1902 when a railroad came through this town, I labored on it. We'd work ten hours a day and I'd have to walk 16 miles to work. Made $1.50 a day," he added proudly.

The little man with the snow white hair and bright blue eyes continued to tell me more about himself. "I don't smoke cigarettes or drink whiskey. Don't need them," he said. "The Lord gives me everything I need," he concluded.

"I don't remember too well anymore," the man confessed. "I'd like to tell you all about the things I've done and seen but I just can't recollect it all!"

Obviously excited about his centennial celebration, Yommer told me that the church would honor him on that day with "lots of pretty singing."

"The other day," he told me, "I got a birthday card in the mail with $50 in it! That's a lot of money!" he said excitedly.

When the meal was completed, friends came over to bid goodbye to John and wish him "many, many more happy birthdays."

"I don't know about that," he grinned, "I could die tomorrow. But it's all in God's hands and whatever he chooses to do is fine with me!"

Route Of Freeway Section Debated

Statements from private citizens, officials of Allegany county government and other interested parties were heard Tuesday night at a public hearing attended by several hundred persons and held by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation at the Allegany Community College theater.

Discussion focused on Section 1 of the National Freeway, which would run from Wolfe Mill to M. V. Smith Road in Allegany county.

Main dispute centered around whether the AGEENA alignment, another alternate alignment or upgrading of existing Route 40 would be the most acceptable route to advance the highway network for Route 48.

The AGEENA route, it was noted, was the least expensive and next to the shortest of all possibilities under consideration and would require elimination of relatively few historic sites.

Arguments for the proposed alignment included the fact that western Maryland is isolated by the absence of a modern highway and its economic growth is being stunted because of lack of a modern transportation route.

John J. Coyle, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said "We've run out of time. We've been trying for 40 years for a modern highway and now we're within 18 miles of it. We can no longer afford to be in the right part of the hourglass, and that's where we stand now — in the 18-mile funnel that runs through Allegany County."

Opposition was voiced by those who said that "historic preservation should mean more than upkeep of museums and should include preservation of the old-fashioned way of life.

Young Hance, Maryland Secretary of Agriculture, told the audience construction of the highway along the proposed route would create a detriment to agriculture in the county, and asked that an alternate route be seriously considered.

The record will remain open until September 1 for anyone who could not attend the hearing to submit testimony. Testimony should be submitted to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, 1522 K Street, SW, Washington, D. C. 20005.

Croner Nominated For Election To Agway Directors

Richard Croner, of Berlin, Pa., has been nominated for reelection to the board of directors of Agway Inc. He was selected Tuesday, August 15, at a district nominating meeting at the Mountain View Inn, Greensburg.

Croner will stand for election to a three-year term at the Agway annual meeting October 26-27 in Syracuse, N. Y., representing southwestern Pennsylvania and western Maryland.

A director since Agway was formed in 1964 by the merger of Eastern States Farmers Exchange and Cooperative GLF, Croner served on the Eastern States board from 1957 to 1964 and was elected second vice president in 1963.

He operates a 900-acre dairy farm in partnership with his son Tom. In addition to maintaining a herd of 100 milkers and 100 young stock, they raise potatoes and oats.

Croner is chairman of the board of Curtice-Burns Inc., of Rochester, N. Y., a food processing company in which Agway holds controlling interest. He is a director of Philson National Bank, Penn State's Southeast Field Research Laboratory, the County Trust Company, and Pro-Fac Cooperative. He is a member of the Consistory and vice president of the United Church of Christ in Berlin.

Agway Inc., a farm supply and food-marketing cooperative owned by 122,000 member-stockholders, serves agriculture in 12 northeastern states. Its headquarters are in Syracuse.

Goldsborough Out Of Senate Race

William M. Goldsborough, who had announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to the state senate subject to the prunary election, withdrew from candidacy July 21.

In his withdrawal statement, Mr. Goldsborough stated "I have been threatened by the Attorney General's office to withdraw or resign my position as resident State Highway Administration engineer." Goldsborough has worked for SHA for the past 27 years.

He noted that the Attorney General's office, through Nolan Rogers, assistant Attorney General assigned to the SHA, forced his withdrawal by bringing out a never-before enforced federal law which states that state and county employees subject to administering federal funds cannot run for political office. This is a provision of the Federal Hatch Act which was instituted in recent years.

Mr. Goldsborough was denied the opportunity to obtain a leave of absence from his job in order to continue his campaign when Rogers insisted that he either resign or withdraw. When Mr. Goldsborough questioned him about the appearance of others with similar state or county positions on the political ballots, Rogers reportedly replied that he "did not have time to look around the state for others in violation of the ruling."

Ironically enough there is nothing in Maryland's annotated code which says state or county employes cannot run for political office. Also ironically school personnel are exempt from this Hatch Act provision concerning state and county employes who administer federal funds.

Holiday Turkeys Do Disappearing Act

Someone must be celebrating Thanksgiving with a turkey dinner a few months early, according to larceny reports under investigation this past week by members of the Garrett County sheriff's department.

According to a report filed August 16 by Mark Lee Mayles, Route 5, Oakland, unknown persons had hfted seven live turkeys from their pen on his property. Estimated loss was $27.

In other cases this week, Sharon Bowers, H Street, Mt. Lake Park, told police that someone had taken a bicycle valued at $60 from her yard between August 13 and 17. On the following day, the 18th, the damaged bike was found on a nearby street.

Sadie Wilt, Second Avenue, Loch Lynn, reported that during the night of August 16, some thief without a green thumb of his own had taken plants and flowers from her front yard. Estimated loss was $30.

A destruction of property incident was reported by Herbert Henry Foy, Herrington Manor Road, who told police that sometime during the night of August 19, his mailbox had been damaged. Loss value was set at $10.

A Cumberland man Robert D. Merrick, who owns a cottage on North Glade Road near Swanton, reported that sometime between July 28 and August 16, someone had entered his property and taken approximately $40 in liquors. The screen on a bathroom window had been cut to gain entry.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Ordinances of the Town of Oakland provide that no dogs are permitted to run at large on the streets and alleys of Oakland. They further provide that no person shall keep a dog that constitutes a nuisance.

We are receiving many complaints about barking dogs and dogs running at large. It has become necessary for us to enforce our ordinances, and the dog warden has been instructed to pick up all dogs not under the immediate control of some person on any street, alley, or elsewhere within the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland.

Open letter to the voters of Garrett County:

I have been approached on several occasions and asked if I will withdraw from the race for County Commissioner if certain candidates are also nominated in the September 12 Primary.
No, there is absolutely no truth to this rumor. Les Hunter does not run half a race.

I have planned on running for the office of County Commissioner for over a year. You, the voters, or a major health problem are the only two things that will take me out of this race.

This letter is paid for and authorized by H. Lester Hunter, Republican Candidate for County Commissioner in District #2.

FILM CLIPS

Goldie is magnificent in her come-back film after years of married life and motherhood. Part of the "Laugh-In" alumni, she reflects the wide-eyed innocence of the girl-next-door type.

The film, which is a comic murder thriller, boasts a cleverly contrived screenplay. The plot does suffer a little by coming to a conclusion rather quickly without a lot preceding it . . . but the comic scenes, one-liners, plus Goldie/Chevy interaction, make any gaps forgivable.

For those of you who are into chase scenes, Foul Play has them, and more. Don't miss this one!

Of all common fowl, the duck is the bird that requires the longest cooking.

Tips on bulb planting for blossoms year after year!

You can grow bulb flowers just about anywhere the sun shines. Simply plant them properly in the fall and they will burst triumphantly into bloom each spring for years.

Follow these instructions, based on the latest university research, to ensure that your bulbs live as long and bloom as bright as Nature intended.

PREPARING THE SOIL

It is possible to simply dig a hole, stick a bulb in it, and cover it over. For years, this was a standard procedure. However, your bulbs will be healthier if you prepare the entire planting area by loosening the soil to a depth of 10 to 12 inches. This makes it easier for tender roots to penetrate the soil, and it also improves drainage—an important factor in bulb growing.

Bulbs need oxygen as well as water around their roots and, if soil is soggy or waterlogged, they can literally drown. To improve drainage add peat moss, sand or vermiculite.

Before planting the bulbs, mix bone meal or other fertilizer rich in calcium, phosphorus and magnesium into the soil.

PLANTING-WATERING

For many years, experts recommended that bulbs be planted three to four inches deep. In most years and most areas, this proved sufficient; however, during especially severe winters and in areas where winters are long, the soil may freeze hard to a greater depth. Therefore, bulbs should be planted deeper.

Set bulbs firmly in place, with the pointed ends up. Plant tulips, hyacinths, daffodils and other large bulbs with tips about six to eight inches deep and about five or six inches apart.

Plant smaller bulbs, such as crocus and muscari, four or five inches deep and about three inches apart. Fill the bed halfway with prepared soil, and water thoroughly. (This provides ample moisture directly around the bulb, settles soil and prevents air pockets.) Then add the remaining soil, and cover with a 3 to 4 inch deep layer of protective mulch—leaves, hay, straw or bark—and water again.

Mulches serve a variety of functions but most important is the stabilization of ground temperatures. They protect the bulbs from cold in northern areas and from excessive heat in the south. They further help to retain sufficient moisture during dry spells.

In very cold areas, a deeper layer of mulch should be added in the fall and removed in the early spring before the bulbs begin to grow.

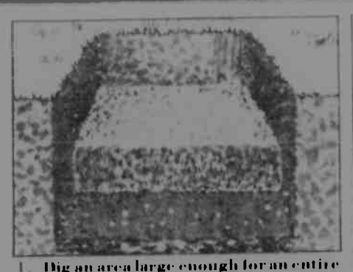
SPRING CARE

When the first green shoots appear in the spring, feed the bulbs with a regular 12-12-12 fertilizer. This insures an adequate supply of nitrogen and potassium when your bulbs need it most: just before, during, and immediately after flowering.

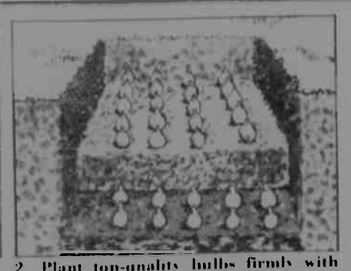
As a precaution, it is wise to spray the plants once or twice during the growing season with an approved fungicide to protect them from diseases.

AFTER FLOWERING

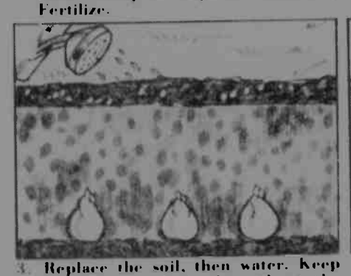
Once blooms have faded, remove them from the plants, but allow the foliage to grow until it turns yellow. During this period the plants are building new bulbs and storing up food for next year.



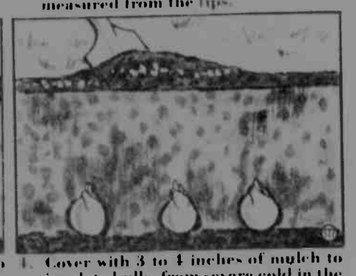
1. Dig an area large enough for an entire cluster of bulbs. Loosen soil 10 to 12 inches deep to improve drainage. Fertilize.



2. Plant top-quality bulbs firmly with pointed ends up. Set small bulbs 4 inches deep and large bulbs 6 inches measured from the tips.



3. Replace the soil, then water. Keep watering regularly throughout the fall until frost sets in.



4. Cover with 3 to 4 inches of mulch to insulate bulbs from severe cold in the north and heat in the south.

GARDENER'S ALMANAC

August

Fertilize established lawns in late August. Use 10 pounds of 16-8-8 or similar analysis fertilizer per 1000 square feet on good lawns and 20 pounds per 1000 square feet on poor lawns.

Plant narrow-leafed evergreens. Dig the hole 12 inches wider and six inches deeper than the root ball. Then add enough peat-soil mixture in the hole so that the plant sits at the same depth in which it was originally growing. Fill the hole two thirds full of soil. Then water to settle the soil. Don't pack the soil with your feet—you'll break roots. Wait until spring to plant hemlocks, firs and broadleaf evergreens.

Apply maleic hydrazide (MH-30) to potatoes and onions while they are still in field to prevent sprouting in storage.

Maintain disease and insect control spray applications on fruit trees, small fruits, vegetables, flowers, and ornamentals. Always follow instructions on the pesticide label before using.

September

Seed the bare spots in your lawn that are larger than your hand. Use a mixture of 1 pound grass seed and 1 pound fertilizer in 1 bushel of soil. Add a handful to each bare spot, then scratch it in with a garden rake.

Improve poor lawns with fertilizer. Fertilizer alone should do the job if you have a 40% stand of good grass. If the lawn is extremely thin, add 1 pound of bluegrass per 1000 square feet in addition to fertilizer.

Kill dandelion, plantain and other broadleaf weeds in your lawn with 2,4-D. Be careful to keep the chemical off other plants. Grape, tomato, and redbud plants are especially sensitive.

Plant ground covers, such as myrtle, winercreeper and pachysandra on steep banks, around shrubs and in shaded areas.

Prune dead and diseased limbs from trees. Paint all wounds immediately with wound dressing.

Take house plants indoors before killing frosts occur. Repot if necessary. Watch for insects and spray or wipe foliage weekly to remove dust.

Beautify Those Shady Areas

One question often asked by home gardeners is "What can I grow in the shade?"

Most annual flowers grown from seed prefer full sun, but there is a small group which will tolerate light shade, and a smaller group which actually prefers shade.

Coleus, foxgloves, nicotiana, French marigolds, pansies, violas, vinca, petunias and ageratum will tolerate light shade but, by far, the best two kinds for shaded areas are fibrous-rooted begonias and impatiens.

Should you choose the begonia it is best to grow the hybrids. These have larger flowers, sturdier plants, and a greater tolerance for shady conditions. A packet will grow hundreds of plants.

Seed is best grown indoors as early in the spring as possible so that good size plants can be transplanted to the garden after danger of frost.

Impatiens have been improved tremendously in recent years. Modern hybrid varieties are now much more free flowering, and more compact in their growth.

The best of the hybrids are the dwarf elfin and the semi-dwarf imp series. Both make excellent bedding plants and come in a good range of colors including white, pink and red.

Seed is best started indoors early in the spring so that good size plants are ready for transplanting to the garden after danger of frost.

Save Water

Most plants can suffer as much, if not more, from excessive watering as from too little.

Most trees, shrubs and other plants growing in the yard are seriously thirsty every week to 10 days. If there is not about the equivalent of an inch of rainfall over that period of time, then all those plants should be given sufficient water to make sure it reaches down to soak the root system.

Tennis Tourney For Cancer Begins Thursday Morning

The second annual Cancer Tennis Tournament in this county will begin Thursday, August 24, at the Mt. Lake Park Tennis Club, according to directors Jack Jones and Ray Beard.

Registration forms are still available from either of the directors, or from Marvin's Men's Wear in Oakland, Mt. Lake Tennis Club, or the Wisp.

Events scheduled include men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, mixed doubles, and senior men's singles.

Matches will begin Thursday morning. Draw will be held Wednesday evening. Each participant or team will be required to bring one can of unopened balls to their match, helping to reduce expenses and allow more money to be donated to the cancer society.

Track Veterans Take Heat Races

Garrett County's two veterans of car racing finished first in their respective heat races at two area tracks over the weekend.

Frank Lewis, driving at Elkins Friday night, won his heat race and finished third in the feature after he experienced some transmission trouble.

On Saturday at Morgantown, Frank won the helmet dash and finished fourth in the heat. The feature race was rained out.

"Red" Fredericks of Mt. Lake Park, driving Randy McCartney's car in the semi-late division, started second in the heat and finished first after leading the field all the way.

Dewey Wakefield of Friendsville had his car in the semi-late division, driven by Bob Arsenberger. Arsenberger started seventh in the heat and finished fourth.

Bob Hershman started first in his semi-late heat and had dropped to second place before mechanical trouble forced him into the pits about the eighth lap.

At Motordrome on Sunday, Frank Lewis started fourth and finished second in the heat. He started 14th in the feature and moved up to sixth place.

Nine-Pin Tourney Ends At Par-Matt

The fifth annual 9-Pin Tournament at Par-Matt Lanes came to a close July 30 with Marolyn Johnson taking first place in the women's division and Tom Mattingly taking first place in the men's division. Marolyn had a 759 series with a total winnings of $250 and Tom earned $500 with an 877 series. He was also awarded $25 from Browning's Foodland for the first 300 bowled.

There was a total of 517 entries competing in the tournament for a total of $2,326 in prize monies.

Trophies for first place in each division were given courtesy of Arts 'n' Letters of Cumberland and the Oakland Coco-Cola Bottling Company gave a case of coke to each bowler with the high game for the week.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A total of 24 Super Bowl records was set and nine were tied as the Dallas Cowboys defeated the Denver Broncos 27-10 in Super Bowl XII on January 15, 1978.

Tips On Trailering May Help Vehicles

To most boatowners hauling trailers, the chief concern is a good safe rig that won't damage the boat in transit.

But what about damage to the car?

"Trailering is tough on any car, particularly on the new smaller vehicles which have much less weight and horsepower," says William Rolland, Director of Engineering at Fram Automotive Division, Providence, RI. As Rolland describes it, the heavy load and increased wind resistance put a strain on engine and transmission alike. But the motorist can take precautions to protect the vehicle against serious damage and wear.

"Trailer towing is defined by the car makers as severe operation," says Rolland. "Under these conditions, they recommend an oil change every two months or 3,000 miles. That's more than twice as often as most motorists change their oil," he adds.

According to Rolland, engine oil gets very hot while trailering, causing it to break down much faster than usual and lose its protective properties. "If the oil isn't doing its job, a major engine overhaul can be the end result. That's why frequent oil changes are so critical," Rolland cautions.

He also recommends that the lube oil filter be replaced with every oil change. That's because the old filter holds a quart of used oil which may be contaminated or broken down. If the filter is not changed, the "bad" oil mixes with the good, especially in smaller engines which hold less oil.

Rolland adds that special oil coolers, which keep oil temperature down, are available through the manufacturers of four wheel drive and other larger vehicles. "If you do a great deal of heavy towing, it may be a worthwhile investment," he states.

To protect the transmission system, check the automatic transmission fluid every few weeks to make sure it has retained its proper red or maroon color. "If the liquid is brown and smells burnt, change the transmission fluid and filter immediately," Rolland advises. "Otherwise, change them at the end of trailering season."

Spark plugs should also be checked. If the tips look burnt, install plugs that are one heat range cooler than the regular plugs recommended in the owner's manual. "If you're doing a lot of trailering, especially on long trips, it's a good idea to install colder plugs just as a precaution," advise Fram engineers. "Then, when the season is over, change back to your regular spark plugs."

According to Fram, trailering is just one example of severe operation. "It's a good idea to read the fine print in your owner's manual and know all the conditions of severe driving. Most cars are, in fact, driven severely and should receive more frequent oil changes and tune-ups," Rolland concludes., "it's the best way to avoid big repair bills and prolong vehicle life."

Survey Indicates Public Supports Information Charge

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A survey by Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. shows a majority of telephone customers support a plan to charge for directory assistance calls, C & P officials said Tuesday.

Both C & P and the Office of People's Counsel, which represents consumers in utility rate cases, agreed that a majority of telephone customers support the plan, but C & P said 85 percent favored it while the people's counsel said 62 percent found the plan acceptable.

C & P also said low income people support the plan to charge for directory assistance calls in excess of 12 a month because they could save money by making few of the assistance calls.

However, the Office of People's Counsel said its findings indicate low-income families would reject the directory assistance charge proposal 57 percent to 43 percent.

C&P said the state office's findings were inaccurate because they were based on poor demographic assumptions and did not include opinions of people with unpublished telephone numbers.

C&P has asked the Public Service Commission for approval for a plan under which residential telephone customers would be charged 20 cents for each directory assistance call they made above 12 a month. The first 12 calls would be free.

Business telephone customers would be allowed only three free calls a month.

No charge would be assessed for directory assistance calls made by handicapped, those made outside Maryland or calls made from mobile telephones, hospitals, hotels, and motels.

The utility said it would save $3.2 million a year on its information service costs under the plan.

The savings would result in a 30-cent a month reduction in home telephone bills, C&P said.

Michael Fine, president of a New York market research firm that conducted a survery of Maryland families, told the Public Service Commission the C&P proposal is more acceptable to families with annual earnings under $5,000 than to households with larger incomes.

"My study found that it was the higher income respondents (those with incomes of at least $20,000 a year) who are the last likely to accept the plan," Fine said.

Church News

A special 100th birthday celebration was held on Sunday morning at Zion Lutheran Church for John Yommer, the oldest living member of the congregation. John was born near Jennings on August 20th, 1878, and had a twin sister Barbara. Miss Leota Baker had written a short summary of John's life, and copies of it were given to the congregation. In it she tells of his being confirmed as a lad of 16 in Christ Lutheran Church, Grantsville. He had walked to Grantsville to attend catechetical classes, taught by Rev. Johnson. John was a faithful member of the Church in Jennings for many years, served many terms on the church council and sang in the choir. Sacred music was very much a part of life for him, and his treasured song of faith is the twenty-third Psalm. He states that the Lord has been his Shepherd throughout his long life.

For many years he took care of his invalid wife, and their only child died when 15 months of age. His wife died several years ago, and he now lives with his brother, Dan, 93. At the age of 100 years, he is able to be in his own home, preparing his own meals and looking out for his brother. For many years, he did the laundry, cooking, cleaning and baking homemade bread. He enjoyed making a vegetable garden and caring for his lawn during the summer. He receives help with the cleaning chores and the lawn now.

Many of his family and friends attended the celebration on Sunday, and two birthday cakes were baked by Mrs. Sharon Garlitz, Frostburg. After the worship services on Sunday, Pastor Mitchell had John to come forward and he presented him with a plaque with his name engraved, a gift from the congregation. There were also many cards and Mr. Yommer stated he had received a letter from President Carter. The ladies of the Church served lunch to those present, and special music was furnished by Joe DiSimone.

ELEVEN RIDERS COMPETED for prizes and to raise money for the American Cancer Society in Sunday's second annual Horse-A-Thon at Western Trails. Participating were Brenda and John Ackerman; Heather Miller, Cissy VanSickle, Nancy Schmidt, Jeannie Clendenin, Sue Markgraf, Sue Pritts, Mike Steyer, and Kay Pritts. Not pictured is Ronald Butler. The riders collected a total of $356 from sponsors who paid a specified amount for each mile of the ten mile ride completed. Trophies were presented to winners in various categories. Mrs. Marianne Flinn was chairman of the ride.

A licensing and dedication service for Rev. Kenneth Zehr, Bath, New York, was held on Sunday evening at the Glade Mennonite Church. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Walter Otto, Springs, Pa., who had served the congregation for the past two years. Rev. Zehr has accepted a call to serve the Glade congregation.

Homemakers' Club Meets

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Orendorf, Cumberland, visited Mrs. W. E. Buckel on Sunday. Her son, Max, Adelphi, visited her on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. David Buckel were visiting her last week.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Reckner were Lloyd Brenneman, Swanton; Mrs. Fred Harvey and Rodney, Naples, Fla., Allen Paugh, Jr., and sons, Mr. and Mrs. John Reckner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Julius Carey and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glotfelty, Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty and Lisa and Mrs. Linda Bittinger and Sheli.

Herbert Buckel, Jr., Colorado Springs, Col.; Ron Zimmerman and Nora Buckel are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Buckel, Sr.

Attending Sunday supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Carey, Frostburg, were Mr. and Mrs. John Reckner, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Reckner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty and Lisa, Linda Bittinger and Sheli and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Glotfelty.

THE RETURN

It was a cool Summer evening
Across the silvery plain,
The stallions were restless
As wind tossed their manes;
While the mares stood watchfully
Over their foals.
Now the silence was shattered
By a scream from the soul!
Out of the darkness
And out of the gloom
The White Stallion galloped
By the light of the moon.

Like Ulysses, embarked on a brief Odyssey.
Suitors had come and usurped his place;
But now he was back like an angel from Hell
To drive out pretenders and lay their lives waste.

His eyes glowed with hatred,
His hooves pawed the ground;
He pulled up in fury and glared all around.

Through filmy red eyes
Blazing with hate
He saw a male lope with an arrogant gait.

He charged him with fury
From dust clouds he ran.
And they pawed up the earth
And scattered the sand.

They reared high and clashed;
Wild cries ripped the air
While the horses, they cowered,
Both stallion and mare.

The King tore at the throat,
And his opponent went down,
The King lashed out wildly
And hot blood soaked the ground.

The others stood quietly
As the challenger, twitching, grew still;
Then respectful eyes turned
To the King standing over his kill.

The King stared back at the mares so disloyal
To him, the Victor — to whom went the spoils.
He snorted and turned from their now humble sight;
The victor, The King — forever swallowed by night

Hagerstown, Baltimore Cited For Inexpensive Cost Of Living

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Hagerstown and Baltimore are relatively inexpensive places for middle management executives to live, a spokesman for the American Chamber of Commerce Researchers Association said Tuesday.

Larry Hecker, a regional coordinator for the research group based in Newark, N. J., said the study showed the cost of goods and services in the two Maryland cities are less this year than the average in 200 other cities surveyed.

The research group studied 200 cities and compiled an economic index that considered costs of food, housing, utilities, transportation, health and other services in rating the cities.

Hecker said in a telephone interview that the index, issued quarterly, is meant to give middle-income persons - earning $18,000 to $25,000 a year - a way of comparing the cost of living in various places in the nation.

The data is the result of first and second quarter 1978 surveys of economic statistics submitted by the cities' chambers of commerce.

Baltimore scored 99.5 and Hagerstown 94.5 in the first quarter index. A score of 100 is considered average. Baltimore and Hagerstown were the only two Maryland cities to contribute statistics in the first quarter.

Mrs. Dagmar Miller, a research associate for the Greater Baltimore Committee, said Baltimore did not participate in the 1978 second quarter index.

The statistics showed that Hagerstown became a slightly more expensive place to live in the second quarter, rising to a 97.4 ranking.

Hagerstown showed a nearly 33 percent increase in the cost of utilities from the first to the second quarter, rising from 94.9 to 126.8, while dropping slightly in the cost of food and housing.

Hagerstown's jump in the second quarter also included increases in the cost of meat, peaches and electricity and decreases for milk, tobacco and coffee.

Both Hagerstown and Baltimore have low rankings for miscellaneous services, such as haircuts, television repair, movies and bowling. Hagerstown had a ranking of 86.9 and Baltimore 92.3

The highest-ranked city in the survey was White Plains, N. Y., at 144.4. New York registered 119.7, and Chicago came in at 116.

The middle management family targeted in the survey was assumed to live in either a two-bedroom furnished apartment or a new three-bedroom house.

Mayor, Officials Also Investigated In Ocean City

OCEAN CITY, Md. (UPI) — The special state prosecutor investigating alleged Ocean City police bribery is also probing unrelated accusations against the mayor and some Worcester County officers, the Baltimore News American reported today.

The paper quoted sources who said that the offices of the Worcester County State's Attorney and the county Liquor Board are included in an investigation headed by State Prosecutor Gerald D. Glass.

The paper said under examination were the activities of Mayor Harry Kelley Jr., State Attorney John Sanford Jr. and Liquor Board Chairman Charles R. "Buddy" Jenkins.

The newspaper account said the investigation has focused on a decision by the mayor and city council last spring to refranchise the lucrative, city-owned amusement pier to Jenkins.

The police department investigation concerns allegations that officers, including some department heads, collected money from prostitutes and bar owners for "protection," the newspaper said.

Police Chief Leroy Duggan resigned in June, along with Capt. Lee Ward and Detective Jack Richards, at Kelley's request.

Kelley said he originally requested that Glass investigate the police department. He said he has been questioned by investigators but that none of his papers have been subpoenaed.

"When Glass came down here the first tune, I told him I would cooperate in any way I could," Kelley said. "I told him right along that, if his path leads to my door, then come in — and he's come in once or twice, I'll admit that.

"I don't give a tinker's hoot if they investigate that (amusement pier) deal," he said. "I know there was nothing wrong with that, and I know they won't find anything there."

Kelley said that Dale Cathell, city solicitor and Kelley's personal attorney, resigned last week over a disagreement concerning the way the mayor was handling Glass's investigation.

The Glass investigation began after an assistant state's attorney dropped assault charges against Sanford's gardener, Leroyd Tyler, last year.

Tyler was retried after a special prosecutor was called in and he was convicted.

The state prosecutor is also checking out allegations that Sanford illegally conducted private legal work while in office.

It was light blue. My mother thought it was the most beautiful car she'd ever seen.

Relinquishing the relic.

It was a relic. The oldest car in town. Mom prayed for a new one. But my father said, "No. This one runs like a clock."

Actually it ran like a clock that had to be constantly repaired.

A new muffler every year. Unending trouble with the transmission. The brake linings. The carburetor. Even the upholstery was shot. My sister Ginny called it "Clarke's Clunker."

A new car. It seemed possible only in the far distant future. Because Dad had six kids and a house to take care of. But without saying a word about it, he joined the Payroll Savings Plan at work. And started buying United States Savings Bonds every week.

Then one morning in the fall, he got up early and left without saying where he was going. We were still around the breakfast table when he came back in the door. Smiling.

"How'd you all like to go for a ride in a brand-new car?" he said.

It was light blue. My mother thought it was the most beautiful car she'd ever seen. And it was the first one they'd ever owned brand new from the factory. She polished it every chance she had. And was forever bragging to the neighbors about all the options. Even though she didn't understand half of them.

That was ten years ago and Dad is still driving it today. One of the oldest cars in town. But this one shines and drives like new. Dad has saved enough Bonds to put most of us through school and still buy another car, but Mom won't hear of it.

The way she sees it. "They just don't make 'em like that anymore."

Whether you're saving for a new car, or even a new home. U.S. Savings Bonds can make it happen. Buy Bonds. They're the dependable way to save.

Take stock in America.

Oil Recycling Project Underway

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) - Senate President Steny H. Hoyer pointed to an Anne Arundel County map on which busy Ritchie Highway was lined with blue dots, each representing one of the state's official used motor oil collection points.

The map was used Tuesday to illustrate how many used oil collection points the state has already lined up as part of a program to discourage the dumping of waste oil in storm drains, gutters and garbage cans.

Hoyer, who launched the program by hanging the first "Maryland Used Oil Collection Facility" sign, said the program "speaks to some of the most important questions facing our country today, namely conservation of energy and protection of the environment."

He and other Maryland officials gathered near a waste oil collection tank at a Department of Water Resources field office to signal the beginning of the new environmental program.

More than 500 gasoline stations and automobile dealerships statewide have agreed to display signs provided by the state designating them as used oil collection points.

Henry Silberman, assistant secretary for environmental management, said educating the public about the program is a key to making it work. "Success depends on the active participation of citizens of this state," he said.

The stations will profit from their participation by selling the used oil to companies that recycle it for resale. The state, which plans to operate some collection points, may also make money from the venture.

Hoyer's administrative assistant, Bruce Bereano, said private recycling companies will make contracts with collection stations for picking up the used oil. The stations will receive about six to 10 cents a gallon for the oil motorists dump there for free, he said.

"Everyone agrees there is nothing wrong that someone is making a profit or a living out of this. Good is being done," he said.

He said the major oil recycling company in Maryland is American Recovery Co., but said out-of-state companies may also become involved.

The program is designed to discourage home mechanics who change their own motor oil from dumping it in places where it could seep into an pollute natural water systems.

Haphazard discarding of waste oil becomes illegal January 1, 1979, under the same 1978 legislation that created the collection and recycling program.

State officials estimate Maryland motorists who change their own oil buy about two million gallons of oil a year.

James, now the state treasurer, comptroller Louil L. Goldstein, Department of Natural Resources officials and representatives of the oil industry and a gasoline station association participated in the kickoff ceremony.

Collection points will be designated by the white and black signs that bear a circular symbol with interior arrows pointing to a drop of black oil. Inside the circle are the words, "Recycle Oil Here."

Residents Receive Plea From Javits

BALTIMORE (UPI) - About 10,000 Maryland residents have received notices from Howard Jarvis, the leader of California's Proposition 13 tax revolt, asking for donations to his nationwide campaign to cut federal taxes.

Harley Cole, an aide to Jarvis, siad Tuesday the people received packets last week asking for donations of $15 to $500 to support Jarvis' new American Tax Reduction Movement, which is aimed at attempting to cut federal taxes, the budget and the national debt.

Cole siad the packets were part of a "test mailing" to about 600,000 persons across the county.

Air Traffic High At International

BALTIMORE (UPI) - State officials say passenger and freight traffic at Baltimore Washington International Airport is exceeding projections even though the busiest time of the year is still several months away.

Aviation Administrator Karl R. Sattler said Tuesday, more passengers passed through BWI in June than in any month in the airport's 28 year operation.

He said the June figure of 336,531 passengers represented an increase of 20 percent over last June.

The airport also handled 12.5 million pounds of freight during the month, the largest amount of freight for any June in the airport's history, Sattler said.

For the first six months of the year, passengers increased 10 percent over the same period last year, while freight went up 22 percent - more business than airport officials had expected, he said.

"We were looking for a 6 percent annual growth at BWI over the next several years, so we are encouraged by the gains recorded thus far in 1978 - especially in light of the fact that the traditionally heavy holiday travel season is ahead of us," he said.

Passenger and freight figures for the first six months of 1978 are also higher than any comparable period in BWI's history, he said. During the period, more than 1,681,000 passengers used the airport and 72.6 million pounds of freight were moved through BWI

Moon Pieces May Be Found In Backyards

GREENBELT, MD. (UPI) - Pieces of the moon may be lodged in the back yards of many East Coast residents, an astronomer at the Goddard Space Center says.

The black, glassy, nugget-like rocks could be tektites, which are bits of lava that originated in volcanoes on the moon and have fallen to eart, said scientist John O'Keefe.

The Maryland Geological Survey agrees with O'Keefe's theory, although the agency has no reports of tektites being found in Maryland.

The Survey agrees, however, that Maryland's tidewater region could be a logical nesting ground for the North American tektites, formed about 35 million years ago.

O'Keefe insists that the possibility of finding a piece of the moon in your back yard is not as outlandish as it seems.

"There are too many cases of these things being found by people who set them aside for years before being identified," he said. "There may be many tektites lying around in old cigar boxes."

North American tektites are described by O'Keefe as being rounded or teardrop shaped with deep grooves. Usually they are less than an inch long. The best way to identifiy a tektite is to break one, he said.

Tektites are glass and will break differently than ordinary rock," O'Keefe explained. "A piece of naturally occurring black glass is either a tektite or material called obsidian from terrestrial volcanoes, and obsidian is not found in the east."

According to O'Keefe's theory, the tektites are formed in lunar volcanoes. After being powdered by hot hydrogen, the lava shoots out with enough speed to break away from the moon's gravity and fall to earth.

Some researchers believe that tektites are formed by meteorites striking the lunar surface and jarring loose pieces of the moon, which then fall to Earth.

Others, however, believe that rather than being from the moon, the tektites originate in other solar systems.

Foresters Report Insect Swarms

BALTIMORE (UPI) - State foresters say a swarm of insects has infested Maryland locust trees, causing their leaves to dry and shrivel up.

State Forester Tunis Lyon said the insects, the locust leaf minor, has destroyed substantial portions of locust trees in Western Maryland and Anne Arundel County.

The insect burrows between the layers of the leaves, killing the leaf but not generally injuring the tree, he said.

Md. Couple Fails In Quarter-Mile Swim

OCEAN CITY, MD. (UPI) - The quarter-mile swim from Ocean City to Assateague Island proved to be too much for a man and woman who attempted it.

Coast Guard officials said Paul Simmer, 30, of Myersville, and Dixie Botele, 26, of Middleton, were pulled from the waters about 5 a.m. Tuesday.

The two were engulfed in strong currents soon after they began their swim, officials said. They were being swept out to sea when they managed to grab hold of a buoy.

Amount Of Gold Offered At Gov. Auctions Increased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an effort to bolster the sagging dollar and ease inflation, the Treasury Department will increase the amount of gold offered at its monthly auctions from 300,000 to 750,000 ounces beginning in November.

A Treasury official said Tuesday the move was one of a series the administration announced last week would be taken to try to reduce the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

The Treasury said there will be four additional sales at the 750,000-ounce level through February 1979 in addition to the six at 300,000 ounces already scheduled this year.

At the new level of 750,000 ounces per month, Treasury said, its gold sales will be roughly equivalent to the 1977 rate of net gold imports and also will represent further progress toward eliminating the international monetary role of gold.

"What we're saying is we have one hell of a balance of payments deficit," a Treasury official said. "One aspect of that is we're importing 9.5 million ounces of gold a year ... for industrial use, imported coins and some stock buildup."

When the present gold auction program was announced last April, the Treasury said the auction level of 300,000 ounces per month would be maintained for six auctions and the amounts to be offered at subsequent auctions would be determined in light of the initial experience.

"Results have been quite good," Treasury said. "The receipts, which have totaled $230 million in the four auctions held to date, can be said to have reduced the U.S. trade and current account deficits by that amount."

Since those deficits remain at an excessive level, however, and net gold imports in the period preceding the initiation of the auctions were running at an annual rate of about 9.5 million ounces, Treasury concluded a substantial increase in the rate of sale would be desirable.

Treasury said it had a 278-million ounce stockpile of gold. The money from the gold sales will go into the general Treasury fund.

For the present, Treasury said, no changes are planned in the manner in which the auctions are conducted or in the bid procedures. It is expected invitations to bid will continue to specify payment in dollars and the minimum bid accepted will be for 400 ounces.

The Treasury reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Bids by or on behalf of foreign governments or central banks will not knowingly be accepted, Treasury said.

Crawford Returns To LeFortovo Prison

MOSCOW (UPI) — American businessman F. Jay Crawford returned to Moscow's LeFortovo Prison today for another round of questioning in the black-market currency speculation case against him.

Crawford, nattily dressed in a brown, three-piece suit and his favored cowboy boots, was escorted inside the jail by his boss, John Chellman of International Harvester Co., and U.S. Embassy official Robert Pringle.

"They called the embassy and asked me to come in," Crawford said at the prison gate. "I don't know what's up."

It was was the fourth time Crawford has been summoned to prison for questioning by KGB interrogators since he was released from prison.

Crawford, 37, of Mobile, Ala., was dragged from his car on June 12 by militiamen and confined to Lefortovo prison for 15 days.

He was released under an agreement that freed two Soviets jailed in the United States. The two Russians are expected to face trial in New Jersey in September on espionage charges.

Crawford, who has been a salesman for International Harvester in Moscow for two years, has been charged with exchanging large amounts of foreign currency for rubles on the black market. The charges carry a maximum sentence of eight years in prison.

He has maintained his innocence throughout the investigation but the authorities have continued building a case from affidavits of Soviet citizens who knew him.

President Carter Rafting On Salmon

Idaho (UPI) — The Salmon River turns rougher today for the flotilla of rafts taking part in President Carter's 90-mile trip through the remote Idaho wilderness.

A short distance from the Carter family's first overnight campsite was the "hazardous" Tappan Falls, with an eight-foot drop that signals the end of the smooth water experienced by the president on the first day of his three-day float trip.

Carter called Tuesday a "very good day," despite some rain, pea-sized hail, chilly temperatures and running aground in shallow water. Today, some backcountry hiking will be added to the itinerary.

Carter remarked to an aide — who relayed the comment to a press boat about a mile behind — "It was nice that I caught a lot of fish and nice that I don't have to comment to the press about it."

The first 32 miles of the Middle Fork of the Salmon was relatively calm. Jagged mountains covered with ponderosa pine and douglas fir soared a thousand feet above the waters and a golden eagle with a six-foot wingspan swooped over the rafts just before dusk.

The raft carrying Carter, his wife Rosalynn, daughter Amy and sons Chip and Jack drifted ashore at the Tappan Ranch late Tuesday and the presidential party enjoyed a campfire dinner of roast beef, Idaho baked potatos, sourdough biscuits and strawberry shortcake, some cooked prospector-style in a dutch oven. They camped under a huge tree for protection from showers.

The water becomes more choppy today as the river flows toward the narrow Impassable Canyon of the Idaho Primitive Area and then to the Confluence with the main Salmon River, where the trip will end late Thursday.

Temperatures dipped to the low 50s Tuesday, but despite the inconvenient weather, Carter stopped to fish, catching several cut-throat trout he had to throw back because of U.S. Forest Service regulations that forbid keeping them.

The president's raft was guided by expert river-runner Norm Guth, whose 11-year-old niece, Mira, joined the trip as a companion to 10-year-old Amy.

Near the end of the first day, Carter waved at campers along Hospital Bar, the boundary of the Salmon National Forest and from where his party glimpsed Loon Creek Point, a peak with a 7,000-foot elevation.

The president's party camped just a few miles below a site where gold was discovered in 1869, precipitating a rush to the area. Five Chinamen were murdered there in 1879 and the deaths, blamed on Indians, brought the start of the Sheepeater-Indian war.

The middle fork of the Salmon is low this month, its highest turbulence being in April when the spring thaws cause it to rise several feet.

"It is not a place for amateurs, but it is not really a dangerous trip," said Wallace Shiverdecker of the U.S. Forest Service. He said of the approximately 6,000 persons who run the river each year, an average of one fatality occurs.

D. C. Residents Need Ratification From Fifty States For Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The residents of the District of Columbia, having won House and Senate approval of a constitutional amendment that would give them full voting representation in Congress, now must take their case to the 50 states for ratification.

With just one vote to spare after a day of suspense, the Senate Tuesday gave its approval to the proposed amendment, 67-32. The House passed the identical amendment last March 289-127.

A series of proposals to change the amendment — which might have killed it for the year — were beaten by wide margins.

The amendment now will be submitted to the states and if 38 of them ratify it within seven years, the District would have two members of the Senate and — if the current population holds up — two members of the House.

But ratification could prove difficult. The amendment has stirred little interest around the country, has no built-in constituency, and all state legislatures know the District's representation would be Democratic for years to come.

There is a heavy Democratic majority in the federal city. It gave almost 80 percent of its vote to George McGovern in 1972 when he was carrying only one state, Massachusetts, against Richard Nixon.

In congratulating the Senate on its "historic vote," President Carter, in a statement issued by the White House, noted possible troubles.

"We are at long last on the verge of giving the District citizens the representation that they deserve and simple justice demands," he said, adding: "The ratification process for every constitutional amendment is naturally difficult and time consuming. But we cannot let this opportunity to ensure human rights at home slip away.

"I therefore urge the states to ratify this proposed amendment as promptly as possible," he said.

Unless the states act with extraordinary speed, the number of House seats to which the District will be entitled probably would be fixed by the 1980 census. The District now has about 700,000 residents but the population has been declining.

A coalition of the Senate leaders, Robert Byrd and Howard Baker, virtually all liberals, and a few consistent conservatives such as Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., joined in putting the amendment over the top.

Allied against them were other conservatives and small-state senators who argued the District was purely a city, heavily dependent on the federal government, and should not be given the same status as a state.

Escaped Convict's Body Discovered

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — An escaped convict, who eluded one of the biggest posses in Arizona history after a crune spree in which at least four persons were killed, was found Tuesday, dead of heat stroke in the desert.

Tison, 42, apparently died of heat stroke, perhaps on Aug. 11, the day he fled into the desert after a gun battle at a roadblock, said the Maricopa County Medical Examiner, Dr. Thomas Jarvis.

One of Tison's sons was killed in the shoot-out, and two others captured, along with escaped convict Randy Greenawalt.

Tison and Greenawalt, both convicted murderers, were serving life sentences at the state prison at Florence where Tison's sons allegedly smuggled sawed off shotguns to them in a visiting area July 30.

In a two week crune spree before they were halted at the roadblock, they allegedly killed at least four persons, and are suspected in the death of two missing Texas tourists.

The body was found about 4¼ miles south of the reservation community of Chuichu and about a mile from the command post set up for the five-day hunt by a posse of 350 law enforcement officers from 20 agencies.

"At various tunes we had people that went by the body, within feet of it," said Pinal County Sheriff Frank Reyes. "But they missed it because of the way it was concealed."

Tison fled on foot into the desert when other members of the gang were captured in a gunfight after crashing a police roadblock in a van.

Donald Tison, 20, was killed by a bullet in the head. Arrested with Greenawalt were Raymond Tison, 19, and Ricky Tison, 18. They have been charged with killing Marine Sgt. John F. Lyons, his wife, their 22-month-old son and a 15-year-old niece.

They also are suspected in the disappearance of James Judge Jr. and his wife, of Amarillo, Tex., who disappeared on a honeymoon trip to Southfork, Colo. The fugitives were driving Judge's van.

AS GREEN AS MONEY, this secluded patch of ginseng could be a ginseng hunter's delight. Berries are now turning red on the plants and the seeds will begin sprouting in 18 months to form new growth. A patch can only be harvested about once every five years, and then the roots must be dried before they can be sold. Dried roots are now bringing as much as $90 per pound for those with eyes sharp enough to spot the plants. Dried roots are prized for medicinal qualities in Oriental countries. Local people knowledgeable in woods lore have been harvesting sang for generations as a money crop, but are now subject to federal regulations since ginseng is now on the "endangered species" list.

Weeds, Plants Found To Make Natural Gas

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Scientists say they have found nearly three dozen types of weeds and plants that can replace the ever-dwindling supplies of petroleum and natural gas in the making of products such as rubber and plastics.

Such a development, say scientists at the Agriculture Department's Northern Regional Research Center, eventually could reduce the nation's need for oil and natural gas by about seven percent, or about two million barrels daily in oil and its natural gas equivalent.

In the past two years, researchers have looked at nearly 300 species of plants and identified at least 34 of them. They include milkweed, quack grass, poinsettia, sow thistle and guayule, as potential sources for the hydrocarbons necessary to manufacture rubber and plastics, which are presently made with petro-chemicals.

Dr. William Tallent, the center's director, said Tuesday, "It's something between five and ten percent.

"That is the amount of our petroleum and natural gas that goes into the petro-chemical industry to make plastics, to make synthetic rubber, to make all kinds of chemical products that have become such an unportant part of our lives."

But Tallent warned the speed of any industrial movement to replace petro-chemicals and rubber with similar wild-plant products will depend on the price of the final products and industry's willingness to develop the wild plants.

Russell Buchanan, a chemist at the center and the project's leader, said his group rated several species of wild plants, usually called weeds, based on their hydrocarbon, oil, protein and fiber content as well as adaptability.

He said they found four main groups of plants - those that can produce rubber, gutta, rubber and oil, and oil alone. Most plants probably would be specifically bred for one product, he said, but some could provide multiple products.

The hydrocarbons contained in some plants could be used for lubricants, petro-chemicals and rubber, Buchanan said, while the oils from other plants could be used as plasticizers for rubber and plastics, as waxes and as replacement for vegetable oils and alcohols.

Buchanan said some of the grasses produce gutta, a rubber-like ingredient of golf-ball covers and similar plastics. The grasses, quack grass and wild rye, may help make gutta plentiful enough to make it cheaper than plastics presently made with petro-chemicals, he said.

At least one plant, called the "gasoline plant," has oil in it that can be refined into gasoline, Buchanan said. But he said he is skeptical that enough of it can be produced at a reasonable price.

Major Earthquake Shakes Costa Rica: 7.0 On Richter Seale

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — A major earthquake shook Costa Rica for four minutes Tuesday night, sending thousands of residents fleeing into the streets.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., today estimated the strength of the earthquake at 7.0 on the open-ended Richter scale — a magnitude reached only by temblors capable of causing heavy damage.

There were numerous power failures throughout the country and severed telephone lines interrupted communications.

There were no immediate casualty reports and the extent of damage could not be estimated.

Government officials said it appeared the worst damage was in the northeast province of Guanacaste, a rural area bordering Nicaragua.

The area is Costa Rica's most fertile and contains many cattle ranches and small villages.

In 1970, the Arenal Volcano in the same area erupted.

According to reports from San Jose, residents felt two strong shocks about 10 minutes apart. The quake struck at about 8:38 p.m. EDT Tuesday and lasted for four minutes.

$1,875 Bail Set For India's Indira Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi appeared in court today at a hearing on corruption charges and was released on bail of $1,875 after a warning from the judge not to leave India.

At the end of the bail hearing, Mrs. Gandhi walked to a barred window near the second-floor courtroom to wave and throw a garland of flowers to hundreds of her supporters in the courtyard below.

The former prime minister and five others were charged last month with conspiracy and criminal misconduct for allegedly shaking down businessmen to obtain free vehicles for use in the 1977 national elections.

Mrs. Gandhi lost her own seat in Parliament and her Congress Party was turned out of office in the elections, ending her 11-year rule of India.

New Delhi additional sessions Judge J.D. Jain set bail at $1,875 each for Mrs. Gandhi and three codefendants, plus a surety for an equal amount. Jain warned them not to leave the country without the court's permission.

Another codenfendant had already posted bail and the fifth failed to appear for the hearing.

Jain said additional hearings in the case will start Nov. 4 and ordered Mrs. Gandhi exempted from further personal appearances unless otherwise ordered.

Red Tape Forces Many Schools To Drop Milk Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional effort to provide free milk to needy children backfired for some, when red tape forced thousands of schools to drop the special milk program altogether.

A new study released Tuesday by the Agriculture Department indicates the 1973 law, which was implemented in fiscal 1975, caused 4,000 to 8,000 schools to drop the program.

The special milk program is separate from the school lunch and breakfast programs.

The 1973 law forced schools to make two half-pints of milk available at lunchtime for needy children, one for the milk program and a second for the separate school lunch program.

Officials said it was difficult to pinpoint exactly how many schools dropped out because other changes made about that tune also encouraged dropouts.

In fiscal 1975 participation was reduced by 8,300 schools to 83,732 schools.

Last year Congress tried to reduce the problem. Now now free milk under the special milk program is served to needy children at tunes other than during meals. Free milk under the school lunch program was unaffected.

Before the latest changes, school administrators said they got out of the program because of excessive regulations, too much paperwork and an accountability problem of separating free and paid milk.

"A number of respondents stated that the cost to the school of administrating the free milk provision was too high to allow for continuation of the program," the study said.

Others dropped out of the program because of "problems in protecting the identity of free milk recipients."

The special milk program was established to support dairy prices by providing subsidized milk for school children.

365 City Workers On Strike Today

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — Some 365 sanitation, maintenance and highway workers in this Detroit suburb of 96,000 went on strike today in a contract dispute.

A spokesman in the Department of Sanitation said the workers set up picket lines at 6 a.m.

"They went on strike and pickets are up," he said. Talks between the workers and city officials broke off at 6 p.m. Tuesday and no further talks were scheduled.

The strike by the members of Teamsters Local 214 means garbage will begin to accumulate in the city.

The city spokesman said that the city was "willing to meet at any tune" with the union in an effort to resolve the dispute.

Guerrillas Told To Free Hostages

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaraguan authorities said today the leftist guerrillas holding the National Palace with about 500 people trapped inside must allow some of the hostages to go free before negotiations on their demands for $10 million and amnesty can begin.

The guerrillas have threatened to kill their hostages but have not set a deadline.

A government statement to the guerrillas said, "We must demand that you release the women, children, wounded and dead. That is the condition for negotiations."

The government also asked for an additional 24 hours to consider the guerrillas' demands.

A spokesman for the presidential press office denied reports that a number of hostages already had left the palace. "No, that's absolutely false," the spokesman said.

He also denied reports that Somoza's nephew, Jose Somoza Abrego, was among the hostages.

About two dozen heavily armed members of the Sandinista Liberation Front, which has been waging a guerrilla war against the regime of President Anastasio Somoza Debayle, burst into the palace Tuesday.

Four people were killed and 15 wounded in the initial assault during a one-hour gun battle with National Guard forces.

Pale Debayle, the president's cousin, who was slightly wounded in the assault and was evacuated, said the hostages were bound and herded into a library.

The number of people actually being held at gunpoint by the guerrillas in the sprawling government building, was not clear but, according to witnesses, the hostages included cabinet officials and a majority of the nation's 70-member Chamber of Deputies.

Most of the government workers in the building were believed to have remained in their offices after the guerrillas locked all the exits, the presidential spokesman said.

Somoza was meeting with cabinet ministers and officials of the national guard.

Managua's Roman Catholic Archbishop Miguel Obando Bravo and other clerics went into the palace Tuesday to confer with the guerrillas and reported their demnds to the government.

In its statement early today, the government said the guerrillas had made seven demands.

In addition to the $10 million, the demands included a general amnesty for all political prisoners and safe passage for all Sandinistas currently in jail to Costa Rica, Venezuela, Mexico or Panama.

They also wanted guerrilla communiques to be published in the local press and broadcast daily.

In reply, the government statement said, "We carefully read your demands and we're analysing them to try to arrive at a reasonable conclusion. However, we consider that meeting your demands is conditioned by a series of circumstances that do not depend exclusively on the government of Nicaragua.

"For these reasons, we need an additional 24 hours to answer your petitions."

The guerrillas, including a woman who is acting as spokesperson, addressed each other only by numbers. They were armed with submachineguns, high-power rifles and homemade bombs.

The hostages, at first used as human shields against government gunfire, were being kept bound and gagged.

The political turmoil was further complicated by a major earthquake that rocked Costa Rica, Nicaragua's neighbor to the south. The quake, measuring 7.0 on the Richter scale, sent tremors through Managua, shook buildings and added general panic to the already chaotic situation.

(An airline source in Miami, Fla., said he received a report that a plane of the Nicaraguan government airline had been ordered on stand-by in Managua. No immediate reason was known).

Somoza declared a national state of emergency and sent the National Guard into the streets of Managua and other major cities.

That action resulted in violent protests by anti-Somoza factions, who hurled homemade bombs at the guardsmen in Managua and erected barricades in suburban neighborhoods, witnesses said.

The attack appeared to be the latest push by leftist guerrillas to oust Somoza, whose family has ruled this Central American nation of 2.4 million people since 1937.

The namesake of the guerrillas was Augusto Cesar Sandino, a revolutionary leader who batttled the U.S. Marine occupation of Nicaragua in the 1920s and 1930s.

Nuclear Attack Tapes Filmed

CHICAGO (UPI) — A series of five video tapes being readied for training purposes will be telecast only if there is an unpending nuclear attack against the United States, Civil Defense spokesman Gleason Seaman said. The 15-minute tapes will deal with such things as how to improvise shelters against radiation bombardment, what to expect in a nuclear attack and how to monitor and recognize signs of radiation exposure.

"I hope the tapes are never used for anything other than training," one official said. "No human being would want to be the star of the largest and last television show in history — no sane human being." Another official said, "These are being produced for use in a severe crisis and are only to be used in that time."

Thirty-Three Horses Killed Early Today In Kentucky Fire

HENDERSON, Ky. (UPI) — At least 33 thoroughbred horses were killed early today when fire leveled a wooden barn at Ellis Park near the Ohio River in Henderson County.

Officials of the race track said the blaze started at one end of the older barn and spread quickly destroying the barn within 15 minutes. State police said the fire began at 1:10 a.m. EDT and was extinguished within three hours.

Five persons suffered minor burns while attempting to free the horses. Police said at least one person was admitted to a hospital in Henderson County. The others were treated at the scene for second degree burns.

A security guard at the racing park said the fire began at a rear barn and spread quickly to other barns. The dead horses were housed in one barn.

Authorities have not determined the cause of the blaze, although park officials say it apparently started in a hay-stack. Arson investigators were summoned, police said.

Ellis Park is currently in the midst of a 57-day meet which runs through Labor Day.

Berry Picking Raises $292 For Oakland Meals On Wheels Program

A total of $292 was raised by local and summer residents of Garrett County during a four-week period beginning July 16 for the Oakland Meals on Wheels program. Approximately 64 people picked 725 quarts of raspberries in the half-acre patch of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Straub of Shady Dell Road, Oakland. The pickers paid 50 cents a quart and the money was then donated by the Straubs to Meals on Wheels.

Pickers ranged from an eighty year-old woman to a four month-old baby, and from long-time county residents who systematically worked down the rows, to summer residents who roamed through the patch as novices, seemingly thrilled with the experience. Six members of the Appalachian Adult Activities Center picked 20 quarts. One camper arrived on a Saturday morning and asked to pick a quart for breakfast.

Mrs. Straub finds the patch impossible to cope with by herself. Two years ago it yielded almost 1,000 quarts.

"This has been a happy solution," she said. "The nicest people like raspberries!" (See Cooking Corner in today's issue for some berry recipes)

Although the Meals on Wheels of Oakland is a self-supporting program in that the clients pay for their meals, money for food containers, etc., must come from donations. The Steering Committee recently purchased three new insulated containers, each holding seven meals and a space for a heated metal brick to keep the food warm. The committee also plans to celebrate the first anniversary of Meals on Wheels in Oakland with a volunteer dinner in October.

The number of clients who wish to be served is growing and the program is in need of volunteers to serve a maximum of two hours every month. For further information, interested persons should call 334-8566, 387-5063, or 334-4851.

School Board To Conduct Meeting

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold a brief special meeting at Northern Middle School on Thursday, August 24, at 3 p.m. The major agenda item will be personnel appointments.

Prior to the meeting the Board will visit through the school before taking action on the acceptance of the building from the contractor.

Wilson Files For State Senator

William A. Wilson, a Cumberland businessman, has filed for state senator for Allegany-Garrett Counties, subject to the Republican primary September 12.

Wilson has served 13 years as deputy clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, four years as a member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and eight years as a judge of the Maryland Tax Court. He also served as state senator from 1970 to 1974.

He is a partner in the Cumberland Office and Supply Company and is a member of Ali Ghan Shrine. He served as treasurer of the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association for approximately 30 years.

During his term as state senator he aided the Grantsville Health Center construction as well as proposing a suitable roadway from the fire hall in Finzel to the outskirts of the community. He also introduced legislation by which Garrett Community College obtained $60,000 in state funds to meet a deficit budget.

Wilson further supported an equalization of assessments bill moratorium for two years which resulted in a $109,000 county savings per annum. In addition, a resolution he sponsored in the State Senate provided for the formation of the Deep Creek Lake Commission whose members must be property owners in the lake area named by the Garrett County Commissioners.

Correction

A correction to this should be Mrs. Dorothy Steyer, instead of Mrs. Evans. The Republican regrets the error.

Mrs. Arnold Dixon Retires After 37 Years As Nurse

Mrs. Arnold (Helen) Dixon, public health nurse in Howard County for 30 years, was honored in June by co-workers at three retirement functions in her honor.

Mrs. Dixon, who presently resides in Laurel, is a native of Garrett County. She attended the University of Maryland School of Nursuig in Baltimore and returned to western Maryland as a public health nurse following graduation. She worked in this county seven years before moving to Howard County, and helped deliver over 200 babies in local homes.

During the past several years, Mrs. Dixon was the Child Hygiene Services coordinator for Howard County; after working first as a school nurse and later as a public health nurse.

She notes "My first love in my nursing career was the opportunity to work with children," and continues that she cannot estimate the number of "shots" she has administered. To children, she found that telling them it would "only hurt a little" was one way to prepare the kids for the needles.

Mrs. Dixon is a member of the University of Maryland Alumni Association, the Laurel Business and Professional Women's club, and the First United Methodist Church of Laurel.

She now plans to spend more time cultivating her African Violets and a variety of outdoor flowers, as well as sewing and homemaking. She also plans to do a lot of traveling and visiting more with her daughter, Mrs. Walter (Becky) Reed and her children in Salem, Va.

Mrs. Dixon is a daughter of Mrs. Henry O. Miller, Grantsville, and the late Henry O. Miller.

Photograph Contest Ends Next Week

THE 29th CHAPTER

Lesson for August 27, 1978

Background Scripture: Acts 28
Devotional Reading: Philippians 1:12-21

The close of the Book of Acts is usually puzzling to the average reader. At last Paul arrives for trial in Rome. But instead of being thrown into a dungeon in preparation for a quick and speedy trial before Caesar, upon arrival, we are told, "Paul was allowed to stay by himself with the soldier that guarded him" (28:16). It seems a strange arrangement to us. The only thing suggestive of it in today's world is what we call "house arrest," a procedure sometimes followed today with important political prisoners. (We must conclude that it was more a matter local practice than Paul's importance.)

Rev. Althouse

We Want To Hear

Another strange development is Paul's freedom to meet with and speak to the Jewish community in Rome. One would think that the prisoner would be restricted from pursuing the very activity that had gotten him into trouble in the first place. Without any hindrance, they come to his residence in great numbers to hear him.

In light of all the opposition and hostility he has experienced from Jewish communities in other locations, we also find surprising the attitude with which they greeted him: "we desire to hear from you what your views are, for with regard to this sect (the church) we know that everywhere it is spoken against" (28:22). The very fact that others have been violently opposed does not stop them from listening to what Paul has to say.

The result of the hearing is equally interesting. We are told that "some were convinced by what he said, while others disbelieved" (28:24). We are told that they "disagreed" and some departed because they could not accept some of Paul's ideas, but there is no hint of dark plots or riots.

Preaching Unhindered

Thus, with the reader waiting for the grand climax — perhaps either escape of execution — we find that there is no climax at all. Instead, the book closes with these words.

And he lived there two whole years at his own expense, and welcomed all who came to him, preaching the kingdom of God and teaching about the Lord Jesus Christ quite openly and unhindered.

That's the end of both chapter 28 and the whole Book of Acts. How Paul's life went on or ended is still simply a matter of conjecture and theory. The 28th chapter of Acts ends with Paul still working.

Thus, Acts is a kind of open-ended book. The Acts of the Apostles are presumed to continue on through Paul's time and into every era of the church. Paul's story ends with chapter 28 but the acts of the apostles and disciples continue on as countless others follow in their footsteps, preaching and teaching of Jesus the Christ and witnessing to his power throughout the world. The acts of the apostles go on beyond chapter 28. They never end!

WATCH OUT FOR SUMMER AIR POLLUTION
Another hazard of summer deserves mention and that is air pollution. Climatic conditions, along with increased automobile traffic for much longer periods of time, cause increased eye irritation, conjunctivitis, throat irritation and more frequent attacks of bronchitis and asthma.
Patients with respiratory ailments need to be especially cautious during this time of the year, but just about everyone is subject to irritation of one form or another.

Welcome Home, Carole King's new album, has a pall of gloom cast over it. King's husband, Rick Evers, who co-composed a few of the cuts, died two months after it was recorded, reportedly of a drug overdose.

The album itself is well done and well-supported by King's backup band, Navarro, which first appeared on her 1977 Simple Things album.

A few of the songs give way to the system and seem a bit contrived, such as "Disco Tech," but King clearly reflects her friend, James Taylor's influence on others . . . and these are some of her best.

Deep Creek Property Owners Oppose Railey, Inc. In Proposed Re-zoning

By DiAnne Rook

On September 9, 1977, a petition by Railey, Inc., Deep Creek Lake, was filed to the Board of County Commissioners and the County Planning Commission to amend the Deep Creek Lake Watershed Zoning Ordinance.

The petition involved approximately 50 acres of land on the west side of US Rt. 219, (see diagram 1) just north of the 219 bridge and on the east side of 219, also north of the bridge. Part of the land is presently used for summer rentals while the balance is still to be developed.

The future development of the land in question is the issue currently involved in hearings before the County Commissioners and the Planning Commission.

Railey, Inc. requests that the area of land in question for re-zoning be considered "Town Center" on the north side and "Town Residential" along the south side. As a practical matter, however, according to Tim Dugan, County Planning Director, " the fate of the entire proposal hinges on the decision regarding the 'Town Center' area; the proposed 'Town Residential' area would neither be appropriate nor desirable if the 'Town Center' is not approved."

At the present time, according to Railey, Inc., a plan for construction of a small mini-mall to serve the Lake area people containing such services as a grocery store, drug store, and hardware store, hopefully owned and operated by local patrons would be set to go underway if the designated area is re-zoned. Office space is also planned for professional services such as a doctor, dentist, lawyer, or accountant. The area would then possibly be further developed to include a motel and condominiums.

Construction of this commercial area would be off of Route 219 so as to not create further parking problems that currently exist with several businesses along that highway.

The original zoning of Deep Creek Lake began, off handedly when, in 1965 the State Roads Commission announced its plans to take certain lands in the lake area for the purpose of improving US Route 219. These plans called for the State to take a "Substantial" part of the prime real estate owned by Railey, Inc. For the next four years, the corporation was involved in proceedings to save as much of its property as possible.

However, a part of the land owned by Railey, Inc. was indeed taken at that time and, in addition, during this period the County began and enacted a Master Plan for the development of Deep Creek Lake and a Zoning Ordinance.

The Zoning Ordinance, following the suggestions of the Master Plan, declared that the area from US Route 219 at Gravelly Run South on 219 to Thayerville (see diagram 2) was to be restricted solely to residential/non-Commercial uses. The primary reasons given for that classification, according to Thomas Dabney, attorney representing Railey, Inc., were that the terrain of the land and the inaccessibility to traffic in this area made it impractical to allow any form of commercial development.

McHenry and Thayerville, therefore, were designated the only two "Town Centers" in the Deep Creek Lake area.

And now, Railey, Inc. charges that a 'mistake' was made in the original zoning of Deep Creek Lake. The position of the corporation in its current petition is that the zoning criterion (traffic accessibility and condition of the terrain among two) were entirely "arbitrary and unreasonable." Railey, Inc. feels that "the Commissioners and Planning Commission made a legal mistake in reaching their respective decisions to prohibit further light commercial development in the area in question."

Historically speaking, Railey, Inc. is "the oldest continuously owned business property on Deep Creek Lake," says Dabney. The business began with C. M. Railey in the early 1920's shortly after the construction of the Lake was completed, with the nucleus of this business being the Lakeside Park Restaurant and public beach. In later years, the company expanded to include such diversified business as construction, carpentry shop, trucking, timber and lumber, riding stables and real estate.

In 1962, according to Dabney, the business formed by Railey, Inc. was preparing to expand its operations to include a motel, marina, real estate sales and recreational facilities. The corporation commenced the renovation of its existing cottage rental units and obtained plans for the construction of a multi-unit motel. At that time the State Roads Commission moved in, the area was then zoned, and Railey, Inc. was unable to complete expansion.

The legal 'mistakes' made in zoning, as charged by Railey, Inc. arise from what Dabney states as "obvious and significant facts." The lawyer concludes that:

"(1) The property in question has a long history of Commercial use, longer than any business in the Lake area.

"(2) The property involved is so located that it creates no particular traffic hazard or problem.

"(3) The terrain of the property involved is unlike other property in the affected area in that it is capable of development without serious interference with ecological, environmental or aesthetic qualities of the Lake.

"(4) The corporation has a record of continuous growth and conunercial development.

"(5) The corporation has been and continues to be an integral part of the commercial lifeline of Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County."

The re-zoning petitions submitted by Railey, Inc. have been discussed, at great length, during seven meetings of the Planning Commission, and have been the subject of two public hearings by the County Commissioners.

Last month, a Board of Directors representing the Deep Creek Lake property owners mailed out letters to over 400 property owners who live in or within one quarter mile of Deep Creek Lake requesting their opinions on the re-zoning ordinance. According to H. L. Kennedy, chairman of the project, 413 disapproved of the re-zoning while only 10 were in favor of the proposition.

Getting back to the issue in question, the entire re-zoning rests upon the accusation that a 'mistake' was made when the County adopted the County Plan in 1974 and the Zoning Ordinance in 1975.

"In considering re-zoning, there must clearly have been a very substantial 'mistake' in the original zoning. It is not enough to show merely that the original zoning is debatable, and that a different decision might have been reached. Justification for re-zoning requires a conclusive showing that the original zoning was (or has become) so inadequate that corrective action is essential for the community's well-being," says Dugan.

The original zoning ordinance adopted for the Deep Creek Lake Watershed is almost identical with the proposals contained in the County's Development Plan. Both plans reflect decisions about the pattern of future development that the Planning Commission thought would best meet present or future needs of the Garrett County Area. The decision to zone Deep Creek Lake as it is currently was an opinion reflected by certain individuals. It is a matter of opinion as to whether or not the zoning plan elected was indeed the best plan.

Dugan feels that the pattern of zoning should have stability since it "gives predictability about the kind of development that might happen on nearby land."

"Change in the pattern of zoning," he continued, "is possible, provided that the need for change is clearly demonstrated. The need for change must be shown by answering the basic question about the county's possible 'mistake' in not providing enough town development areas."

It now appears that the re-zoning question boils down to two issues:

(1) Railey, Inc. charges that there was a mistake in the original zoning plan in that the criterion considered were judged incorrectly and

(2) The possibility exists that the County made a mistake in designating only two "Town Centers" instead of three.

According to the Planning Commission, Railey, Inc. must now give "considerable supporting evidence" that one of these accusals is indeed correct. Dugan states that the Planning Commission will consider endorsement of the petition filed by Railey, Inc. if additional written evidence is submitted to convince the Commission that:

(1) The original zoning ordinance may not have placed "enough reasonably developable territory in the 'Town Residential' or 'Town Center' zones to allow a reasonable degree of flexibility for new businesses wishing to develop" or

(2) The proposed re-zoning would be "necessary and appropriate in the public interest, as a way to aid in meeting demonstrated community needs."

Dugan added that the need for a third "Town Center" cannot be established without marketable evidence.

To these considerations, Dabney argues that "the questions of need or development are not the issues at stake. We are dealing primarily with a mistake made in the original zoning plan whereas the area in question was improperly zoned. The criterion established in the zoning was incorrect."

Replying to this accusation, the Planning Commission Director stated that "because the property is suitable for a 'Town Center' does not mean that it should have been planned for that use. There was other land also suitable for a 'Town Center' that was not made so."

The matter has been studied at great length by the Planning Commission, and as a group, the Commission will, at its September 19 meeting, make final recommendations to the County Commissioners. The ultimate decision then rests in the hands of the County Commissioners.

In Dugan's August 7 memorandum to the County Planning Commission and the Board of County Commissioners, he stated, "The County's responsibility is to safeguard the interests of future generations while striking a delicate balance between promotion of opportunities for development versus the protection of property rights."

Attorney Dabney concludes that "the Commissioners will have to decide if the issue of a 'mistake' can be resolved, and if it can, then perhaps the decision will lead to a change in classification."

While Railey, Inc. and the Planning Commission debate the re-zoning issue, area residents have voiced their opinions concerning the proposal.

According to attorneys Burnett and Eiswert who are representing the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners, the majority of land holders "feel that the zoning laws should not be changed in the best interests of the Lake."

At a public meeting held last month at Garrett Community College, "there was total opposition against the re-zoning," said George Brady, Planning Commission member. In addition, the Planning Commission Director stated that he has received "about a dozen letters, all opposing the re-zoning."

Attorney Dabney states that "Railey, Inc. wishes to work with, not against, the Planning Commission for the growth and preservation of the Lake with light commercial development, limited development and local participation."

"This development will definitely enhance not only the Lake but also the County. The improvements to the property will result in additional real estate taxes to the County and will provide employment to local people, in addition to providing needed services to people in the Lake area. Finally, the development of this area will help to defray the cost and expense of the construction of the proposed sewerage system for the Lake area," Dabney concluded.

The question of whether or not to re-zone Deep Creek Lake will most likely be answered within the next few months. The issue at hand is an emotional as well as practical one which will, by all evidence, greatly affect Garrett County residents, despite the final outcome.

Students Will Test "Right On Red" Law

The controversial right-turn-on-red law will face a new safety test next week when thousands of youngsters on foot return to school, warns the Safety Council of Maryland.

Pedestrian accidents have not worsened during the summer since the law took effect on July 1, after the close of schools, according to the state chapter of the National Safety Council.

The reopening of schools, however, will drastically inflate pedestrian traffic, especially by students during rush hours who will be crossing at signalized intersections permitting R.T.O.R.

Motorists are reminded that the law requires drivers to always stop first and yield the right-of-way to both pedestrians and vehicles before turning right.

The safety council also asks parents to teach their children, particularly the very young, about possible R.T.O.R. hazards before schools reopen.

DEER PARK

During church services at the United Methodist Church August 20, at 7:30 p.m. Robert Caldwell, Marian Caldwell and Hilda Madigan were received into the membership of the church. Four children were also received as preparatory members.

DNR Proposal Would Increase Bass Size Limit

The minimum size limit for bass, large and small mouth, would be increased from 9 to 12 inches if a proposal of the Fisheries Administration is adopted.

That is the most significant change in fresh water angling regulations suggested by the Department of Natural Resources agency.

The proposed regulation will be the subject of a public hearing September 9 in Annapolis.

Regarding the minimum size increase, Fisheries Administration staff members believe the step would have a "positive impact" on all freshwater fishing in Maryland.

These are among the reasons cited:

1. Buildup of the small and large mouth bass population would improve overall average size of other panfish populations.
2. Control forage and undesirable fish species would increase due to the predator buildup. Bass are predators.
3. AA sport fishery resembling fish for fun would occur for bass from 9-11.9 inches because fish that size, already spirited fighters, would have to be returned.
4. Overfishing for bass on new impoundments would be greatly reduced.
5. Although overall production might not increase, opportunities for first time spawners to produce will be enhanced.

The proposals, if adopted, would take effect January 1, 1979, the opening date of the freshwater fishing license year.

There is no change in the price structure for fresh water licenses proposed for the 1979 year. The fees are:

State wide resident,	$4.50
Resident 65 or over,	$1.00
Non-resident,	$10.50
Seven-day tourist,	$4.50
Trout stamp,	$3.50

The design of this year's trout stamp has been selected.

The winner was chosen from nine entries by a panel of judges consisting of Paul Helm, a member of the Sport Fisheries Advisory Commission; Lefty Kreh, outdoor writer for the Baltimore Sun, author, raconteur and one of the nation's top anglers; and Howard J. Stinefelt, biologist with the Fisheries Administration.

Besides Mr. Frisino, these artists submitted entries: Mrs. Beebe Winterbottom, Trappe; David G. Boak, Annapolis; Stanley Stearns, Stevensville; and Eileen Doran, Port Republic.

Feather Reunion Held July 30

The annual reunion of the descendants of the Jacob Feather family was held at Krepps Park in Suncrest, Morgantown on Sunday, July 30. A basket lunch was served at 1 p.m. Following lunch and a social hour, a business meeting was conducted by the President, George Rogers

A financial report was given by the treasurer, Pauline Nuce. A short history of the Feather family was given by the secretary Edna Rogers, who confined herself to the story of Jacob during the Revolutionary War period, his marriage to Mary Connoly in 1791 in Somerset County, PA, and the family's migration in 1804 to the Crab Orchard area of Preston County.

An address was given by Dorothy Feather Lauchner of the importance of family, religious beliefs, and the church in the genealogical history of world population. She reminded those present that for the sake of future generations they should stress upon their children and grandchildren the necessity of maintaining records for their descendants. It was suggested that each and every family notify Edna Rogers, Rt. 6, Box 227A, Morgantown of any births, marriages and deaths between now and next year's reunion when the organization to be known as the "Feather Genealogical Association" will be set-up and a special executive committee is elected. The object of the association is to collect the Feather Genealogy and maintain follow-up records on the thousands of Feather descendants compiled by Edna Rogers and listed in the book, "The Genealogy and History of the Jacob Feather Family of Preston County," which is due out early next year. Then, in years to come, supplements to the book can be published whenever the executive committee deems it necessary.

Door prizes were awarded to Bernard Wilson, Violet Feather Petso, and to Erwin High. An afghan was given to Lola Dusenberry, a lucite paperweight containing the Presidental Series of United States Coins was given to Jimmy McDaniel, and a framed collection of Twentieth Century United States Coins was awarded to Edna Rogers. A special engraved wall plaque was awarded to each of the three octogenarians present at the reunion. They were Lula May Howdershelt Feather of Morgantown, Daisy Mae Shahan Shears of Westover, and Myrtle Daniels Feather of Kingwood.

Kenneth Zehr To Be Installed As Mennonite Pastor

USDA Announces Barley Prices Down

Low barley prices prompted the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to withdraw the release authorization for barley in the Grain Reserve Program and reinstate reserve agreements with no loss of storage payments to producers in the reserve.

The USDA authorized release of barley from the grain reserve on July 5, based on the June mid-month average market price of $2.20 per bushel.

For feed grains release from the reserve is authorized when the national average market price is at least 125 percent of the current national average loan rate. "For a release authorization to remain in effect, market prices must continue at or above the release level when the next month's review of prices is made," Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland State ASC Committee said. The national loan rate for barley is $1.63 per bushel.

"Original reserve agreements are now back in effect, and farmers' storage payments will continue," Crowl said. All barley producers participating in the Grain Reserve Program will receive written instructions regarding this change, he added.

According to Crowl, farmers can no longer redeem their barley reserve loans without paying an early redemption penalty. However, they will now continue to earn storage payments.

Southern Cheerleaders Win Ribbons; Colleen Eddy Named "Miss Shout"

Colleen Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russ Eddy, Pleasant Valley, was chosen "Miss Shout" on the basis of her stunts, spirit and cheering technique. Colleen was chosen from 600 girls at the camp.

As "Miss Shout," Colleen will compete with girls chosen for that honor from 52 other cheerleading camps across the country. Each girl will be judged from a "portfolio" compiled at camp and 14 girls will then be selected to cheer at the nationally televised Senior Bowl.

Girls who are selected to cheer will receive a $1,000 scholarship and $500 for their school's uniform fund if they are cheered for the winning Senior Bowl team.

Colleen, who has competed in gymnastics for the past four years, is the secretary of the Student Council at Southern and a member of the yearbook staff and Girls' Athletic Association.

Future Assured For Clear Water At North Hill

So crystal clear it sparkles - the water trough along North Hill Road boasts water so cold and delicious that area residents drive several miles every week to stock up for cooking and drinking. The water is also said to be low in mineral deposits.

By Carol Canan

Crystal clear, sparkling water gushes 24 hours a day year round from this cement trough on North Hill Road, providing pure water for drinking and cooking, just as it has for over 140 years.

References are made as early as 1830 about the spring, located on what was once the Tasker farm off North Hill Road. Because of the spring's historic value, and because the water is the finest available for many miles, two Kitzmiller residents decided to ensure that the water supply would be safeguarded.

James Burrell and James Smith, assisted by Mike Harvey, also of Kitzmiller, started the masonry and piping project in 1974.

The spring, located on the property of Hoover and Wilbur Meyers, bubbles up beside what was the North Hill county road until 1931. The actual beginning is above the old roadway, but then the water drops underground to rise again through layers of sandstone on the opposite side.

The two men spent about two weeks cleaning debris from the spring, then building a four-foot-high surrounding wall for the spring site below the road. The rock and concrete structure is protected from rodent and insect invasion by both a metal grid (formerly part of a walkway on a B&O car) and a metal screen.

Next, 270 feet of pipeline was buried through the run which leads to a spot beside what is now the North Hill Road. After the water was piped there, a cement trough was constructed, on the Jesse Walker land, complete with overflow pipes and more screening. Forms for the cement work were built in Kitzmiller, then brought to the construction site. Huge flat stones were also carted in, to provide firm footing for those who want to get water from the trough.

After leaving the trough, water travels a short distance under the present road and through the woods, to Short Run, a tributary of the North Branch of the Potomac.

Mr. Burrell, who characterizes the water as exceptionally pure and good tasting, became interested in the spring because it is located near the place his wife, the former Helen Tasker, grew up. The place, known as the former Dick Tasker farm, lies just south of the spring.

When talking to Mr. Burrell, it is almost possible to see and hear the rattle of bits of metal harness as horses stopped to drink from the old spring, or the chug and wheeze of a Model T as its driver stopped for a refill for the radiator.

Just a glance at the spring site off North Hill Road does not show the depth of the water, which is about four feet, according to Mr. Burrell. Depth appearance of the water is extremely deceptive due to its clarity.

These sounds have been replaced by the sounds of cars and trucks as they stop and water jugs are filled for home use, or for the occasional overheated vehicle.

Much work and planning have gone into this stone and concrete house for the North Hill spring, located on what is now the property of Wilbur and Hoover Meyers. Mr. Burrell estimates it took two weeks or more for completion of the work, assisted by James Smith and Mike Harvey. Mr. Burrell, a coal miner for 37 years who is now retired, is originally from Georgia, moving here in 1920.

Cement work for the trough along North Hill Road was a tedious job for James Burrell and James Smith, both of Kitzmiller, as they tried to ensure a sanitary supply of drinking and cooking water for residents of that area whose wells and springs do not produce such tasty water.

Aircraft Owners Must Pay Taxes

Owners of aircrafts have until August 31 to file Form 4638 and pay the Federal use tax on civil aircraft, the Internal Revenue Service said this week

When filing the return, taxpayers must include the $25 annual fee for each aircraft plus the tax of 3½ cents for each pound of maximum certificated take-off weight for turbine powered aircraft and 2 cents for each pound maximum certificated take-off weight over 2,500 pounds for piston powered aircraft.

The tax year for the use tax begins July 1 and continues through June 30 of the following year, the IRS said. If the first taxable use of an aircraft occurs after July 31, the tax based on weight is proportionately reduced.

Revenue generated by the tax is used for construction and improvement of public airports and air control facilities.

Form 4638 and the free IRS Publication 582, "Federal Use Tax on Civil Aircraft," providing additional information on the aircraft use tax, are available at local IRS offices.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with the citizens of Central and Western Maryland. You may send your questions to me, in care of the U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all rephes, I will answer each of you who writes.

Government regulations seem to inevitably lead to higher consumer costs. What can be done about it?

Legislation has been introduced in Congress to require that all bills proposing government regulations must contain an estimate of the direct and indirect costs of complying with the bill. This legislation - which I have co-sponsored - is designed to minimize the government rules which add to the costs of doing business. It is not totally an answer by any means, but rather, it is an initial step in the right direction.

What are some of the key features of the tax bill passed by the House of Representatives last week?

The House version of the Revenue Act of 1978 would lower the capital gains tax rate to 35% and index that percentage to the rate of inflation. Furthermore, homeowners would be able to receive a one-time-only exemption from up to $100,000 of capital gains resulting from the sale of their principal home. A second important adjustment to soften inflation is the widening of tax brackets by 6%. This will help taxpayers from being "bumped up" into higher and higher tax brackets when their income simply keeps up with the pace of inflation. There were, of course, other changes including an increase in the personal exemption from $750 to $1,000. I supported the Ways & Means Committee version of this bill because I felt it represented a balanced approach to providing meaningful tax cuts to all income groups in approximately the same proportion of taxes paid by each income group. And for the first time in recent years, a tax cut bill provided important tax cuts for middle income Americans who have been caught in the squeeze of rising taxes and rising inflation.

What is your position on Federal efforts aimed at aiding local communities?

I believe that individual local governments - and not the federal bureaucrats in Washington - are in the best position to make decisions affecting our communities. I have therefore supported efforts to reduce the amount of "strings" attached to federal programs assisting in the development of our communities, so that local communities can have the maximum possible freedom in making local decisions. In the past, federal efforts to aid local communities usually took the form of categorical grant programs, which often duplicated each other, were cumbersome and inefficient to administer, expensive to apply for, and ineffective in accomplishing their intended purpose. I have supported the trend of the past decade away from such restrictive and inflexible programs in favor of broader block grant programs. These provide the resources to local governments to implement programs consistent with local priorities and needs. A prime example of such a program is general revenue sharing, which has helped every community in Central and Western Maryland provide local government services and avoid placing even greater burdens on local property taxpayers.

How do I obtain a Golden Age Passport?

The Golden Age Passport is a lifetime permit which allows citizens 62 years of age or older free entrance into our national parks, monuments and recreation areas. The passport also provides fifty percent discounts on Federal "use" fees charged for facilities and services within the Federal areas, such as camping fees. For further information you may write Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior South, Washington, D. C. 20240.

What are you doing to curb Federal spending?

I have always believed that Congress must exercise fiscal restraint in order to reduce the budget deficit. In this regard, I have sponsored legislation to require that the Federal government balance its budget, except in times of national emergency. I have also consistently opposed spending tax money for foreign aid and have introduced legislation in Congress to require that all bills proposing government regulations must contain an estimate of the direct and indirect costs of complying with the bill.

Is it possible for miners to receive benefits for partial disability due to Black Lung?

No. The law restricts benefits to miners who are totally disabled from Black Lung disease. However, dependent survivors may now be entitled to Black Lung benefits if the miner died on or before March 1, 1978, and worked at least 25 years in the coal mines prior to June 30, 1971. The miner's dependent survivors must supply the Department of Labor with whatever medical evidence is available.

What is the maximum FHA insured mortgage amouut for houses?

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has increased the maximum FHA insured mortgage amount for one-family residences from $45,000 to $60,000 and has also reduced the amount for down payment.

I will soon graduate from high school and would like to know what jobs are in most demand?

The Federal Government publishes a general monthly leaflet on "Occupations in Demand" which lists the number of job openings for over 100 occupations, including the cities or localities in which they are available. For your free copy of this booklet, write the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado, 81009.

Large Vehicle Taxes Due August 31

August 31 is the date by which most owners of large trucks, truck tractors, or buses in Maryland and the District of Columbia, must file a Federal Highway Use Tax Return, Form 2290, the Internal Revenue Service said this week.

The tax year for the Highway Use Tax begins July 1 and runs through the following June 30. Vehicles placed in service after July must have Form 2290 filed with the Philadelphia Service Center by the last day of the month following the month a vehicle is used on a public highway for the first time.

According to the IRS, the tax generally applies to single unit trucks weighing 13,000 pounds or more, 2-axled truck-tractors weighing 5,500 pounds or more, 3 or more axled truck-tractors regardless of weight, trucks of 9,000 or more pounds equipped for use in combinations, and buses with a gross weight of more than 26,000 pounds.

Revenue from the Highway Use Tax program assists states in financing the Interstate Highway System, but the tax is imposed on those vehicles using any public highways, city streets, state roads and interstate roadways.

Form 2290 and the free IRS Publication 349, "Federal Highway Use Tax on Trucks, Truck-Tractors, and Buses" are available at local IR offices.

CHANGE IS GOOD FOR A ROOM

People (especially those who live there) tend to get tired of any room if there are never any changes in it. Now I certainly don't mean that you have to go out and buy a whole new roomful of furniture every year. That's not what I am saying.
But it's human nature that we start to appreciate a room less and less if furnishings are NEVER moved or changed.
New spirit and morale in a home can be helped by either adding some new things or by just simply re-arranging some furniture now and then.
Of course, the ideal solution to keep your rooms from becoming static is to have at least some brand new furniture and/or accessories, but between the times you actually go out and buy some new furnishings, try some re-arrangements.
Another good thought to avoid monotony is to add some different colors and some exciting displays.
Look around your rooms and see where you can make some changes to bring new life to them. And, when you're ready for some new designs, colors, styles, or simply one new piece of furniture, or one new accessory, come in here. I'm sure you'll find just the right piece of furniture or accessory to make a nice change in your room.
So, please feel free to stop in and see us at your convenience. We're here to serve you.

Straight Talk About Aging

By Dr. Matthew Tayback,
State Director on Aging

Food and the Single Senior

As people get older, their need for calories diminishes But their need for the basic nutrients? That never changes.

Although the human body does stop growing (except around the middle), it needs a constant supply of nutrients - of carbohydrates, fats, proteins, minerals, and vitamins - to allow it to repair and rebuild its tissues and to permit it to perform at peak efficiency.

Unfortunately, the high cost of food and the unfamiliarity of preparing meals for only one or two people often combine to cause older people to neglect their diets. That needn't be the case.

The first step toward proper diet is proper planning: plan your menu (preferably for an entire week, or even longer) around the four basic food groups, then plan your shopping around your menu - always, of course, allowing yourself the flexibility of alternatives so you can take advantage of sales, specials, discount coupons, and other dollar-saving opportunities. Milk, meat, vegetables and fruit and breads and cereals make up the four basic groups.

Maintenance of ideal body weight is the ideal goal. If you were not overweight at age 25, you should weigh that amount throughout your life.

Before heading for the grocery store or super market, consult the newspaper ads and write out a shopping list. Once in the store, follow your list, not your whims. You'll find you save money and time if your shopping trip is carefully pre-planned. Study the unit price made available at many supermarkets. Often the medium size package is the best buy.

One more tip. don't ever shop on an empty stomach. You'll invariably spend more.

Go easy on snack foods, too. They're expensive items, often adding ten percent to a weekly grocery bill. Snack on natural foods, which are better for you and lower in calories.

Always check seasonal prices. Many fruits and vegetables cost 50 percent less in summer than in winter. But don't rush out for the first-of-the-crop. Prices don't drop significantly until supplies increase greatly. As summer wanes, stock up on canned and frozen fruits and vegetables to take advantage of lower-priced, end-of-season surpluses.

One area of the store to avoid is the diet section. Naturally low-calorie foods such as celery, carrots, radishes and fruits usually offer greater value - monetarily and nutritionally - than the specially prepared weight-control concoctions.

Meats, so important for good nutrition, can send one's food budget sky high. Here is really the place to apply some cost-cutters.

For starters, learn meat "seasons." Beef is less expensive in winter and more in late summer. Steak is costlier during the cookout months. Roasts, on the other hand, cost more in late fall and early winter - the oven-cooking months. Veal is less in spring and summer. Shop for seasonal specials and stock your freezer.

You might also consider shifting to less expensive cuts. Their nutrient content is just as great. They may be less tender, but you can overcome that problem in a variety of ways, from gourmet marinades to pedestrian tenderizers. Avoid those cuts of meat containing large amounts of bone. The price is usually less, but you are buying large amounts of inedible bone.

You can save impressive amounts of money if you roast meats at no more than 300 to 325 degrees F., turning off the oven for the last 30 minutes and allowing the accumulated heat to finish the job. Meats so cooked shrink less, are more tender and require less fuel or electricity.

Bulk buying is another way to save money. Chicken, chops, hamburger and other meats cost less in quantity and they can be divided uito meal-sized portions and frozen until needed.

Just as bulk-buying is a saver of money, "bulk-cooking" is a saver of time. Dishes from soups to waffles can be made in quantity, packaged in several containers or wraps, and then frozen until needed. Large roasts, along with all the accompanying vegetables, can be handled the same way.

In many places, neighbors or club members have joined to form food-buying co-ops, buying in bulk directly from wholesalers and farmers. As a variation, a shopping club could be formed to check ads for specials, then dispatch members to different stores to buy for the whole group.

For the elderly, such clubs offer special opportunities for co-operation. Members who have difficulty getting about can be the "coupon clippers," while those who are not so confined can be the shoppers.

Cooking, be it for one or a dozen, is a very personal matter, but for the woman who has been used to cooking meals for a large family and is now cooking for only one or two individuals, or for the man who is preparing his own meals for the first time, it can present a whole range of problems. Solutions can be found in any number of cookbooks that are readily available in most bookstores or the local library.

Just don't be put off by some of the titles! Making an omelet for one is the same for a "sedate senior" as it is for a "swinging single."

West Virginia Joins Traffic Violation Pact

Every state bordering on Maryland is now party to a pact aimed at eliminating a practice that has sometimes resulted in the jailing of a non-resident traffic violator.

West Virginia, according to the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA), recently ratified the pact, known as the Non-Resident Violator Compact, making it the tenth jurisdiction to do so and rounding out the jurisdictions ringing Maryland. The others are Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, and Virginia.

In most other states where the present police practice is to escort non-resident motorists to a magistrate for immediate arraignment, drivers who cannot post bond can be jailed pending a hearing. The pact makes it possible for such drivers to continue their business or pleasure trips after receiving a traffic citation for other than a serious violation.

If the driver fails to respond to charges either by appearing for a hearing or paying the fine, the home state is notified, whereupon his license is suspended pending compliance.

Solomon Offers Health Tips For Hot, Humid Days

During the period of high temperatures, Dr. Neil Solomon, Maryland Secretary of Health & Mental Hygiene, has given the following health tips.

1. Eat well. During these periods, individuals need adequate daily proteins such as meat, fish and eggs.
2. Drink plenty of water and liquids. Tomato and orange juice are helpful. Drink milk - at least a pint a day - one of the best ways to prevent and treat heat cramps.
3. Do not drink alcoholic beverages before or during work
4. Dress lightly. Clothing helps to cool the body through evaporation.
5. Get plenty of rest and sleep. During periods of extreme heat or humidity, avoid over exertion.
6. Seek medical advice if you feel ill. Some of the symptoms are weakness, headache, dizziness, heat cramps in the stomach, arms or legs, nausea or vomiting.

A warning was also issued regarding heatstroke, sometimes called sunstroke, a condition resulting from excessive heat exposure almost always occurring when heavy work is performed at high temperatures without adequate rest periods for the worker to cool off.

Heatstroke is marked by initial symptoms such as irritability, emotional instability, muscle twitching or shivering. The patient may go on to severe nervous system damage and kidney failure if not treated promptly. The temperature of the body may rise rapidly to 108°F The sweat glands may cease to secrete so that the skin is dry and hot to the touch. As soon as the condition is recognized, every effort should be made to cool the patient and obtain emergency medical treatment The medical attention should include spraying with cold water and passing a current of air over the body as the recommended method of cooling, and intensive efforts should continue for at least one hour or until the temperature is down to 103°F., and the pulse rate down to 110 per minute.

Prevention of heat stroke at work includes proper control over time of exposure. Scheduled breaks should be in cool areas. Water intake in the form of sweetened cold beverages should be encouraged during break periods. Workers should not wait until they are thirsty since serious dehydration may occur in the absence of thirst. Salt tablets are no longer generally recommended since their uncontrolled use sometimes leads to a more serious salt imbalance

The greatest risk is in the nonacclimatized worker with pre-existing medical problems The worker over 40 years old is at higher risk because in the older age group temperature control mechanisms become slower to respond

I recently took a vacation, and because Garrett County is a "resort" area, I talked my best friend into coming down for a week and spending our vacation here.

All I can say is I wish the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council would let me update their guidebook. There are so many unusual and exciting things to do around here that most tourists never try.

The highlight of my vacation was horseback riding.

Dave and I showed up at the riding stables in our new riding boots, stiff Levis and embroidered Western shirts; we were trying to look the part.

The stable attendant looked at us and asked Dave if he had ever ridden before. Dave said yes. He wasn't lying — he once rode a Shetland pony during a Muscular Dystrophy backyard carnival.

Well, we paid our rental fee and mounted our trusty steeds. Mine wasn't so trusty after all. I think he was a retired rodeo bronc carrying a grudge.

After much stomping, kicking, bucking and snorting, I finally got my horse out of the barn. Dave, meanwhile had his stirrups tightened up and was sitting high on the horse's shoulders.

"Dave," I said, "these are Western pleasure horses — why are you riding English?"

"I'm not riding English, this horse's name is Billy," he replied.

Before I had a chance to explain, he bellowed, "Foxes!" jumped the fence and spurred his horse through the woods.

I finally caught up to him. He already had one of the "foxes" cornered.

"Is your friend some kind of a nut," she said indignantly and flounced away.

About that time everything began to go downhill rapidly, including my horse. I was getting very exasperated with the animal and decided to go back to the stable and make an exchange.

The stableboy agreeably gave me a new mount . . . . a lovely mare named "Pride." I was told that "Pride" was a real runner, but to hold her back so she wouldn't get overheated. I tried, I really did.

If I had the funds I'd buy Pride, hire Steve Cauthan and I'd have the next Triple Crown winner. She totally ignored verbal commands, neck reining, check reining and my screams of terror.

That horse certainly gave me the run-around, and the whole time I was remembering a famous quote, "Pride goeth before a fall." That's wrong — "Pride" goeth after a fall, 'cause after I fell, "Pride" goeth down the road, goeth through the woods and kept on goething!

As I limped up the road to the barn I spotted Dave lounging lazily near the watering trough.

"How did you beat me back here?" I asked him.

"Beat you back! — I never got out of the corral," he said.

The drive home was interrupted only by frequent moans of pain. Right now I'm in the market for a 55-gallon drum of industrial strength Ben-Gay.

What a relaxing way to wind up a vacation!

MCEA Officers, Director To Meet In Garrett County

The officers and Executive Director of the Maryland Classified Employees Association will be spending several days in Garrett County this week meeting with State Employees and Legislative Candidates to discuss the role of State Employees in Government.

On Thursday evening, August 24, a meeting will be held at Garrett Community College at 7:30 p.m. to enable MCEA members and their officers to ascertain from the Legislative candidates their attitudes toward State Employees and the issues that affect them. Those candidates attending and addressing the group will include: Democratic Senatorial candidates, Philip Carolan and F. Perry Smith, District I, and Republicans, Edward J. Mason and William A. Wilson, District I. District I House candidates, DeCorsey E. Bolden and George C. Edwards, Republicans, will also be present.

For the first time in the Association's 40-year history, MCEA is endorsing gubernatorial candidates. Blair Lee, Democrat, and J. The Village Inn, McHenry, will be the site of the MCEA Area IV Advisory meeting on Friday evening. MCEA, which represents some 30,000 State Employees, is broken down into five separate areas. The agenda will include information on activities of MCEA throughout the State and plans for the Annual September Convention. Representatives from each state agency in Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties will be attending this meeting.

A reception for officers and Board of Director members at the home of John C. Walters, MCEA 2nd Vice President, on Saturday, August 26, will conclude the round of meetings.

August, 1978

Dear Friends,

This month the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad celebrates its fifth anniversary. During this period of time we have changed from an idea into a fully operational unit. In evaluating our growth and performance over the years, we are both proud and humble that our source of support continually lies with your generosity. Every volunteer organization must enjoy a solid base of support in order to sustain and improve its service.

At the present time our membership consists of sixty volunteers. Each one is state certified in basic Emergency Care procedures. Within this membership are state-certified Cardiac Rescue Technicians, Emergency Medical Technician instructors, and Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation instructors.

From time to time we approach crossroads in our growth with the advent of new and expensive equipment that requires amounts of money that can come only from you. Your past response has helped us on every occasion to meet the financial obligations in the purchase of this equipment.

This year our crews will respond to approximately one thousand requests for help. Because of the wide variety of commerce and industry in this changing area, it is our goal to approach those requests for help with the finest in trained personnel and equipment. The next step, then, is up to you.

Thank you for your generous contribution.

Sincerely,

Program To Collect Used Motor Oil Begins This Week

Maryland's program to collect and recycle used motor oil got underway on August 22 in Annapolis. Senate President Steny H. Hoyer joined officials of the Department of Natural Resources and oil industry representatives for a 12 noon formal opening of the educational campaign at the Water Resources Administration used oil collection station at Chinquapin Round Road, Annapolis. The program was created in response to the Maryland Oil Recycling Act, signed into law May 8, 1978.

The oil recycling effort is being spearheaded by the Department of Natural Resources with the Maryland Environmental Service taking responsibility for public education and collection coordination, and the Water Resources Administration taking responsibility for enforcement of the illegal dumping provisions of the new law.

Cooperation in the recycling effort has been very impressive according to Cliff Willey, MES Chief of Technical Services who is coordinating the collection and recycling project. Five hundred gasoline stations and auto dealerships statewide have already agreed to accept used motor oil and more acceptances are coming in daily, Willey said.

Maryland motorists who change their own oil are believed to purchase some two million gallons each year. Much of the used oil previously was dumped into gutters, garbage cans and storm sewers, eventually finding its way to the environment. "Most motorists who change their own oil have been unaware of the scope of the problem they contribute to," Willey said. "Few people realize that four or five quarts of oil can cause damage and they fail to reckon with the other thousands of motorists who are also dumping four or five quarts."

The haphazard discarding of waste oil has always been frowned upon but on January 1, 1979 it becomes illegal under the Maryland Oil Recycling Act. Under the law the Maryland Environmental Service will conduct public education programs aimed at gaining voluntary compliance. Signs and information leaflets and posters will be distributed to help motorists locate approved oil-return stations. MES will also coordinate the listing of locations where waste oil can be taken for recycleing.

A current list of collection stations by counties is available from the Maryland Environmental Service, 60 West Street, Annapolis, Maryland 21401. Stations which accept waste oil for recycling can be identified by signs.

The Water Resources Administration will enforce the illegal dumping provisions of the Used Oil and Recycling Act. Persons wishing to report such offenses should call (301) 269-3551.

Foresters Complete Three-Week Course

Forest Ranger Marshall Fletcher, Jr., Ranger Walter Glass, Green Ridge State Forest, Forester's Aide Paul Williams, Green Ridge State Forest Assistant Forest Manager Harold McDonald, Sr. and Green Ridge State Forest Conservation Aides John McCusker, Harold McDonald, Jr. and Carl Shipley were among the 16 Maryland Forest Service employees who recently completed a three credit forestry course entitled, "Forest Insects and Disease."

Taught by Dr. William L. Cones, Director of Forestry Programs, Allegany Community College, the Maryland Forest Service-sponsored course was held at the Meadow Mountain Conservation Center, July 31 - August 18. The three week session gave DNR employees an opportunity to earn college credits while increasing their on-the-job value. The course is worth three semester hours towards the Associate of Arts Degree in Forestry.

State Creates New Tourism Task Force

The Maryland Tourism Task Force came into being recently, created to strengthen one of Maryland's most important economic resources, the tourism industry.

The Task Force will work closely with the Department of Economic and Community Development to design tourist development policy and will advise the governor and the General Assembly on necessary action.

Acting Gov. Blair Lee III announced the creation of the Task Force August 10.

Establishment of the force is the result of House Joint Resolution 104 which was enacted by the 1978 General Assembly and signed by the Governor. The Task Force, which will consist of 17 members, is to begin its work immediately and report to the Governor and the 1980 session of the General Assembly.

Among those named to the Tourism Task Force are W. Marshall Rickert, Garrett County Administrator, Oakland; Harry W. Kelley, mayor of Ocean City; Linda Ramaley, charperson and executive director of the Tourism Council of the Upper Chesapeake; Laszlo A. Ravasz, general manager of The Lord Baltimore Hotel; Donald Currier, Raven Rock Campground; Paul R. Wall, Phillips Crab House, Ocean City; Nicholas J. Smith III, director St. Mary's Chamber of Commerce; Honorable Arthur Dorman, Senator; Edward P. Thomas, Senator; Michael J. Sprague, Elizabeth S. Smith, House of Delegates; Sonia G. Maher, Frederick County Tourism Council; Herbert Brown, Mondawmin Travel Center, Baltimore; Richard Evans, The Crease, Baltimore; Per Moller, general manager, Baltimore Hilton; H. Joseph Edwards, Laurel, and Sandra Hillman, director of promotion and tourism, Baltimore.

In announcing the formation of the Task Froce, Gov. Lee stated, "It is my intention that the membership bring together from throughout the state, persons with varied experience in government and business, with knowledge of the many elements of the tourism industry — the state's history, culture, natural resources, and recreational attractions.

I anticipate that the work of this task force will provide significant focus, direction, and impetus for action to strengthen the tourism industry in Maryland," the Governor said.

Byron Presents House Chairman With Poll Results

Citing "strong public sentiment" for legislation mandating a balanced Federal budget, Rep. Goodloe Byron has presented House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino with results of a recent poll taken in Central and Western Maryland.

"The purpose of making the survey results available is to impress upon the Judiciary Committee the need to begin hearings on a proposed Constitutional Amendment requiring a balanced budget," Byron said.

"I introduced such legislation five years ago and since that time over 150 Members of Congress have co-sponsored or introduced similar measures, but all of them have been stalled in Committee and received no consideration or action.

"I told Chairman Rodino that the overwhelming response and lopsided results of my mid-year questionnaire are significant. In short, 90 percent of those who responded in Central and Western Maryland favor Federal legislation similar to California Proposition #13 because they feel there should be reductions in Federal taxes with corresponding cuts in Federal government expenditures.

"I also pointed out that these results dovetailed with a recent Gallup Poll which shows that 75 percent of all Americans feel the Federal government is spending too much, and 81 percent favor a Constitutional Amendment that would require Congress to balance the Federal budget.

"Chairman Rodino agreed that passage of Proposition #13 was highly significant and indicated he would take the matter up with the Judiciary Committee," Byron concluded.

Private Non-Profit Groups Solicited

Dr. Robert R. Grooms, Assistant Director, Mental Hygiene Administration for Western Maryland, recently stated he is interested in identifying private non-profit organizations in Western Maryland which might be interested in seeking federal funds for the purpose of increasing the availability and acessibility of mental health services.

"Often, when federal funds are made available, the applicant has to be a private non-profit organization in order to qualify. Therefore, I would like to develop a list of organizations who might consider applying for federal grants. As various sources are identified, my staff would be able to notify these organizations and assist them in the development and submission process of the applications," Dr. Grooms stated.

Dentist's Mailbox

By Harris Heyden

Q. Does gritting teeth at night hurt a child's teeth?

A. Teeth grinding and/or clenching is a very common thing in children. Most children usually stop by the time they have all of their second (permanent) teeth. They usually do not exert enough force to damage the teeth. If your child does not complain of pain in the teeth or face especially on awakening, and if the dentist sees no signs of damage to the teeth or supporting structures (gum, bone, etc.) then I would not worry about it. However, you should tell your regular family dentist about it for his opinion and so that he may make a special effort to determine if any damage is being done.

Should your dentist see signs of abnormal wear or damage, or should your child complain of facial pain, or if the habit extends into the teen years, then treatment may be needed, such as repositioning appliances or bite guards.

Q. Is two years old too young to use dental floss?

A. Yes, definitely. Floss is an effective way to remove dental plaque from between the teeth, but if used incorrectly it could injure the gum or at the very least be ineffective.

Ask your dentist to show you how to brush and floss teeth so that you can do it for your child.

Should I try to have my fifteen-month-old daughter brush her teeth?

A. You can try to show your infant child how to use a small soft toothbruh if you want, but you should be cleaning her teeth everyday with the toothbrush. You clean her teeth first, then let her do it. By allowing her to be the last one to brush her own teeth she gets the feeling that she has done the job and is responsible for her own teeth, which is a good trait to develop young in life.

The following recipes were contributed by Dorothy Straub, sponsor of the recent raspberry-picking benefit which raised $292 for the Oakland Meals on Wheels program. These delicious recipes were swapped by the pickers as they diligently gleaned 275 quarts from the half-acre patch.

RASPBERRY JAM

(without the use of commercial pectin)

1 Combine 4 cups raspberries with 3 cups sugar, crushing them lightly.
Add one to two apples cored and cut up into little pieces
Simmer and stir frequently from the bottom to keep jam from sticking
Pack while hot in hot sterilized jars.

2. 3 cups crushed berries
5 cups of sugar
Juice of a lemon
Cook to a rapid boil and boil 6 minutes

RASPBERRY SHRUB

This makes a very good drink suitable for a punch or refreshing party drink The syrup can be made when raspberries are in season and used during the year when needed.

2 quarts raspberries
2 cups vinegar
4 cups water

Put the raspberries in a gallon crock, pour the vinegar and water over the berries. Be sure the liquid covers the berries, if not sufficient add more water and vinegar. Set this mixture aside for about two days and two nights at a moderate room temperature. After this fermentation period, mash raspberries and strain through thin muslin. Cook this liquid, taking three parts of liquid and two parts of sugar, bring to a boil. When it starts to cook let it boil for 15 to 20 minutes. Syrup is then put into bottles and sealed. When ready to use, dilute with cold water, using one part of syrup and five parts of water and ice.

FRESH RASPBERRY PIE

1 cup water
¾ cup sugar
3 Tbsp. cornstarch
3 Tbsp. raspberry jello

HOLIDAY RASPBERRY TRIFLE

5 eggs
¾ cup sugar
½ tsp. almond flavoring

Beat this mixture until thick and lemon colored.

Sift ¾ cup cake flour together with ¾ tsp. baking powder and ¼ tsp. salt

Fold into egg mixture.

Turn into well greased 15½ x 10½ jelly roll pan. Bake at 350 degrees for twenty minutes. Turn out on rack to cool. Tear into small pieces.

Prepare sauce and custard:

Raspberry sauce: juice from raspberries (2 10-oz. pkg) and water to make ½ cup. Combine ¼ cup sugar and 2 Tbsp. cornstarch. Gradually add to juice and water. Add 1 Tbsp. lemon juice. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened.

Custard Sauce: Prepare 1 (4¾ oz) package vanilla pudding and pie filling with 3¾ cups milk using package directions. Cool. Stir in 1½ tsp of vanilla.

RASPBERRY BAVARIAN

One quart raspberries
1 cup sugar

Let them stand 30 minutes

Soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in 3 tablespoons water; then dissolve it in 3 tablespoons boiling water. Stir this into the berries and add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Cool the gelatin. When it is about to set, whip and fold in lightly 1 cup whipping cream. Pour the mixture into a wet mold and chill for 12 hours if you plan to unmold it

A Forum On Public Issues

Janet C. Wunderlick, Community Resource Development Agent for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, is preparing a series of articles to inform the public in Western Maryland of various legislation, programs, laws, services and general issues that may, at one time or other, affect the lives of everyone. More detailed information is usually available on request. Ms. Wunderlick may be contacted through the Garrett County Extension office (334-2145) or at her Cumberland office at 11 Prospect Square (724-3320). She visits the Garrett County office at least once a week.

PROPERTY DISTRIBUTION BETWEEN MARRIED PARTNERS

By Janet C. Wunderlick

Most married people believe that what they own belongs to both of them together. If a separation occurs, however, people often find that their assumption of equity was unfounded in law.

The law currently in effect in Maryland provides that, upon the dissolution of a marriage, all property reverts to whomever has title to it, or in the case of untitled property, whomever can prove they made the major cost contribution In Gebhard vs Gebhard in 1976, the Maryland Court of Appeals held that the present statute does not empower a court to "make an adjustment of property rights where the wife never contributed anything toward the purchase of the husband's property."

This year the legislature agreed with the Governor's Commission on Domestic Relations Law: referring to the Court of Appeals decision, the commission, "(We) do not believe that the people of Maryland today hold the view that a spouse whose activities within the marriage do not include the production of income has never contributed toward the purchase of property acquired by either or both spouses during the marriage."

In 1976, the Governor's Commission on Domestic Relations Law was formed "to undertake a complete study of the constitutional, statutory, and common law concerning domestic relations." After a series of meetings the Commission decided that the matter it considered to be most urgent of review was the disposition of property upon the dissolution or annulment of marriage. This year the Commission proposed reform legislation

The new Maryland law which becomes effective January 1, 1979, will dramatically change property division between spouses upon divorce. This law is significant not only to those people who will initiate a divorce after January, but also to all Married Marylanders in that it redefines their interest in the property they accumulate during the time they are married.

For the first time in Maryland recognition is being given to the nonmonetary contributions of spouses, and to the needs of young children to remain in a stable environment during a divorce or separation. Senate Bill 604, which passed this spring and was signed into law by the Governor in May, supports the concept that marriage is a joint endeavor, jointly undertaken that should equally benefit both partners. In most cases a spouse makes a contribution entitled to recognition even though the standards of quantifying a spouse's nonmonetary contribution are inexact.

The bill establishes the concept of "marital property" which is "all property, however titled, acquired by either or both spouses during their marriage." Marital property will be given a money value and monetary award will be made in adjustment of parties rights, whether or not alimony is awarded

The new law provides that the family home and "family use personal property" can be maintained on behalf of minor children for a period up to three years following the separation, unless the spouse caring for the children remarries first. "Family use personal property" is tangible personal property acquired during the marriage owned by either or both spouses and used primarily for family purposes. It includes motor vehicles, furniture, furnishings and household appliances. However, it does not include property acquired by inheritance or gift from a third party.

In an article in the Baltimore Sun, on April 30 of this year, Beverly Groner, chairman of the Commission on Domestic Relations Law, said that the legislation "moves Maryland from the last rank among the states to near the first, from 'archaic to progressive'."

In the same article, Judge Paul A. Dorf, who is now sitting as domestic relations judge on Baltimore's Supreme Bench, agrees that the law offers an opportunity for the courts to provide equity for both spouses. "It is a law," he says, "which offers great authority and discretion to the state's judges."

Judge Robert B. Watts, a member of the Groner commission and also a veteran domestic relations judge, believes that the discretion left to judges will incline the parties to compromise. Judge Watts feels most judges, while not directed to do so, will find themselves making what amounts to 50-50 divisions when there is property to divide.

It is in the best interest of all individuals that marriage be based upon trust and that the law underwrite that trust. Marital partners should not need to protect their separate interests but should be protected by laws which fairly and equitably allocate material resources upon the dissolution of a marriage Laws which underwrite the financial interests of both parties and the children free spouses to enjoy trust and faith in their relationships that is grounded in law.

The impact of this law will become clear over time as legal decisions give it form and substance. For more specific information call me at 724-3320.

MARYLAND DAIRY PRINCESS — Kathy Edwards, Greensboro, Caroline County, was named Maryland's Dairy Princess in July following a two-day contest at Hunt Valley Inn. Crowning the new Princess is Joanna Kay Byers, the 1977 Princess from Washington County. During Miss Edwards' reign, she will help call attention to the Maryland dairy production business, which represents $160 million annually. Miss Marie Guard, Area I dairy princess representing Garrett County, received the first place award for her skit presentation in the state contest. Marie will also be attending various area activities throughout the year, promoting dairy products.

Home Rehabilitation Loans Available

The State of Maryland has about $4.5 million available to low — and moderate-income homeowners for low-interest, long-term housing rehabilitation loans, according to Herbert B. Cahan, secretary of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

Owners of historic properties and commercial and residential rental property may also qualify for the loans.

As of July 31, a total of $289,707 in loans covering 36 homes had been made by the Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program (MHRP), which made its first loan in September, 1977, Cahan said. MHRP is one of five housing programs authorized by the General Assembly and administered by the Department's Community Development Administration to assist Marylanders in purchasing, maintaining and renting affordable housing, he added.

Jerry Doctrow, who directs the housing rehabilitation loan program, said the loans carry a 6 percent interest rate and may have a term of up to 20 years. A maximum loan of $25,000 is available for a single-family home or the first unit in a building with up to four units. For each additional unit, $15,000 is available, with a maximum loan of $70,000 on a four-unit building.

Doctrow said that owners of historic properties can qualify regardless of income. For other homeowners, income levels have been established as follows: For a four-person family in Region I, Baltimore City and Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Howard and Harford counties, $21,950; in Region II, Charles, Prince George's and Montgomery counties, $23,450; and in Region III, all other Maryland counties, $20,600.

Income limits are increased or decreased by $800 for each member of a household, Doctrow said.

Doctrow emphasized that the program operates through municipal and county governments, which are familiar with rehabilitation needs in their areas, and efforts are being made to streamline procedures so that the time required for loan approval can be held to a minimum.

In view of the high cost of new construction, MHRP offers moderate-income families an opportunity to enlarge or repair their homes with low-cost loans. In this way, Doctrow said, "we hope to encourage the upgrading of the State's housing stock."

Property owners or remodeling contractors interested in financing should contact the Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program, 1748 Forest Drive, Annapolis, Maryland 21401 or Deborah Lawton, Housing Coordinator, 202 E. Alder Street, Oakland.

SOLAR PROMINENCES

Studied by Skylab, these interesting features are clouds of chromospheric material which extend into the sun's corona. Many are quiet, hanging above the solar surface, apparently motionless for long periods. Although at times one will rise rapidly from the sun's surface. Observations of these features from Skylab indicate they are miniature versions of the sun's atmosphere with similar hot and cool regions.

Health and Safety Tip

From the American Medical Association

Smoking Mothers Harm Unborn Infants' Health

The ads say "You've come a long way, baby," in making cigaret smoking socially acceptable for women. What they don't say to American women is that they've also increased the risk to health by smoking.

Twenty years ago there were twice as many male smokers as female. Today the percentages are approaching even.

Women who are heavy smokers are five times as likely to die from lung cancer as nonsmoking women. Females who smoke have more illness each year than nonsmokers, and are more likely to suffer from heart disease, bronchitis and emphysema.

Every pregnant woman wants to give her baby the best chance for a healthy life, but an expectant mother who smokes is taking chances with her baby's health, says the American Medical Association pamphlet: Smoking: Facts You Should Know.

Women who smoke during pregnancy have a significantly higher number of stillbirths and spontaneous abortions. There is an excess of premature (by weight) babies among smokers, with an average difference of more than six ounces between babies of smokers and nonsmokers. Babies with low birth weights have a greater risk of disease and death.

Studies also show that respiratory illness [illegible] twice as common in young children whose parents smoke at home compared to those whose parents do not smoke in the home.

The adverse health effects of cigaret smoking first became apparent to men, because men as a group started smoking earlier than women. But as the cumulative effect of cigaret smoking builds up in women, cigarets have proved equally dangerous to them.

Economic Emergency Farm Loans Available Through U.S. FmHA

A new Economic Emergency loan service for farmers who have financial problems caused by credit shortage or cost-price squeeze is now in effect through the U S Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

Richard A. Greenwood, Sr., the agency's County Supervisor for Garrett County, reports that FmHA is prepared to take applications at its FmHA county office located on U. S. Route 219 North.

Economic Emergency loans are authorized under the Agricultural Credit Act of 1978 signed by President Carter August 4, 1978. They offer special help to farmers who are hard-pressed by recent shortage of credit from their regular lenders, or by debts accumulated during the recent period of low farm prices

Mr. Greenwood, Sr., said the Economic Emergency loan program was enacted by Congress, with Administration support, in recognition of the fact that "economic conditions, as well as weather, are often beyond farmers' control." FmHA emergency credit has previously been confined to loans for recovery from natural disaster, or the guarantee of private lenders' loans to livestock producers affected by economic conditions.

Under the new Economic Emergency program, any established farm operator — individual, partnership, corporation or cooperative — experiencing scarce credit or an overload of debt coming due, may apply for up to $400,000.00 of credit through FmHA in order to survive in farming and continue their normal level of operation. Economic Emergency loans will not be made to expand a farm operation.

Loans made directly by FmHA will be an interest rate equivalent to the cost of money secured by the government through sale of its securities to the public, plus an administrative add-on of up to one percent. The rate initially will be 8½ percent. Guaranteed loans will be made at rates negotiated between borrower and lender, with FmHA providing the lender up to a 90 percent guarantee against loss.

Loans for operating purposes will be made for terms of up to 7 years, with loan consolidations and rescheduling for another 7 years permitted, and 20-year payment authorized under special conditions. Real estate loans may be made for up to 40 years. Loans for annually-recurring expenses will be repayable annually

Richard A. Greenwood, Sr., said initial inquiries about Economic Emergency loans can be made either through a commercial agricultural lender or the county FmHA office serving the county where the farm is located. The Act calls for decision by FmHA on individual applications within 30 days

While introducing the new Economic Emergency farm loan, FmHA will continue all pre-existing services. They include various programs of non-emergency real estate and production loans to family-size farms, terms of which will soon be broadened under the recent Credit Act; emergency loans to farms damaged by natural disaster, and loans or grants for housing, community facilities and business and industry in rural areas

INTERIOR PLANNING, DRAFTING AND DESIGN CONSULTANT

"We finished all the tests weeks ago, but it just won't quit!"

Report Urges Use Of Surplus To Cut State Borrowing

State Treasurer William S. James and State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein this week presented Acting Governor Blair Lee III with a report urging use of part or all of Maryland's Fiscal Year 1978 surplus to finance current State construction, reducing the need for the State to borrow money and pay the resulting interest costs.

The report of the Capital Debt Affordability Committee, chaired by Treasurer James, was required under legislation passed by the 1978 Session of the Maryland General Assembly

The report notes that "funding of capital improvements through surplus revenues offers a number of advantages. First, Maryland's outstanding and projected debt burden would lessen in absolute and relative terms. Second, this action would enhance the State's credit standing. Third, future debt service requirements would be reduced, thus saving Maryland taxpayers 45 cents for every $1.00 spent on current funding. Fourth, and perhaps most important, this action would help place Maryland in the enviable position of not needing a tax increase for a number of years in the future."

The Committee's report calls for the pay as you go funding of $50 million in capital projects in Fiscal Year 1980, which will begin July 1, 1979, and $30 million in current funding for Fiscal Years 1981 and 1982. This would reduce potential bond issuances by $110 million during these three years. "This would save Maryland taxpayers at least $160 million in principal and interest which would be paid if bonds were sold in lieu of using the revenue surplus."

The Committee report also urged the Board of Public Works to set a limit of $215 million on General Obligation Bond issues for Fiscal Year 1979 and $150 million in Fiscal Years 1980 through 1982.

The Committee called for a Fiscal Year 1980 capital budget ceiling of $150 million and for a regular program of pay as you go funding in future years. The Committee called for the immediate cancellation of $21 million in currently authorized but unissued General Obligation Bonds and an additional $68 million in authorized but unissued Program Open Space Bonds. State Treasurer James and State Comptroller Goldstein noted that excessive amounts of authorized but unissued debt can be viewed as detrimental to the State's fiscal health.

The Committee also recommended that Program Open Space be operated on a currently funded basis from revenues generated by the property transfer tax and other receipts.

Also serving on the Capital Debt Affordability Committee are State Budget Secretary Thomas S. Schmidt, State Planning Secretary Vladimir Wahbe, and Milton S. Schiller, a public member. Staff support was provided by Dr. Robert D. Rader, Chief of the Bureau of Revenue Estimates, and Dr. Robert H. Forste of the Department of Budget and Fiscal Planning.

Garrett County Holstein Sale Grosses $20,000

The Garrett County Holstein Production Sale totaled $20,000 with an average per animal sold of $1,101, according to Don Mason, sales manager.

The sale, held August 15 at the McHenry fairgrounds, had 18 animals to be auctioned. Top honors for the sale were shared by Larry Sebold and Calvin Schrock, each receiving $1,500 for their consignment.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mills of Black Diamond Farm purchased Nancy Elevation Ivory for $1,500. This Holstein was consigned by Larry Sebold, McHenry.

Clark Yoder served as auctioneer while Oren Bender read pedigrees. Bob Bender exhibited animals in the showring. Bobby Custer, Wayne Collier and Nancy Collier served as teller and clerks. The sale was sponsored by the Garrett County Holstein Club.

Holstein Club members assisting with setting up, cleaning barn, hauling straw, etc. contributed to the success of the sale. Mason stated the future of the sale depends entirely on Club support through consignment and hard work.

She had spent five days visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eire Young, Newport, and several days with a nephew and niece, Col. and Mrs. Larry Wigner, Troy, Michigan, after they returned from a tour of duty in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. James Duiguid, Sarasota, Fla., joined the reunion of friends and family in Royal Oak.

Mrs. Shillingburg also spent some time with a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Kraemer, Roseville. He recently won first place in the state professional bakers' contest, and operates a bakery in Detroit and one in Oakland County, Michigan.

The 41st Shillingburg reunion was held recently at the White Church pavilion, with approximately 55 persons present from Uniontown, Morgantown, Dayton, Va.; Baltimore, La Plata, Westernport and New Creek.

AESP Workshop Slated At GCC

"Rape Crisis Services for Rural Areas" is the topic of a workshop sponsored by the Appalachian Education Satellite Program (AESP) on August 28 at 5:30 p.m. in Room 164 of Garrett Community College.

The program will explore the needs of rural rape victims and will discuss why the "rape crisis center" model frequently used in urban areas is often inappropriate in rural setting.

Joseph and Judy Davenport, formerly from the University of Mississippi, will outline a model they developed and helped implement in rural Mississippi. This model circumvents the usual lack of funding and resources by using staff and services from existing programs. Involvement of county outreach workers and paraprofessionals serve as a link in gaining community support.

During the televised program, participants will have an opportunity to question a panel including Mr. and Mrs. Davenport as well as other team members involved in implementing the program. Panelists will outline discussion questions and problems specific to rural areas in setting up and implementing such programs.

A $3.00 registration fee will also cover the cost of resource materials provided to each participant. For more information persons should contact Mrs. Hilda Lee, at the Garrett County Board of Education Office. (334-8121)

Methodist Church Slates Workshops

The Romney District Stewardship Committee of the United Methodist Church will be sponsoring two workshops in September on Stewardship. The first will be at St. Paul's United Methodist Church of Oakland on September 9, beginning at 9 a.m. The second will on September 10 at Romney First United Methodist Church, beginning at 2:30 p.m. A light meal will be served at each workshop.

Al Hooke, of Nashville, Tenn., will be the resource leader for the workshop. He is a director in the section of Stewardship, Board of Discipleship of the United Methodist Church.

The schedule of each workshop will include a Biblical foundation for stewardship and definition of stewardship; value implications; applications of gifts and concept of giving; funding the local church and programs of funding; and program discussion time.

Any interested person is welcome to attend, but the committee urges the attendance of pastors; chairpersons of finance, stewardship, council on ministries and the administrative board; lay leaders; and presidents of United Methodist Women and United Methodist Men.

by jim willis

No one likes to consider the possibility that some day a favorite pet might be injured in an accident. Yet given the fact that most dogs and cats are free to roam the house and neighborhood, it's best to be prepared to administer first aid to your pet.

Your first step in providing first aid should be to take precautions against being bitten or scratched — even if your pet is normally good-natured. Do not assume that a pet in pain will recognize a familiar voice or face. Use a blanket or jacket to cover the pet's head, or convert a scarf into a temporary muzzle so you can examine the animal safely. To examine a cat, you may need a friend to restrain the cat's feet while you hold its head.

In any accident, the most obvious injuries will be broken bones or heavy bleeding. Broken limbs usually stick out at an unnatural angle and must be immobilized with a temporary splint and some toweling. The splint and broken leg should be wrapped firmly together to prevent further movement which may cause additional bleeding or tissue damage.

The easiest method to control heavy bleeding is direct pressure over the wound by applying a clean handkerchief with your fingers. Blood that is bright red and spurting out rythmically comes from an artery; darker, slower flowing blood comes from a vein. If you are unable to stop the blood in a few minutes using a pressure bandage, you may have to try a tourniquet. A tourniquet is a narrow strip of material (a tie, stocking or belt) tied tightly between the heart and the wound. Tourniquets must be loosened for one minute at 5 to 8 minute intervals so that the tissues below the tourniquet are not completely deprived of oxygen and blood.

If your pet has stopped breathing, you must apply artificial respiration. Lay the pet out on its right side, and gently pull the tongue out of its mouth as far as possible. Apply even steady pressure on the rib cage, with your hands. Press down approximately every five seconds. Do it slowly but with strong pressure to the chest area. The firm pressure also massages the heart. You may have to work on the animal a half hour or more. There's always the possibility of reviving an animal as long as there is a heartbeat.

Heavy bleeding, trauma, pain and severe fright all contribute to the development of shock, even if major injuries are not present. Major symptoms of shock in animals include pale, grayish gums and lips. Treat shock with warmth and comfort. Cover the animal with blankets and speak soothingly.

If the animal is fully conscious, stimulants such as warm coffee or strong tea may be given by the spoonful into the corner of the mouth. In small doses, they will stimulate the heart and blood circulation, fighting against shock.

"MR. HOOPER! MR. HOOPER! YOU'RE TALKING TO YOURSELF!"

If the pet is unconscious or semi-conscious, do not give it anything by mouth. Liquids may strangle an unconscious animal by passing into the lungs instead of the stomach.

While you are administering first aid, someone else should locate a board or stiff cardboard for transporting the animal to the nearest veterinarian. If necessary, tie the pet down so that he does not injure himself further. If you are away from home and have to move an injured animal, use a blanket or even a coat. Slide the animal onto the material and have several people pick it up at the corners.

Even if your pet seems to have no major injuries and is recovering from the shock of the accident, it's best to visit your veterinarian right away. Internal injuries may not show up immediately and delay in treatment may mean permanent damage.

Real Estate
By DON CARSTENS
Deep Creek Realty

DANGER OF WRONG PRICING
Since human nature is predictable, there is a better than even chance that you'll put the wrong selling price on your home if you arrive at it yourself.
You may price it far above its fair market value because of sentimental attachment, expenditures you have made, or by heeding a well-meaning friend's advice. A home remaining on the market for months due to overpricing, frequently becomes a "White Elephant." It eventually sells for a much lower figure than it would have brought originally - had it been priced realistically.
On the other hand, you might under-price it because of unfamiliarity with the local market. This would be financial folly. Your safest bet is to list your home with a Realtor who will help you price it correctly from the start and sell it for the best profit.

Assessment Answers

By James Burley

Q. I received the ten percent homestead allowance on my condominium unit. Why didn't I get it on my parking space?

A. The parking space that you own is, in effect, your lot, or in technical terms, the curtilege and is an integral part of your residence. You should have received, therefore, the homestead allowance assessment rollback — for both. The fault is probably due to the fact that you purchased it at a different time, and it is set up for tax billing purposes as a separate unit. The fact that it is a separate account caused it to be missed in the computer pick-up.

Get in touch with your local assessments office and explain this to them so that they can make the necessary corrections and give you the full homestead allowance on your condominium unit and the parking space that goes with it.

Q. Last October, we had a garage and back patio added to our home. The total cost of the improvement was $6,800. We were assessed $5,600 for this improvement. At our assessment hearing, as we protested, we showed the assessor the contract and cancelled checks proving what we had paid. We received the final assessment notice, and although he lowered the assessment on our home, he did not lower the assessment on the improvement. We are under the impression we cannot be assessed for more than fifty percent of the cost of the improvement.

Please let me know if this is correct.

A. Your impression is wrong. The cost of the improvement will be considered, but the final assessment will be based on the improvement.

A. Your impression is wrong. The cost of the improvement will be considered, but the final assessment will be based on the estimated market value which is influenced by sales.

I have had the record reviewed, and this is what I was told. The actual assessment that was added to allow for the improvement was $2,800. Upon your appeal and as a result of information that you supplied, the classification of the improvement was changed to a lower grade, and the assessment was reduced to $2,410. Your tax bill was based on an assessment of fifty percent of the value, or roughly $1,200.

Q. Could you tell me if I am eligible for a tax cut? I will be sixty-two years old September 4, 1978.

A. It is impossible to determine your eligibility for the Homeowners' Tax Credit simply by knowing your age. The credit is related to your income and other factors, such as the size of your tax bill.

I have given your name and address to the tax credit office where you reside and have asked them to send you an application. Complete and return it, following their instructions, and they will tell you whether or not you are eligible.

Q. My original appeal was against an earlier fifty-five percent increase in my assessment. Within three weeks of my receiving a notification that the assessment had been reduced by approximately eighteen percent, I received a new assessment notice showing a seventeen percent increase. How is this possible?

A. The fault is in the appeal procedure timing that caused these two actions to coincide. Although you received the two notifications within three weeks of each other, they cover two appraisal dates that are at least a full year apart. The assessor who made the new assessment, made the calculations independently without any knowledge of what the appeal decision might be. The action taken by the appeals board was on an assessment for a previous year and their decision was based on consideration of the prevalent influences at the time.

The first assessment — after the reduction caused by the appeal — supposedly represented fifty percent of the market value as determined by the appeals board for that particular year only.

The mistake that is often made is relating the accuracy of an assessment to the percentage of increase. The percentage of increase is not controlling. Each assessment must be measured against the current value and cannot take into consideration what the assessment might have been for the previous year. Your appeal was made on an assessment for the previous year, and the notice of reduction was for that year. Your new assessment notice is for the forthcoming taxable year and is based on later market conditions. All that is indicated in the new assessment notice is that the increase is required to place the assessment at its proper percentage level. Generally, real estate values have been increasing by about twleve percent a year. While the two actions may seem strange to you, especially since you received both notices within three weeks, chances are the actions of both are correct. It is their timeliness that is bad.

The fifty-five percent increase, which resulted in your initial appeal, was probably the result of the wholesale reassessment of residential properties which picked up many erroneous assessments that had been in existence over a long period of time, and which would have been caught earlier had there been an effective annual reassessment.

Q. I am seeking information about the property tax law that has to do with the exemption of property taxes for a disabled veteran. Can you give me any information?

A. The information that you are interested in is contained in the Tax Laws of Maryland, Article 81, section 9(g). This law allows a complete exemption from assessment and from ordinary state and local property taxes to veterans who have a permanent and total, service-connected disability.

The property exempted from assessment and taxes includes one and two-family dwellings which are owned by and used as the veteran's legal residence.

Generally, the exclusion is also available to a surviving spouse if the spouse does not remarry, and is the owner and resident of the property for which the exemption is sought.

The application for exemption is available from and must be filed with your local assessments office. The application, a part of which must be certified to by the Veterans Administration, and related records are confidential and not open for public inspection.

Questions or letters of general interest on assessments and the property tax should be addressed to 'Assessment Answers — James Burley' in care of this newspaper. They will be answered through this column to the extent that space allows.

This column was written with the co-operation of the Maryland State Department of Assessments and Taxation.

Save The Children Stickers Available

A free bumper sticker urging drivers to "Slow down — Save the Children" is available from Save the Children, the international child assistance agency headquartered in Westport, Connecticut.

The bumper sticker is the second in a series of what Save the Children calls Campaigns of Concern aimed at focusing public attention on safety and children. The first campaign offered suggestions on assuring playground safety for children. It was conducted last summer.

Officials at Save the Children point out that more than 4,000 children under the age of 14 died last year as a result of motor vehicle accidents — the highest single cause of death in that age group. Speed is a major reason for motor vehicle accidents, they add.

GARRETT COUNTY: A public hearing on the following tentative decision will be held:

Tuesday, October 10, 1978
At 1:30 p.m.
Accident Fire Hall
Accident, Maryland

Discharge Permit Application No.: 76-DP-1262A (NPDES No. MD-0053384A; Basin No. 05.02.02.04): Goodwill Mennonite Home, Inc., Grantsville, Maryland 21536.

As a result of recent changes to Federal Water Pollution Control Regulation 40 CFR 133.103, the Water Resources Administration will be able to permit relaxation of the total suspended solids effluent limitation from 30 mg/1 (monthly average) to 90 mg/1 (monthly average) at the Goodwill Mennonite Home wastewater treatment pond. The corresponding change in mass loading of suspended solids discharged will be from 3.0 lbs/day to 9.0 lbs/day; weekly average total suspended solids effluent limitations will no longer be specified.

All other effluent limitations specified by the current Discharge Permit for the Goodwill Mennonite Home facility will remain unchanged.

The above proposed modifications are being made in accordance with the U.S. Environment Protection Agency's desire to permit and encourage the utilization of energy efficient, low-cost wastewater treatment systems that discharge to receiving waters not sensitive to waters containing "secondary treatment" levels of five-day biochemical oxygen demand (BOD5) and total suspended solids (TSS).

As prescribed by Federal Regulation 40 CFR 133.103, the Water Resources Administration has redefined, in terms of performance standards, "secondary treatment" for wastewater treatment ponds in Maryland. These new wastewater treatment requirements will allow the continued use of wastewater treatment ponds under certain receiving water quality conditions.

The Administration has determined that relaxation of the Discharge Permit effluent limitations as described above for the Goodwill Mennonite Home facility discharging .012 mgd of treated wastewater into Staubaugh Run will not violate Maryland Water Quality Standards. Tentative Decision: Issue modifications to effluent limitations as described above.

Maryland Project Basic Discussed By School Board

A highlight of the Garrett County Board of Education meeting on August 19, 1978 was a discussion relative to the implementation of Project Basic as it is being developed by the State Department of Education in conjunction with the local school systems in Maryland.

Albert Ringer, Assistant Superintendent in Curriculum and Instruction, brought Board members up to date on what is expected of local education agencies in developing local plans to fit the Maryland state plan for Project Basic. He indicated that improvement is taking place in the basic skills program as a result of the local school board's efforts and the efforts of the State Department of Education. He also indicated many teachers, principals, and supervisors were expressing concerns relative to the amount of record keeping required to support all aspects of the local board's goals, the state accountability program, and the Albey bill as required by the Maryland Legislature. He outlined a number of behavioral objectives under survival skills and citizenship activities for which it may be difficult to establish student competency assessment procedures and indicated it would take a considerable amount of his time, staff members' and principals' time to develop the program within the Maryland Project Basic framework as it currently is projected.

School board president, Herbert G. Harman, also questioned some of the behavioral objectives stated in the report and indicated doubts as to whether many adults would be successful with them and also raised the question as to whether ultimately teachers would have time to teach if so much of their time had to be spent in administering tests, recording observations, and certifying standard achievement.

Dr. William Buser, Superintendent of Schools, indicated he felt the umbrella Project Basic was an idealistic approach to many concerns as they relate to education and stated that he felt, "We may be trying to do too much too fast."

He further indicated the needs assessment study in Garrett County pointed out that the Garrett County public was more concerned about improving reading and math skills than they were in teaching leisure time and survival skills. The Board asked the superintendent to request the Maryland Association of Boards of Education to have this item on the agenda for discussion at the meeting of that Association in Easton in September. The Board will also be considering at their September meeting a resolution related to Project Basic which it may want to present at the MABE Convention.

State Gets Grant To Develop TV Environment Series

The Maryland State Department of Education has received a federal grant of $100,448 for the development of an environmental education instructional television series.

Topics to be included in ten programs will include meeting future energy needs, the quality of life, renewable and nonrenewable resources, and looking at technological, social, and aesthetic concerns inherent in environmental issues.

The series is being designed for use with approximately 200,000 seventh and eighth grade Maryland pupils, and will undoubtedly be used by Maryland pupils in other grades.

The Almanac

Today is Wednesday, August 23, the 235th day of 1978 with 130 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars, Venus and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

American General Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan in the Pacific Theater of World War II, was born August 23, 1883. This also is the birthdate of American bandleader Bob Crosby (1913) and dancer-actor Gene Kelly (1912).

On this day in history:

In 1924, Mrs. Miriam "Ma" Ferguson won the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas. In November, she became the first woman to be elected governor of a state.

In 1926, hundreds of thousands mourned the death of movie idol Rudolph Valentino.

In 1968, a U.N. resolution condemned the Soviet Bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia, but Russia vetoed it in the Security Council.

In 1977, Maryland Governor Marvin Mandel was found guilty on charges of fraud and racketeering.

Wheaties For Amy . . .

Television newscasts and the front pages of most daily newspapers have been inundated recently with the usual bad news of inflation, unemployment, the possible postal strike, tax revolution, unrest in the Middle East, Cambodia and Africa, etc. Amid all of this turmoil, we also find lengthy articles about President Carter's vacation, complete with films and pictures of him bouncing through the whitewater in a rubber raft or perched upon a rock fishing.

Many persons are angered by the President's jaunting off into the wilderness while things seem to be in such a mess around the nation. Many feel he has no right to vacation during such troubled times. He is not allowed to have such a good time right now.

Yet, on second thought, the pressure of this particular job has to be unbelievably severe. A human being can stand such pressure only so long before he must take a break, or risk mental collapse. As most people know, vacationing is usually quite theraputic. Getting away is as necessary as food, water and sleep. We feel the President is entitled to it and perhaps it will help clear his head and enable him to provide a little more guidance than he has shown us thus far.

As for the press, it would be nice for the President, and for the readers, if it would lay off a bit. A vacation should be just that — a vacation, complete with privacy. Few of us are interested in what king of cereal Amy had for breakfast, the brand and color of hip boots donned by Mrs. Carter and the size, type, weight and color of each fish hooked by the President. Such detail can be downright nauseating.

PRESENT CHECK — Officers of the Deer Park Civic Association met Monday evening, August 21, with members of the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department to present the fire department with a donation of $150 for the department's truck fund. Leuschner Trial To Be Moved To Washington County

Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer has granted a change of venue motion in the second sex-murder trial of Ellwood Leroy Leuschner.

The trial was moved from here to Washington County at the request of attorneys for Leuschner, who is charged with killing a ten-year-old Salisbury boy.

Leuschner is already serving a life term in the Maryland Penitentiary for the murder of William Russell Marine, 9. Judge Thayer sentenced Leuschner after he was convicted by a Garrett County jury in June.

The accused will now stand trial in Washington County for the murder of Troy William Krause, whose body was found near the Marine boy's body on a Salisbury farm last fall.

Richard Warren, the Wicomico County state's attorney said he is trying Leuschner in the Krause murder despite his life sentence. The prosecutor said he will seek to have Leuschner sentenced to life in prison without parole if he is convicted in the second murder.

Maryland law provides for life without parole for any person sent to jail four times for a crime of violence, Warren said.

Hospital Reveals New Emergency Room Procedures

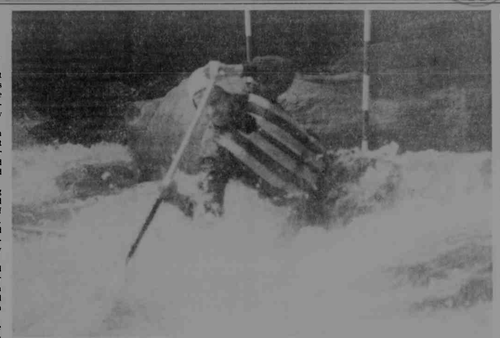
Emergency Room services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital will be expanded effective September 1, according to Kenneth Richmond, hospital administrator.

During hours of peak usage, the physician on call will be within the hospital and will be continuously accessible to the emergency room.

In addition, a new emergency room rate of $32 will be charged that included the on-call physician's professional fee. Most patients receiving treatment in the emergency room by the physician on call will not receive a separate bill for the service provided by the doctor. An exception will be cases classified as major fractures or cases requiring a consulting physician.

If a patient coming into the emergency room sees his family physician (not the physician on call) he will be charged a $19 hospital charge while the physician in this case will bill them for his services separately.

Patients coming to the emergency room for a follow-up visit will be charged either $10 or $16.50, depending on whether they are seen by the physician on call or their private physician.



PADDLE POWER — This unidentified paddler meets the fury of the Savage River head-on during a practice run Saturday, just moments before the start of the International Canoe and Kayak Slalom race. Competitors came from all over the world to tackle the Savage, one of the finest whitewater racing rivers in the country. See story and photos on page 12.

Ad Deadline To be Friday

Advertisers with The Republican are reminded that all copy for both display and classified advertising must be in the office no later than Friday, September 1, at 5 p.m.

Health System Gets Full Designation As Planning Agency

The Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland has been designated as the official health planning agency for the four western Maryland counties following two years of operation as a conditionally-designated agency.

Sterling E. Bollinger, Sr., agency president, announced that the agency has been awarded full designation status effective September 1 through August 31, 1979 by the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In offering the agreement of full designation, the Assistant Surgeon General and Regional Health Administrator indicated that the progress made by the agency during the two years of conditional designation clearly demonstrates the evolutionary planning process through which active participation of consumers and providers can provide a positive impact on the changes necessary in the health care system.

The Assistant Surgeon General observed that the countless hours provided in this effort have resulted in a foundation upon which the agency can move forward to the important decisions which must be made during the continuous implementation of health planning in the area.

In addition to the annual revision of the Health Systems plan and the yearly achievement of the actions outlined in the annual implementation plan, the HSA will continue its coordination of activities with individuals and groups on local, state and federal levels.

The HSA will also continue to make recommendations to the State Health Planning and Development Agency regarding proposed expansions or improvements of health care facilities and will provide some technical assistance to individuals or organizations seeking expansion or improvement of health care services.

As a fully designated agency, the HSA will assume additional responsibilities of review of Commissioners Leave Record Open For Additional Junkyard Testimony

The Board of Commissioners for Garrett County conducted the second of two public hearings for the new county Junkyard Ordinance Monday in Oakland. Approximately 30 persons were present to hear the revised ordinance and to offer additional comments.

Tim Dugan, county planning director, presented the changes in the draft ordinance which have been made as a result of testimony presented at the first hearing last May.

Most of Monday's testimony concerned technical wording to provide adequate screening for junkyards and regarding the applicability of the law.

The record will remain open ten days during which the Board will receive additional testimony. Approval of the new, revised ordinance is expected once all revisions are complete.

The county had found it necessary to rewrite the junkyard ordinance after the previous law, written in 1968, failed to stand up in court and the county lost a case brought against Adrian (Buck) Martin, owner of a new junkyard at the intersection of Route 36 and Pysell Crossrut.

The county attempted to block location of the junkyard due to new and established homes nearby, but failed due to technical problems with the language of the old ordinance.

Revised laws will make junkyard standards more stringent, but will apparently allow the Martin Junkyard to continue in operation because of a grandfather clause.

In other business during Monday's meeting, The Garrett County 4-C Committee met with the commissioners to discuss a new state requirement for formation of children's councils.

Dr. Mark Sugar, chairman of the 4-C committee, and members Mrs. Linda Wengerd, Mrs. Jean Tressler and Leon Butcher asked the commissioners to approve their appointment to Garrett County's Children's Council.

Based upon their recommendation, and as the four represent a cross-section of membership required on the new children's councils, the commissioners unanimously approved the county's 4-C Committee as the Garrett County Children's Council.

Letter to the Editor

Sir

If we all sit back and think, it will be obvious why the Sanitary Commission made its mess. Sanitary Commissioners are appointed by County Commissioners to six year terms. Once appointed, they can't be fired. By a very bad law they answer to no one.

Sanitary Commissioners are amateurs, know little or nothing about sewage and water, meet once a month. They are busy with personal concerns and can't possibly do a proper job. They do know from experience and bad legal advice that someone will pay the debts they run up, be it the towns or the County Commissioners. They learn quickly they can break contracts and Maryland laws and get away with it.

Add a touch of arrogance and you have a formula for costly disasters and poisoned relations with those they are supposed to serve.

Perhaps my many letters to you are bearing fruit. I hear increasing talk of abolishing the Sanitary Commission and replacing it with a professional County Department of Public Works. We could have jobs done right. No more coverups. No more poisonous lawsuits. A new era of mutual trust and friendly cooperation.

Of course, first we must have a new Board of County Commissioners to start down a new road into the future.

Mr. Sincell, I can read in your paper how many yards of white polyester the bride wore and who went across the alley and had lunch with whom in Friendsville. But all summer long in Mt. Lake Park, your home town, the Sanitary Commission openly, arrogantly, defied a town ordinance requiring permits to excavate in town streets. Not a word, not a beep of protest in your paper.

Big Broom's a comin'
Big Broom'll think as much about
Who to broom in
As who to broom out

Punt, Pass And Kick Contest Slated

Registration began for the 1978 Punt, Pass & Kick Competition in the showroom of Shaffer Ford Sales, Oakland on Friday, August 18. In making the announcement, Willis T. Shaffer, president of the dealership, said, "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competition in Oakland on September 30. We hope all the youngsters, 8 through 13 years of age, in this area will come in to register and take part."

Shaffer pointed out that PP&K, throughout its six levels of competition, is free of any charge, and that youngsters need only have a parent or guardian accompany them to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for contestants in each of the six age groups, or 18 trophies in all. Increasing each entrant's chances of winning is the fact that youngsters compete only against others in their own age group," he said.

There is no body contact in PP&K. It's punting, passing and place-kicking for distance and points. First place winners in each age group will go on to the Zone competition and from there, top winners progress through District, Area, Division and National Finals.

Each entrant, upon registering, receives a free PP&K Tips Book. In the 1978 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Ray Guy, Bob Griese, and Errol Mann. The Tips Book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

PP&K registration will close at Shaffer Ford Sales on September 29.

This is the 18th anniversary year of PP&K. From its inception the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. In that time, millions of youngsters have taken part in PP&K, making it one of America's largest youth activities.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC TELEPHONE COMPANY OF MARYLAND

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING IN CUMBERLAND

IN THE MATTER OF PROPOSED CHARGES FOR CERTAIN CALLS TO DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE AND REDUCTION IN TELEPHONE RATES

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland has filed with the Public Service Commission of Maryland proposed revisions to its tariffs which provide for a reduction of 30 cents in monthly rates for basic residential telephone services and for charges for calls to Directory Assistance in excess of a specified allowance.

Under the proposed revisions, the monthly rates for residential services would be reduced by 30 cents coincident with the introduction of charges for calls to Directory Assistance.

The proposed revisions concerning Directory Assistance in general provide the following:

— For residential customers, there would be no charge in any month for the first 12 direct-dialed calls per line to local (411) and Maryland long distance (1 or 301-555-1212) Directory Assistance.
— For business customers, there would be no charge in any given month of the first 3 direct-dialed calls per line or trunk, or 3 calls per each 8 Centrex main stations.
— There would be a 20 cent charge for each direct-dialed call in a given month beyond the applicable allowance.
— However, there would be no charge for calls to Directory Assistance from the residential services of customers with physical or visual handicaps which keep them from using a telephone directory provided by the Company, or from coin telephones, hospitals, hotels, motels or mobile telephones.
— There would be no charge for calls to Directory Assistance outside of Maryland (area code +555-1212).
— Where the regular "O" operator was directed by a customer to connect the customer with Directory Assistance, a charge of 40 cents would apply on each such call.

Public hearings are being held before a Hearing Examiner designated by the Commission throughout the state of Maryland.

An additional session of the hearings in the above-entitled matter is set for Thursday, September 7, 1978, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the County Commissioners' Meeting Room, County Office Building, Lower Level, 59 Prospect Square, Cumberland, Maryland.

Any customer of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland wishing to testify should register prior to the hearing between 7:00 p.m., and 7:30 p.m.

Voting Sites Now Barrier Free For Disabled Voters

Many physically disabled Maryland voters will find the polls accessible to them for the first time during the November general elections.

Senate Bill 242, passed by the 1978 General Assembly, requires barrier free polling places in each voting district in the state.

Disabled voters who have had difficulties with physical barriers, such as steps, at their previous voting sites can now have their polling places reassigned to barrier free facilities.

The law covers eligible voters who have "temporarily or permanently lost the use of a leg or both legs or a foot or both feet or any combination; who are so severely disabled as to be unable to move without the aid of braces, canes, crutches or a wheelchair; whose mobility is significantly impaired by reason of heart or lung diseases, who suffer from hemophilia; or who are blind or whose vision is substantially impaired."

Persons who qualify should call or write the supervisor of elections in their county of residence and request an "Application for Assignment to a Structurally Barrier Free Polling Place." The application does not require a physician's signature.

Local Race Drivers Have Good Showings

Frank Lewis, at Elkins Speedway Friday night, placed first in the helmet dash, second in his late model heat and finished seventh in the feature.

At Morgantown Saturday night, he started ninth in the first feature and finished sixth. In his heat he started fifth and finished fourth, and in the second feature he started twelfth, was involved in a pileup, and had to go to the rear of the pack, and ended in sixth position.

"Red" Fredericks, driving 52 in the semi-late division for Randy McCartney, was a real crowd-pleaser as he manuevered into first place in the first feature. He took an easy win in the heat after starting in fourth place, and in the feature he had just made his move into the number one spot when his car was involved in a three-car smash. He finished eighth.

Bob Arsenberger, driving Dewey Wakefield's car in the semi-late division, started 12th in the first feature and finished seventh. In the heat, he started sixth and finished fourth, and was placed in the number ten spot in the second feature. Mechanical problems, however, sent him to the pits before the race was over.

Randy Murphy's dune buggy started 13th in the feature and finished sixth. He started third and finished second in his heat and then finished sixth in the second feature.

At Motordrome in Pennsylvania Sunday, Frank Lewis came in second in his heat. In the feature he started eighth and had moved to third when a tire problem sent him to the pits. He came back two laps down, in 14th place, and finished sixth.

At least 100 local fans were at Morgantown Saturday night for the double feature.

Carter Considers Stationing American Troops In Mid East

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI) – President Carter is considering an offer to station American troops on the West Bank to break the Middle East negotiating stalemate, his spokesman said today.

Carter, sunburned and relaxed, wound up his 12-day vacation in Idaho and Wyoming apparently eager to tackle major problems awaiting him at the White House — among them his deadlocked energy package and U.S. options to propose at the Camp David summit on the Middle East that begins Sept. 5.

Press Secretary Jody Powell said when Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat sit down at the presidential retreat next week, Carter may propose the American presence as one of the options to bring about a settlement.

"That has always been a possibility," Powell said, "but it is still in the speculative stage."

The Washington Post reported today the proposal included establishing an American air base on the Sinai Peninsula, but there was no immediate confirmation by the White House.

The White House has maintained all along that Carter would make suggestions for breaking the deadlock but would have no firm U.S. position to propose. Presumably the idea of American troops would be only in the nature of such a suggestion, rather than a firm offer.

Powell also predicted Carter would emerge victorious in a last-ditch attempt to rescue his energy package.

"I think we will win but it's going to be a tough fight," Powell told reporters.

Carter will be battling for Senate passage of the natural gas compromise, the crux of his energy program that faces opposition from both liberal Democrats and conservative Republicans, who would prefer a simple bill giving the president authority to allocate natural gas in times of a national emergency.

Carter invited a delegation from the National Governors Association, headed by Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll, to meet with him at 10 a.m. Thursday to rally their support for the compromise, which calls for eventual deregulation of natural gas prices.

"The enactment of a national energy plan is critical to every state, and I look forward to this opportunity to discuss pending energy legislation wwith some of the nation's governors," Carter said in the statement.

As for his vacation, Carter and his family clearly enjoyed the outdoor life. He went fishing nearly every day, took a three-day raft trip down the primitive Salmon River, sailed on Lake Jackson and attended a rodeo.

On the final full day of vacation, Carter went fishing again, took his family on a horseback ride along the Jackson Hole trail and hosted a reception for Wyoming Democratic politicians and early Carter supporters.

Cancer Society To Spend $2 Million On Single Test

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Cancer Society is putting $2 million — the most it has ever invested in a single test — behind efforts to learn if a substance produced in the body can slow the growth of cancerous tumors in humans.

The Cancer Society said it hopes to have some indication within six months whether the substance, called interferon, will work without the harmful side effects of some other anti-tumor agents.

Interferon, a protein substance that occurs naturally in the body and is also produced by a virus-infected animal cell, has been shown to shrink tumors in animals and has already helped some humans.

Dr. Jordan Guttermam of Houston's M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic and Dr. Thomas C. Merigan Jr. of Stanford University Medical Center in Palo Alto, Calif., are hoping to prove whether interferon:

—Will stop growth of human tumors at a faster rate than it interferes with normal cell growth.

—Activates the normal body defenses against infection and cancer, giving the tumor host, the cancer patient, a double punch against cancer.

The three to six-month test of interferon will involve 150 randomly selected cancer patients divided into two groups — one will get interferon in treatments that will cost $25,000 to $30,000 a person and the other will not.

The Cancer Society each year collects more than $100 million from Americans interested in fighting cancer. But this is the most money the Society has put into a test of a single anti-tumor substance.

In a telephone interview Gutterman said if the testing is successful, there will be positive proof interferon can keep some killer tumors from growing to a lethal size — choking vital life processes and killing the host.

The victims will live longer and perhaps have a normal lifespan.

Polish Airliner Hijacked To West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — A Polish airliner enroute to East Berlin was hijacked today to West Berlin, where the one or more hijackers surrendered to U.S. Air Police and about 80 passengers were released unharmed.

The plane, operated by the Polish airline LOT and identified as a Soviet-made TU134, was hijacked on its way from Gdansk, Poland to East Berlin, and landed at Tempelhof Airfield, on the other side of the wall that divides the city, at 10:04 a.m. (5:04 a.m. EDT), an Air Force spokesman said.

About an hour later, the 80 passengers — mostly East Germans — were allowed to leave the aircraft.

The hijacker or hijackers were taken into custody by the Air Police, the officials said. American officials said they could not be sure whether the plane was hijacked by East Germans or Poles.

Fire trucks and a squadron of police surrounded the aircraft as soon as it rolled to a stop at Tempelhof, located in the center of West Berlin.

The last hijacking in Berlin occurred April 9, when two brothers members of an Aero club in East Berlin suddenly turned away from their own airport and hopped across the demarcation into West Berlin where they landed at a British airport, where they asked for asylum.

Tempelhof airport, the hub of the Berlin airlift that defeated the Soviet blockade of West Berlin in 1948-49, was the city's main commercial airport until three years ago when most commercial and charter aircraft moved their operations to a new airport at Tegel, further from the center of the city.

Only a few American Air Force and Army aircraft are now stationed at Tempelhof every day.

U.S. Dollar Drops Again In Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — The U.S. dollar, hurt by the announcement of huge U.S. trade deficits last month, today plummeted against the Japanese yen on the Tokyo foreign exchange market. Trading was heavy.

The dollar closed out the day at 189.7075 yen, down sharply from the previous close of 194.30.

Tokyo dealers said the dollar's drop was a reaction to Washington's announcement the U. S. trade deficit for July increased to $2.66 billion, the fourth worst level in history.

The dollar opened the day at 188.50 yen and dropped further to 188.20 during morning trading, a decline of 6.10 yen from the previous close.

However, subsequent active purchases by Japanese traders and manufacturers paced a recovery of the shaky currency, market sources said.

President Somoza Orders Arrest Of National Guard

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — President Anastasio Somoza Debayle, defying opposition demands that he resign, has acted quickly to put down a revolt in the national guard, the backbone of his authoritarian rule.

"My resignation would insure a Marxist takeover," Somoza said Tuesday.

"I intend to remain as president until my term expires," he added, but pledged "a fair and honest election" in 1981.

Somoza has ordered the arrests of hundreds of national guardsmen and political opponents in a major crackdown on both the left and right following a weekend coup attempt.

The president said loyal national guard troops had taken into custody eight to 10 officers and 25 enlisted men involved in plans for the first attempted military rebellion since he took power in 1974.

Unofficial sources said 200 soldiers and 12 high-ranking officers, as well as seven civilians, were arrested as suspects in the plot.

The government also made its first move to curb criticism by the foreign press. Two Venezuelan journalists, identified only as Rafael Fino and Omar Marquez, were ordered to leave the country.

The national guard serves as the police and military force in Nicaragua, a Central American nation of about 2.4 million and has been the bulwark of four decades of rule by the Somoza family.

A spokesman for Somoza said the national guard plotters were rightist "hot shots" who believed the president was preparing to resign and wanted to take over before the vacuum was filled by his leftist opponents.

But other sources said elements within the military reportedly were outraged at what they felt was Somoza's capitulation to leftist Sandinista guerrillas who seized 70 hostages at the National Palace last week and exchanged them for 58 political prisoners.

While vowing to remain in office, Somoza said at a news conference, "The issue in Nicaragua is the survival of a democratic government.

"To resign would be to betray the men in uniform who have defended this society with their lives. To resign would be to open this country to chaos and anarchy," he said.

The embattled president said a five-day general strike has been a failure. He claimed 98 percent of the small shops in Managua and 50 percent of those in the interior were open for business.

But other sources said an estimated 40 per cent of supermarkets and gasoline stations in the capital had closed. In Leon, Nicaragua's second-largest city, the shutdown was almost total.

Governors Attack Federal Spending

BOSTON (UPI) - The nation's governors, acting under the shadow of Proposition 13, have sent a message to Washington that the best way to hold down taxes and government spending is to cut the red tape in the federal bureaucracy.

The overwhelmingly Democratic National Governors' Association went out of its way to praise President Carter during the three-day meeting that ended Tuesday. But the bureaucracy was under constant attack from the cost-conscious governors.

"The public life of our states and localities is needlessly dominated by a seemingly uncontrollable federal government more concerned with rules, regulations and red tape than with an attack on the major national issues of our time," said Gov. Robert Bennett, R-Kan.

Bennett, leading his colleagues in a session with Carter's chief inflation fighter, Robert Strauss, said "The total cost of complying with federal regulations is now estimated to run $200 billion in the current fiscal year."

The governors said that since Proposition 13 they have gotten their state houses in order, and now expect Washington to do the same.

Gov. James Hunt, D-N.C., won unanimous approval of his colleagues for a resolution calling for a balanced federal budget by 1981. But the governors did not go so far as to adopt a proposal by Gov. Meldrim Thomson, R-N.H., calling for constitutional limits on federal and state taxes and spending.

Gov. David Pryor, D-Ark., said the balanced budget proposal "strikes at the heart of the greatest problem facing this country at this time."

Hunt also warned Strauss the new union contract with postal workers better stay within Carter's 5.5 percent pay raise guideline or "we can forget it as far as the fight on inflation goes."

In sending their message to Washington, the governors also:

-Gave unanimous approval to a resolution by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., D-Calif., requiring Congress to reimburse the states for all the programs it mandates.

-Criticized Carter's decision to increase beef imports. Gov. James Exon, D-Neb., said: "Never are we going to have success in agriculture if we have government control of agriculture."

-Authorized new NGA Chairman Julian Carroll, D-Ky., to send a delegation of governors to meet with Carter later this week on the stalled energy bill.

-Proposed they pay Social Security taxes for state employees quarterly instead of monthly to cut down on paperwork and allow the states to collect interest on the money for a longer period.

-Urged Congress to "get off its duff," in the words of Gov. William Milliken, R-Mich., and pass an energy bill. If that bill includes increased gasoline taxes, the governors said the states should get a share of the hike to pay for their road-building programs.

Yough River Residents Ask Defeat of Mason

To the Republican Voters:

It is essential to the home owners in north western Garrett County residing along the Yough River, and its tributaries, that Senator Mason be defeated, and we ask our voters to elect former Senator "Bill" Wilson in his place.

Senator Mason did not represent most of the people he was elected to serve. Instead, he joined Baltimore City Representatives who are trying to get the right to use our privately owned land, up here, for their sport and entertainment.

One of his very first acts, when he went to the Senate, was to sponsor a law, Senate Bill 837, that authorizes and requires the Department of Natural Resources to take over and regulate 11,000 acres of privately owned land, without buying it. Approximately two hundred land and home owners are affected. He did this in defiance of our protests and petitions.

The law plainly provides that the Department of Natural Resources shall prescribe rules and regulations governing the use of the land and properties situated near the river.

It prohibits the mining of coal and the cutting of timber and nearly all of the eleven thousand acres has both coal and timber.

The home owner must obtain a permit in writing from Annapolis before cutting or planting any shrubbery around his home. An owner cannot build any structure, or change any existing structure without first getting a permit in writing, which must have approval from six bureaucratic agencies of DNR.

The owner must obtain permits before painting his home or out buildings and the Department shall prescribe the color of paint to be used. If a building burns the owner must rebuild same within one year, or he can be refused a permit to replace the burned building.

No land owner shall be permitted to build a structure more than thirty feet in height.

Under this law the land or home owner cannot develop his property, he cannot make roads through his land to get to his fields, he cannot change the view around his home, without first getting approval from the Department of Natural Resources.

The law gives the Department the power to extend these regulations to other people's property located on any tributaries of the river.

We believe that any representative who will sponsor such laws is a threat to the rights and liberties of the people. A representative who will do this to a couple of hundred citizens will do the same to thousands if given the opportunity.

We called public meetings, some of which were attended by Senator Mason. We begged him to reconsider and recall this law. He refused to reconsider and in effect, he defied the petitions of many of our citizens whom he had promised to represent.

Therefore we appeal to the voters to help us regain the use and control of our property upon which we must pay taxes.

This law puts a cloud upon our property. As owners we cannot sell because nobody wants to buy property they cannot control

Meese-Folk Nuptials Held August 12

Stacey Kae Folk became the bride of Dale F. Meese, Jr. at three p.m. August 12 at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Salisbury, Pa. The Rev. David E. Fetter conducted the ceremony in a church decorated with baby's breath, carnations, yellow roses and daisies.

Mrs. Phyllis Hilt, organist, played "Thou Art Near," the theme from "Romeo and Juliet," and "O Perfect Love." Vocalist Mrs. Patricia Werner sang "My Wonderful One."

Given in marriage by her father, Donald F. Folk, the bride wore a gown of sheer organza trimmed with unembroidered Venetian lace. The bodice had a sweetheart neckline and was embellished with lace. A flounce fastened to the yoke formed the cape effect of the sleeves. A satin ribbon at the empire waistline held the A-line skirt, falling to the lace-trimmed hemline, which swept to a chapel train.

Camelot headpiece held a fingertip-length mantilla edged in matching lace. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses, baby's breath and daisies and carnations.

Matron of honor Marina Inez Mullins wore a yellow gown with a sheer two-tone yellow cape. Laura Lea Folk and Barbara Ellen Diehl, bridesmaids, wore two-tone floral green gowns with lace bodices and short cape sleeves. All three carried bouquets of baby's breath, daisies and carnations.

Ken Yoder was best man. Ushers were Dave Showalter and Tim Harris. The men wore two-tone green tuxedos.

After the wedding ceremony, about 150 guests were entertained at a reception in Salisbury VFW, which was decorated with green and yellow streamers and white wedding bells. At the table for the wedding party was an arrangement of yellow roses, daisies, carnations and baby's breath.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Meese took a honeymoon trip to Niagra Falls, Canada and on their return will live at Stahl's Apartments on Main Street in Salisbury.

A 1977 graduate of Northern High School, Mrs. Meese works at Sears Catalog Store in Meyersdale. Mr. Meese is a 1977 graduate of Salisbury-Elk Lick High School and is presently employed at Coleman Company in Somerset.

Holland, Fike Exchange Vows

Julie May Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Holland, Oakland, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dillsworth, Swanton and Beulah Holland, Loch Lynn, became the bride of Walter Joseph Fike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sisler, Oregon, and grandson of Mrs. Phyllis Fike, Table Rock, on June 10 in a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Charles Teets at the Crellin United Brethren Church.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Crellin Community Building. A four-tier cake was baked by Mrs. Carl Callis, and Mrs. Sandy Holland registered gifts for the couple.

Work Force

You can make good money at things like riveting or welding, but it isn't always a fun job. There's a tension to it that takes its toll of nerves and muscles.

Lots of jobs aren't fun, aren't even fulfilling. They're just necessary, both for the doers and for the rest of us, who profit by their services.

So what comes after work? Staying home and watching TV, or perhaps a little bit of nothing. It shouldn't be that way; not all that way, certainly.

People do have three facets—mental, physical and spiritual. It's the spiritual part that is the most apt to get shortchanged today, more's the pity. Because that's where the miracles begin.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

OUR WORST SUBJECT

Lesson for September 3, 1978

Background Scripture: Romans 1:18-20, 24-25; 2 Timothy 2:21-26
Devotional Reading: John 8:31-36

Rev. Althouse

Actually, discipline is the "worst subject" for many of us. Discipline is a term that indicates the degree to which a person is able to govern him or herself. It is the manner in which we control our behaviour. A person who is undisciplined is one who is not fully in the driver's seat.

Serving The Creature

The newspapers and other media are full of reminders that discipline is our "worst subject." Our daily paper carries advertisements of some dozen weight-reducing establishments in this community. Business is booming, I'm told. Our local television stations carry commercials by several local organizations that attempt to assist the smoker to stop smoking. A highway billboard displays prominently a telephone number that can be called by anyone who wants to inquire about an intensive program to help the problem drinker. Among my daily junkmail are advertisements for classes in Yoga, "mind control," meditation and a host of other programs aimed at the person who is trying to get a grip on his own life.

My wife and I follow a daily routine of rising at 6 a.m., walking two miles, eating breakfast and following with twenty minutes of prayer and meditation and another twenty of physical exercise. It is not a very ambitious program, in fact, in our minds it is a minimal effort. Yet the awe with which some people react when they hear us speak of it is always surprising to us. It is, we have decided, not so much a tribute to our discipline, but a commentary on their own lack of it.

Bodies Dishonoured

Some people simply cannot conceive of making themselves do anything. There is no self-control exercised over their appetites and they seem to have an absolute compulsion to cater to every whim, fancy and appetite that comes their way. For our age the the words of the writer of 2 Timothy seem archaic: "If anyone purifies himself from what is ignoble, then he will be a vessel for noble use, consecrated and useful." (2:21). Few of us think of ourselves as "noble vessels," yet it may well be that this lack of self-discipline and consecration is the very thing that makes life so frantic in these "sophisticated" days in which we live. Speaking of this need, Robert Raines has said: "We must lay hands of gentle ruthlessness on ourselves, eliminating some things in order to intensify others. It is necessary to prune our lives if they are to bear more fruit." Until we have learned to do this, discipline will continue to be our "worst subject."

ARE YOU PHOTOSENSITIVE?
No, we do not mean allergic to taking pictures but rather a person who reacts severely to even a short exposure to strong sunlight. If you are fair skinned you should be aware of this particular danger. It could result in a rash, in the form of tiny blisters, commonly called sun poisoning.
More lotions and potions are sold for the treatment of sunburn than all other summer hazards combined. So be careful, take precautions and enjoy the sun without the consequences.

Several Injured In Sunday Wrecks

Sunday motor vehicle accidents, in scattered locations, sent a number of persons to hospitals. The accidents occurred early on Saturday and Sunday.

At 12:55, Sunday, one person was injured on the Mayhew Inn road near the Hamill Addition road. William George Hoffman, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., was apparently taken to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. He was traveling west when his car ran off the road, struck several trees and the parked unattended car of Dennis F. Duskey, Monroeville, Pa. Hoffman stated a small red vehicle forced him off the road. Tfc. J. E. Foley investigated.

One pre-dawn Saturday was due to fog but caused no injuries. This one occurred on U. S. 219 about a mile north of Jasper Riley road. James Alien Glotfelty, RD 1, Oakland, was driving south when he ran into some heavy fog. The car ran off the road and struck a road sign. Tfc. Foley checked this one also.

Two young persons were injured in a midafternoon Sunday mishap on U. S. 40 just east of Church Run road. Linda Anette McKenzie, 17, RD 1, Lonaconing, and her passenger, Tammy M. McKenzie, 15, same address, were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by Edna McKenzie. Linda was driving west on Rt. 40 when, as she said, an eastbound vehicle splashed a large amount of water on the windshield due to heavy rainfall at the time and obscured her vision temporarily. The vehicle then went out of control, struck an embankment off the left side, overturned three times and came to rest on its top. Tfc. Dale Williams charged the driver with operating an unsafe vehicle.

Later that evening the operator of the vehicle of a one-car mishap was injured on the Gorman Road just north of the White Church-Steyer Road, Gilmer Duwayne Stoots, Austinville, Va., was rounding a left curve, and as the operator stated, he sneezed. The car ran off the right shoulder, up onto the guard rails and overturned. It then slid to the left side of the road, struck the guard rails and then back to the right side. Tfc. R. C. Georg made the investigation.

The last accident on Sunday occurred a few minutes before midnight on the Fingerboard Road just west of Sanders Lane. An unknown vehicle was involved. Carroll Joseph Thomas, Star Route 1, Oakland, and an unknown Pontiac with West Virginia license were traveling east. The Pontiac passed the Thomas pickup and came to a stop in the roadway. Thomas then attempted to pass the unknown vehicle at which time the latter accelerated and forced him off the road. Thomas then ran off the road onto the westbound shoulder and while there the Pontiac rammed into the side of his truck and fled the scene. The unknown was said to be a blue color. Tfc. Foley investigated.

Martha Sherwood Is August Bride Of Rev. Ognibene

Wesley Chapel on the campus of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W. Va. was the setting for the wedding of Miss Martha Lee Sherwood of Bluefield, W. Va. and Michael Joseph Ognibene of Johnstown, Pa. on Saturday, August 26 at 2:00 p.m. Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, father of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with a yellow and white floral centerpiece and two yellow rose buds. The altar was flanked by two seven-branched candelabra and single candelabra extended down the aisle.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Thomas Badgett, Bluefield, W. Va., organist, and Steven Tuell, Parkersburg, W. Va., soloist.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, John Sherwood. Glen Burnie. She wore a gown of white peau de soie styled with jewel neckline and empire waist.

The long fitted sleeves were trimmed with Alencon lace and were closed with self-covered buttons and loops. Crystal pleating formed the yoke and flowing over-sleeves. The skirt extended into a chapel train and was encircled with Alencon lace. Her veil of illusion trimmed with matching lace fell from Juliette cap. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses accentuated with greenery.

Miss Treva Mathews, Parkersburg, W. Va., was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of mint green crepe patterned with deeper green and yellow flowers. It was styled with a U neckline, empire waist, and butterfly sleeves. She wore a jade and gold necklace, gift of the bride. She carried three long-stemmed yellow chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Nina Bishoff of Oakland, Miss Judith Sherwood of Baltimore, Miss Mary Sherwood of Bluefield, W. Va., and Miss Ellin Ognibene of Johnstown, Pa. They wore gowns and necklaces identical to the maid of honor and each carried a single long-stemmed yellow chrysanthemum.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Steven Bertz of Chester, N. J. directed the reception which was held in Kresge Hall of Wesley Chapel. The tables were decorated in white, green and yellow. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with yellow roses and encircled at the base with fern. After the traditional cutting of the cake by the bride and groom, service was assumed by Mrs. John Sherwood of Glen Burnie and Miss Leslie Morris of Woodbury, N. J. Punch was served by Miss Melanee Wigton of Portersville, Pa. and Miss Susan Glasser of Pittsburgh, Pa. Music for the reception was presented by Miss Julie Titus of Charleston, W. Va. Mrs. Terry Browning of Huntington, W. Va. attended the bride's book.

On their return, the Rev. and Mrs. Ognibene will be at home in Cincinnati, Ohio, where the Rev. Ognibene is a student-associate pastor. He will continue his studies this fall at United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio.

He's Concerned About JOB Opportunities for Residents of Allegany and Garrett Counties!

He feels that environmental restrictions are hurting the two counties.

We have gone as far as we can without creating economic hardship and loss of jobs.

LET A "PRO" SELL IT

Selling your home yourself is no easy undertaking. Basically, it means attracting the right prospects - people who are ready, willing, and financially able to buy. Not those who are curious to see what your furniture looks like from the inside.

You can attempt to make this sale yourself, or you can have someone else handle the difficult negotiations. Frankly, the best way to market your home - probably your most valuable asset - is the professional way. Just as you would go to a doctor or a lawyer for medical or legal aid, you will want to go to a Realtor for assistance in selling your home.

His technical skill, business experience, list of bona fide prospects, contacts with financial institutions, and professional reputation are all at your disposal to expedite the sale of your home at the best possible price. This is the reason why, nationally, 75 percent of all homes are sold through professionals.

Elect Ernie Gregg

County Commissioner

It's time for a change!

It's time for leadership which reflects the steady, independent-minded character of the people of Garrett County.

It's time for a new direction—away from the big spending and federal invasion policies of the incumbent in the 3rd district.

New Conservative leadership for Garrett County

On the Issues

TAXES

Government spending results in higher taxes. The matter is made worse by poor management and inefficiency. The Democrat commissioner incredibly advertises that taxes have dropped. This is the same old shell game between tax rate and assessments. I say take a look at your last two tax bills and see if your taxes have not increased. If elected, I pledge to do all in my power to cut taxes where it counts . . . on your tax bill! It can do this by working to reduce government spending.

COURT HOUSE

Our court house, a landmark of Garrett County, has been defaced. Why? Because of a fever to get federal money. In the end, this project will cost us more than we will ever get in federal money and it will remain a monument to the intrusion of the federal philosophy that money can solve all problems. As a county commissioner I will not bow and grovel before the mighty federal grant, because I know it brings with it federal control and red tape for Garrett County.

EDUCATION

Many people in Garrett County believe our educational system can be vastly improved. More than half your local tax dollar goes directly for education, and the bill goes up every year. Meanwhile, our students score too low on national tests. We want the best education system in the state and we can have it. I believe in spending less money on frills and more on teaching basic education in the schools, with good teachers and smaller classes. As commissioner it will be my job to review the education budget and I pledge that you will get a chance to have your say during these budget hearings.

YOUGH VALLEY

The Youghiogheny River is a beautiful, wild natural resource in our county. I believe we have had too much outside control over it. The Yough Valley issue should be under the control of the people and elected government of Garrett County, which will respect the needs of the county and the ownership rights of property owners in this county. After all, property rights are basic in a free society.

FACE-TO-FACE CAMPAIGN

There are many other issues facing Garrett County about which I would like to speak with you in person. If you have time to talk with me or if we can get together with your neighbors and talk, please give me a call at 334-3818. We all want better government, REPUBLICAN government in Garrett County.

PRIMARY

The purpose of the primary is to nominate the best candidate for the general election. We must be sure not to lose by default. We cannot win the election with a lot of loud talk and last minute political hysteria. We can win it with level headed leadership and hard work.

LEADERSHIP

A commissioner must be able to establish policies which will benefit the people, and he must have the ability to organize and carry them out. The policies must be sound and the execution must be efficient. I have been a consistently successful businessman here in Garrett County most of my life. I have not jumped from pillar to post. If elected, I will work to run county government like the business it is and I will champion control of Garrett County affairs by the people of Garrett County.

Beer Tax Revenue For July Third Highest In History

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported recently that beer tax revenue for July 1978 totaled $930,854, the third highest amount of beer tax revenue ever received in a single normal month of collections.

A total of $987,823 was received in August, 1975 and $975,534 in April, 1977.

The July 1978 revenue is 10 percent greater than the receipts for July 1977 and reflects sales made to wholesalers during the month of June," Mr. Goldstein said. "The increase may be related to the slightly higher than normal temperatures Maryland experienced during the month of June."

Total alcohol and tobacco tax revenue for the month of June, 1978, the first month of Fiscal Year 1979, totaled $4,810,955, up 3.38 percent over the $4,631,175 received during July 1977.

State tobacco tax revenue was also up substantially, while revenues from distilled spirits and wine taxes were slightly lower than for the same month of the previous year.

Road Rally To Be Part Of '78 Autumn Glory

The Garrett Association For Retarded Citizens will be sponsoring a Road Rally during the 1978 Autumn Glory Festival. The Rally will start at the Southern High School parking lot on Sunday, October 15. Registration of cars will begin at 10:00 a.m. and the cars will be started on the course at 11:00 a.m. A route is being planned that will take the Rally participants past many of Garrett County's natural and historical sites.

The object of a Road Rally is to see who can travel the course, following written clues, and come closest to the actual mileage of the route. A road rally is not a race to see who can cover the course in the fastest time. Automobile and driver safety will be stressed throughout this Rally.

Proceeds from the Road Rally will go to the Garrett Association For Retarded Citizens' activities in promoting the rights of and supporting services to the mentally retarded people in Garrett County.

New Humanities Courses At GCC

Two new humanities courses will be offered at Garrett Community College in the fall semester, according to Joan B. Crawford, chairman of the Humanities Division. Both courses will be given during the afternoon hours at the McHenry campus.

Introduction to Humanities (HUM 101) will focus on the thought and ideas of western man as expressed through music, art, literature, and philosophy. An integrated approach to Humanities, the course is designed for students who might not intend to pursue the traditional courses in music, literature and art, or for those part-time students who desire a self-enrichment course. It will be taught by Joy E. Mappes of the Philosophy Department at Frostburg State College.

Films and Literature (ENG 215) will present a visual approach to fiction and drama through film. Students will read selected short stories, novels, and plays and will view the films made from these. The course will be taught by Alan Reinhardt of the English Department at Garrett.

Another Humanities course that will be offered with a new approach is Introductory German (Ger 111). This course will be taught by Robert Pletta of the German Department at Frostburg State College.

Students desiring more information about these courses may call Joan Crawford at the college. Registration for these and other courses will be held during the scheduled hours next week.

"Queen Of Glen Acres" Announced

Margaret Rebecca Grice was crowned "Queen of Glen Acres Campgrounds" on August 13, at Deep Creek Lake. The queen was chosen by residents of that camping area.

Designed by Angel Knopp, the queen's tiara of aluminum foil was placed on her head by camper Violet Luzi. Ms. Grice received a corsage of white carnations with orange trim, designed by Brian Knopp, Melissa Hunt and Leigh Ann Rollmann and she carried an arm bouquet of corn husks.

The queen was escorted by fellow campers on a hay ride around the camping area and was joined midway by King Roger, also from the camping area.

Eddy Files Suit In Allegany County

Russell E. Eddy, of Oakland, Friday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The suit seeks to enjoin the commissioners from any further payments to the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company for group life insurance for county employes.

Mr. Eddy pointed out that the Maryland Annotated Code provides that any county expenditure of more than $1,500 must be done through competitive bidding. Henry Duke, as the county's insurance consultant, requested firms to submit bids on group life insurance for Allegany county employes and they were received until June 9.

The local man, stated as representative of Holzshu, Moffatt and Welch and Republic National Life Insurance Company, submitted a bid of 46 cents per $1,000 of life insurance. He said that Connecticut General submitted a lower bid of 35 cents.

He contends the county commissioners accepted the low bid of Connecticut General and then informed the low bidder they would not accept certain reservations and conditions attached to the bid. The result was that the Connecticut General price was increased to 45 cents.

The changes, he said, made a substantial difference in the policy and Eddy complained other bidders were not allowed to participate.

He then petitioned the Allegany county court to enjoin the county commissioners from making any further payments of public tax money for the insurance. Finally, he asks the court to award him the insurance coverage as the "lowest responsible bidder" and the second lowest bidder.

All across America restaurants and fast food chains are springing up - and why not?; they're quick, inexpensive and convenient.

Although that's true, I don't really like restaurants because you're never sure how your meal will turn out. For instance, the other night I ate at a restaurant in Cumberland. Their main attraction was one of those talkative waitresses who pour out their life story while the food orders back up.

"How are you?" she bubbled.

"Just -"

"Boy, I'll tell you, this has been some night. I mean it hasn't let up since I came on at seven, and I just don't see how I'm going to last. And the tips! The tips have been just awful. How in the world do they expect me to feed three kids, put another through college and get my hair done on what they pay around here?"

"Yes, well I'd like -"

"I'll tell you, my feet hurt so bad I can hardly stand - do you mind if I sit down? Thank you! I feel 100% better now, I was just telling Louise, that's my best friend you know, well, I said, 'Louise, I just don't know how long I can keep this up,' and she told me, 'Edna, I don't see how you do it.' You know I'm seriously thinking of going on welfare and getting food stamps, - but then I'd probably have to sell the Eldorado . . ."

"Look," I said, "I'm really enjoying our little chat, but -"

"Why thank you. It's not every day that we get such pleasant customers around here. Yesterday an obnoxious truck driver was in here running his mouth about the food and making snide comments about my weight problem. Can I help it? For one thing, I have to eat the kind of greasy slop they serve in this place, and it certainly doesn't help matters. You wouldn't believe some of the dishes I've had to serve! I swear the seafood we had on special Monday was a month old, and today's -"

"Please," I pleaded, "I haven't had anything to eat since breakfast, I'm growing faint and -"

"Faint? What you need is a glass of water. Here honey, drink this one - that other customer only drank half of it. That's it, now put your head between your legs and breathe deeply. Do you have high blood pressure? My friend Louise does and the other day she passed out in the A&P, right next to the Glad Wrap display, and it took -"

"Look, - Edna, isn't it?," I muffled under the table, "Edna, I need some food. I'll pay any price you ask - just give me anything, give me the special, please!"

"Sure, honey. One clam basket coming right up."

By the time my clam basket came I thought I was going to die. I drooled, clutching my fork like a madman and snarling. After one bite I knew I wasn't as hungry as I thought I was. The "clams" (and I use the term loosely) tasted like rejects from Sea World. They were deep-fried to a golden black in used motor oil with the aroma of a dying carp. I didn't dare send them back.

Edna," I called across the room, "I don't want to interrupt your card game, but could I please have my check?"

"Here's a ten - take it out of that and keep the change," I mumbled as I lurched towards the door.

When she said one clam basket coming right up, she certainly was right. I regained consciousness in the parking lot, crawled into my car and drove home.

Last Week Sees Several Accidents With Some Injured

A rash of motor vehicle wrecks last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday injured some persons in various parts of the county.

Two occurred about 11 p.m. Wednesday, these without injuries.

Janet Ann Lothry, Corinth, W. Va., was northbound on U. S. 219 and attempted to make a turn onto Mansfield road. The car ran off the road to the left, struck a road sign and an embankment. Tfc. L. C. Smith investigated.

The other occurred on the Finzel road just north of U. S. 48. James Michael Kenny, RD 2, Frostburg, was northbound when a deer ran onto the roadway and he struck it. Cpl. S. M. Russell investigated.

James L. Wells was driving north on County Route 343 in the Cove area, crossed to the southbound lane and struck a guard rail and came to rest against a tree. Cpl. Russell charged him with failing to keep to the right side of the road in a Thursday mishap.

James Allen McDonald, Star Route, Frostburg, was driving north on U. S. 219 and failed to reduce speed as he approached the intersection with U. S. 40. His car went on and struck the guardrails. The operator said the location was familiar but that he was daydreaming. Tfc. Gary Resh charged him with negligent driving.

Three occurred in the afternoon.

Two persons were injured in a 3:20 p.m. mishap and taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. Gary Lynn Murphy, 16, Powles Drive and his passenger, Scott Schaeffer, 16, Oak Street, both of Mt. Lake Park, were headed south on Broad Ford Road at an apparent excess rate of speed. Murphy attempted to pass a car ahead and noted another vehicle approaching from the opposite direction. In attempting to avoid striking it, he went into a skid, ran off the road and struck a utility pole. Tfc. J. E. Foley charged Murphy with traveling at an excess speed.

Lynne W. Bulhock, Rockville, pulled from a private drive to go west on Glendale Road a short distance from U. S. 219. Carol Ann Peck, RD 2, Swanton, noted the other car but she was not seen by Bulhock and they collided. Tfc. R. Georg investigated.

Another two-vehicle mishap occurred on the Maple Glade Road just west of Swallow Falls Road about the same time. Wayne D. Englander, N. Second Street, Oakland, was westbound. Susan J. Krigger, Allison Park, Pa., was making an exit from a private driveway, failed to yield the right-of-way and struck the left side of the Englander car. Tfc. Georg checked this one also.

About 10 o'clock that night the operator of a motorcycle was thrown from his vehicle and taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad. Larry Herbert Glotfelty, Shenandoah Avenue, Mt. Lake Park, was traveling up-grade, southbound, on Mattingly Hill Road about a mile north of Kisner Road, on a series of curves. He passed a slow moving truck on a double solid line. After he returned to his side of the road, he lost control of the cycle on a left curve, ran off the road, rolled over and struck a large tree. Sgt. H. W. Graham investigated.

Another Saturday afternoon mishap was noted. Donald Lee Stiles, Star Route, Kitzmiller, was traveling along Md. Rt. 38 about two miles south of Rt. 135. He said he noted an unidentified Ford pick-up with Maryland license coming toward him a good distance away. It swerved into his lane and back to its own lane. Just as Stiles approached the truck it, again, came into his lane. As Stiles ran off the shoulder, the truck came clear across the road and side-swiped his car. Stiles backed up when the truck stopped. The man in the truck had gotten out but jumped back into the truck and left. Later searches failed to locate the truck. Tfc. Georg made the investigation.

VERY LARGE ROOTS were found at the ends of these two ginseng plants Sunday while ten-year-old Gary Friend was out ginseng hunting with his father, Robert Friend. One root weighed five ounces and the other nearly as much. Mr. Friend, a state park ranger at Herrington Manor, said these were the largest roots he can remember finding, and he's been sang hunting since he was Gary's age. Bob Root, a veteran in the ginseng market, told the Friends that these were not the biggest roots he has ever seen, but that they were exceptionally large.

The Almanac

Today is Wednesday, August 30, the 242nd day of 1978 with 123 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mars and Venus.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

American actors Fred MacMurray and Raymond Massey were born on August 30 — the former in 1908 and the latter in 1896.

On this day in history:

In 30 B.C., Cleopatra committed suicide by allowing an asp to bite her.

In 1780, Revolutionary Army Gen. Benedict Arnold betrayed his young country when he promised secretly to surrender the American fort at West Point to the British army. A British spy subsequently was hanged but Arnold escaped.

In 1862, the Union Army commanded by Maj. Gen. John Pope was defeated by Confederate troops in the second Battle of Bull Run.

A thought for the day: American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow said, "Music is the universal language of mankind — poetry their universal pastime and delight."

Preston County Methodists Holding Revival Meeting

An Old Fashioned Tent Revival Meeting, sponsored by the United Methodist churches of Preston County, began services Sunday, August 28, and will continue nightly through Sunday, September 10. Rev. Parker Hinzman, Superintendent of the United Methodist Bluefield District, is the preacher for the services which begin at 7:45 p.m. in the Revival Tent, located on the Cranesville Road just north of Terra Alta City Limits.

Special music is being provided by groups from Preston and Garrett County churches. Bob Harman, of Piedmont, is the songleader.

As a part of the revival, Rev. Eugene Cooper from Asbury College, Kentucky, is conducting a Bible Study each morning at 10:00.

Vicki Lee Miller Accepts Scholarship

A graduate of Northern High School, she has been active in a number of co-curricular activities including newspaper editor, history club president and secretary, band council vice-president, and in youth activities related to her church, the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren.

Honor scholarship recipients rank in the top ten percent of their class and have commensurate SAT scores.

County Has Three Disposal Spots For Used Motor Oil

Three Garrett County car dealers and service stations have agreed to accept used motor oil from individuals who change their own oil. Maryland law now prohibits the dumping of used oil in sewers, on land, in refuse or in the water.

Among the 500 stations across the state which will accept the oil will be Casselman Motor Company, Main Street, Grantsville; Oakview Motors, Inc., Oakland; and Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., Oakland.

The program of collecting and recycling oil is being spearheaded by two agencies of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, under the provision of Senate Bill 440, the Maryland Oil Recycling Act.

The Maryland Environmental Service has responsibility for the public education and collection aspects of the recycling program, according to Thomas D. McKewen, director of Maryland Environmental Service. The water Resources Administration will carry out the enforcement provisions of the law.

Two distinctive signs will be displayed. One will be shown where oil is sold for use by individuals who do their own auto servicing.

Auto supply stores, grocers, drug chains and gasoline stations which sell oil to individuals will all post the signs directing motorists on how to properly dispose of the used oil.

Many people who replace oil in their cars themselves fail to realize how much damage to the environment is caused by careless disposal of used oil. It is estimated that some two million gallons of waste oil are disposed of in garbage cans, gutters and storm drains in Maryland alone each year. "Even that oil which is tossed in the garbage can find its way to landfills and may subsequently go to ground and surface waters," according to Cliff Wiley, director of technical services for Maryland Environmental Service and coordinator of the waste oil recovery project.

A list of cooperating collection stations may be had by writing to the Maryland Environmental Service, 60 West Street, Annapolis 21401.

1978-Crop Wheat Is Ineligible For Early Reserve Entry

"Early entry of 1978-crop wheat into the farmer-owned reserve will not be authorized at the present time," Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland State ASC Committee said. "However, wheat farmers are urged to put their 1978-crop under government loans so that they can take part in the reserve program when their loans mature."

Under the 1978 program, farmers first place their grain under a Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loan or sign a purchase agreement with CCC. When the loan matures or the purchase date arrives, these farmers can put their grain into the reserve.

Crowl said farmers with 1977-crop wheat under loan should check the advantages of the reserve program before deciding whether to redeem or forfeit outstanding loans. He explained that 1977-crop wheat currently under price support loan or purchase agreement is eligible for immediate entry.

Vacation Travel In June Raises Gas Consumption

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced Friday that gasoline consumption in the state during the month of June came within 32,000 gallons of setting a record for consumption in a single month.

A total of 180,393,989 gallons of gasoline was used during the month of June 1978, only slightly less than the all-time record consumption of 180,425,979 gallons, set during August 1977.

"Gasoline use during June was up five percent over the 171.3 million gallons consumed during June 1977 and apparently represents heavy vacation travel during the month of June. State sales tax revenue from sources connected with the travel industry also reflect significant increases for that month," Comptroller Goldstein said.

The five percent year-to-year increase experienced in June is the largest growth since the record-setting month of August 1977. The dramatic increase in gasoline consumption follows a period during which the growth of gasoline use had slowed significantly, reflecting a conservation trend. During the Fiscal Year 1978 reporting period, gasoline consumption grew only 2.2 percent over the previous year.

"The increase in gasoline use also helped produce an unusually large increase in the amount of motor vehicle fuel tax revenues collected during July, 1978," Comptroller Goldstein said. July revenues are based on fuel sales during June.

Motor vehicle fuel tax revenues for the month of July, 1978 totaled $18,160,812, up 5.87 percent over the $17,159,092 collected the previous July. A total of $18,012,372 has been distributed to the Transportation Trust Funds administered by the Maryland Department of Transportation. A portion of that revenue is redistributed to local governments.

IT'S A DOG'S LIFE — Recuperating in style following a recent spaying operation is "Fancy," a pomeranian/chichuahua mixture. Her owner, Sonya Evans, Mt. New Task Force To Combat Sex Offense Crimes

A special task force has recommended to the Maryland Police Training Commission a sharp increase in present minimum training requirements for all police officers so they can better deal with rape and sexual offense crimes and the handling of the victim. The new curriculum for this special training would be a minimum of 21 hours for entry level and seven hours for in-service training.

The Police Training Commission will review the proposed curriculum before mandating such training to all police officers in Maryland.

The special task force was appointed in September, 1977, following a legislative mandate to develop a curriculum for police officers focusing on the procedures for investigating rapes and other sex crimes along with the sensitive treatment of the victims.

A Special Legislative committee, under the chairmanship of Senate President Steny H. Hoyer, has been studying this and other problem areas concerning rape and related offenses. Senator Hoyer sponsored Senate Bill 700 in the 1977 session of the General Assembly which calls for this stepped-up training for police officers.

Although the trend in Maryland over the past several years has been the gradual decrease in serious crimes, reported rapes have been steadily increasing. Rapes increased by 4 per cent in 1976 and were up 8 per cent in 1977.

According to the task force chairman, Robert L. Van Wagoner, "The proposed training will insure that all police officers will possess the knowledge and skills to effectively investigate sex crimes and at the same time be more responsive to the victim's trauma and special needs."

The Police Training Commission and the Secretary of Public Safety and Correctional Services will study the task force proposal. Their final action is expected sometime this fall.

Members of the Task Force are:

Lt. William Donoho, Anne Arundel County Police Department;

Detective Lorraine Dorsey, Baltimore Police Department;

Ms. Nancy Hall, Prince George's County Sexual Assault Center;

Dr. Preston L. Horstman, Staff Psychologist, Prince George's County Police Department;

Lt. Richard F. Kitterman, Jr., Montgomery County Police Department;

Col. Robert O. Mathews, Jr., Chief, Howard County Police;

Mrs. Sandra O'Connor, State's Attorney, Baltimore County;

Ms. Catherine Pugh, Executive Director, Citizens involvement Program of the Mayor's Coordinating Council on Criminal Justice.

JUST HOW IMPORTANT IS A COMFORTABLE BED?

I saw a statistic the other day that was really startling. Of course, we all know that we spend about one-third of our lives in bed (if we're in bed eight hours a night) - but the statistic I saw painted an even more dramatic figure.

This writer pointed out that the average person spends almost A QUARTER OF A MILLION hours in bed in his or her lifetime!

It stands to reason that if someone is going to spend that many hours (or even half that many) in a certain place, they ought to try to make it as comfortable as possible.

Yet, it's amazing that many people spend lots of money for things other than those used in the home, and at the same time sleep on old, worn-out and uncomfortable mattresses. And they sleep in bedrooms that are not as pleasant as they might be.

If you feel you have beds that are too small or mattresses that are not right, we want you to know that we're here to help you obtain the right mattresses and beds for you and your family. We carry the best in bedding. Simmons Beautyrest will give you the restful sleep you need.

And, while you're thinking of beds, we also want you to know that we can help you with all the other furniture in your bedrooms, too, if you should be in need of that. We extend a cordial invitation for you to come in.

So, please feel free to stop in and see us at your convenience. We're here to serve you.

Several Sent To Hospital In Recent Mishaps

Two cars collided at the intersection of U. S. 40 and the Meyersdale road. Both drivers and a passenger were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad. Both vehicles were said totaled.

Karen Eugenia Engle, 17, PO Box, Grantsville, and her passenger were headed south on Meyersdale road as Oliver Ase Hoover, Rt. 219, Grantsville, was westbound on Rt. 40. The Engle car pulled out in front of the Hoover car. Hoover was unable to avoid the Engle vehicle and struck the side of it. Tfc. Gary Resh charged Miss Engle with failing to yield the right-of-way. The accident occurred shortly past midnight August 18.

One woman was taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital the afternoon of August 21, by the Southern Rescue Squad. Jannett Louise Ashby was northbound on Sand Flat road near the Pergin Farm road at a high rate of speed. She lost control of the car while rounding a curve, ran off the left side of the road, struck a dirt embankment and overturned. F/S P. R. Sanders charged her with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

A Forum On Public Issues

Janet C. Wunderlick, Community Resource Development Agent for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, is preparing a series of articles to inform the public in Western Maryland of various legislation, programs, laws, services and general issues that may, at one time or other, affect the lives of everyone. More detailed information is usually available on request. Ms. Wunderlick may be contacted through the Garrett County Extension office (334-2145) or at her Cumberland office at 11 Prospect Square (724-3320). She visits the Garrett County office at least once a week.

WHAT EVERY MAN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT ERA

By Janet C. Wunderlick

The battle rages on in Washington to determine the fate of the Equal Rights Amendment. Extension of the deadline for ratification to 1982 seems eminent upon the bill's passage by the House by a 233-189 vote. Proponents of the bill say committee approval was crucial and believe that the full House and Senate will accept it. Extension of the ratification deadline will give the public more time to consider the full implications of ERA and diffuse some of its emotional overtones.

Fortunately, we in Maryland have six years experience with the Equal Rights Amendment because it was amended into the Maryland Constitution in 1972. Employment, credit, insurance and criminal and domestic law have all been profoundly influenced by the Equal Rights Amendment.

In the area of employment it is now unlawful to classify any individual so as to deprive them of employment, opportunities, or to adversely affect their status because of sex. Men have access to jobs once considered female positions. Note the growing number of men in nursing and the para medical field. Numerous bills have sex-neutralized provisions of the law that deal with pensions and survivors benefits so that a man can now receive survivor's benefits from his wife's pension thus benefiting from her years of work, just as a woman can receive widow's benefits. A man can benefit from his wife's pension plan, although in the past he was often not eligible. The family income is now protected during pregnancy and childbirth, because a working wife is entitled to sick leave which was not available before the Equal Rights Amendment.

While men were less subject to financial discrimination because of sex than women, they were discriminated against if unmarried, being considered less stable and reliable than married men. Now, housing and mortgage assistance may not be denied to anyone because of their sex or marital status. And, finally, legal recourse is available through the Maryland Equal Credit Opportunity Act of 1976 to anyone who feels they have been unfairly denied credit.

Although discriminatory insurance practices have not been successfully eliminated, some strides have been made in this area. Individuals who have had to terminate group hospital and medical policies must be offered the option to convert to an individual plan. Likewise, equal coverage for dependent spouses must be offered upon the death of the group member, and the dependent spouse can be of either sex. Today, there must be actuarial justification for the difference in rates, premiums or dividends based on sex in health and casualty insurance, as well as in life insurance.

Two important changes in criminal law have resulted from the Equal Rights Amendment. In 1976, the General Assembly passed a major revision of the Maryland law on rape and sexual offenses. The previous statute covering sexual offenses against males assigned a sentence up to 10 years maximum, but was poorly defined and therefore not well enforced. Men and boys are now better protected by a law which defines four degrees of sexual offense, against males or females, calling for one year to life sentences. A major reform of the law of admissable evidence in rape trials which passed in 1976 should effectively ban irrelevant evidence of a rape victim's prior sexual conduct which in the past has degraded victims of sexual assault, both male and female.

A very important area of the law to undergo change because of the Equal Rights Amendment is domestic law. Maryland ERA has opened the interpretation of laws regarding alimony and child support to protect men assuming a supportive role in the marital relationship where the woman is the dominant wage earner. ERA did not abolish a woman's right to alimony but did extend it to men. Either spouse may claim alimony upon showing insufficient income to care for his or her needs. And a very significant property distribution bill will change property rights in marriage, effective this January, with the intent of a fair and equitable distribution of property based on a philosophy of partnership.

In regard to child custody the legislature has now amended the statutes to read "in any custody proceeding, neither parent shall be given preference because of his or her sex." Legislation dealing with child support and alimony is presently being re-written by the Governor's Commission on Domestic Relations Law.

The major unsettled dispute is whether or not an amendment to the U. S. Constitution would require women to serve in combat in the armed forces, and, fancifully, whether men and women would have to share common restroom facilities. Under the charge that separate is not equal, Maryland's experience is that the Equal Rights Amendment does result in changes in the letter of the law and interpretation of its intent. It is influencing many aspects of our lives including the ability to earn and borrow money, the rights of men and women in domestic disputes, and equal protection for both sexes in sex related offenses. The passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, nationally, will mean that Federal law will be rewritten just as Maryland law has been.

Margaret Mead has said that the Women's movement is "the most important anthropological change in the last 2000 years." Her assessment predicts that the women's movement dwarfs the present fate of the Equal Rights Amendment and will most assuredly change our way of living.

THE SUN - A STAR

An average star, not a hot blue star with a surface temperature of 35,000 degrees Celsius nor a cool, red star with a surface temperature of 2500 degrees Celsius; the sun has a surface temperature of 6000 degrees Celsius. It also has many properties similar to those of other stars. By studying other stars, knowledge concerning the forces controlling the chromosphere and corona of the sun may be obtained. Therefore solar astronomers must continue a dialogue with stellar astronomers so both may find ways of increasing their knowledge.

MOON

Saturday the moon passes through its New Moon phase at 12.09 p.m. At this point in its orbit, the moon is between the earth and the sun. It reflects no light on the earth in this position. Most of the week the moon will be waning. Moonrise varies from 3:53 this morning to 9.37 Tuesday morning.

VISIBLE PLANETS

Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn are the visible planets to the unaided eye this week. Mercury rises about an hour before the sun and is above the eastern horizon at sunrise. Venus sets about two hours after sunset in the southwest. Mars is among the stars of Virgo, setting about two hours after sunset. Jupiter rises with the stars of Gemini, about three hours before sunrise. Saturn rises in the east shortly before sunrise. It is among the stars of Leo.

DAYLIGHT DECREASES

By Tuesday daylight will decrease by 15 minutes. Sunrise was at 6:43 this morning. Sunset will be 13 hours 9 minutes later at 7:52 p.m. At the end of the week the sun will rise at 6:49 a.m. and set at 7:43 p.m.

Area Man Guilty Of Indecent Exposure

A Swanton man has been jailed in Allegany County pending a pre-sentence investigation after he pleaded guilty Monday in Allegany District Court to two counts of indecent exposure.

Sensational Savings ON MOBILE HOMES!

In the last few years, like everything else, mobile home prices have increased substantially. This is not only due to inflation, but also due to better construction and larger sizes. But, during this special promotion, Ralph Pritts & Sons has almost brought back the "Good Old Days" with big, new homes at prices comparable to years ago.

All sale homes are equipped with Miller Oil Gun Furnaces, large water heaters, house type front doors with storms, storm windows, and furniture plus HUD approved construction.

56x12 2 Bedroom Front Kitchen. The latest version of our always popular Newlywed Special. The low down payment and low monthly payments make this the perfect home for young couples just starting their own home or for anyone who needs a good new home at moderate cost. Priced similar to a good used home ONLY $7695.

60x12 2 Bedroom Front Kitchen. Similar to above but a little larger and more deluxe. For just a little more down and a little more per month you can own this fine home at our SPECIAL SALE PRICE. $8895.

65x12 3 Bedroom Front Kitchen. Probably the most reasonable 3-bedroom new home you'll find anywhere. You'll love the floor plan and exciting decors in this one. We've recently sold good used homes this size for almost as much as this new one which is. ONLY $9495.

60x14 2 Bedroom. A deluxe home with very nice carpet, deluxe refrigerator and range, built in corner cabinet and snack bar in kitchen. Why pay 12,000 or 13,000 for a similar home at other dealerships when you can buy this one for just. $9995.

70x14 3 Bedroom Front Kitchen. A very large home with 3 spacious bedrooms, a huge living room, and a very large kitchen dining area. This home features a special floor plan for extra bedroom privacy, deluxe electric range, and 2 door refrigerator. If you've priced any 14x70s lately, you know this one is an outstanding value at. $10,995.

70x14 2 Bedroom Front Den. You'll love the special features of this home like the den with the woodburning fireplace, ½ bath between kitchen & den, and the spacious bedrooms. Homes with these features and quality normally cost much more than our special sale price of. $12,950.

WE ALSO FEATURE SIMILAR BIG SAVINGS ON OUR VERY DELUXE HOLLY PARK AND CHATEAU ROYALE MOBILE HOMES.

NOTICE: WE ARE NOW TAKING THE LAST ORDERS FOR MODULAR AND DOUBLEWIDE HOMES FOR THIS SEASON. IF YOU WANT ONE OF THESE HOMES THIS YEAR, WE NEED YOUR ORDER AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

RV BARGAINS
Savings similar to those on the Mobile Homes are also in effect on new 1978 and used Motor Homes, Travel Trailers, and Truck Campers.

Two On Cape Fear Dean's List

E. T. Satterfield, Jr., Dean of Student Affairs at Cape Fear Technical Institute, announced this week that 135 students made the Dean's List for the summer quarter, 1978.

Edward E. Panther, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Panther, Oakland, and Dawn A. Tichnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tichnell, formerly of Oakland, were among those on the Dean's List.

All students who are on the Dean's List carried a minimum of 12 quarter hours credit and maintained a 3.00 grade point average.

He Wished He'd Had a Fisher®

If our inventor friend here could have known about the Fisher Stove® he probably wouldn't have bothered with his. The FISHER'S® air-tight, thick steel, brick-lined fire box with its unique two-step design is no old fashioned "space" heater, but a scientifically designed radiant heater that can heat your entire house for just the cost of wood or coal!

And because the Fisher® is independent of any public utility, you'll be able to heat your house no matter what. Our friend would have liked that idea — independence. We think you will too. Different sizes and models to choose from: Baby Bear, Mama Bear, Papa Bear (heater models), Grandma Bear and Grandpa Bear (combination heater and fireplace models).

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 102 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1978 | PER COPY 20¢ | NUMBER 28

Vote!

Primary election day is nearly upon us. With so many candidates in the running for county office, it should be one of the most exciting elections ever.

We wish to stress the importance of voting in this election by making several points, as follows:

Voting in the primary election is every bit as important as voting in the general election, perhaps more so. The general election will mean nothing if candidates are not chosen wisely in the primary election.

Many feel that their vote doesn't count. Suppose everyone had that same attitude. Then there would be no elections.

If only 30% of the voting public turns out for an election, that means that 30% decides who will govern 100%.

Those who do not utilize their right to vote consequently have no right to gripe and complain about the actions of elected officials.

A good campaigner works diligently for each and every vote. Every one is important to him. Voters should have the same feeling about their one vote.

Each vote is even more significant in an election where there is a large number of candidates on the ballot. Some of the Garrett County races will most likely be decided by an extremely close margin.

It would be great if Garrett County could have its best voter turnout ever next Tuesday. A good turnout says something for Garrett Countians. It says that we are a people who truly care about our government, our county's welfare and our future. So look over the list of candidates and their statements in today's issue (pages 15, 17 and 19), make a final decision, and go to the polls Tuesday.

The rules of procedure will be explained at 5, followed by the candidates for Register of Wills. At 2:40 the candidates for State Senate and House of Delegates will speak and answer questions. At 3:30 the candidates for County Commissioner will appear.

The public is urged to attend and to ask questions.

The Voters Guide also describes the duties of the Register of Wills.

Voters Guides contain nonpartisan information, are free and are available in banks, library branches and in many stores. Voters may mark their own copies and take them in the voting booth.

FIGHTING FIRE — First Assistant Chief of the Oakland Fire Department, Milton Fike, pictured above, directs operations at the scene of a fire yesterday morning where a two-story house was damaged beyond repair. The home is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Denver Welch. Firefighters from Oakland and Deer Park responded at 9:04 a.m., and found flames rolling out the front and back of the house. They brought the fire under control in about ten minutes. See story.

Garrett Supports Piney Dam Projects

Garrett County's Board of Commissioners is continuing its demands for support of the Piney Dam project above Frostburg from the Allegany County Commissioners.

In a letter to John J. Coyle, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, George C. Edwards, chairman of the Garrett County Commissioners, said if the five stipulations agreed upon are met, Garrett will continue to support the water project.

Coyle earlier this summer wrote to Garrett County asking the county to give additional information on its support for the Piney Dam project which has been in the planning stages several years but has failed to get underway.

Garrett originally sought the right to purchase, at cost, up to two million gallons of water a day to meet the future water supply needs of eastern Garrett County. However, now Garrett feels that one million gallons per day will be adequate to serve residences in that area, plus handle the water needs of any new industry in the Grantsville area.

Other provisions Garrett is asking in exchange for support of the project are:

Allegany County must be responsible for any Garrett County road relocations and reconstruction costs made necessary by construction of the impoundment.

The impoundment and treatment system should be designed so that reasonable use of privately-owned land in the watershed is allowed to continue as shown in Garrett's

TAKE YOUR PICK — It's a good thing that Garrett County's Primary Election is slated for next Tuesday, September 12, or it might soon be impossible to see out of this window! Michael Hall, owner of the former hotel at Table Rock on Route 50, told deputies that someone had entered his property through a basement door, and made off with lumber and screens valued at $41.

Two mailboxes were stolen and another destroyed the night of September 1. Charles Noland, Route 5, Oakland, and Roy Elliott, Star Route 2, Oakland, both reported that their mailboxes had disappeared. William Heise, Green Glade Road, reported that his mailbox was destroyed after it was struck with a metal object.

House Destroyed By Fire Tuesday

Fire virtually destroyed a two-story frame house and most of its contents in Mt. Lake Park yesterday morning.

Firefighters from the Oakland and Deer Park Fire Departments were summoned at 9:04 a.m., after fire broke out at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Welch, 502 M Street.

Robert Shimer, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett Counties, said that Mrs. Diane Welch; two of her children, Jerry Allen, five, and Melinda Kay, three, and Miss Patty M. Schwartzman were home at the time of the fire.

Mrs. Welch was preparing to take one of the children to the doctor when she saw smoke coming up the stairs from the first floor. Mrs. Welch went for the children and alerted Miss Schwartzman, who helped get the children outside.

Mrs. Welch re-entered the house in an effort to save some of the family's possessions. At that time she saw the fire burning in the TV room.

Mr. Welch stated that he had two smoke detectors in the house, but neither one operated.

Upon arrival, firefighters found the entire first floor and a portion of the second floor involved in flame. However, they managed to bring the blaze under control in about ten minutes.

Another son, William Denver, six, was in school at the time of the fire. The father, who drives a pulpwood truck, had left the house at 6:30 a.m.

Shimer said the fire started as a result of a chimney pipe on a wood heating stove being installed too close to the wood paneling. He estimated the loss at approximately $45,000. Contents were not covered by insurance and Shimer added the Welches were not sure whether the house was totally insured.

Firefighters were dismissed from the scene at approximately 11:00 a.m. Oakland and Deer Park each sent two pumpers and one tanker.

The family is presently residing with Mrs. Welch's mother, Mrs. Leota DeWitt, 22 East Centre Street, Oakland. The family is badly in need of furniture and clothing. Any person who wishes to donate either furniture or clothing should call Mrs. DeWitt at 334-2375.

Oakland firefighters were called out again last evening at 5:36 p.m., to extinguish a fire in a trash dumpster on Rt. 39 near Crellin. There was no damage.

Development Corporation Makes Survey

The Garrett County Development Corporation, a non-profit organization established for purpose of improving the economy of the County, has recently completed a survey of Garrett County manufacturers. The survey was conducted to find the number of persons employed by the manufacturing sector of the Garrett County economy. The local manufacturing employment has increased by more than 250% in the last decade. Manufacturing jobs in Garrett County now total 1838 persons, amounting to about 17% of Garrett's total employment. In 1969 the total manufacturing employment stood at 725.

This current figure of 1838 only includes the employment by manufacturing firms in Garrett County, which presently number 50. It does not include the mining industry or any associated resource-preparation activities associated with that industry. The mining industry obviously has been a fast-growing segment of Garrett's economy, now totalling, among all companies operating in the County, some 600 persons, and constituting approximately 6% of our County's total employment.

There are six Garrett County manufacturers employing more than 100 persons. Three manufacturing companies' employment totalled more than 50, but less than 100. The remaining 50 manufacturing firms of the County employed less than 50 persons each. Thomas Jones, Executive Director of the Development Corporation stated that he "was delighted by the findings of the survey. It shows that Garrett County is developing a truly broad-based economy, not, as in the past totally dependent upon market fluctuations, or seasonal aberrations of one or two industries, such as the timber industry or the recreation-tourism industry." Mr. Jones added that he "was particularly encouraged by the broad mix of products manufactured in the County, a condition which tends to add stability to an economy in times of recession. Because our local situation has so many small manufacturers producing so many different types of goods we are largely insulated from the massive layoffs affecting large percentages of our labor force, such as we have witnessed on a cyclical basis in such nearby communities as Cumberland and Clarksburg."

Board Releases Revised Student Attendance Policy

The Attendance Section of the Student Discipline Policy has been revised recently by the Garrett County Board of Education. The policy, which previously stated that a student who unlawfully missed 20% of the days in which school was in session must receive failing grades, now mandates that this number be reduced to 10% of the days in which school was in session.

The revised Attendance Section is as follows:

"One of the major areas of concern in our school community is the area of student attendance and how his/her attendance correlates with success in school.

"After long and careful consideration, the following general statements are made:

1. There generally should be a direct correlation between attendance and success in school.
2. Each school staff should encourage and develop a positive attitude on the part of students for regular and prompt attendance.
3. It should be the responsibility of each school staff to provide a meaningful school program and to attempt to insure a profitable experience for each student.
4. It should be the responsi-

ODD COUPLE — This ferruginous ferret's ferocity is feigned compared to other feral creatures, although he fervently fends off a freelicking feline. Actually the pet weasel-like animal, "Rascal" and his playmate, "Cory" are the best of friends and reside with Rev. and Mrs. James Remley, Mt. Lake Park. As much as the ferret enjoys the kitten's company, he'd probably rather have an attractive mate that resembled Ferret Fawcett-Majors.

4-H Youth Return Home As Winners From State Fair

Twenty-six 4-H youth represented Garrett County at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium during the past week to conclude this year's annual judging and showing events.

Highlighting Garrett County's participation in the State Fair was the individual performance of Miss Teresa Sweitzer of Oakland who captured third place in the Consumer Judging Contest. As a result of her placing she will participate in the State Consumer Tour held in the Baltimore and Washington areas on October 12 and 13.

Individual competition in the Intermediate Division saw Carrinelle Stemple rank 18th, closely followed by Teresa Thomas who placed 20th high individual in Consumer Judging. Also judging in individual competition in Consumer Judging were Seniors Pam Grove and Kim Sweitzer; Intermediate Patty Livengood, as well as Juniors Denise Livengood and Carrie Sweitzer. Consumer teams were coached by Lynn Robeson.

Equally worth recognition were the members of the 4-H Junior Horse Judging Team who were represented by 18th high individual Miranda Fitzwater, closely followed by Kim Smith in 20th place and fellow teammate Tina Kepple who helped carry the team to a fourth place berth, according to Coach Carol Glotfelty.

Lutherans believe . . .

The Gospel is the story of what has happened, what is happening and will yet happen with Jesus. The Kingdom is here. He preached "The Kingdom," the day when all the longing God puts in us will be fulfilled. He preached with such faithfulness as to invest his own life in his hope for us. He proved his commitment by incurring death. And God carried him past death so that nothing can now hinder his love for us, so that his promise and devotion must surely triumph. We Christians are in this world to tell this Gospel by life, word and deed.

Dear Editor:

Until a few years ago, we lived in a quiet little community where our kids could play almost anywhere they chose, except the county road, which wasn't traveled too often and only then by the people of this community, who respected the rights of others.

We could retire at night and never be awakened by strange noises. Well our peaceful days have come to an end, not because of the growth of our community, but, because of those who invade our small road at night. Some seem to not heed the slow down signs during the day, but, during the night we are awakened by spinning tires, blowing horns and yelling. We get up to find our vehicles drained of fuel. Our great Sheriff's Department has been called, but all the response we get is a laugh in our faces. Some joke, but not to us!

Not only do we put up with these things, but, our road signs are shot to pieces; if our pets happen to leave their own yards they get killed.

I wonder if one of us or our kids will be the next target?

Yes, we could have called this "Quiet Town", but now about the only suitable name would be "Dodge City No. 2."

Resident of the White Church-Steyer Road

Dear Sir:

Being female, I am always interested in the features you publish — be it fashion, weddings, births or other news. The Republican has very good coverage. However, in 1982, I do feel it would be greatly appreciated by county commissioner candidates to be allowed more space to respond to the questions you felt should be answered, and to include personal data. It is very difficult to confine all this to 200 words. It is unfair to the voters. Perhaps a special edition could be published. All interested voters would be willing to buy it, I'm sure, in order to fully understand a candidate and his (or her) platform.

Thanking you for making it possible for us to express our opinions to the public, I am,

Ann J. Virts, Treas. for James B. Watson

Dear Ms. Virts,

A newspaper is not required to give any publicity to any candidate. This special feature in today's issue is a free service offered to the candidates (I stress the words "free" and "service"). The personal data given for each candidate is above and beyond the 200 words. Also, any political statement far exceeding 200 words would not be read anyway.

Editor

Dear Editor:

The ad, "Yough River Residents Ask for the Defeat of Ed Mason" which ran last week is so full of errors that I must try to correct the advertisement's false statements.

(1) The Wild and Scenic River Bill was sponsored by Seantors Hoyer, Hopkins, Helton, Bozick and Mason, and all represent areas of the state which have a river considered scenic or wild.

(2) The state is not taking over private property. It is controlling the use of 8,000 (not 11,000) acres of property.

(3) No private land located within the scenic corridor is open to access by the public without the consent of the landowner.

(4) Senator Mason had legislation approved to permit the DNR to buy the development rights in the Yough corridor.

(5) The advertisement misleads the reader into believeing that the landowner cannot harvest timber or even trim the bushes around his house. A reading of the law's regulations show this to be false.

(6) The height of a building is limited to thirty feet, the approximate tree line, in order to maintain the integrity of this wild area.

(7) Designating the Yough as a wild river is in the Garrett County master plan. The state will turn over responsibility when the county is ready to accept it.

(8) The Yough is a precious, natural resource that should be preserved for future generations of Americans. The only way to protect the Yough is by adequate state controls.

I commend any group of citizens such as the "Yough River Residents" who speak out on a controversial subject. Indeed, an honest debate is one of the cornerstones of our democracy. But people should not stand still when a group of citizens such as the "Yough River Residents" issue a statement which is little more than half-truths and innuendoes.

Sincerely,
David M. Dean

comprehensive development plan of 1974. In addition, all property or property rights needed for construction and operation of the project must be procured by Allegany County through negotiation with the property owners.

Because of the impact and benefits which Garrett County's citizens would receive, the Garrett County Commissioners and relevant staff must be made an integral part of the planning process for the project, from its inception.

Coyle had asked Garrett to justify an allocation of two million gallons of water per day from Piney Dam for Garrett County use. In response, the Garrett County Planning Commission reexamined the future water needs in Garrett and decided one million gallons of water each day would be adequate.

Allegany County's commissioners two weeks ago authorized interviews with engineers which may lead to the hiring of an engineering firm to begin work.

Although the county had proposed a 15 million gallons per day project at one point, plans considered now are for an eight million gallons per day reservoir.

Once completed the Piney Dam reservoir is intended to furnish residential and industrial water to the western section of Allegany county as well as to eastern Garrett County.

Markleysburg Man Pleads Guilty To Counts Of Forgery

A Markleysburg man pleaded guilty of five counts of forgery in Circuit Court before Judge Fred A. Thayer last Wednesday. Another man pleaded not guilty of passing forged U. S. currency. A West Virginia man received a three-year suspended term in storehouse breaking.

Gary Wayne Jenkins, RD 1, Markleysburg, pleaded guilty of five charges of forgery at the trial. The forged checks were passed in Oakland, Accident and Grantsville. The name of Jessie Thomas was forged as to the signature on the checks. A presentence investigation was ordered by Judge Thayer, who set bond at $1000 in each count or a total of $5000.

Curtis Richard Clary, Holly Lane, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty of passing forged U. S. Currency by pasting '20' over the '1' on one dollar notes. This was done at Thayerville at the edge of Deep Creek Lake. Judge Thayer found him guilty and ordered a presentence investigation and set bond at $500 which was paid. Clary's plea of not guilty of forgery was sustained.

Roy E. Arbogast, 49, Thomas, W. Va., pleaded guilty of storehouse breakuig at a trial August 28. Two days later, Arbogast received a three-year suspended sentence. He was placed on probation for three years under supervision, fined $250 and costs, and must submit to and continue alcoholic rehabilitation. The incident involved the Crellin Assembly of God Church in March.

Fair Weather Follows Heavy Thunder Showers

Friday and Saturday were mostly clear. Sunday was partly cloudy until the thunder showers arrived late in the afternoon. Monday was mostly cloudy. Tuesday and this morning began with heavy fog but skies became clear as the fog burned away.

Temperatures averaged just normal. Highs averaged 75.3 degrees or 1.5 below normal. The high was yesterday's 79 degrees. All reading were in the 70s. Lows averaged 52.4 degrees or 1.4 above normal. The low was yesterday's 46 degrees. It was 47 last Saturday and 49 this morning. Last Thursday morning was mild 61 degrees.

Treated And Released After Vehicle Mishap

Frank Polce, of Dennett Road, was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital last evening after receiving minor injuries in a one-vehicle accident on Dennett Road. Mr. Polce, who was traveling alone, lost control of his late model Jeep Wagoneer, ran off the pavement and struck a culvert. The vehicle was declared a total loss. The Southern Rescue Squad and the Oakland Fire Department were called to the scene at approximately 7:45.

Open Letter to the people and voters of Garrett County

As this Primary draws to a close and since it is impossible to greet each one of you personally I am taking this opportunity of communicating with you.

In this issue and in recent publications you have read of my CONCERNS about our State, counties, municipalities, and in particular the PEOPLE who reside and pay taxes here. These CONCERNS range from too much government in our everyday lives, to taxes, inflation, property rights, property assessments, fuel adjustment costs on utility bills, hunting license fees, senior citizen programs, re-apportionment of the state legislature, tax deferential for municipal governments, pension reform, and tax reform.

Dutifully and faithfully I have served the people of Garrett County and District 1A for the past eight years and have gained invaluable experience and knowledge in the legislative process. I have always worked closely on a person-to-person basis with my constituents and will continue to do so.

I am asking you to support and vote for me in the Primary election on September 12 to help resolve these CONCERNS in a responsible and experienced approach.

I am on independent businessman, born, raised and educated in Garrett County. I have conducted my own campaign. I am fully aware of the sobering responsibilities of the office I serve in and the only promise I make to you is that, if re-elected I will do my utmost to serve Garrett County and the District well.

Thank you,

DeCorsey Emroy Bolden

WILLIAM A. WILSON
STATE SENATE

Return this Office to the People

OBJECTIVES:

Research thoroughly any legislation before introducing, or sponsoring, as to its effects in my district.
Not only will I meet with my constituents, but I will also consider their wishes and not solely my own.
Some relief must be given to persons with the small fixed incomes who are faced with rapidly increasing cost of living
Each district is entitled to its fair share of state aid, and I constantly will be fighting to see that Baltimore City and metropolitan counties don't grab our portion.

STATE SENATOR

AFFILIATIONS:

MASONIC ORDER, GEORGE'S CREEK LODGE, LONACONING

My goals if elected Commissioner:

Jim has been involved in Garrett County Government for ten years.

This involvement has been as a citizen providing needed input on such matters as zoning, planning, health and senior citizens.

His goals as County Commissioner will be: to redistribute the tax burden from those on fixed and low income to an economic base which can better support it; to secure new jobs, paying decent wages, without adding to the tax burden of the county; to eliminate waste and duplication in the school budget so this money will be entirely devoted to producing better prepared graduating students; to insure a dollar's worth of benefits for every dollar of county money spent on services; to increase citizens' involvement in decision making as to how and where to spend their tax dollars; and to provide a slow and steady growth, so planned as not to cost extra dollars in future years.

He seeks your support and your vote to accomplish these goals and many others.

If you would like to provide your input or help in this endeavor please feel free to call him at 387 6412 or 334 2650.

That's right! We'll pick the cash out of your checking account (your spending pocket), and put it in your savings account (your inside pocket). Where it's a little harder to get your fingers on it. So your savings grows. And when you really need some cash, it will be there in your savings account. All because you gave us permission to slip it painlessly out of your checking and put it in your savings account.

This plan is called "Automatic Savings." You give us permission, and we automatically save your money for you. It's the easiest, surest way to save.

And one other thing: We pay interest on that cash in your inside pocket. Get full details at any office.
